Conciliators Finish; Union Peace Nearer

Their Withdrawal Seen Presaging Deal

Federal and state labor representatives have stepped out of the local circuit-union wage scale conferences, indicating a note of harmony has been struck between both sides. William C. Liller and Thomas J. Williams came on from Washington to attend while Col. Ruddick represented the state. The three men attended the first meeting Monday night and, after bringing both sides together on common ground, withdrew from later sessions.

Preliminary indications are that the sessions will run into next week and that the circuits will receive some sort

Will Talk Syracuse Pool Here Next Week

Meyer Schine is expected in New York next week to confer with RKO officials on a pool, already discussed, whereby his Eckel in Syracuse will go into an operating merger with the RKO's Keith there. RKO currently is winding up a year's operation of the Paramount for Paramount and the Strand for Warners in the up-state city. Those leases run out about Sept. 1, but the circuit is understood not to have reached any decision about renewals.

Fox Ready for Merger, But Suits May Delay Approval

Two Actions Stand in Way, Latest Filed By Mrs. Eva Fox

Fox Film Corp. is prepared to proceed this morning with its scheduled meeting of stockholders for the purpose of ratifying the proposed merger with Twentieth Century Pictures unless adverse court decisions in actions instituted by stockholders, one of them brought by Mrs. William Fox yesterday, force a postponement, it was stated at the company's offices late yesterday.

While no court action in opposition to the merger will be taken by the Fox stockholders' committee of which L. T. Pidwell is chairman, according to Henry L. Sperling, counsel for the committee, an opposing action

M-G-M - Essaness Deal Near; 'Chi' Theatre 'Invasion' Out

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Signing of contracts between M-G-M and the Essaness circuit is expected shortly. The theatres are now playing some of the past season's pictures. They did not show any during the year.

M-G-M's talk about theatres in this territory has been withdrawn with the starting of negotiations for the new season's product.

Plans for building a 1,400 seat house in Oak Park are to be fulfilled by M-G-M, but Essaness will run the house.

When the contracts are finally signed one of the stormiest battles between exhibitor and producer in this area will go down in the ledger of closed business.

Contracts whereby Essaness will play M-G-M in its Chicago circuit are now being drawn and are expected to be signed before the week is out.

Fox Set for Merger, But Delay Possible

from a new direction was instigated yesterday. This was the obtaining of an order to show cause why Fox should not be enjoined from consummating the merger. The action was brought by All-Continent Corp. and Eva Fox, wife of William Fox, and is scheduled for argument before Supreme Court Justice Alonzo G. McLaughlin in Brooklyn this morning, together with a prior action brought by Alexander Gilbert, a holder of 50 shares of Fox Class A stock, for an order to show cause why Fox should not be restrained from holding the meeting to vote on the merger.

The new action brought by Mrs. Fox, who reputedly controls the All-Continent Corp., names as defendants Fox Film, Twentieth Century, Chase National Bank, General Theatres Equipment, Inc., Daniel O. Hastings as receiver of G. T. E., Joseph M. Schenck, William Goetz, Darryl F. Zanuck, Sidney R. Kent, William C. Michel, Sidney Towell, Felix Jenkins, all members of the Fox board of directors, and the voting trustees for the Fox Class A and Class B stock, who are Hastings, Harley L. Clarke and Frank O. Watts.

The action sets forth that All-Continent Corp. owns voting trust certificates for 18,000 shares of Fox Class A stock; owns a $2,300,000 claim against G. T. E. which has been reduced by agreement to $1,850,000, and, in addition, owns 18,900 shares of G. T. E. preferred and 42,900 shares of G. T. E. common. Mrs. Fox, according to the papers filed, owns 37 shares of Fox Class A and 25 shares of Fox Class B.

"Wastage" of Assets Claimed

The action is based on the allegations that the merger would constitute a "wastage" of Fox Film assets and would amount to a confiscation of stockholders' property, according to Warren M. Caro, of the law firm of Hirsh, Newman, Reass & Becker, attorneys in the action and identified in the past with William Fox's American Tri-Ergon patents litigation.

The action was described by Caro as a "sequel" to All-Continent's unsuccessful attempt in chancery court at Wilmington last Monday to have Hastings directed to vote G. T. E.'s Fox stock holdings in opposition to the proposed merger. All-Continent was the only opponent of Hastings' application for leave to vote the stock in favor of the merger, which was granted by the Wilmington court.

The Pidwell stockholders' committee, which up to this week had been the only openly anti-merger Fox stockholders' group and which had threatened to bring actions similar to those brought by Gilbert and Mrs. Fox, faded abruptly into a policy of inaction yesterday. Sperling, the committee's attorney, explained the reversal of policy with the statement that the Gilbert and All-Continent actions covered all legal avenues open to the Pidwell committee and that the stockholders' rights to bring future actions against the company in the event of losses were not impaired. Sperling, however, was unaware that the All-Continent action had been filed until informed of it by Motion Picture Daily.

Gilbert's move to thwart today's meeting is said by his attorneys to have been brought as an independent stockholder. Both the Pidwell committee and attorneys for All-Continent and Mrs. Fox denied an alliance with Gilbert. The latter's action was belittled by the Mrs. Fox attorneys, who said that a single, small stockholder would have little standing in court.

The Fox Film home office was noncommittal about the court actions, stating only that it planned to proceed with the meeting at 11 A.M. unless the court hearings forced a delay until later in the day or an adverse decision forced a postponement.

The proposed merger of Fox and Twentieth Century calls for the issuance of 1,329,042½ shares of new $1.50 dividend cumulative preferred and 1,226,529½ shares of common. There is proposed an exchange of one-half share of the new preferred and one-quarter share of the new common for each share of the present Class A common, and one share of the new preferred and one-half share of the new common for each share of Class B.

Under the merger the name of the combined companies would become Twentieth Century-Fox and Joseph M. Schenck would be chairman of the board, Kent, president, and Zanuck a vice-president.

Studios, New Labor Ass'n in Open Clash

American Employes broke out on two fronts here today, resulting allegedly in the slashing of 25 names from the technicians' roster at one studio and the issuing of terse warnings to employes of another against joining the organization.

Warners made the first move against the organization with the dismissal today of 25 employes, allegedly for affiliation with the N.A.A.E. The studio said the slash was a routine layoff to cut overhead during the slack spell. The dismissed employes, however, told Motion Picture Daily they had been let out because of their affiliation with the group.

At Columbia orders were issued against joining the N.A.A.E., according to authoritative sources inside the studio. The order was said to have come from Sam Briskin, who denied having taken any such action.

The employes of one studio indicated the N.A.A.E. would immediately appeal to Washington for restraining action against the studios.

Mort Singer Reports West Is Slightly Up

Business is picking up, but not to any great extent, Mort Singer, RKO theatre partner in the west, stated yesterday. He asserted "farmers are getting a lot of money for their crops and there is a better feeling among the people in regard to conditions."

Singer has just returned from Beverly Hills and plans to spend two weeks in New York before heading for Chicago where he will spend a few days and then return to the coast.

"The automobile industry sets the pace for theatres," he said, "and attendance at theatres is the barometer of the times."

Bank Night Hearing To Be Aired Aug. 26

Cleveland, Aug 14.—The court of appeals has set Aug. 26 as the date of hearing of the local Bank Night case. It is said that this will be the first higher court in the country to hear a Bank Night case.

No Wide Stamp Use By Midwest Is Seen

Kansas City, Aug. 14.—That gift stamps, although successful in this district, will not be used elsewhere was indicated at the two-day convention of Fox Midwest managers, which closed at Excelsior Springs tonight with a banquet at which Elmer C. Rhoden, divisional manager, was toastmaster. The managers turned thumbs down on double billing, holding it encourages quickies.

Lew Lehr and D. S. Lawler, division advertising manager, were among the speakers. Others at the convention included District Managers L. J. McCarthy, Kansas City; Lon Cox, St. Louis; H. E. Jameyson, Wichita, and Harry McClure, Topeka.

To Film 'Children's Hour'

Hollywood, Aug. 14. — Samuel Goldwyn has bought "The Children's Hour." Although local reports are the play has been banned by it, the Hays office asserted it could not put a taboo on anything but a finished picture and would not admit having made any suggestions in regard to the proposed filming of the piece. Although Goldwyn could not be reached for a statement, reports indicated he would change the title and eliminate objectionable matter.

Discuss Pros, Cons Of 2,000-Ft. Reel

A general discussion of problems and advantages involved in any adoption of the proposed 2,000-foot reel was held at a meeting of managers of exchange operations at the M. P. P. D. A. yesterday. Arthur Dickinson of that organization presided.

The meeting, it is understood, did not call for the expression of opinions on the adoption of the new size reel but was given over to information and consideration of factors involved in the changeover in order to prepare those attending the meeting for recommending action by their respective companies. All large companies were represented at the session and others will be held in the near future.

of concessions. Their attitude is that if independent theatres are getting the same labor for $1 an hour they are entitled to an identical scale, or appreciable reductions from the $2.12½ now paid.

Mort Singer, who several years ago handled labor contracts for RKO in the west while Leslie E. Thompson covered the east, was summoned from Beverly Hills over the week-end by Thompson to attend the local sessions. Singer is a partner of RKO in the west. Other circuit representatives attending include Harry D. Buckley, for the Rivoli, and Charles C. Moskowitz for Loew's. Sitting in on the talks from the union are Joseph D. Basson, president, the vice-president and two business agents.

Meanwhile, Local 306 is concentrating its picketing forces at Harry Brandt houses. Following on the heels of explosions at the Park and Circle, a bomb was found late Tuesday night in the Times Square. A porter in the theatre doused it two minutes before it was timed to go off.

More than 100 Local 306 men have been arrested in the last few days for picketing the Liberty and Times Square in West 42nd St. Yesterday 10 were pulled in by the police and paroled in custody of the union's attorney.

Brandt Sure of Victory

Refusing financial assistance from members of the I. T. O. A. who rallied to his support, Harry Brandt, president of the unit, yesterday expressed confidence that he would win the local union fracas being waged against the Brandt circuit.

Most of the session was taken up with the discussion of Local 306's activities in the last week.

Would Cut Dallas Board

DALLAS, Aug. 14.—Operators have proposed a new ordinance to the city council to replace the present regulations and board. At present the board is composed of nine members, two operators, two theatre managers, two exchange managers, and the building inspector, fire marshal, and city electrician. It is proposed to reduce this board to five, made up of two operators, the fire marshal, city electrician, and supervisor of public works, with the latter permanent chairman. Necessity for the change is claimed by the operators in that they say the present board is incompetent. Regulation examination questions for applicants are proposed with correct answers on file, making scoring a matter of check.

St. Louis Officers Suspended

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14.—Officers of I. A. T. S. E. Local 143 temporarily have been suspended by Clyde W. Weston, the international's representative, pending a probe into affairs of the local. For the time being offices are in charge of Robert Thompson, a member of the union. The suspended officers include: James Manion, president; O. Kleintopf, business manager, and Fred L. Twiehaus, secretary. It is understood an internal dispute, nature not divulged, was the reason leading to the decision.

Mayor Dickmann's arbitration board, headed by Father Tim Dempsey, has worked out a peaceful settlement of the dispute as to whether negroes or white men should operate booths at the Criterion, Star and Strand, all of which cater to negro patronage. The movement to wrest the jobs from whites was supported by the Urban League, a negro organization, and negro operators. Opposition came from Local 143.

The basis of settlement follows:

That the negro projectionists who have their own labor body apply immediately for membership in 143.

That these applications be given favorable consideration and acted on promptly by the members of 143.

That the question of employing negro or white operators in the three theatres be adjusted between 143 and the owners of the theatres to the best advantage of all parties.

The recommendations have been accepted by both parties. The pact averts a situation that may have eventually led to very serious racial troubles in St. Louis, which has a large percentage of negro population.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Way Down East"

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14.—Climaxing his Fox production career, Winfield Sheehan delivers in this picture an entertainment feature certain to thrill the nation's theatregoers.

Adapted from Lottie Blair Parker's novel and stage play, famous for generations as the great American melodrama, the production, authentically and with believable human heart interest, completely preserves the full emotional spirit of the original.

As the great, old story lives anew, with modern screen advantages embellishing its gripping drama, inspiring love interest and natural humor, the film runs the entire gamut of entertainment and showmanship values in a new and different fashion.

Set in the atmosphere of a rural New England village and farm home of two generations ago, dominated by rigidly upright Russell Simpson, "Way Down East" is the story of Rochelle Hudson, her fear-tinged happiness, in love with Henry Fonda, her heartbreak and triumph. The story tells of the innocent girl betrayed by the city slicker, Edward Trevor; made the victim of vicious tongue-wagging of the hypocritical gossiper, Margaret Hamilton; and who is inhumanly condemned and driven from the shelter of the Simpson home during the height of a blizzard. Follows the thrill-packed episode of Miss Hudson, fleeing to escape heartbreak, caught in the icebreak, in which she, almost frozen and perishing as her betrayer is lost, is saved by Fonda.

The action is convincingly handled by Miss Hudson, Fonda, Simpson, his wife, Spring Byington; Miss Hamilton and Trevor, who all make sincere simplicity powerful. Comedy is provided by Slim Summerville, Andy Devine and Al Lytell.

Showmanship assets are included as the feature picturizes the spirit of the basic theme and also in audience values of a quilting bee, barn dance, skating party and the ice breakup. Modernizing, yet retaining the story's original elemental appeal, Howard Estabrook's and William Hurlburt's screen play is a thorough demonstration of screen writing.

As valuable entertainment merchandise and a big picture, "Way Down East" makes possible and commends showmanship presentation matching the heart and brain evinced in the production.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 85 minutes. "G."

"Here Comes Cookie"

(Paramount)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14.—Like exaggerated characters of the funny sheet come to life, Gracie Allen and George Burns lead a pack of zanies in a goofy, nonsensical comic strip somewhat nutty and a trifle mad.

George Barbier, a millionaire, wants to prevent his daughter (Betty Furness) from marrying a Latin from Manhattan. Against the advice of Burns, an attorney, Barbier, to create the impression he is poor, transfers his wealth to his other daughter (Miss Allen). Barbier then goes fishing and the fireworks begin.

Gracie, out of sympathy for hungry actors, turns the Park Avenue mansion into a vaudeville rehearsal hall where the actors eat, sleep and practice in the cellar, boudoir and bath. To top everything Gracie remodels the house into a theatre and presents her own show, an acme of nitwitism. Barbier returns with Gracie doing the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet."

Conceived in a spirit of loony caricature by Sam Mintz and Don Hartman, the film, directed by Norman McLeod, comes near to being the screwiest hodge-podge of hilarity ever unscrambled on the screen, not excepting the Marx brothers. Twelve vaudeville acts, including crooners, cyclists, acrobats, astrologists, dogs, knife throwers and seals, participate.

William LeBaron produced a swell, but not big picture.

Burns and Allen fans will like this, as will those who relish assorted nuts.

No production code seal. Running time, 65 minutes. "G."

Justice Dep't Knows Of No New Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Department of Justice officials today declared there was "nothing new" in the film situation and denied they had received a new complaint from independent interests against alleged inclusion in the majors' contracts of a clause banning double features.

Officials of the department said they had no information on the matter. They revealed, however, that complaints are regularly received from independents urging action against the majors on one ground or another. All of these complaints are, of course, investigated, but in few instances is it possible for the department to take any action.

Sue to Stop Wisconsin's Playdate Law

M-G-M and Fox Will Get a Hearing Today

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 15.—Fox and M-G-M are seeking an injunction in Federal court here to restrain the state from enforcing the recently enacted preferred playdate law. A hearing is scheduled for Aug. 16 before Judge F. A. Geiger.

The film companies claim that the statute interferes with rights granted under the federal copyright laws.

The defendants are District Attorney William Zabel, Attorney General James Finnegan and Secretary of State Theodore Dammann.

Hays Presses Drive On Drinking Scenes

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.—The Hays office has started serious steps to get producers to cut down on drinking scenes in films, which have been the cause of a flood of complaints recently. Although the organization has been clamping down on the studios for several months for too much imbibing on the screen, it was not until Joseph I. Breen's return from abroad that it was decided something would have to be done about these complaints.

The matter will be threshed out at a meeting of producers and Hays officials.

B'way Sees Revival Of Cross Picketing

Cross picketing was revived on Broadway yesterday when Allied M.P. Operators started its campaign against major circuit houses in retaliation of Local 306's picketing the Harry Brandt theatres in the midtown area.

Two Allied sandwich men began parading in front of Loew's State late in the afternoon and kept up the

"The Farmer Takes a Wife" garnered $68,500 at the Music Hall last week with "Alice Adams" bowing in yesterday for a nice opening day's take. "Orchids to You" at the Roxy wound up with $29,000, while "The Irish in Us" at the Strand ended its second week with $12,000.

Overwhelmingly Approve 20th Century-Fox Merger

Intimates M-G-M Sought Kent And Post Is His for Asking

That an M-G-M berth probably has been offered Sidney R. Kent, president of Fox, within a recent period, and could be his at any time for the asking, was intimated if not actually stated at the Fox stockholders' meeting yesterday in reply to criticism of the new salary and stock purchase option being granted to Kent.

"I can make much more money in this industry than I am being offered here," Kent told an opposing stockholder. "If you want to satisfy yourself of that make inquiries in the industry. Ask Nicholas Schenck, who is hiring manpower."

Later, Joseph M. Schenck, defending Kent's stock purchase option, said:

"Kent is the best distributor in the business. My brother, Nicholas Schenck, wants him. Kent could write his own ticket at Metro."

Opposition Is Spirited; Represents Less Than 2,000 Shares

The Fox Film Corp. and Twentieth Century Pictures' merger, together with a plan of reorganization for the company, was overwhelmingly approved at a meeting of Fox stockholders yesterday. Opposition to the proposals, although spirited and vociferous, was confined to less than 2,000 shares of the more than 2,000,000 shares represented at the meeting.

Opposing court actions brought by stockholders still may affect consummation of the merger, however. Supreme Court Justice Alonzo G. McLaughlin in Brooklyn denied Alexander Gilbert's motion yesterday to halt the holding of the meeting, but heard arguments in the afternoon on the action brought by Mrs. William Fox and her All-Continent Corp. for a stay to prevent consummation of the merger. Judge McLaughlin is expected to make his decision on this move some time today in advance of the reconvening of the Fox stockholders' meeting which was adjourned to await his ruling.

The court permitted attorneys for Mrs. Fox to file additional papers today and gave Fox Film until tomorrow to reply. Meanwhile, a temporary restraining order, prohibiting the Fox board from consummating the merger until the court makes a decision is in force. This Chance Games Under Police Eye in "Chi"

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—With city and county officials in the midst of a heavy "war" on all types of gambling here, there has been some talk that authorities may look into the lottery element of chance games in more than 200 theatres in this area.

So far no charges have been made against theatre operators here nor have any warnings against giveaways been given. Some weeks ago postal authorities clamped down on newspapers for advertising giveaway nights in theatrical columns, but other than that nothing has happened.

However, with the drive on to close all handbooks and gambling places, it

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Gay Deception"

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.—As a lively, effervescent comedy-romance, although not new in theme, this production, with intriguing, sparkling fun and frolic, assures satisfied audiences. Packed with enjoyable entertainment it is also laden with unique interest creating showmanship material.

Handsomely mounted and smartly directed by William Wyler and moving with speed and zip, the yarn is the average girl's dream of wealth and romance. Stenographer Frances Dee wins a small fortune in a lottery. Disregarding advice, she goes to New York for a grand fling. In a swank hotel she meets a bell-boy, Francis Lederer, a mythical prince incognito. Their sparkling series of comedy situations creates continual laughter.

In the anti-climax, sharpshooting socialite, Benita Hume, dupes Miss Dee into buying tickets for a ball welcoming the prince on the pretext it will be an aristocratic party. Discovering the ruse Miss Dee confides in Lederer, who, revealing his true identity, takes her to the affair as his guest. Considered a faker, Lederer is tossed into jail, but consul Lennox Pawle straightens matters out to the great joy of the stenographer and the prince.

As Lederer and Miss Dee charm in occupying the center of the stage, grand contrasting comedy is contributed by Akim Tamiroff, Lionel Stander, Ricardo Carle, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Luis Alberni and Paul Hurst.

The story is an original screen play by Stephen Avery and Don Hartman. Certain to benefit by word-of-mouth advertising as entertainment promises are fulfilled, the picture provides plenty of exploitation material to arouse initial interest.

Production Code Seal, No. 1171. Running time, 75 minutes. "G."

"Special Agent"

(Warners)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.—Dramatizing the impersonal and logical subject of income tax invasion by big shot racketeers, this is another G-Men type of picture with the usual gangland clinches which uses front page news as the basis of action from an idea by Martin Mooney, New York reporter.

Paralleling the somewhat recent sensational headlines in Manhattan, the screen play by Laird Doyle and Abem Finkel places Bette Davis as secretary to Ricardo Cortez, gangland's head man, and pits her loyalty and Cortez's menace against George Brent's reportorial and G-Man activities.

Strangely, in developing the yarn, Cortez and not Miss Davis, who rats on her boss, gets sympathy with her love for Brent and loyalty to Uncle Sam, her impelling motive.

Minus the warmth and novelty of its predecessors in the G-Men cycle, the film, however, has action and brooding menace. Two incidents in the film caused laughter in the wrong places. This will be remedied in the cutting. Of gore and melodrama, there is plenty.

Besides Miss Davis, Brent and Cortez, who give creditable performances, although the former reveals little of her outstanding acting ability here, the cast includes Jack LaRue, Henry O'Neill, J. Carroll Naish, Irving Pichel and others.

With the material he had at his command, William Keighley's direction is good, as are the photography and production values.

With editing, the film will probably prove all right.

Production Code Seal, No. 1073. Running time, 78 minutes. "G."

"His Family Tree"

(Radio)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.—This wholesome comedy with an Irish cast has appeal for the family trade despite new names in top roles.

James Barton gives an engaging performance as Pat Murphy, who tosses his duffle bag over his shoulder and tap dances spryly from Ireland to America to investigate why letters from his son cease. William Harrigan, the son, has changed his name to Murfree under pressure from his society climber wife, Marjorie Gateson, who wails and faints when old man Murphy turns up in the middle of Harrigan's campaign for mayor of a mid-western town.

Ferdinand Munier, as the rival candidate, tries to use the change of Murfree's name to antagonize the Irish vote. Maureen Delaney scores heartily as an emotional political boss. "Isn't she a grand roomful of Four pages of "whereases" were required to outline conditions which the New York representative would probe as chairman of a special committee of seven which he would have the House create, authorized to sit during the recess of Congress and empowered to demand the appearance of witnesses, in one of the broadest investigations ever contemplated by Congress.

Members who today waded through the nine-page resolution introduced yesterday pointed out that Sirovich could call as witnesses every banker who ever made a loan to a producer, distributor or exhibitor, owners of the theatres rented to exhibitors, authors who have sold stories to producers, manufacturers and distributors of equipment, actors and union agents, as well as producers, distributors and exhibitors.

Because of its broad scope, the investigation will be the subject of opposition if the House is asked to vote on it before the end of the session, it being pointed out that investigations of motion picture receiverships and reorganizations have already been conducted.

means that even with a favorable decision from the court the merger could not be consummated legally before sometime next week.

The ballot calling for the approval of the merger, the increase in Fox stock from 2,816,650 shares to 4,600,000 shares, and the change of name of the company was approved by a vote of 2,030,646 2/6 shares with 1,945 4/6 shares voted in opposition. The ballot on the granting to Sidney R. Kent, president of Fox, of an option to purchase 60,000 shares of stock in blocks of 10,000 over a period of six years at not less than $10 per share, was 2,032,610 for, and 390 against.

Of the new Fox stock, 1,500,000 shares are to be classified as preferred and 3,100,000 shares as common. Twentieth Century receives in exchange for its assets 132,513 shares of preferred and 613,264¾ shares of common. Kent continues as president, Joseph M. Schenck becomes chairman of the board and Darryl Zanuck, vice-president, all with seven-year contracts.

Opposition to the merger was launched by Henry L. Sperling, attorney for the Pidwell stockholders' committee, shortly after the opening of the meeting. Sperling offered a resolution recommending the appointment of a committee to work out amendments to the merger plan which would result in what he described as "a more equitable" treatment for holders of Fox Class A stock.

Edward B. Sobel, also an attorney representing a stockholder, followed with criticism of the salaries to be paid Kent, Schenck and Zanuck. Kent is to receive $2,500 per week and other considerations, exclusive of his stock purchase option; Schenck, $2,500 per week, and Zanuck, $5,000 per week. Sobel described the salaries as "unfair" at this time and suggested that large salaries should not be paid until the new company and management produce "results."

"Until that time," Sobel said, "they should take what we've had to take—a licking."

Referring to Kent's stock purchase option Sobel said "that might be a bonus which will run into many millions. Kent might be worth it," he added, "but up to now he hasn't proved it."

Howard S. Guttmann, attorney for Alexander Gilbert, holder of 50 shares of Class A stock, asserted that the principal benefit accruing to Fox from a merger with Twentieth Century was the services of "two gentlemen"—Schenck and Zanuck. "Twentieth Century has no other assets," Guttmann said.

Mary G. Isaacs, a holder of one and a fraction share of new Fox stock, harangued the meeting with considerable feeling. She had walked, not ridden, up to the sixth floor projection room where the meeting was held, she said, and on the way saw porters and attendants with their feet up on desks and stenographers chatting and smoking with them.

"The only active gentleman I saw in the building," she said, "I rushed over and shook hands with. He was in the tax department—the only department working. I never saw such shameful waste as goes on at the Fox and Warner studios in Hollywood," Mrs. Isaacs added.

She explained that she had visited the Fox studio where her daughter was employed as an extra "to see what kind of a place she worked in." She then related that on that occasion she had been propelled forcibly out of the studio with the admonition to "get the hell out of here."

R. C. Delson, holding a proxy for 1,500 shares of stock, alleged that with the merger Fox would have to take over approximately $500,000 of Twentieth's notes due to executives of the latter company and, in return, receive only $50,000 in cash assets of Twentieth.

"In view of this," he said, "maybe Twentieth Century is insolvent. Maybe it should have applied for reorganization under 77-B."

In addition, Delson said that Fox would have to pay for the settlement of Winfield Sheehan's contract and that this, together with other expenses being incurred in the merger, would mean an initial outlay of $1,000,000.

Is Called Asset Abroad

Jerome Lerner and William F. Walsh were other spokesmen for small stockholders who opposed the merger. J. P. Ryan, who said he was a former employe of Fox and had worked for 18 years establishing branch offices abroad, advocated the merger as an asset to Fox in foreign distribution.

David Stoneman, Boston attorney, representing 1,750 shares, some of which, he said, had been purchased in 1928 at $119 per share, favored the merger which, he said, he believed would strengthen Fox in production as it had been strengthened "in management here in New York."

Richard Dwight, of Hughes, Schurman & Dwight, Fox Film attorneys, urged against delay such as that called for in the Sperling recommendation for the appointment of a committee to devise amendments more "favorable" to the Class A stock.

"These terms were made at arm's length," Dwight said. "Now we have suits against us because we gave too much and others because we're not giving enough. We can't please everyone and there is a need of haste.

Name Change an Asset and Will Remove "Bad Smell", Says Kent

"There has been a bad smell about Fox in the past. Some of it still persists. It will be an asset to the company to send new product out under a new label," Sidney R. Kent said yesterday to Fox stockholders, who voted approval of a change in the company's name to Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp.

That Fox Film was on the hunt for a favorable merger for some time before negotiations were opened with Twentieth Century was revealed to the stockholders by Kent at yesterday's meeting.

"After getting Fox completely out of debt," Kent said, "we talked to a lot of companies about a consolidation that would place this company in a position in which it could compete with the biggest in the industry. In every case until we talked to Twentieth Century, however, a consolidation would have meant taking over big debts and large studio properties that we didn't want and had no use for. I'm sure that with this merger we have what we need now."

Joseph M. Schenck, at one point, said:

"Good production and good distribution is all that counts in this industry. We (Twentieth Century) promise you good production. I will not permit Twentieth Century to take second place in this industry—not even to M-G-M. Their record is no better than ours.

"As for distribution, Sidney R. Kent has 9,500 exhibitor accounts—the greatest circulation ever established in this business. If that was all that was needed you wouldn't need us. But you need pictures, too. We promise you those."

At this moment our whole production schedule depends on action here."

"Moreover," Kent added, "deals have to be made when they can be made. Twentieth has something to say about it, too. We can't leave them suspended for four or five months."

The Sperling recommendation was defeated by a vote of 2,032,610 shares to 264 shares.

Kent then made answer to every objection to and criticism of the plan which had been made. He pointed out that when he entered Fox in April, 1932, the company owed $40,000,000 and "the question then was whether the company would live or die."

"If I had known as much about it then as I do now," Kent added, "I probably wouldn't have taken the job."

He reminded the stockholders that if Fox had gone into bankruptcy in 1932, "and it didn't only because there were some of us to fight against it," stockholders would have had their entire equities wiped out.

"You have something today," Kent said, "because there were a few of us with guts then to stop that."

Again, addressing himself to those who had criticized the new salary provisions made him under the merger, Kent declared that he "could have written my own ticket" when he entered Fox, "so badly was the company in need of experienced manpower," and that he voluntarily cut in half what was offered him then. What he finally accepted, he said, was a salary of $133,000 for his first year, and drew only $66,000 of that, putting the rest back into the company's treasury. His second year he drew $77,000, Kent said, and has not yet drawn what his contract entitled him to.

"Have No Apology"

"I have no apology to make for the job I have done," Kent said. "You may think so, but there are a lot of stockholders who don't."

Kent next emphasized the importance of manpower in production and its peculiar value to a film company, admitting while he did so that the personal services of Schenck and Zanuck might well be considered, as an opposing stockholder had charged, "the principal assets of Twentieth which Fox would acquire."

"Loew's became the leading company in this business," Kent said, "only through a merger that brought them Mayer, Thalberg and Rubin. Take them and Schenck away and I wouldn't give you 10 cents for the whole company. We pay Will Rogers $8,000 a week, and we make a lot of money on him. That's the kind of business you're in.

"Production needs men with imagination and production brains—men with an idea who can make a $1,000,000 picture out of it tomorrow and cash in on it in 60 days. You can't put a price on talent like that. Schenck and Zanuck are, probably, the most valuable assets in this deal. Personalities such as these don't grow in bunches like bananas."

Turning to Twentieth's unamortized film negative assets being acquired by Fox, Kent said that only one of them would show a loss of as much as $75,000 and that only one or two others would show a loss, and this would be "much less" than $75,000. "Many of Twentieth's pictures are just now going into general distribution," Kent said.

U. A. Gets 33%

United Artists receives 33 per cent of the gross of every picture it distributes, Joseph M. Schenck, former president of U. A., stated yesterday at the Fox stockholders' meeting in reply to questions put to him by a stockholder.

Schenck added that his salary had been paid by United Artists and that he received no salary as president of Twentieth Century Pictures.

He said that the average return on Twentieth's pictures in the two years of the company's existence had been two and one-half times their negative cost and described this as the best record in the industry. "A return of two times the negative cost is exceptional," Kent said.

"With the merger," he resumed, "I think we have the best studio setup in the business now. We wanted their personalities, their trade mark that was skyrocketed to prominence in the industry and that exhibitors ask for. Their pictures have been especially good abroad and ours have not. Twentieth's record in England is the best I have ever looked at. Will Rogers doesn't mean a thing abroad. Janet Gaynor is weak outside this country. We get stars that we need to sell our pictures abroad and we get the manpower we need. All these things will make more money for stockholders, not less.

"Schenck wanted us," Kent resumed, "because we were the only company with whom he could make an alliance that was not in debt. Whoever says we have to put up $500,000 to pay Twentieth's obligations doesn't know what he's talking about. To suggest that Twentieth might have needed a 77-B reorganization is ridiculous. There never has been a company in this industry which has made such a record as theirs in two years. They can borrow all the money they want at rates just as cheap as we can get. If they did have a large cash balance it would be no inducement to us. We are trying to build more earning power. This is the finest deal ever put together in the industry and I talk as a stockholder as well as president of the company, because I have many times more stock than all that has been spoken against the plan at this meeting and it was bought with my own money."

An adjournment was taken until two o'clock today, although in the absence of a court decision on the action brought by Mrs. Fox it is believed another adjournment until some time next week will be taken.

New Contract for Rogers

Hollywood, Aug. 15.—Will Rogers has been signed to a new contract with Twentieth Century-Fox covering 10 pictures over a period of years, according to a wire received today by Darryl Zanuck from Sidney R. Kent in New York. The message also clarified the contractual obligations of other company players—namely, Shirley Temple, who is under a six-year contract; Janet Gaynor, engaged to make two films, possibly three; Warner Baxter, scheduled to make six over an indefinite period.

Scouting published statements that these players were not living up to their contracts, Zanuck said there "is no intimation from any of our stars they are not completely satisfied with their affiliation with this studio."

The firm was sold for approximately $400,000.

Briggs had been living in Los Angeles since the sale of his business. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Phora Briggs.

Mayer stated the company had exercised contractual rights by discontinuing salary payments. The M-G-M studio head added that any time Miss Loy determines to return to the studio the gates will be open, "but she is still under contract and we shall enforce our rights to the utmost in contradicting Miss Loy's statement that her services have been continually available to M-G-M."

He added Miss Loy has been constantly absent from the state of California and the studio never subscribed to cancellation of her contract.

RKO's Palace, on the next street, and Loew's Mayfair, were not picketed, indicating that the first move was designed for attention of Loew executives as they emerged from their offices after working hours.

Meanwhile, Local 306 continued mass picketing at the Times Square, Liberty, Globe, Central, Park and Circle.

Reports were current that the circuits had walked out of the negotiations with the union, but these were scotched on all sides. It was stated that circuit men and 306 representatives were tied up all afternoon in the wage scale conference.

It's Better Now

Hollywood, Aug. 15.—Intelligent editing, with scenes added, having cut its running time to 76 minutes, "Here Comes the Band" (M-G-M), as witnessed in final preview stacks up as worthwhile entertainment. All irrelevancies having been eliminated, it stands as a breezy musical comedy romance with a definite sentimental appeal. Scissoring has put concentration on worth of story interest, adding pleasing sock to the showmanship value of the Ted Lewis and Harry Stockwell specialty features. Comedy contrast is more firmly established and the love angle is more potent.

"Forbidden Heaven"

(Republic)

Hollywood, Aug. 15.—Exploitation paralleling a "Seventh Heaven" build-up will aid this one at the box-office. However, the picture suffers by comparison mainly through the story, which has few high spots. The direction saves it to a great extent and Charles Farrell regains a certain amount of prestige.

The story centers around a London tea house where the destinies of four characters are spun in the same web with Farrell, who, as a political soap-box spieler, is the central figure. He rescues Charlotte Henry, a cabaret entertainer, from attempted suicide by drowning and romance gets under way with poverty-stricken Beryl Mercer and Fred Walton supplying the necessary relief.

Climaxing the yarn Miss Mercer dies and Farrell is on the brink of becoming a member of Parliament through a political big shot when things go wrong and the romantic duet's dreams are shattered by a tea house raid by the bobbies. The difficulties are finally ironed out and Farrell succeeds in winning over Miss Henry.

Cast performances fail to surmount story weaknesses. However, Reginald Barker's direction provides typical London atmosphere and keeps the film entertaining. Sada Cowan did the adaptation and screen play from Christine Jope Slade's original. Milton Krasner's photography is helpful to the film.

Production Code Seal, No. 1137. Running time, 77 minutes. "G."

Midwest Lets Quality Rule In Promotion

Kansas City, Aug. 15.—Fox Midwest will continue to use promotion on a par with improved pictures. Announcement to this effect was made at the annual convention of officials and managers of the circuit which closed in Excelsior Springs yesterday.

Fox Midwest was reported to have evolved a new type of advertising, which, tested successfully in Wichita and Hutchison, Kan., now is to be used by the entire circuit. While Fox Midwest officials declined to comment on the details of the advertising method, they went so far as to express the belief that it may mean a revolution in traditional theatre advertising.

The circuit will continue to promote pictures as it did last year, when it capitalized on the wave of criticism which eventuated from the Legion of Decency movement.

Pictures, it was pointed out, have developed a deeper culture and producers a keener intelligence in producing them. Consequently exhibitors have got to follow suit in their promotion, it was held.

As D. S. Lawler, divisional advertising manager, pointed out:

"Pictures now attract audiences that heretofore haven't gone. Producers took it for granted that they would get the 40 per cent that always go to movies and turned their attention to creating pictures appealing to the 60 per cent."

Depends on Film Quality

Hence, Fox Midwest managers this year will continue in their efforts to make picture advertising as good as pictures produced. It is essential that they use an intelligent and cultural approach to patrons to sell pictures.

Now that the newsreel is out of the filler class, Lew Lehr told the convention, the job is to sell to the managers the necessity and sound business sense of exploiting it as an additional appeal to the public. He said already the public is out of the habit of thinking of the newsreel as a filler.

The first part of the task of selling news to managers as a public appeal is to sell it to salesmen, Lehr said. "Managers are beginning to see the possibilities of selling it as an added attraction," he added. "They begin to see the background, the importance and significance of the newsreel properly conceived and executed."

Lehr termed this area one of the best in the country with respect to the number of managers who see the full possibilities of the newsreel as a draw.

Exchange managers at Kansas City and others attended the golf tournament yesterday afternoon. Sixty-seven teed off.

A Fox newsreel man from Kansas City shot scenes of Elmer C. Rhoden and Lehr golfing.

William Warner, Warner manager, forgot his clubs and turned back to Kansas City after them after getting halfway to Excelsior.

One objective set up for managers at the convention was $500,000 in gross receipts in 17 weeks.

Seek Examination In $145,000 Action

A motion for examination before trial was filed in Supreme Court in Manhattan yesterday by Charles B. Paine, Universal treasurer, in connection with a $145,000 suit brought against the company by Jackie Fowler, an infant, and his father, Raymond F. Fowler, of Grand Island, Neb.

The action, charging defamation of character, is based on Issue No. 32 of the "Strange as It Seems" series of shorts released by Universal in which the child was allegedly shown puffing at a pipe and cigar. The suit is also based on a cartoon appearing in various papers throughout the country which was reproduced in Universal Weekly, the company's house organ.

In denying the libel charges in his affidavit, Paine held that the father had consented to the taking of the films and had even posed the child and appeared with him.

A hearing on the motion will be held today before Supreme Court Justice Kenneth O'Brien.

Fox Meeting Is Set Back To Next Week

Mrs. Fox's Litigation Causes Delay

The adjourned meeting of Fox Film stockholders which was scheduled to be held yesterday afternoon, convened without taking any action and adjourned again until three o'clock Monday afternoon.

Yesterday's adjournment was necessitated by the litigation brought by Mrs. William Fox and the All-Continent Corp., which she controls. The action, now before Supreme Court Justice Alonzo G. McLaughlin in Brooklyn, is a Fox stockholders' attempt to restrain the company from consummating the merger with Twentieth Century and putting into effect the capital reorganization, both of which were overwhelmingly approved

Further hearing is scheduled for Aug. 26.

WILL ROGERS DIES; INDUSTRY SHOCKED

He, with Wiley Post, in 'Plane Crash in Alaskan Wilds

The entire industry was plunged into mourning yesterday with news of the tragic death of Will Rogers in an airplane crash near Point Barrow, Alaska, in which Wiley Post, noted aviator, also met his death.

Expressions of regret over the untimely end of Rogers' career came from every quarter of the industry, which for the past 10 years has regarded him as its own. To the American public he was, perhaps, the screen's best known and best liked personality.

Hampered by fog and with the engine of Post's specially constructed plane failing, Rogers and Post crashed

Roosevelt Regrets

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 16.—President Roosevelt issued this statement today:

"I was shocked to hear of the tragedy which has taken Will Rogers and Wiley Post from us. Will was an old friend of mine, a humorist and philosopher beloved by all. I had the pleasure of greeting Mr. Post on his return from his round-the-world flight. He leaves behind a splendid contribution to the science of aviation. Both were outstanding Americans and will be greatly missed."

Tributes to Rogers from Far and Wide

From far and wide yesterday tribute was paid to the memory of Will Rogers.

The entire Fox organization was dazed by his sudden death and normal routine entirely upset by the tragedy. Sidney R. Kent, speaking for his company, issued this statement:

"All of his friends and co-workers in the Fox Film Corp. are inexpressibly shocked by this terrible thing. As big as this loss is to the Fox company, however, we must stand aside in recognition of the greater bereavement which has been visited upon his wife and family, and indeed upon all America. Will Rogers brought happiness and the cleansing influence of his good humor to millions, and no eulogy from us could express the loss his death means to them."

Hollywood Bows Head

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16.—Tributes to the memory of Will Rogers began to assume the proportions of a tidal wave, once Hollywood accustomed itself to the first impact caused by the news of the noted comedian's death.

Darryl F. Zanuck said: "To be great and greatly loved is a distinction which comes to few men. Will Rogers was one of them. One of the princely wits and kingly characters of this age. He taught the world to

BILL ROGERS

THE tragic ending of the unique career of Bill Rogers brings a shock that will be sorely felt by a legion of his friends throughout the industry. Rogers was a distinctive and memorable personality, utterly unaffected, making no pretense at any time or place to being other than just Bill Rogers. From the plains of Oklahoma to the principal capitals of the world he left a trail of home-spun humor and good-natured raillery that brightened the way for those who followed him.

A vast public who knew him through the screen will feel a personal loss. But short as has been his career it has been notable in many ways, including the fact that at its end it justifies the tribute that, while he attained a high degree of eminence in his profession and great rewards, yet, in return, he gave to the world a far greater measure in wholesome fun and entertainment.

Brodsky Angles for Root of Union Fuss

With 150 Local 306 pickets arraigned before him on various charges, Magistrate Brodsky yesterday tried to get to the root of "the real trouble." During one of the hearings, Brodsky said, "Is this a fight between unions?" and was promptly answered by Alfred Belskin, attorney for Local 306.

"This is not a fight between unions, but it's a fight against exhibitors who are trying to break down the wage scale," Belskin replied. Melvin Albert, counsel for Harry Brandt, tried to get in a word, but Brodsky stopped him stating, "We won't discuss it."

The magistrate became annoyed at Belskin. When the latter made a wisecrack he was warned by Brodsky, who said, "This is not time for repartee."

Martin Fink, general manager for Brandt's midtown group, was put on the stand and upon questioning by Belskin denied he knew that Supreme Court Judge Collins had described Allied as a "company union." When the Local 306 attorney tried to question Fink further, Brodsky called a halt.

Of the 150 pickets, the magistrate reserved decision on 54 and dismissed the rest.

Just prior to the hearing, 10 other pickets were arrested on 42nd St. Patrolman Rubin Stein was injured in the groin during the melee and sent to the Flower Hospital. Alfred Apterkar was arrested for the incident and booked for felonious assault.

Negotiations between circuit-union representatives are continuing favorably, it was stated yesterday. The sessions are expected to last another week.

Will Rogers Killed When 'Plane Cracks

to their deaths in semi-frozen wastelands 15 miles south of Point Barrow. The U. S. Signal Corps station at that point was advised of the accident by native runners a few hours later, approximately 5:30 A. M., New York time, Friday.

The plane was found completely wrecked and partially submerged in about two feet of water. Rogers had been thrown clear of the ship and apparently was killed instantly. Post was crushed in the wreckage of the plane. The bodies were returned to Point Barrow and taken to the Presbyterian Mission Hospital, there to await the arrival of the Coast Guard cutter Northland, which was to bring them to a point at which they could be safely met by plane and transported to their homes.

Eskimo natives reported that Rogers and Post had landed about three hours before the crash to make engine repairs and had asked to be directed to Point Barrow. Fog was reported to have been bad at the time and the two remained at the native camp to eat an evening meal. Shortly after taking to the air again the engine failed while the plane was only 50 feet above a small river. The two had left Fairbanks, Alaska, the night before, on what was to have been a leisurely visit to northern Alaska points. They had started their trip from Seattle Aug. 7.

News of Death Spreads Fast

Word of the tragedy spread like wildfire throughout the industry in New York, percolated almost as quickly throughout the field and thus into Hollywood.

Afternoon newspapers, in all editions, featured the story and ran column after column of type and pictorial display.

Ironically enough, Rogers met his death on the heels of a new 10-picture contract which he had signed with Twentieth Century-Fox, which announced closing of the arrangement from Hollywood on Thursday..

Fox has on hand two Rogers vehicles. One is "Steamboat Round the Bend," which is slated for general release on Sept. 6, but which will play pre-release, as long arranged, one week earlier in Stockton and Sacramento, where much of the picture was shot. "In Old Kentucky," also completed, is down for release Dec. 6.

The Fox home-office had planned to launch its advance advertising campaign on "Steamboat Round the Bend" next week in trade papers, but yesterday abandoned it. While both pictures will be delivered to exhibitors on schedule, no effort of any nature will be attempted, neither will it be encouraged, to seek capital on the humorist-comedian's untimely death.

Funeral arrangements were in doubt last night.

Rogers was 56 years old and is survived by his widow and three children, Will, Jr., Mary and Jimmy.

Sheehan Shocked

Buffalo, Aug. 16.—"I am terribly shocked at this news," said Winfield Sheehan when informed here today of the death of Will Rogers and Wiley Post in Alaska. Sheehan, a native Buffalonian, is here visiting his family while en route to New York to join his bride of a few days, Maria Jeritza.

"I have known Will since 1907 when I was a columnist on the old New York World and he was just a young struggling vaudeville actor," he said.

Sheehan spoke with Rogers in Los Angeles two weeks ago and advised him not to miss the beauties of Northern Canada.

"Will told me that he and Post were planning the trip to Siberia," he continued, "and promised to cover the route I suggested. We made a date to meet in London.

"Theatre and film folk all loved Will for the fine, lovable character he was, both off-stage and on. He was tops in the profession."

Sheehan produced Rogers' first talking feature, "They Had to See Paris."

Preview Cancelled

Hollywood, Aug. 16.—Twentieth Century-Fox today canceled the preview set for tonight of Jesse L. Lasky's "Here's to Romance" in deference to Will Rogers' passing.

The Story of Will Rogers

Born in Oolagh, Indian Territory, on Nov. 4, 1879. This date fell on Tuesday and Election Day.

Married Betty Blake at Rogers, Arkansas, on Nov. 25, 1908.

Had three children, Will, Jr., a student at Stanford University, Mary and Jimmy. Mary, after appearing in one picture, "My Weakness," joined a stock company at Lakewood, Maine, and from there went to the New York stage.

Learned to rope and ride while he was a ranch hand in Oklahoma.

Made his first public appearance when he was 14 years old in a riding contest which he won. Became a cow-puncher when he was 17.

Soon owned a small herd of his own which he sold to a neighbor and, with another youth, bought third-class tickets to the Argentine to seek his fortune. Became a gaucho and punched cows across the pampas for $4 a month—American money.

Could have worked his way back home, but decided to stick it out and see more of the world.

Got a job on a cattleboat transporting mules from Buenos Aires to South Africa for British troops in the Boer War. Landing in Capetown, decided to remain and pursue his fortune.

Hoped to see some of the war, but the fighting ceased the day after he arrived.

Joined Wild West Show

Cast about for some profitable occupation and joined a traveling "wild west" show.

Billed as "The Cherokee Kid," became a hit with his trick riding and rope spinning.

After showing in the principal cities of South Africa, the show and Rogers moved to England.

Finally grew homesick and took passage for New York, thence back to Oklahoma.

Following a rest, joined another "wild west" show in Oklahoma and started on a tour of the Southwest.

By this time his rope spinning act had attained considerable perfection and an alert booking agent signed him for the 1905 annual horse show at Madison Square Garden.

The horse show over, next appeared at Hammerstein's Roof. Was an immediate hit and soon in demand.

Made several tours of the "big time" vaudeville circuits.

Finally was induced to join "Ziegfeld's Follies" and, later, was featured in "Midnight Frolics."

It was while a star performer with Ziegfeld that he first introduced a line of patter with his rope and pony act.

Then a bigger hit than ever.

Changed his line every night and many of the seat holders were "repeaters."

In 1919 abandoned the stage and made a series of silent pictures. Some of these were "Two Wagons, Both Covered," a burlesque on "The Covered Wagon," "Doubling for Romeo," "Boys Will Be Boys," "Family Fits," "Jubilo, Jr.," "Our Congressmen," "Going to Congress," "Gee Whiz, Genevieve" and "A Texas Steer.'

Also made a series of shorts, "Strolling Thru Europe With Will Rogers," for Pathe. Success indifferent; no sound.

In 1922, returned to the "Follies" and remained on Broadway until 1929, when the advent of talking pictures brought him back to the screen in "They Had to See Paris," for Fox.

This time his familiar drawl was not missing and the picture was a hit.

Soon after this picture was finished, Fred Stone broke one of his legs in an airplane and Rogers took his friend's place in "Three Cheers" on Broadway.

Again a hit.

Charles Dillingham, producer of "Three Cheers," always sent Rogers his salary in the form of a signed check, permitting Rogers to fill in the amount.

What it was, always been a secret.

Tried Silent Films First

When the show went on the road, Rogers returned to the Fox studio.

Second production was "So This Is London" followed by "Lightnin'," "A Connecticut Yankee," "Young As You Feel," "Business and Pleasure," "Ambassador Bill," "Down to Earth," "Too Busy to Work" and "State Fair."

More recent pictures were "Dr. Bull," "Mr. Skitch," "David Harum," "Merry Andrew," "Judge Priest," "The County Chairman" and "Life Begins at 40."

Brought up a Methodist; mother wanted him to become a preacher.

Had occupied the pulpit, but only as a lecturer.

Member of the Masons, Shriners and Elks.

Member of the Lambs and Friars in New York.

Author of "Rogersisms" (1919), "The Cowboy Philosopher on the Peace Conference," "The Cowboy Philosopher on Prohibition" (1919), "Rogersisms—What We Laugh At" (1920), "The Illiterate Digest" (1924), "Letters of a Self-made Diplomat to His President" and "There's Not a Bathing Suit in Russia" (1927).

Hobby was flying and he had written some of his best quips while up in the air.

Never took a train, a boat, or an automobile if he could secure an airplane for a journey of any distance.

Piloted by Captain Frank Hawks, made an aerial tour of the territory affected by the Mississippi flood in 1931 in the interest of the sufferers.

The same year, gave a week of his time to the Community Chest of Los Angeles, appearing twice daily at Loew's State to crowded houses.

More recently made flying tour of South America to get material for his syndicated daily comment. Still more recently, with Mrs. Rogers and his two sons, a two months' tour of Europe.

An International Figure

Warm friend of the Lindberghs.

On intimate terms with kings and queens in Europe and captains of industry in the United States.

Chewed gum constantly; bought it by the gross, but never had a piece handy.

Always borrowed gum from somebody.

Chewed gum to keep down his desire to smoke. Hadn't smoked for years.

Only pets he had were horses, mostly polo ponies.

Had a polo field at his ranch between Hollywood and Santa Monica, California, and played in competition.

Taught his sons, Will, Jr., and Jimmy the game. Both are now experts.

Classed polo as his pastime.

Read the newspapers and current literature.

When asked if he read any fiction, Rogers once replied: "Yes, the newspapers."

Declared he was not superstitious, but constantly knocked wood.

Refused to "sit" for a picture.

Dreaded to attend a function; refused to wear evening clothes; wore a blue serge suit at banquets, etc.

Difficult to engage him in conversation, but once he got started, no one could stop him.

Would talk on any subject except his family and his accomplishments.

Up every morning at 5, took care of his polo ponies and his goats on his Santa Monica Canyon ranch. Read all the morning papers before breakfast and scattered them all over the house.

Rented a business office in Los Angeles and employed a woman secretary to handle his mail, a big part of which was delivered to the studio.

Read whatever his secretary put on his desk and there was a daily pile.

Seldom failed to reach the studio for lunch.

Enjoyed the atmosphere of the cafe; called it his club.

Disliked Interviews

Seldom gave an interview and when he did took pains not to tell anything he used in his daily or weekly comment.

Frequently went from table to table in the studio restaurant, picking up lunch checks belonging to girls who work in the studio offices. Let the directors, writers and actors pay their own.

Had a pretentious bungalow dressing room on the Fox lot, but seldom unlocked the door; changed his costume in his auto and wrote most of his "copy" in the car on a portable typewriter.

Took it to the telegraph office himself after permitting his friends to read it and make comments and suggestions.

Had been abroad six or seven times; thought the United States the only country in the world.

Corresponded for close to 200 newspapers.

Never missed a day and had never been late.

Had never played golf or tennis.

Early ambition was "to grow up and be a man."

Often wondered if he realized it.

Witty, sarcastic and ironical.

Hated insincerity and disliked compliments.

Disliked the man who met him and started reminiscing.

Shied at conversing on the subject of his early life as a cowboy.

Couldn't conceal the fact if he didn't like a person.

Devoted to his wife and those kids.

Recently sent his oldest boy on a trip to Mexico. Instructed him to see all the sights and learn to speak Spanish before he came back.

Spoke with a drawl and saw the humorous side of everything.

years. On and off the screen he always was a perfect gentleman. Millions of film fans to whom he has endeared himself through the medium of his clean wholesome humor, will join all of us who knew him in mourning his great loss."

Hal Wallis: "The screen loses a great star and the world a most lovable character with Will Rogers' unfortunate death. Despite the fact he has scored a great success on the stage and screen, through his newspaper observations Rogers always remained the same, simple, unaffected gentleman he was before he sprang into prominence. Success never went to his head and he could always be counted on in a worthy cause. His loss is a great one to the entire industry."

William Koenig: "I cannot find words adequate enough to express my shock of learning of Will Rogers' death. By every standard he was a credit to the industry and stood as a great example for both young and old America. By his clean life off-screen and by his quaint humor he had endeared himself to millions the world over. The world could ill afford to lose a man like him whose talents have enabled millions of fans to forget their troubles while being entertained by his films. His death is a real calamity to the entire world."

Spencer Tracy: "I can't really believe Bill is gone. He was so alive and real. Only last week we were playing polo and attending a rodeo together. He was the finest man I have ever known. Truly fine in every way and a real friend."

Joe E. Brown: "For years we were intimate friends and this is a terrible thing. The world has lost its most useful citizen. America has sustained its greatest loss, because Rogers was our foremost ambassador of good will. He was the most charitable man I ever knew. It goes without saying his death is the most serious kind of loss to the industry. His tragic death by aviation was the last thing we would have happen because he was one of the nation's greatest flying enthusiasts."

Will Hays said: "It does not take time to realize our loss. The intensity of this loss is as instantly grasped as the effect of the crash itself. He was one of my closest friends of longest duration. He stood for everything that was right and never for anything that was wrong."

Fred Stone: "This is a national calamity. The world has lost a great man."

Louis B. Mayer: "I am too deeply shocked at this time to properly express in words how I feel about losing my friend, Will Rogers. He was truly a great American and the one humorist who not only made the world laugh but also gave it a profound and homely philosophy which made him beloved throughout the world. He will be missed as few men have been missed in this generation."

Frank Lloyd, president, on behalf of the Academy: "The loss of Will Rogers is incalculable. He represented the motion picture industry with humor, good sense, philosophy and world-wide impressiveness. He was one of the greatest and most popular stars that has ever appeared on the screen. He recalled the glories of Joseph Jefferson and other loved personalities of the past, but exceeded them all by his many-sided achievements as journalist, molder of public opinion, popular philosopher and public speaker par excellence. He was a friendly critic who won all by his personal charm and an optimist who looked for the bright side and heralded the coming of better days."

Journalism

Kansas City, Aug. 16.—It is just unusual enough for a theatre manager to be robbed to cause him to decry the experience. But when E. F. Bebermeyer, manager of the Vista, Centralia, Mo., recently was accosted by a bandit just as he returned home with Mrs. Bebermeyer, newspapers began calling them names.

Officers designated the pair as Beesmier the night of the robbery.

The next morning, press associations had it Debemeyer.

Boone County papers followed with Berbermeyer and Bebermyer.

The peak was reached with "the Bemer Meyers." Then, abruptly, their name appeared correctly.

It probably didn't matter to the bandit.

Louisville's Theatres Hit By Paralysis

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 16. — Increasing number of infantile paralysis cases here have resulted in the Director of Health issuing order barring all children from theatres and other places of amusement until the danger period is over.

Local first runs are placarding boxoffices with warnings, refusing admittance to all children under 14. This dealt week-end business a tremendous sock.

"Curly Top," in its second week took an average of $4,500 at the Rialto with "Broadway Gondolier," also in its second week, garnering a nice $2,700 at the Mary Anderson. The Strand did $4,200 on "Farmer Takes a Wife," but hoped for more. Not strong enough for second week apparently.

Total first run business was $20,200. Average is $18,500.

Shirley Still Tops 'Em in Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 16.—The drawing power of Shirley Temple was again demonstrated here when "Curly Top," playing a second week at the Apollo, proved the city's only above par attraction. It grossed $5,000, or $1,000 ahead of normal. Elsewhere, things were not so good.

First runs aggregate $18,000; their combined average is $19,500.

at the Fox stockholders' meeting on Thursday.

Attorneys for Mrs. Fox filed their final affidavits yesterday and replies to them will be filed by Fox attorneys today. A decision from Judge McLaughlin on the restraining action is expected Monday. The court has stated that it did not believe it would have the right to interfere with the merger and reorganization unless stockholders were able to show that fraudulent acts were involved in either. A decision from the court favorable to Fox Film would permit the board of the company to meet and consummate the merger at once.

Illinois Enacts 6 Day Work Statute

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 16.—The Illinois Legislature has passed the six day law against the opposition of theatre men. This bill provides that all employes must have 24 consecutive hours off and may cause smaller houses to hire an extra man for the booth on the seventh day. The State Dep't of Labor has stated it will enforce the law strictly in this case.

In the case of houses booking stage shows for a week's run the last day is illegal but it has been stated the violation in this case will be overlooked.

Paradise Seeks to End Suit by Givens

A motion was made yesterday in the City Court by counsel for Paradise Pictures, Inc., to dismiss a counter claim in a suit filed against Herbert W. Givens. The complaint of Paradise Pictures, Inc. avers that on Oct. 10, 1932, Givens gave to the plaintiff in Philadelphia two notes for $500 each and that another note was given by the defendant to the plaintiff on Nov. 11, 1932 for $146; that Paradise Pictures is suing for $1,146. In denying the charges of the complaint Givens declared that on Oct. 6, 1932, he entered into an agreement with Paradise, whereby for five years he was to have the exclusive rights to exhibit and distribute a series of six Paradise pictures, the first to be "The Divorce Racket" and Givens was to pay Paradise $9,000 for the series. He further avers that on Oct. 10, 1932, the plaintiff delivered "The Divorce Racket" to him and he gave him $500 in cash and two notes for $500 each now in litigation and subsequently the other note for $146. Then he says that inasmuch as Paradise Pictures Inc. failed to deliver the remaining five pictures it violated the agreement and became responsible for the fulfillment of the entire agreement. He has filed a counter claim for $10,000 damages.

Plagiarism Charges Denied by Depinet

Denial of plagiarism charges made by James Young, a novelist, in a suit against RKO, Pathe Pictures, Inc., and Adela Rogers St. John was voiced by Ned E. Depinet in entering a motion for a bill of particulars in Manhattan Supreme Court yesterday.

The application sets forth that the plaintiff charges the defendants made a copy of his manuscript entitled "What Price Sex in Hollywood" and produced a picture therefrom called "What Price Hollywood." Depinet sets forth further that the plaintff is seeking an injunction, an accounting and damages.

Depinet's affidavit claims that, since the other defendants have not been served in the action and that RKO alone is being prosecuted, it is essential his company have a bill of particulars giving details of the complaint so that it may be prepared for trial.

A hearing has been set for Monday morning before Justice Aaron Steuer.

RFC Loan to Roxy Set Back a Month

Action on a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corp. to permit Roxy Theatre bondholders to reorganize the property cannot be had for at least another month, as a result of a request from the R. F. C. for complete lists of personal property held by the Roxy, it was learned yesterday.

Representatives of the Roxy bondholders' committee said that several weeks might be required to prepare this information and that no decision from the R. F. C. on the requested loan could be expected for some time thereafter. It was stated that, despite the new delay, the bondholders' committee still regarded the R. F. C. as a preferred source for financing a Roxy reorganization. Such financing would permit the bondholders to direct their own reorganization of the property.

Myrna Loy Facing a Suit on Pact Fight

M-G-M probably will sue to prevent Myrna Loy from appearing in "Soak the Rich," new Hecht and MacArthur feature for which she has been signed. The picture is about to get going at Eastern Service Studio.

Metro, in a guarded statement yesterday, said through a spokesman its stand on the Loy contract situation had been made clear both by Nicholas M. Schenck and Louis B. Mayer and that the situation now would appear "to be a matter for the lawyers."

J. Robert Rubin, general counsel of M-G-M, returned from Europe on the Normandie Monday.

Leland Heyward, agent, acted for Miss Loy and insisted yesterday the contract with Hecht and MacArthur had been signed. He said Miss Loy had been advised by her attorneys, Chadbourne, Stanchfield and Levy, that she was entirely within her legal rights in so doing.

Ben Hecht from Nyack last night confirmed the contract.

Pathe Rounds Out Plan and Reorganizes

on the N. Y. Stock Exchange has already been approved.

Stockholders of the old company will be notified when and where to surrender their certificates in exchange for new certificates, officials of Pathe said yesterday.

The reorganization plan provided for the issuance of 30,000 shares of new $7 convertible preferred stock of no par value and 2,000,000 shares of new common stock of $1 par, of which 8,043 shares of preferred and 573,700 shares of common are presently outstanding. Holders of old Pathe eight per cent preferred stock receive for each share, one share of new preferred and five shares of new common. Holders of the old Class A preference stock receive for each share two shares of new common, and holders of each share of old common receive one-twentieth share of new common for each share of the old.

The new company is also authorized to issue collateral secured notes limited to the aggregate principal amount of $4,000,000 at any time outstanding.

Kolbe Heads New Company

Frank F. Kolbe is president of the new Pathe company, Robert W. Atkins, executive vice-president; Arthur B. Poole, vice-president and treasurer, and Thomas P. Loach, secretary and assistant treasurer.

The Pathe reorganization plan was approved by an extraordinary meeting of stockholders of the company last March 4. Its consummation was delayed by litigation brought by Pat Casey and E. B. Derr which sought to restrain the company from carrying out the plan. The actions were dismissed by the courts recently, as was still another one brought by Ben Hilbert, a stockholder, to halt the reorganization on the ground that the law authorizing the holding of extraordinary meetings of stockholders, such as the one at which the Pathe plan was approved, was unconstitutional. This action was dismissed by the court this week.

Stronger Association and Mass Buy Are Two

Advocating a stronger national organization, adoption of means whereby local organizations can work closer with each other and the national unit, vindication of exhibitors' rights in connection with theatre invasions, mass buying power to offset circuit competition, encouraging new independent producers and distributors and passage of the Pettengill bill and the Duffy copyright bill, Abram F. Myers, general counsel, outlines a six-point platform for Allied in the New Jersey unit's journal for the 16th annual convention to be held in Atlantic City Aug. 21-23.

In his six-point program, which appears under the heading "Allied's 'Must' List," Myers discusses each point briefly in addition to a review of 1934, particularly of the code and the Legion of Decency. "It seems almost

Hollywood Flies Mourning Flags; Misses Its Rogers

By MILT WATT

Hollywood, Aug. 18.—With flags at half mast over Hollywood studios, the entire film colony over the weekend tried bewilderingly to recover its senses shocked at news flashes of Will Rogers' tragic death in the wilds of Alaska.

From friends who worked close to Rogers for many years, reporters learned the untold generosities and kindnesses which Rogers would not have wanted known or published while he had lived.

Thousands of donations in time and in money to those less fortunate than himself will never be catalogued. Waitresses at the Cafe de Paree, the Fox studio cafe, tell of being helped through depression periods by $5 tips from the late comedian. At Christmas, it was his custom to give those who worked in and on his pictures cards with individual gags, while cash presents always went to those less affluent.

Typically of Rogers and his deportment was the lucrative personal appearance offer to talk at a colored church in Glendale recently where the elders of the church were endeavoring to have a mortgage on the property lifted. He turned it down.

Yet some of his activities were known because Rogers was news and many of his movements were consequently covered. For instance, he made personal appearance tours through the South during the drought period and contributed large sums of money to sustain several Indian schools throughout the country. Anybody down and out could ask and, moreover, receive aid from him.

His influence in creating and organizing friendly, clubby and sportsmanlike activities among film folks here probably never has received its proper recognition because Rogers did not desire such recognition.

It was he who started the film colony playing polo which offered essential

Rival Unions Approximate Merger Stage

Negotiations for a merger between Allied M. P. Operators and Empire State are expected to be completed this week, Motion Picture Daily learns. Conferences on the amalgamation have been held between heads of both operators' unions in the last few weeks, it is reported, and papers are all set for signatures.

Holding up the deal temporarily is said to be a court order signed about two years ago which provided that Empire was not to be combined with any other union. However, it is stated, attorneys for the Springer & Cocalis and Century circuits are working on plans to bring about dissolu-

Missouri Tax At Hand, But Not Machinery

Kansas City, Aug. 18. — A week before Missouri is scheduled to start collecting the one per cent sales tax the state is without a solution to the collection problem. Competent observers do not believe collection possibly can start by Sept. 1.

Even if, before Aug. 27, effective date of the tax, a plan could be worked out which would be practicable and at the same time satisfactory to treasury department officials, it is doubtful if the plan could be gotten in operation.

The legislature may have enacted a bad law, Forrest Smith, state auditor and collector of the tax, ad-

Test Case Held Need To Prevent Spread

An attack on the constitutionality of the new Wisconsin state law regulating the licensing of copyrighted music for public performance within the state is being considered by attorneys for Ascap, it was learned on Saturday.

A decision to test the law is expected to be made within the next few days as it is frankly admitted at Ascap headquarters that, if the Wisconsin law is enforced and left uncontested, similar legislation would undoubtedly be introduced and enacted in numerous other state legislatures. Exhibitors in many states, it is learned, are already studying the Wisconsin law with a view to having similar legislation prepared for introduction in their own state legislatures.

Any widespread enactment of the same or similar legislation would be

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

NOW that the first shock over the untimely death of Will Rogers has had some opportunity to become dulled, it is this department's opinion that attention should be directed without further delay to the object lesson which asserts itself so obviously from that tragedy. Rogers was not the only star bitten by the aviation bug. Gadding about in 'planes is a popular procedure in Hollywood, some of it "for fun," some of it in keeping with the reason why aeroplanes are: to get faster to a given point.

THE factors in a situation like this are twofold. There is the personal equation of injury and death and the mark which either or both leaves on family and friends. But this morning we pass that by completely for purposes of a business discussion, which makes it a calloused discussion, about the obligation of stars to their companies and their companies' obligations to their stockholders. Out of most deplorable circumstances, there is something to be learned. So it is in the case of Rogers.

THAT something, justifiably, is a rewriting of contracts for personal services to keep talent on the ground where it has a running chance of remaining safe. Stars who are paid huge salaries, usually if not always, earn what they get. Their peculiar hold on the public esteem lifts them out of the category of the routine and makes of them individuals or merchandise or property—call it what you like—that must be safeguarded, not only as jealously but also as zealously as business administration can manage to contrive.

A PRODUCER, as matters go these days, will worry and ultimately drop any of his drawing cards who may become involved in a private scandal gone public. He will sweat and swear over vehicles, supporting casts, production investiture and his distributor will cloak his attraction in national advertising campaigns. Yet, at the base, there has been unpardonable negligence in the failure to protect the life of the star without whom the rest of such frenzied enterprise is nothing.

INSISTENCE, by contract proviso, that stars recognize their responsibility as commodities and conduct their private affairs in appreciation of that fact is construable as impinging on their personal prerogatives. That is exactly what is here suggested for their benefit as well as the good of their employers and their customers.

Important personalities in public life, here and abroad, carry their bodyguards. Their public movements are restricted in the cause of their safety. In their own business way, if not in the political and social scheme, the personalities in this business who attract grosses are no different.

Producers probably will strike the attitude that any wholesale effort to prohibit sky riding by contract will smack of collusion and conspiracy. Perhaps it will. There is, however, something beyond the technicality of the law and here is the opportunity, bulwarked by outright necessity, to prove it.

THERE is still another point, thrown into bold relief by the Rogers death. Fox has two more of his pictures to release, "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" and "In Old Kentucky." They will be available on their designated release dates.

The public regard in which Will was held, typified by comment from high places and editorial tribute such as that reprinted from the New York newspapers elsewhere in this edition today, makes it clear that dignity in advertising and handling must prevail. Any effort on any exhibitor's part to seek capital from a matter like this will redound to his well-earned discredit.

The theatre division of the industry now has before it an obligation in good taste to fulfill. Lambasted and excoriated time without end for conduct unbecoming, the need and chance now are for gentlemanly and sympathetic deportment.

We urge it.

a body blow to Ascap operations, spokesmen for the organization admit.

The new Wisconsin law, known as the Graas bill, was signed by Governor LaFollette recently. Under the its terms, any music broker, except the original composer, who wishes to make contracts for playing of copyrighted music must obtain a state license and give complete information on officials of the company, their salaries, rates charged the player and fees paid the author, and must pay a tax of five per cent of the broker's gross receipts for the preceding year, whether obtained inside or outside the state. A $500 fine is also provi d for any person who requests p formance of a copyrighted piece in order to start an infringement suit.

farcical that that monstrous thing which caused so many heartaches should have succumbed to a simple elementary lesson in constitutional law read by the Supreme Court of the U. S." His platform follows:

1.—We must have an affiliated regional association in each state in the union.

2.—We must establish facilities for a quicker and more effective interchange of information and closer cooperation between the national and regional associations.

3.—We must be equipped to obtain judicial definition and vindication of exhibitors' rights in the matter of chain expansion.

4.—We must devise a method of marshalling independent buying power so as to compete with the chains and force the abandonment of monopolistic selling practices.

5.—We must encourage in every way possible the bringing in of new sources of product in order to reestablish competition in the selling of motion pictures.

6.—We must secure enactment of the Pettengill-Neely anti-compulsory block booking bill and the Duffy copyright bill.

Myers Discusses Expansion

Discussing expansion, Myers says: "That Allied must have at least one loyal regional association in every state is too clear for arugment. We must have active organization men in every congressional district to aid in the legislative program. And we must be able to overcome in a most decisive way the claim, always encountered in national problems, that the independent exhibitors do not know what they want because, forsooth, their very ranks are divided.

"Such division as crops up from time to time is due in part to the activities of subsidized pseudo-exhibitors whose inspiration comes directly from the Hays' office. It is also due in part to the fact that, in territories in which such division is manifested, there is no Allied unit to spread the gospel and for the independents to rally around.

"The great strides made during the past two years remind us, however, that effectiveness, not size, is the measure of the strength of an organization.

"A loose organization of distant associations, ruled over by satraps who respond to the pleas of the national association only when it is to their immediate advantage to do so, can accomplish nothing. On national issues these regionals must be integrated into a well-oiled, smoothly functioning machine."

relaxation to tired minds and bodies. He never dressed for the game, but always came on the field in boots or overalls and yet was considered one of the leading local exponents and experts in that sport.

Rogers once said, when he was named a Presidential candidate:

"A comedian can only last until he takes himself serious or his audience takes him serious and I don't want either one of those to happen to me until I'm dead, if then. So let's stop all this foolishness right now."

He received 22 votes.

An incident typical of the man is currently being related at Twentieth Century-Fox. The studio had fixed up his bungalow with electric kitchen equipment and decorated the rooms with western and Indian trophies while the grounds were planted with cactus plants. Rogers looked in and said it was swell but never returned until the late President Coolidge and his wife visited there. Then he apologetically said:

"They had to sit somewhere, didn't they?"

Appeared in Many Benefits

He had appeared at innumerable Motion Picture Relief Fund benefits, turning down big offers to do so. He was a Methodist, a Shriner and an ardent admirer of Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army, and of Mark Twain.

Rogers always said white folks could not sing Negro spirituals and so always went to colored churches to hear them.

He always did exactly what he felt like doing while working before the camera, ad libbing at will with such excellent results his directors never interfered.

A Hollywood story, perhaps just a legend, has it Rogers never held a written contract with Winfield Sheehan when the latter was in charge of production. Rogers' word was his law.

He was the first in the film colony to use aeroplanes for commuting on a large scale and was credited with winning others over to this method of travel.

He always sat on the set composing his daily, newspaper-syndicated article letting the grips and the cameramen read copy before filing.

Rogers talked with kings, but he had the common touch.

Eulogized by N. Y. Press

Every newspaper in New York on Saturday published editorial eulogies to the memory of Will Rogers. Excerpts follow:

American—Rogers was many things—an actor of excellent ability, an orator of homely attractiveness, an observer of curious discernment, a gentle-spoken cynic when humbuggery called for ridicule, a humorist in the very traditions of Artemus Ward and Josh Billings with a quaint originality that was solely his own, and withal as truly and sagely a philosopher of life as were Emerson and Holmes and Mark Twain.

Daily Mirror—It is difficult to suggest any death that could deeply and sorrowfully affect as many Americans as does the death of Will Rogers.

He was the intimate friend, literally, of tens of millions of Americans. They knew his mind through his writings, knew his face, smile, his voice by the "movies." He had been read by millions and had spoken to millions, directly, and from the screen.

Daily News—Will Rogers had many talents, all of which he kept constantly at work, for himself and for the public amusement and improvement—though Rogers would have been the last to admit any intent to improve anybody.

He was a superb actor; perhaps the most representative American actor we have ever had, just as Mark Twain was our most representative American writer. Rogers also was the finest paragrapher in the country.

Evening Journal—Will Rogers was friend, mental companion, spokesman for the average, common sense American. . . . Above all, Will Rogers set a good example to every American, young and old, especially to the young.

He worked hard for what he got, and continued working hard after success came. . . . Will Rogers will long be remembered. No man in this country was better known or better liked. He will be remembered for his good humor, simplicity, manly friendship, utter frankness and for his courage.

First in America's Affections

Herald-Tribune— . . . world famous for his homely wit and representative comment, the other for his feats of flight. Will Rogers hadn't a living peer in the affections of America's millions.

Post—The Rogers of the lariat and the quip was the friend of Kings and Presidents. The Rogers of "Judge Priest" and "State Fair" and "Doctor Bull" was loved by millions the world over. They loved not merely Rogers, but something of what we like to think of as American.

Sun—Will Rogers was holder of a privileged and distinguished role—jester to the American public, which always expected and got from the jester an undercurrent of homely common sense, so simply and artlessly expressed that it reached everybody.

Times—A peculiar sense of national loss will be stirred by the tragic death of Mr. Rogers. He had a unique career, which we all like to think could have been run only in America. . . . Little need be said of Will Rogers's play-acting or appearance in moving pictures. They were a part of his versatility, and he carried them off with a gusto and impact of personality which usually left them beyond criticism. . . . It is certain that we shall not look upon Will Rogers's like again.

World-Telegram—Into a sentimental soil that has enshrined a David Harum, a Mark Twain and a Lindbergh this man, whose multiplex character comprised the appeal of all three, had sunk deep roots of human affection and respect.

Family Starts for West

Mrs. Will Rogers, her daughter, Mary, and youngest son, James, left New York Saturday for the family home at Beverly Hills. They were accompanied by Theda Blake, Mrs. Rogers' sister. An older son, Will, Jr., is already at the family home.

Mrs. Rogers and her daughter were at Skowhegan, Me., for the summer. The son, James, was visiting here.

Funeral arrangements for Rogers were being arranged at Beverly Hills over the week end.

Bodies in Seattle Today

SEATTLE, Aug. 18.—The bodies of Will Rogers and Wiley Post are due to arrive here tomorrow aboard a Pacific Alaska Airways plane from Juneau and will be immediately started on the way to their respective homes for funeral services.

Joe Crosson, Arctic flier and friend of Rogers and Post, flew from Juneau to Point Barrow, Alaska, where the bodies were placed aboard Crosson's plane on Saturday and started for Juneau. At that city the bodies were transferred to the Seattle plane.

Rogers' remains will be sent immediately to his Beverly Hills, Calif., home for funeral services, and Post's to the home of his parents near Maysville, Okla.

From Brisbane

Arthur Brisbane, in his column, "Today," which is published in the Hearst newspapers and syndicated to hundreds of others throughout the United States, on Saturday said, in part, of Will Rogers' death:

"It is probable that not half a dozen Americans have been known to the millions of this country as Will Rogers is known to them. They know his mind through his writings, and his face, his voice, and his smile, thanks to talking-moving pictures. . . .

"Millions of Americans will feel that in the death of Will Rogers they suffer loss of a personal friend."

Missouri Tax At Hand, But Not Machinery

mits, in that the tax may be uncollectible.

Rumors of a special session are being heard, particularly from Kansas City and St. Louis where it is believed that an extraordinary meeting of the assembly will be required to untangle "the sales tax mess."

Complicating the matter is Attorney General Roy McKittrick's opinion, given Aug. 7, that the one mill coins would not be legal for the collection of the one per cent sales tax in Missouri on sales of less than 10 cents.

"To require the payment of one mill on such transactions would be more than the law authorizes the seller to collect from the purchaser," said McKittrick.

"If Congress does not agree to these coins, we cannot tell when the state will be able to start collecting the tax," McKittrick has said.

If Forrest Smith, state auditor and collector of the tax, respects the opinion of McKittrick, he will have to issue stamps of one-tenth of a mill upward. But he already has looked into their use and found the cost will be prohibitive. Besides, those who must collect the tax—merchants, theatre men, etc.—do not like the coupon idea. Use of stamps is regarded by theatre men, merchants and others as almost impossible. Smith has returned to Jefferson City from Washington where he urged coinage of mill tokens.

Those most serious about the special session point out that the law is certain to be tested in the courts. It would be easier, they believe, to revise the law now than to subject it to a constitutional test when the method of collection is so doubtful.

E. E. Webber, operator of the Mary Lue, said he expected show business to fall off temporarily as a result of public antagonism to the sales tax.

Wilcox Rounds Out New Company Plans

Wilcox Prod., Ltd., and General Distributors, Ltd., C. M. Woolf's new company, will handle release as anticipated.

Each picture will cost £75,000. The first will be "The Street Singer" with Anna Neagle and Arthur Tracy and starts in three weeks with Wilcox directing. Second will be "The Blue Lagoon," which will be made in Honolulu in Technicolor. Ernest B. Schoedsack is due here shortly in connection with it. Efforts are being made to get either Joel McCrea or Richard Cromwell for the lead.

Tullio Carminati is planned for the third, a musical, with Miss Neagle in the support. An offer also has been made to Bing Crosby to star in the one outside picture he is permitted each year under his Paramount contract. Tom Walls and Ralph Lynn will co-star in two others.

Wilcox plans to direct two a year himself, supervise all of his independent product and continue supervision of the regular B. and D. output.

Sales in Sonotone Show 44% Increase

Sales of Sonotone hearing aids showed a 44 per cent increase during the first seven months of this year as compared with the like period last year, according to Dean Babbitt, general sales manager. The company's sales so far in 1935 amounted to $978,169, compared with $678,965 for the first seven months of 1934.

With the exception of a slight decline in Central Europe, due to exchange difficulties, all territories both in the United States and abroad have participated in the advance with the Pacific Coast states registering the sharpest gains, Babbitt said.

To Quiz Erpi Pacts

Hollywood, Aug. 18.—An RCA survey to determine whether Erpi's contracts with major studios are restrictive recording deals which prevent RCA from making pacts with studios is reported to be underway here. James Francis, RCA western general manager, and Frederick Leuschner, resident attorney for RCA, are said to be engaged in the study.

Charges M-G-M with Inaccuracies on Loy

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18.—Myron Selznick, agent, took it upon himself over the weekend to step into the Myrna Loy-M-G-M situation when he charged the producer with "certain inaccuracies" of statement relative to the studio's difficulty with the actress. Published statements in connection with the case demanded an explanation, Selznick said, and proceeded to give his.

Negotiation's for an adjustment of Miss Loy's M-G-M contract have been attempted by Selznick for the past year, he said, on his understanding that the studio had promised some adjustment at the time the contract was entered into.

In contradicting the studio's asserted claim that Miss Loy went to Europe without advising M-G-M, Selznick asserted that the actress had never been asked to return to Hollywood and that through her European trip and after her return to New York the company was in constant touch with her "and secured her services in making important publicity contacts with the press."

Selznick said Miss Loy's contract carries a 40-week per year work guarantee and that prior to her departure she was engaged daily in carrying out company instructions. However, he said, her salary was suspended while she was en route to Europe. She participated in exploitation activities on her return, he said, but the studio continued to withhold her salary, he charged, despite demands.

Paralysis Epidemic Tapers in Carolina ticipating a return to normalcy in business next month.

A slight decline in the number of new cases has been noted this month over the three previous months and, while the number has reached more than 530, state health officials say the last of this month or the first two weeks of September should see the end of the epidemic.

In some sections where the paralysis was most prevalent grosses were off as much as 50 per cent. In some counties where no recent outbreaks have occurred, local officials have lifted restrictions against children congregating and theatres in these counties are again open. Throughout the state, theatre operators have co-operated with health officials in efforts to prevent further spreading of the disease by refusing admittance to persons under 15.

tion of the court order. Both circuits have long-term contracts with Empire and are now understood to be amenable to a merger.

During the NRA fact-finding committee conferences several months ago Empire did not participate because of the court order. The conferences, which were held to formulate a basic wage scale for the local territory, provided Local 306 would take in members of Allied.

Provided the merger is effected, the two unions will marshal forces in a campaign against Local 306. Allied at present is picketing Loew houses in retaliation for the I.A.T.S.E. affiliate union drive against Harry Brandt.

At a meeting of the I.T.O.A. last week, members rallied to Brandt's support with financial assistance, but the head of the exhibitor unit declined, expressing confidence he would win out.

not meet Saturday. Mort Singer, who has been sitting in on the sessions with Leslie T. Thompson, is due back from Chicago today.

More than 250 Local 306 pickets were arrested last week on various charges. All but 55 were dismissed when arraigned before Magistrate Brodsky. As a result of an injury to a policeman, the sandwich men are experiencing rough treatment. Executives of the I. T. A. S. E. unit on Saturday declared the arrest of Albert Apterkar on felonious assault charges was "a frame up."

Cross picketing on Broadway is in full force. Every house on the stem has two men of either Local 306 of Allied union, according to who operates the house, marching up and down with placards. The circuit houses have Allied pickets and independent theatres have Local 306 sandwich men.

I. A. Head to Windy City

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—George E. Browne, president of the I.A.T.S.E., now in New York, is expected here within the next few days to discuss a new local operators' wage scale.

Allied of Illinois is particularly worried about the union situation here and, unless many details are worked out before Sept. 1, considerable difficulty is anticipated. The six-day law passed in the last term of the legislature is regarded by independents as working a hardship on them inasmuch as extra men will have to be employed.

Browne in Mystery Moves

Mystery surrounds the activities of George E. Browne, head of the I.A.T.S.E. While the local offices of the International state he is not in town, authoritative sources claim he is in New York and keeping an observant eye on negotiations being carried on between circuits and Local 306.

Songs, dances and witty sayings, all by Mrs. Brown's big-mouthed boy Joe, fill the Strand screen with first-rate fun that will add to Mr. Brown's prestige as a star comic, and likewise to the patronage of the theatres whose marquees and screens are decorated by 'Bright Lights'. It is, quite definitely, Joe E.'s most important vehicle, and provides the Warner clown with any number of opportunities to display both versatility and virtuosity as an entertainer. The settings, the songs are all that can be desired, and the constant center-staging of the star, clowning, singing, dancing and romancing gives the picture plenty of the Brown brand of entertainment, which is just what his customers order. He is the top and his romping antics stand out through every sequence. But credit, too, to Miss Dvorak and Miss Ellis. 'Bright Lights' is probably the best direction thus far contributed by Busby Berkeley. He has pointed his story for laughs, his dramatic scenes ring true, and the entire atmosphere of the piece is realistically established and maintained.

"Prenez Garde a la Peinture"

(John S. Tapernoux)

As far as American audiences are concerned, the main trouble with "Prenez Garde a la Peinture" ("Look Out for the Paint") is that it contains too much talk. This, however, is a fault that those who know French will not make much of, for the dialogue is amusing at all times. The filmgoer without a knowledge of the tongue may find the production a bit tedious though very easy to understand since there are English subtitles in profusion.

Taken from the Rene Fauchois comedy which was the source of the Sidney Howard play of several seasons ago, "The Late Christopher Bean," the film, an Epoc production, tells of a French country doctor who is suddenly thrust into the limelight when art collectors invade his home in search of paintings left by an artist who has acquired posthumous fame.

The doctor is maddened by the thought he has destroyed many of the painter's works left in his care in the belief that they were so much trash. Much of the comedy is supplied by the family's frantic efforts to unearth the paintings that were not destroyed. The experience serves to win the doctor over to the idea of his daughter marrying a struggling young painter.

The film possesses many grand moments of fun and has been nicely photographed. Among those in the fine cast are Asquistapace, Renee Dennsy, Simone Simon, Milly Mathis, Jean Brunil and Charlotte Clasis.

Henry Chomette handled the direction commendably.

No production code seal. Running time, 85 minutes. "G."

"The Desert Trail"

(Republic)

Despite its weak and unconvincing story, "The Desert Trail," one of the Lone Star series starring John Wayne, ought to be acceptable to western fans, thanks to a lavish display of action and humor.

The picture gets into its stride when Wayne and a pal, a gambler, are suspected of having committed a murder. Wayne knows at least who one of the real murderers is, so he sets out to get him. Meanwhile the law continues its pursuit of him and his friend. Things get hotter for the two men when they are accused of having engineered a stage hold-up. Wayne and his companion are cleared when the brother of the girl he loves (Mary Kornman) confesses on his death-bed that he and the man sought by Wayne perpetrated both crimes. The film ends with Wayne and Miss Kornman in each other's arms.

Others in the cast include Paul Fix, Eddie Chandler, Carmen La Roux, Lafe McKee, Al Ferguson and Henry Hall. The direction is credited to Cullen Lewis.

No production code seal. Running time, 54 minutes. "G."

Festivities under the direction of Jack Byrne, Nat Furst and Barney Pitkin, began mid-morning and lasted until midnight.

Interstate Buys 3 Theatres in Dallas

Dallas, Aug. 19.—The Interstate Circuit, Inc., has purchased the White, Dal-sec and Forest, three neighborhood houses, from M. S. White.

Admission prices in these houses have been 25 cents at the White and 15 cents at the other two. Policy under Interstate operation is yet to be determined, although it is stated by that office that the contract clause governing other subsequent run houses which limits Class A pictures to a 25-cent admission will be observed by the circuit.

The low-price houses will be operated either on B pictures or will charge 25 cents for the A pictures. The change will be made Sept. 1.

This expansion is in line with the Interstate policy to control the metropolitan subsequent run situations in Texas cities as a protection to first runs.

Louisville Rosier, Despite Paralysis

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 19.—At least three downtown first runs are making a fair showing, in spite of the unfortunate continuance of the ban on children under 14 years of age. Several new infantile paralysis cases in the city have had a tendency to cause adults to shy away from crowds of any kind, and word-of-mouth conversation has not helped matters any. Children are just not coming down town and family trade has suffered for this reason.

SPEAKING OF CANS

• • • Ordinarily the Universal newsreel does not turn around and bite the Pekingese poodles which yap at its heels.

• • • We are accustomed to being imitated and followed.

• • • But now one of our imitators is trying to sell you its newsreel by assuring you that it has "cans and cans" of news shots of the Italo-Abyssinian war even before the war starts.

• • • Universal Newsreel does not sell you any canned goods.

• • • If Mussolini and Haile Selassie take shots at each other with real guns instead of with jawbones, Universal will give you the hot stuff.

• • • It won't come from canned goods. It will be the real McCoy.

• • • It would be dishonest to absolutely guarantee that we will lick the world on real news of any Ethiopian scrap—but on past performances, Universal Newsreel should be your best bet on real stuff—with nothing from the can.

• • • If you can buy your newsreel independently, you will buy the Universal Newsreel. If you are the buyer for chain theatres you will have to buy from your own producer and take what you can get out of the can.

Bullfighter Presses Judgments vs. Fox

A motion was filed in the New York Supreme Court yesterday by counsel for Sidney Franklin, professional bull fighter, directing that two judgments be entered against the Fox Film Corp. and Fox Movietone News, Inc. The first judgment is sought for $1,239, allegedly due as expense money for arrangement of certain exhibitions of bull fighting and a second judgment asked for an assessment of damages on the ground that the defendants violated his rights of privacy in using photographs for trade purposes without his written permission. He originally asked for $100,000 damages.

The petition sets forth that prior to Aug. 16, 1929 Wm. G. O'Brien, employed by Movietone News as a contact man, requested Franklin to allow pictures to be taken of him which Franklin agreed to permit with the provision, so Franklin charges, that they were not to be exploited but strictly to be used for newsreel purposes.

Franklin charges that two years later the defendant sold his pictures to the Bray Pictures Corp. and were subsequently incorporated in a picture called "Throwing the Bull," which he says was a violation of his rights. A general denial has been entered by the defense that Franklin's pictures were ever used for any other purpose except in their newsreel capacity. The hearing was set for Aug. 30.

active opposition, describe it as a campaign to "harass" the Society and exhaust it with the defending and contesting of adverse legislation and litigation. The organization, however, is taking no immediate steps to test the constitutionality of the Wisconsin, Louisiana or Georgia legislation which has been enacted because, according to a spokesman, no effort has been made by the states to collect the taxes provided for in the measures or to enforce any of their other provisions against the operations of the Society. Until such steps have been taken by the states, it was said, Ascap will make no defensive move even though it believes the bulk of the legislation enacted against it to date to be unconstitutional.

The extremity of the new type of legislation being proposed, and of that already enacted, is typified by the Louisiana law which provides for payment of a $5,000 annual tax for each parish within the state in which an organization licensing public performers of copyrighted music operates. There are 60 parishes in Louisiana, which would make Ascap's annual tax for operating in that state $300,000.

Representatives of the Society assert that Ascap's revenue from the state averages approximately $42,000 per year. Thus the nature of the tax legislation, obviously, would put Ascap out of existence in the state if the measure was enforced. Ascap officials say the same intent is apparent in legislation enacted or proposed in other states.

break about average, and majority are suffering severe slump. The Rialto with "Every Night at Eight" did a little below average, getting $4,800. Libson's Mary Anderson deemed $5,000 on "The Irish in Us" sufficiently encouraging to hold over. At Loew's State "Woman Wanted" did fair business, $4,700 being slightly below average. "The Black Room" (Columbia) didn't help any.

16 Continuances; Out

SEATTLE, Aug. 19.—After 16 continuances in the past year, a belated NRA case against Sam Sax and the Rex was dismissed by Justice William R. Bell. Sax was charged with violating the code on wages paid projectionists on June 4, 1934, by the King County prosecutor's office. Continuances since that time filled nearly a full page in the court record book.

The theatre is now operated by John Danz, as part of his Sterling chain. Sax is no longer with the house.

Rule Screeno Off

CINCINNATI, Aug. 19.—Screeno, barred in the city because of the lottery angle, also is definitely out in the county. Sheriff Geo. A. Lutz has ordered the stunt discontinued at the Andalus, St. Bernard, and another house at Cheviot. Both situations are close-in suburbans, but outside the city limits.

law violation in a test case on gambling. The decision, pending for more than three weeks, was handed down after Erie County's Sheriff Michael Maher and District Attorney Newcomb had visited the Maryvale track, in Cheektowaga, and succeeded in closing the profit-sharing certificate booths.

Judge Milne found no evidence of gambling in the case of Carl Wolfe, president of the concern operating the track, and Roy Wilson, ticket seller for the profit-sharing certificate system.

The track has bitten deeply into Buffalo theatre grosses since its opening five weeks ago. Blanketing the city with passes and operating under lights, the project has been pulling crowds of 8,000 and 9,000 people. Originally scheduled to close at the end of this week, operations may continue throughout this month and part of September if such crowds can and are willing to spend their money in the certificate plan or a similar device.

Temporary hesitation in the formation of a local unit is predicated on lack of cooperation, financial and otherwise, which characterized previous organizations here, and which ultimately caused them to disband.

Timely in St. Loo

St. Louis, July 30.

Best exploitation campaign St. Louis film row has seen this year was executed this week by the Fanchon & Marco boys on Republic's 'New Adventures of Tarzan.' The conservative Pevely Dairy Company and their biggest competitor, the DeLuxe Ice Cream Company, joined to sponsor the picture and a kiddie show that brought 4,300 little folk to the Missouri theatre to start the week's engagment off with a bang. Joining in with these two big dairies was the Star-Times which went after the Tarzan showing as a promotion feature devoting much daily news space and street ballyhoo.

The two dairies, major advertisers in this territory, paid for eight full quarter-page ads in the dailies, copy for which was prepared by the theatre's advertising department. Parading the streets for two weeks in advance and during the showing of the picture this week have been 35 DeLuxe trucks and 60 Pevely trucks with mammoth banners, while all their little trucks carried cards. Dairy companies paid for 15,000 window cards and outdoor displays. More than 55,000 milk bottles and 10,000 ice cream packages were sniped. Picture of the trucks delivering Tarzan ice cream cups were made and shoved into the news weekly in return for the vast campaign which was furnished gratis to the theatre. Hook-up made by Charlie Kurtzman and handled in its entirety by Kurtzman and his partner, Harry Greenman, with Francis Curley and Lucille Byrne of the F&M staff assisting.

The application stated that the charter was being withdrawn because the local had reduced the salary of its recording secretary from $2,600 a year to $350 when it was faced with bankruptcy because of the unemployment of 80 per cent of its members.

Century Gets Opening Deal—Follows Break With RKO

After several unsuccessful attempts to get together with RKO, Warners yesterday took the first step in making good its threat to sell independents.

A. W. Smith, Jr., vice-president in charge of eastern and Canadian sales, sold his product complete to 30 Brooklyn and Long Island theatres in the Century circuit.

Signing of the Warner deal places Century in the same first run level as Loew's and RKO. A. H. Schwartz has been fighting for years to get first run product in opposition to the two major circuits without success. About two years ago, Century ended a booking and buying arrangement with RKO, but several months ago made a pooling deal with Skouras Theatres on a number of Long Island proper-

Buys 3 Big London Houses; GB Stepping

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Gaumont British has purchased three of the H. and G. theatres in London and is preparing to step out after others.

Acquired from H. and G. Kinemas, Ltd., in which the Hyams brothers and Major Gale are the principals, are the Trocadero, Elephant and Castle; the Troxy, Commercial Road; and the Trocette, Tower and Bridge Road at a price reported at £700,000. The houses will be operated by Gaumont British Super Cinemas & Cinemas, Ltd., a new company.

The Kinematograph Renters' Society ban on Gaumont theatre expansion apparently has been defeated by formation of the new company.

Paramount was originally after the H. and G. circuit in London. Generally understood to have been the reason for his visit, Phil Hyams came to New York about a year ago with executives of the Paramount's British distributing organization. Nothing, however, materialized.

"Seas" for Third Week

"China Seas," first picture on the Capitol's all film program, will be held over for a third week. This is the first to be held for such a run since "David Copperfield" played there last January.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

THE beginnings of an unusual situation began to take form yesterday when it became an established fact that the Warners, selling away from RKO, had sold their complete lineup to Abe Schwartz and his Century Circuit. Sounding like just another film deal, this one is far removed from merely that. And the reasons are several as well as good. . . .

Last season, the Warner lineup split into equal parts and, share and share alike, went to Loew's and RKO. This season, Loew's bought the half of Paramount which had been wending its way into the RKO camp for some years under franchise. Numerically, therefore, the Loew outfit had what it needed what with the second Paramount split replacing the thirty purchased in 1934-35 from Warners. The obvious place for the Warners to turn, of course, was RKO. They met. They dickered. They found themselves only $190,000 apart. And so apart they are staying. . . .

Andy Smith sponsored published stories that he would sell away from RKO and to the independents in this area. There were snickers when there weren't smiles; the old timers remarked Smith's diplomatic strategy was old-fashioned, well-known and well-worn. They thought he was kidding and, to let you in on a minor secret, so did we. Now comes along the deal with Schwartz to prove to those who smiled too soon that here was no idle talk. Contracts somehow or other manage to retain their power to impress. . . .

What happens now? This happens: The Century chain, spread out over Brooklyn and into Long Island towns becomes a first run circuit. While it cannot have the product availabilities which are either Loew's or RKO's, the Warner deal—first run, mind you — takes those Schwartz houses, lifts them by their marquees and propels them into the classification of neighborhood first runs. Just like many of the houses operated by the two major circuits. In effect, although patently not so powerfully entrenched as to become a menace, Loew and RKO operators have this morning that which they have never wanted and have thus far avoided: a direct-opposition third circuit in their always sacrosanct territory. . . .

Knowing full well the stroke of good fortune which has come his way, the Schwartz headquarters were busy yesterday making plans. They include conversion of five houses from twice weekly into week stands, thrice weekly to twice weekly and so on up the line, including a general hike in admissions. Having started this upset, Smith, it becomes apparent, will go further and by additional deals with additional independents in other city zones make possible for them what he has made possible for Schwartz. This is old stuff for the Warners. Their Philadelphia zone one season failed to close with M-G-M, which did there what Smith is starting here. The heat was considerable. . . .

As a matter of fact, it was quite a day for Schwartz on another score as well. The Warner-RKO deliberations which went aground found echo in that circuit's dealings with G.B. Once reported to have been signed, yesterday brought to light twin facts: (1) that no signatures had been affixed and (2) G.B.'s eighteen had been placed with Century, also on a first run basis. Schwartz, therefore, has a seventy-eight total to play around with, or just about half of the product assembled by Loew's for this new season. It looks like quite a fall, seasonally speaking. . . .

Paramount is yet to be heard from on the Myrna Loy-Metro contract tangle. Hitherto unpublished dope: H. and M. Pictures Corp.—that's Hecht and MacArthur—holds an agreement to make two pictures, each costing $250,000, and an option on a third; Paramount to finance. But the distributor also has the right to approve stories and casts. The question is simple enough: Will Paramount incur Nick Schenck's displeasure by handling a picture with the disputed player in the lead? Worth cogitating over, also, is this: This week it's Metro with the star trouble. Next week, it may be Paramount. . . .

Truman Talley is sizzling over Bob Gillham's newsreel copy, published on the page facing this one yesterday. It was a crack at Fox Movietone's Laurence Stallings expedition to Ethiopia, in which Paramount made the flat statement: "We don't believe in Stalling!" and "the Paramount boys have already started calling Haile Selassie by his first name." A handful of pages back, Charlie Ford, who edits Universal Newsreel, gave Talley further cause for fury when he chirped "one of our imitators is trying to sell you its newsreel by assuring you that it has 'cans and cans' of news shots of the Italo-Abyssinian war even before the war starts." This department is enjoying it, particularly at full page rates. . . .

summating the merger with Twentieth Century. The stockholders' meeting was postponed until today at 3 P. M. in anticipation of a decision from the court by that time.

The Twentieth Century-Fox Film merger was overwhelmingly approved by Fox stockholders at the initial meeting held last Thursday, but further steps toward consummation of the plan are awaiting Judge McLaughlin's decision on the court action.

Delinquencies Halt Circuit's Election

Election of officers and directors of the recently organized Independent Theatres Circuit, Inc., met a temporary setback yesterday. The delay was due to delinquency of exhibitors who have signed up in sending in checks, it was stated.

About 80 local houses have signed pledges to go along with the circuit, but according to the committee's plans no elections will take place until everyone puts the money on the line.

Harry Brandt, president of the I.T.O.A., has stated he will include his 42 theatres provided there are 75 paid up members. This number has not yet been reached, but is expected within the next week or so. In the event Brandt joins, he will most likely be named president at $1,000 a week.

Milton C. Weisman, attorney for the I.T.O.A., will call a meeting of all the signatories as soon as the 75 submit payments pledged. He has already turned down the presidency.

Astor All Set for "Crusades" Opening

The stage is set for the first two-a-day opening of the season at the Astor tonight when "The Crusades" makes its bow.

Mounted policemen and patrolmen have been assigned to handle the traffic and crowds expected at the opening to listen to the program of events that will be carried from inside the theatre to the street by means of loudspeakers. The entire proceedings will be broadcast over station WHN.

For the past three weeks the Astor itself has undergone a complete renovation.

Cecil B. DeMille is in from the coast to attend the opening of his film and Henry Wilcoxson, who is starred, will also be present tonight.

Connolly Leaves to Set Up War Coverage

Jack Connolly, general manager of Pathe News, sails on the Normandie today to participate in the organization of two camera units to cover the anticipated Italo-Ethiopian war. Pathe is tying up with the Pathe newsreel companies in France and England on a three-way deal. He expects to be back here in about three weeks.

ties. Physical exchange of the theatres is slated to take place Sept. 1.

Also signed up by Schwartz are 18 G. B. pictures. Both deals give Century 78 first runs. The first Warner 1935-36 release is expected next month. Century plans to change policies in practically all of its units. Five of the 30 will play week stands. A number of houses now changing three times a week will switch shows twice. Some double feature houses will revert to single bills. Admissions will be increased all along the line.

During the last months of the code, Century brought a clearance and zoning complaint against RKO. The case lasted for many weeks with Louis Nizer, secretary of the New York Film Board, retained specially by the major circuit. Mitchell Klupt represented Century. The independent circuit tried to break down the week's clearance the RKO Alden, Jamaica, and Strand, Far Rockaway, held over the Fantasy, Rockville Centre. After many weeks, the local board decided in favor of RKO as far as Far Rockaway was concerned, but voted against the major outfit on the Alden. Both circuits appealed to Campi, but after one hearing the code expired at the hands of the U. S. Supreme Court, leaving the protection in status quo.

Cancelled Para. Agreement

RKO, which has had half of Paramount on a franchise, several months ago cancelled the long-term agreement. Shortly after negotiations were begun on a one-year deal for 50 per cent of the new lineup. After several conferences, Paramount turned down RKO's offer and threatened to sell to independents. While Paramount was keeping RKO guessing to whom it was selling, a surprise was sprung when Loew's closed for the balance of the 65 films.

With the second Paramount deal, Loew's had to forget about the 50 per cent of the Warner features it had last year. RKO, last season, had 30 Warner films and, losing Paramount, negotiated with Smith for the 60 new features to fill the gap. The price discussions between Nate Blumberg and John O'Connor of RKO and Smith didn't last long when Warners threatened to sell away from the major circuit.

Although Smith could not be reached for verification, it was reported that Warners had sold Century a first run contract for the Patio, Brooklyn, and in the event a deal was later consummated with RKO, the Kenmore would play day-and-date. RKO did not go for the idea of Warners elevating the Patio, which has been a third run for the past five years, to top run and would not consider a blanket deal in view of this lone contract, it is reported.

Schwartz was only too willing to sign for all Warner features and shorts first run. A deal was closed in short order.

Not only has RKO lost Paramount and Warners, but also G.B. After a deal had been all set between the circuit and the third distributor, and announcements had been made to the trade press, a turn in events took place and G.B. officials called the affair quits. Several important independent circuits, including Harry Brandt, are understood after the 18 pictures. The Century deal is said to be the snag in RKO's deliberations with G.B.

Old Timers Swap Stories

Enlivened by Morton Downey singing four songs as he played his own piano accompaniment including a couple of lively Irish tunes, friends of Winfield Sheehan yesterday gathered at the Lotos Club to give him a farewell luncheon. He sails today on the Normandie with his bride, the former Maria Jeritza, for an extended European trip.

Downey submitted to an encore, remarking at the same time, "it was a hell of a lot in return for chicken served under a glass"; Charles Francis Coe, author who had worked for Sheehan while the latter was with Fox and who is also president of the Lotos Club, acted as master of ceremonies in a thoroughly informal manner; Edward P. Mulrooney, former police commissioner and now chairman of the State Liquor Control, and George M. Cohan spoke and said things about the guest of honor which appeared to make him go into a pleasant blush.

One serious note was struck when Cohan offered a silent toast to the memory of Will Rogers. The 40 men present rose to their feet to comply.

The group included W. G. Van Schmus, Walter J. Moore, Nathan Burkan, Ray Henderson, Maurice MacKenzie, John O'Brien, Jack Connolly, E. M. Fay, Martin Quigley, Colvin Brown, Terry Ramsaye, Don Mersereau, Sid Silverman, P. S. Harrison, Eddie Dowling, John C. Flinn, J. J. McCarthy, Richard Bennett, James Hanley, O. O. McIntyre, George J. Atwell, A. Bernard Moloney, Walter C. Howie, John J. McElligott, Webster Todd, Dr. Menas Gregory, Leon Gordon, Patrick F. Scanlan, C. V. R. Thompson; the following film critics: Andre Sennwald, New York Times; Richard Watts, Jr., New York Herald-Tribune; William Boehnel, New York World-Telegram; Thornton Delehanty, New York Evening Post; as well as Howard Barnes of the drama department of the New York Herald-Tribune and Red Kann.

Morris Leaves to Fix 'Dream' Dates Abroad

Sam E. Morris, vice-president in charge of foreign distribution for Warners, sails at noon on the Normandie to make arrangements for runs of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" in important continental cities. Another job which takes him overseas is a conference with Irving Ascher on the company's British production program. From 15 to 20 features will be made in London this year to meet Warners' quota requirements.

Present plans are to open the picture in London and Stratford-on-Avon simultaneously with the New York and other American key city premieres the week of Oct. 9.

Winn, New District M'g'r for Warners

James Winn, Warners' branch manager in Chicago, was advanced to the post of midwest district manager for the company yesterday by Grad Sears. Winn will headquarter in Chicago.

The advancement gives Winn, former St. Louis branch manager for Warners, supervision over St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Des Moines, Minneapolis and Milwaukee, in addition to Chicago. His successor as branch manager in Chicago has not been named yet.

bers, thereby solidifying the campaign against Local 306.

Allied yesterday continued its picketing of Broadway houses. Establishing some sort of precedent, two of the local's pickets yesterday started parading at the Astor, which opens tonight with "The Crusades" on a two-a-day policy.

Magistrate Brodsky has warned Local 306 that if there are any further arrests of pickets in the Times Square section he would immediately impose sentence on 14 men who were arrested last week. He has reserved decision on these cases until Sept. 9. More than 150 of Local 306's members were arraigned before Brodsky last Friday and a number of others will be brought before him this Friday on various charges.

Negotiations between major circuits and Local 306 for the establishment of a new basic wage scale continue smoothly and are expected to wind up the latter part of the week. The talks pivot around a two-year deal, effective Sept. 1. Circuits are expected to be granted concessions in the scale now in effect.

AS A MARK OF RESPECT TO THE MEMORY OF WILL ROGERS ALL UNIVERSAL OFFICES WILL CLOSE TOMORROW AT NOON. . . . . . ALTHOUGH UNIVERSAL HAS NEVER HAD THE HONOR OF A BUSINESS CONNECTION WITH MR. ROGERS, I REALIZE THAT HE IN HIS OWN WAY CONTRIBUTED MUCH TO OUR INDUSTRY AND TO OUR SENSE OF WHAT IS DECENT AND CLEAN. I PAY THIS TRIBUTE TO HIM EVEN THOUGH I KNOW THAT SUCH A TRIBUTE WOULD EMBARRASS HIM IF HE WERE STILL WITH US. IT IS UNIVERSAL'S OFFERING TO HIS SPLENDID FAMILY AND TO HIS GLORIOUS MEMORY.

Solid Allied Ranks Is Aim Of Samuelson

relations with other exhibitors, there is a record of service, of internal arbitration of difficulties between members by the executive committee, conciliation on cut price admissions; securing product in highly competitive situations and preventing invasion of the territory of one member by another," the New Jersey head states.

"There are two definite instances to illustrate the principle of organization strength," he added. "In one case a member found himself deluged by unfair non-theatrical competition. Within a week, by proper representations, the organization was successful in eliminating the competition. In another case, a member found himself in competition with free government shows. It took a little longer, but the opposition was done away with in a few weeks. In stopping the latter type of competition, a spread of free shows throughout the state was also halted."

Samuelson holds that the future of the independent will be more definitely secured when he builds closer and finer contacts with his patrons through the medium of organized civic groups. He says the organization has been unusually active in making contacts of this character. In two instances members reported increases at the boxoffice from contacts by civic organizations.

One particular bugaboo eliminated since the last convention here is dog racing. Samuelson points with pride to the fact that the puppy tracks have been cleared from the state of New Jersey. Fear of added taxes has also been done away with. The local Allied president claims these feats would not be possible had full organization support been lacking.

The program for Wednesday is as follows: Eastern regional meeting in the Gold room at 10 A.M., following which there will be a lunch recess. Eastern directors will meet briefly after lunch. At 2:30, Samuelson will talk to all conventionites, discussing the business and social programs. At 4 P. M., a sailing party will be held for women and children. At 8:30 P.M., and for two hours, a reception will be in order in the Trellis Room. Dancing at the Ritz Garden will bring the waltzers and one-steppers on the floor at 10 P.M.

Toronto Exhibitors Win Tax Concession

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Following vigorous complaints from exhibitors, Premier M. F. Hepburn tonight announced an amendment to the amusements tax act providing tax exemption on all tickets up to and including 25 cents sold to children under 16 years of age.

This was the first victory for theatre owners in the long tax fight, but they pointed out the concession meant a saving of only $50,000 in a year, whereas tax increases put into effect last June meant a total increase in the amusements levy of more than $2,000,000 in 12 months. Pressure on the government will continue.

Production Will Halt

Hollywood, Aug. 20.—Production at all studios will cease on Thursday during the funeral of Will Rogers. Studio officials at a meeting presided over by Will Hays and Louis B. Mayer voted unanimously today for a general shutdown. Exchanges throughout the country have been asked to close also. Each studio will hold separate services with ministers of various faiths officiating.

Pall Cast Over Troupe

Grafton, Mass., Aug. 20. — The death of Will Rogers has cast a deep pall of gloom over the troupe making "Ah! Wilderness" here, for the famous actor-humorist originally had been offered the father role played on the stage by George M. Cohan.

Just before leaving Hollywood Clarence Brown had pleaded with Rogers to take the part. Will declined, saying he needed a vacation and was going on a plane trip to Alaska with Wiley Post.

Brown, himself a pilot, has flown Rogers many times and also flew in formation with Post on the coast.

FWC Books Rogers

Hollywood, Aug. 20.—"Steamboat 'Round the Bend," one of Will Rogers' last pictures, has been booked into the Loew's and Chinese here by FWC for a one-week engagement starting Saturday. The booking was limited because the campaign for "China Seas," scheduled to start Aug. 31, was too well along to be changed.

"Curly Top," currently playing at Loew's and the Chinese, will be pulled after 10 days and booked into the United Artists, which opens its doors for that purpose. The Rogers film will go into the United Artists after its first run providing "Curly Top" slips, otherwise it will be rushed into neighborhood houses.

Chicago Opening Friday

Chicago, Aug. 20.—"Steamboat Round the Bend" goes into the Roosevelt in the "loop" here starting Friday. The last Rogers, "Doubting Thomas," which met with mediocre success downtown and first run neighborhood houses has done a standout business in second and third run neighborhoods since the fatality. The picture is being held over in all of the houses and is doing capacity business.

Old One-Reelers Revived

Chicago, Aug. 20.—A number of one-reel pictures made about seven years ago featuring Will Rogers on an air tour of Europe are now being released again. Superior Pictures are handling the product which was made by Amity Pictures.

Charles Kamp handled them when they first came out some years ago. H. E. Waldron, of the Sheaffer Fountain Pen Co., produced.

lar per $1,000 of declared valuation, on which the House made no recommendation, will be increased to $1.40, this representing a concession by the Senate from its proposed rate of $1.50.

House conferees receded from their demand for excess taxes ranging from five to 20 per cent on profits in excess of eight per cent and accepted the Senate provision for a tax of six per cent on profits between 10 and 15 per cent of declared valuation and 12 per cent on higher profits. The present tax is five per cent on all profits above 12½ per cent.

In disposing of these items the House conferees agreed to a Senate amendment permitting corporations the privilege of declaring a new valuation.

In dealing with income received by corporations from other corporations the conferees agreed to apply the regular corporation taxes against 10 per cent of the amount so received, in lieu of the 15 per cent to which the Senate would apply the tax.

Senate provisions increasing the surtax rates on the net income of personal holding companies were accepted, the schedule ranging from 20 per cent on such net income not exceeding $2,000 to 60 per cent on income in excess of $1,000,000. This section is aimed less at the development of revenue than at the discouragement of the existence of such holding companies as a means of evading the regular surtaxes.

Censor Davey Talk; Used "Hell" on Air

Columbus, Aug. 20.—A precedent in radio broadcasting was established here yesterday when the local station WAIU cut Governor Davey off the air for two minutes for using the words "hell," "damn" and "humorous stories" in his renewed attack on George W. Rightmire, president of Ohio State University, whose appropriation he recently reduced.

Talking before the Ohio State Federation of Labor convention, Davey, in his attack, said:

"If Rightmire is unable to operate the university on a reduced budget and can't get along on $10,000 yearly salary he'd better get the hell out of the university."

K. C. Zoning Plan Given Distributors

Jay Means of the Oak Park and Bagdad, president of the ITO, and J. F. Rigney of the Westport.

Exhibitors feel fairly confident that their petition, backed so wholeheartedly by independent exhibitors, will have weight in the setting up of any schedule here this fall. Presentation of the petition and schedule is considered well-timed because buying for the new season has not yet started and it is understood Elmer C. Rhoden of Fox Midwest will not go to New York to complete product deals till the end of next week.

Some exchange managers have, it is understood, expressed their opinion that independents were wise in working out a schedule before buying for the new season's products had started, especially in view of its 100 per cent backing by independent suburbans. Distributors have, heretofore had occasion to point out to independents the ineffectiveness of presenting a plan or objections after circuits have bought.

Young regards as good the possibility of getting all the petition asks and believes that independents are certain to get something more than they would have gotten if they had not made the effort at this time. While Rolsky regards the effort a move in the right direction, he is not quite so optimistic as Young.

The proposed clearance schedule is very similar to one in use for two or three years before NRA except that giveaways are penalized—with singles, 28 days behind regular spot; with doubles, 56 days behind.

Briefly reviewed, the schedule: 28 days between first and first suburban runs, which have 28 days over 25 cent subsequent. These have 14 days over 20 cent, which have 14 over 15, which have 28 over 10 cent.

Fox Midwest management is said to have liked the clearance schedule when it was in effect before, and independents liked it about as well as anything they have had. A large share of independent exhibitors feel Rhoden is reasonable, and hence feel the plan has a good chance of going through.

Zasu Pitts Satire Reaches New Peak in Pantages Hit

Zasu Pitts gets her man in "She Gets Her Man," at Pantages Hollywood, and she likewise gets all the laughs there are in the customers. For sheer hilarious joy this comedy reminds one of the palmy days of Mack Sennett, Fatty Arbuckle and Charlie Chaplin. And it sets the pace for all talkie comedies of its type from now on, combining in suave fashion the clever features of the old and new.

FACIAL EXPRESSIONS HELP

Of course, much of this result is due to the incomparably funny pantomime and facial expressions of Zasu Pitts, but the work of Hugh O'Connell, Helen Twelvetrees, Lucien Littlefield, Warren Hymer and the rest also contribute a perfect complement, while William Nigh's direction doubtless is responsible for the effect of complete and hilarious spontaneity. Aben Kandel and David Diamond are the authors.

Zasu as Esmeralda, the dumb lunch-counter girl, accidentally falls on a burglar alarm in a bank during a hold-up, and the happenings which follow, when Hugh O'Connell as a smart exploitation manager puts her at the head of a women's crush-crime crusade, keep the house in stitches.

Nothing funnier than her first frightened appearance on a lecture platform has been devised, unless it is her appearance before the crooks' convention, when she reforms them all, and they form an Esmeralda Society, too.

But you must see it to realize how funny it all is. Not only are the gags superlatively amusing, but the story comes very close to top-notch satire at times.

"Irish" with $19,200 Tops Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Earle last week rang the bell—and then some—when "The Irish in Us" smashed through to a $19,200 gross, bettering par by $800, which was mildly augmented by Phil Spitalny's all-girl orchestra on the stage.

"Irish" First In Pittsburgh With $19,000

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—With the momentum it has managed to gather in the last few months, the Stanley continues to turn a nice profit week after week. Once again, it leads the town by a wide margin, this time with "The Irish in Us" and the Texas Mustangs' Band from Southern Methodist University, the combination turning in a fine gross of $19,000.

However, the Stanley was the only one of the three first-runs to better average business last week. The new W. C. Fields picture, "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," was a distinct disappointment at the Penn, doing only around $6,000, while at the Warner "The Black Room" and "Old Man Rhythm" couldn't lift that site above $3,600.

Total grosses in three first runs were $28,600. Average is $24,300.

"Alibi Ike" Best In Better Lincoln

LINCOLN, Aug. 20.—The breaking heat wave and subsequent cool weather raised the business ante generally all over town here after expectancy was for a very dull week. "Alibi Ike" was the current toast, swinging along to $2,700, or $500 over the norm for the Lincoln. "Broadway Gondolier" surprised at the Stuart by making nearly average play to $3,000 after a bad showing was almost bet on.

The Varsity's continued operation without newspapers is a puzzle, but the present dual, "Man Who Knew Too Much" and "After the Dance," hit $1,100, $100 to the good. The Orpheum went with a bang on a first half dual of "Billy the Kid" and "Going Highbrow," but only so-soed on the tail end with "She" and "Honeymoon Ltd." The week got $1,600, off a C note.

Total first run business was $9,200. Average is $8,850.

Heat in Oklahoma City Exacts Toll

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 20.—The heat left its mark here last week, although total first run business managed to run $200 ahead of average. The take was $18,700, comparing with a normal $18,500.

"Murder Man" at the Criterion did $5,500, a gain of $500, thus marking that house as the lone hand in beating averages. Major Bowes' amateur show played the Warner with "Lady Tubbs" as its running mate, but the best that happened there was an average $5,000.

Stage 19 is being completely renovated and insulated with a new fibrous absorbent material.

Hot Days in Quaker Town Leave Mark

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—Four consecutive hot days cut heavily into grosses. This being the end of the contract season, nothing very exciting was offered.

"Curly Top" did not quite make the full three weeks expected of it at the Fox and was taken off after 14 days. Gracie Barrie and her all-girl revue were also held over for an extra week. The combination did a neat $11,000 on its last six days.

Two films disappointed. "Every Night at Eight" at the Stanley had little appeal and did $8,000. The Boyd pulled "Jalna" after playing it only five days. It was scheduled for six. It drew $6,000; very poor. The Arcadia took "Shanghai" at second run and made it pay, if not dividends, at least all expenses. Held for eight days, it clicked for $2,400.

Total first run business was $50,700. Average is $63,900.

The park originally was under supervision of the late Col. I. M. Martin, who subsequently operated the Orpheum, 2,100-seat suburban. The house now is owned and operated by the heirs of the Martin estate.

Leo Carrillo On Stage Top In Bean Town

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—Leo Carrillo on the stage of the Metropolitan, with "Every Night at Eight" on the screen, gave the Metropolitan a $24,000 gross, or $2,000 ahead of normal.

The Fenway and Paramount, for the first time in months, went to single features and established a summer record for themselves with "Dante's Inferno" at $5,000 for the former and the same picture for the latter with $8,000.

Loew's State dipped to $8,000, which was $4,000 under normal with a revival of "Smilin' Thru." Its running mate was "After the Dance," a Columbia picture, which failed to help.

Weather was fair and hot and the new pari-mutuel tracks established a new high which didn't help theatre grosses one whit.

"Gondolier" With $6,750 Seattle Lead

SEATTLE, Aug. 20.—It was "Broadway Gondolier" which delivered the best performance in this city last week. At $6,750 it gave the Orpheum $1,750 more than routine business for that stand and moves to the Blue Mouse for continued run.

The Paramount, which played "Man on the Flying Trapeze" and "Murder Man," ran ahead of what has been its usual business by doing $5,200, a gain of $200. Other theatres were so-so, the 5th Ave. pulling "The Farmer Takes a Wife" after five days and a $3,650 gross.

Holds Jersey Law Stymies Bank Nights

Samuelson So Informs Allied Meeting

By BILL ORNSTEIN

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 21.—That the New Jersey state law prohibiting pari-mutuel betting also applies to bank nights has been stated on "good legal authority," Sidney Samuelson, president of Allied of New Jersey, told delegates at the organization's convention, which opened here today.

He told delegates to discontinue the practice or take their chances on facing a $2,000 fine. He observed that if the nights are made legal in Jersey, under the same law dog racing would also be permitted to return as

Mourning for Rogers Today Assumes Nat'l Proportions

The industry and its millions of patrons will pay tribute to the memory of Will Rogers throughout the country today.

Approximately 12,000 screens in as many theatres in every corner of the land are expected to be darkened for two minutes, most of them at the corresponding hour at which funeral services are being said for Rogers in Los Angeles, the Hays office estimated yesterday. In many houses in the east, however, the screens will be darkened in the evening when audiences are at their peak. In many theatres the silence will be supplemented with other brief memorials.

All offices of Fox, Universal and Educational will close for the day at noon. The Radio home office will close at three o'clock. All Hollywood studios have been asked by Will H. Hays to close for the day at 2 P.M.

Four memorial services for Rogers will be held in Los Angeles for the public at the same time that his family and intimate friends are attending the

U. A. to Make No New Deals On Franchise

Loew Pact, Up in Two Years, Is Last

Franchise deals for U. A. product are out, according to a sales executive of the company, who yesterday stated that the only one in existence is the Loew agreement which has two more years to run.

Paramount, for many years, held a long-term franchise. With receivership and then bankruptcy, the company dissolved the U. A. pacts. Several RKO theatres have held long-term agreements, but they ran out some time ago and have not been renewed.

U. A., according to the sales executive, cannot tell from year to year what product it will have and hence does not want to commit itself in the future. The Loew franchise, in all probability, will not be renewed in 1937, it was said.

Cook to issue a charter to the Legalized Pari-Mutuel Service, Inc., a proposed concern that would have acted as a brokerage house for pari-mutuel race bets on tracks all over the country. Pari-mutuel laws, at least in the Bay State, do not repeal existing laws covering gambling, he stated in a decision that may prove to be of national importance.

"There is nothing in the statute showing any intention to legalize mail order betting, or betting through the agency of a business corporation organized for profit," Judge Donahue stated.

Says 'U' Heads War On 2,000-Ft. Reel

Universal is leading the opposition movement against the Academy's proposal that all features be released on a standard 2,000-foot reel starting Jan. 1, 1936, reports Motion Picture Herald, out today.

It is held by Universal that any benefits accruing from such a change would not make the investment involved worth while, says the Herald.

Gets a Stay Halting New Pathe Plans

Judge Martin, presiding justice of the appellate division. Pathe attorneys had not been notified of the application and, consequently, it was uncontested. However, upon notification of the issuance of the stay Pathe's attorneys later in the day filed a counter motion to have it vacated. This motion will be argued today before Judge Martin. If the stay is vacated Pathe may proceed to culminate the reorganization plans even though a hearing on Hilbert's appeal cannot be heard by the appellate division before October. If not vacated, the reorganization procedure would have to be suspended pending the hearing of the appeal.

Hilbert's action to stop the Pathe reorganization on the grounds of unconstitutionality of that section of the stock corporation law which authorizes the holding of extraordinary meetings of stockholders was dismissed last week by State Supreme Court Justice O'Brien. Immediately thereafter, Pathe announced that the reorganization had been consummated and assets of Pathe Exchange had been transferred to the new company, Pathe Pictures, Inc. However, the exchanging of new securities for old and other final phases of the reorganization have not been started yet and are affected by the stay obtained by Hilbert.

Meanwhile, the Ohio I.T.O., through P. J. Wood, secretary, is marshalling every force at its command to forestall the tax, or defeat it.

a highly competitive night attraction to the regret of exhibitors.

Samuelson advised the convention that he would not again be a candidate for president of the New Jersey Allied unit. He said that after five years in the office and with the increasing burdens of his post as national head of Allied he would insist upon withdrawing. Indications point to Julius Charnow, vice-president, being named as his successor.

Discussing what was described as a "notorious increase" in carnivals in the state this summer, Samuelson said that plans to combat the competitive invasion would be laid during the convention. He urged solidification of the Jersey organization, declaring that unless the combined support of all independents in the territory could be had, the organization would be handicapped in its activities.

He reported that the Pettengill bill to regulate block booking was "in good shape" and said that it would be discussed at length in Thursday afternoon and evening speeches by its sponsor, Congressman Pettengill of Indiana.

Sees Independent in Peril

Both Ohio and Wisconsin have passed laws outlawing preferred playing time, Samuelson pointed out. In both states the bills are under Federal attack, he said, and if they are upheld, Ohio will have pioneered in a great cause for independent exhibitors. He added that the real business problem facing members unless cooperative support is given officers of the organizations is that they will be driven from the industry in three years.

Samuelson this afternoon warned conventionites that distributors are on the march for theatre buys, only this time instead of buying they are taking. He said this is true in the west, and while not mentioning circuits involved, he told Motion Picture Daily after the session he was referring to the Evergreen deal with John Hamrick in Portland and Seattle. Samuelson said distributors after washing up bad leases and commitments are starting anew on theatre acquisitions and independents will have to watch their step. He added this is one of the serious problems facing Allied members.

Relief on the music tax is in sight, Samuelson continued, mentioning the Duffy bill, which he believes will be passed when Congress reconvenes in January.

Following the opening session, Abram F. Myers, chairman of national Allied, gathered the organization's leaders here into a closed session. Informal social affairs were held tonight.

Plan to Draw Children

Atlantic City, Aug. 21.—An American picture plan for attracting children and students to theatres will be launched by national Allied States, starting Sept. 15, H. M. Richey, head of Allied of Michigan, told the New Jersey Allied convention here today.

The Michigan unit has made a tie-up with American Edugraphic Corp. and has found it profitable, Richey said. The plan provides for booking by exhibitors of a series of pictures on outstanding American historical chapters from the landing of Columbus to the Civil War. One issue is featured at special children's matinees on Saturdays. Essays on the topics shown are submitted by the juvenile patrons with recognition for the best of them, Richey said.

Soviet Pays Rogers Tribute

The Russian industry expressed regret at the passing of Will Rogers in a cable received by Amkino yesterday for transmission to the comedian's wife and the Fox studio.

Bearing the signatures of Boris Shumiatsky, Friedrich Ermler, Vladimir Nielsen and Serge Eisenstein, the message referred to the humorist as "a friend of the Soviet Union," adding that "the Soviet cinema is confident the brief but splendid life of Artist Rogers inspired hundreds of cinema workers to similar devoted and sincere service to the great art of the cinema."

One Minute Darkening

Joseph Bernhard, general manager of Warner theatres, yesterday issued instructions to all houses to darken their screens for one minute today while funeral services are under way in Hollywood for Will Rogers.

Laemmle Orders Closing

All Universal offices have been ordered closed at noon today by Carl Laemmle, Sr., as mark of respect to the memory of Will Rogers.

No All-Day Shutdown

Hollywood, Aug. 21.—Studios decided today not to shut down all day Thursday for Will Rogers' funeral because of the need of meeting release dates on time. However, they will join in conducting two-hour services. Twentieth Century-Fox and Republic will be the only studios to close down entirely during the afternoon.

St. Louis Wants Last Film

St. Louis, Aug. 21.—The announcement out of New York that Fox plans to release the last two Will Rogers pictures has caused favorable public reaction in this section. A canvass of men and women in various walks of life has indicated the great majority are anxious to see "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" and "In Old Kentucky."

jointly and information is to be published which will enable manufacturers to produce standardized receivers.

Commenting on this statement, J. L. Baird said:

"By this time next year television will be in full swing. Every radio set will be equipped with a television screen and vision will be as usual as speech is today."

The Sub-Standard Cinematograph Manufacturers' Ass'n has remitted to the British Standards Institution the problem of obtaining uniformity in sub-standard film with a request that it makes recommendations to the International Standards Ass'n. Recently the British Kinematograph Society selected for approval the German D. I. N. standard for small gauge film, but this decision provokes protests in many trade quarters and the present move is an effort on the part of the manufacturers to get an authoritative ruling without the aid of the B. K. S.

British International Pictures, Ltd., has paid off all members of the Electrical Trades Union on its staff at Elstree. An official statement says that E. T. U. officials presented an ultimatum to the company giving them half an hour in which to sign a two years' agreement. Charges of "intimidation" made by the union are denied by the company.

Want Ohio Board as NRA Labor Replacer

Columbus, O., Aug. 21.—A resolution introduced at the 51st annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Labor asks for the creation of an Ohio Labor Board as a substitute for the labor provisions of the defunct Ohio Recovery Act, which was modeled after the erstwhile NRA.

The resolution cites the Ohio constitution which provides that "laws may be passed regulating hours of labor, establishing minimum wages and providing for the comfort, health, safety and general welfare of all employees."

Broad powers are sought for the proposed board, but the resolution said that "nothing should be construed to impede or diminish the right to strike." The board would be composed of three members appointed by the governor at salaries of $4,000 per year. The resolution was referred to committees for debate on the floor later.

being followed closely in this territory so far as this season's product is concerned.

It is understood an overwhelming majority of exhibitors consider the NRA rulings equitable and are anxious to maintain them, although, for next season's product, individual exchanges will use individual judgment in granting clearance adjustments in a few cases.

Los Angeles, Aug. 21.—Same old story here with Shirley Temple.

"Curly Top" gave Loew's State $15,700 which was $1,700 ahead of the norm and the town's strongest performance. Up in Hollywood, the picture did $13,490, comparing with a $12,500 average for the Chinese.

Warner Workers Back

Hollywood, Aug. 21.—Following a protest filed yesterday with U. S. Attorney Pierson Hall against Warners by members of the National Ass'n of American Employes alleging violation of the Wagner labor bill and intimidation of workers, the studio today reinstated all employes dismissed a week ago supposedly because of their affiliation with the group.

Lesser's New Deal Waits

Sol Lesser, Fox producer, left for the coast yesterday after a week in New York during which he discussed production of several features for the company in addition to the four George O'Brien westerns now on his schedule. Final action on this proposal will be taken following his arrival in Hollywood.

Warner In Midwest Deal

The latest major circuit to sign for the Warner lineup is the Minnesota Amusement Co., according to Gradwell Sears. The deal involves 77 theatres in Minnesota, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Short Subjects

"Wrestling Match"

(Ambuter Corp.)

The recent wrestling championship match in Boston between Ed ("Don") George and Dan O'Mahoney is covered here. The editing could have been better in spots and the off-screen dialogue more lively in most spots, but all told the film is very interesting and sports fans should go for it in a big way. For the most part the actual wrestling is uninteresting, but near the end things pick up and the men start tossing each other out of the ring. This alone is worth sitting through any program to see, but the thrill comes when James J. Braddock, who was acting as referee, floors one of George's seconds with a terrific right to the jaw and starts a riot in the ring by declaring O'Mahoney the winner. Highly recommended. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

Zanesville Police Stop "Road to Life"

Zanesville, O., Aug. 21.—A regiment of 15 police officers swooped down on C. Roberts Peters, representing the Garrison Film Co., Cleveland, and ordered him to immediately leave the county together with the film, "The Road to Life," based on Russian activities, as he was preparing to show it at the Eagles' Temple under auspices of the Zanesville Film and Photo League.

The film was seized in Columbus some time ago at the direction of Safety Director W. S. Pealer, but was subsequently released and shown recently at the Arlington, a neighborhood house.

Hub May Again Get Regular Vaudeville

Boston, Aug. 21.—Vaudeville may be on its way back to the Hub. The RKO Boston, which discarded stage shows some months ago in favor of double features, will put on the footlights Aug. 29 for a "Folies Bergeres" unit. Another unit last Spring established an all time house record for this first run situation, now managed by Ben Domingo, formerly of the Rialto here. Single features and vaudeville will continue from the 29th on. Sophie Tucker, Vincent Lopez, Joe Cook and other top names already have been signed.

Flash Previews

The Goose and the Gander — The familiar bedroom farce formula is lifted way out of its class by delightful dialogue, characterization and casting to make this a smart average picture with plenty to keep audiences laughing.

Powdersmoke Range— . . . The cast, bristling with western star names, provides swell exploitation angles for audiences accustomed to horse operas. No chases, with dialogue substituted for action, keeps this strictly in its own class. . . .

These films will be reviewed in full in a later issue of Motion Picture Daily.

Option Burns and Allen

Hollywood, Aug. 21.—Paramount has exercised its option on the contract of George Burns and Gracie Allen.

"THE CRUSADES"

THERE are thrills in the battle scenes, pageantry in the spectacle, tenderness in the love episodes of Cecil B. De Mille's latest which had a stiff shirt and fancy premiere at the Astor Theatre last night.

"The Crusades" is pretty much De Mille at his best. There is less of the theatrical and much more of the real here than usually prevails in his efforts. His characters, on this occasion, interest and hold attention because they carry about them an air of the genuine. His story of the war of the Christian legions pitted against Saladin, the Sultan, for the recapture of Jerusalem is carried to its logical conclusion and the romantic thread maintained.

Henry Wilcoxon, Ian Keith and Loretta Young, as the principals, do a nice job of it against the always lavish and colorful De Millian backgrounds.

Astutely brewed in the entertainment formula which the director knows so well, "The Crusades" looks like a substantial money picture and one of the important attractions of the new season.

were Henry R. Luce, Duncan Harriss, Percy H. Johnston, John D. Hertz, Frederick Cassapp, Judge Stephen Callaghan, Mary Boland, Lyda Roberti, M. H. Aylesworth, Henry Wilcoxon and William and Cecil B. De Mille, the latter the director of the film.

The picture is in for an indefinite run on a two-a-day policy.

Prepare for Golf

Columbus, O., Aug. 21.—Chief Barker M. R. Clark has posted notices for the local Variety Club's first combination golf and dinner-dance to be held at the Wyandotte Country Club Aug. 26. Attendance is limited to 150. Lew Bryer is chairman of the golf committee. Billy James will look after the dinner arrangements, John Hardgrove heads the entertainment gang, and Max Stearn is disposing of the tickets.

Sew Up Alhambra

Los Angeles, Aug. 21.—On Sept. 1, Fox Principal Theatres, a subsidiary of Fox West Coast operated by Mike Rosenberg, will take over the Garfield, Alhambra, from Harry Vinnicoff. This will give F. W. C. all of Alhambra's first run houses.

Empire Now Denies Move with Allied

pire who asserted that a merger of their organization with Local 306 was "much more likely."

"Empire has nothing in common with the Allied organization," the Empire spokesmen said. "We are a labor organization, not a company union. If we consolidate at all it would not be with Allied. A merger with Local 306 would be much more likely and more in line with our inclinations."

A mob numbering more than 100 men invaded Broadway at mid-afternoon yesterday and bore down on Allied pickets on duty before the Capitol, Strand, Rivoli, Mayfair, Loew's State, Astor and Paramount. In some cases the pickets were beaten or badly mauled. In every case their picket's banners were torn from their hands and destroyed. Police appeared to be helpless in coping with the mob, although a few arrests were made and the prisoners charged with felonious assault at the West 47th St. station.

Cries of "This theatre employs American Federation of Labor operators" were shouted by members of the mob as they bore down on the pickets parading before each Broadway house. Local 306 is the only operators' union here affiliated with the A. F. of L.

Plans to Replace Pickets

The raid succeeded in clearing Broadway theatre fronts of pickets for the remainder of the afternoon, but Allied union officials said the incapacitated pickets would be replaced.

Harry Brandt, president of I. T. O. A. and reputed to be the founder of the Allied organization, was standing across Broadway from Loew's State when the mob attacked the Allied pickets at that house. Brandt entered the Astor Hotel where the I. T. O. A. was holding its regular meeting. The session was given over almost entirely to a discussion of the current labor turmoil.

Local 306 representatives reported that the negotiations on a new basic wage schedule being conducted with circuit representatives are continuing to make progress. Indications are that a new adjusted wage scale may be set by early next week to take effect Sept. 1 and to remain in force for two years. Unofficial reports are that the present scale of $2.12½ per hour may be continued for de luxe pre-release houses, but that graduated reductions according to the size of individual theatres and admissions charged will be placed in effect for neighborhood houses. These are expected to range downward to a minimum of $1.25 per hour for the smallest.

Outdoor Film for "U"

Hollywood, Aug. 21.—Universal has signed Norman Dawn and Del Cambre to make an outdoor adventure picture in Alaska, tentatively called "Alaska Bound." The pair will leave immediately and will be joined by a technical crew at Juneau. They plan to remain in the north for three months and then return to the studio for interiors. Cambre will be the only white actor in the picture. Dawn is writing the story.

Cambre, a former all-American football player and previously with Paramount, has been signed to a term contract by Carl Laemmle.

100,000 View Last Rites For Rogers

Thousands Pass Bier at Glendale Cemetery

Hollywood, Aug. 22.—The body of Will Rogers was laid to rest at Forest Lawn Memorial Park at Glendale this afternoon after thousands upon thousands had filed past his bier to pay the humorist final homage. It is estimated that 100,000 mourners were drawn to the cemetery. Thousands deposited flowers at the bier as they filed past.

Gov. Frank C. Merriam led California officialdom at the funeral ceremonies. President Roosevelt was represented by Rear Admiral William T. Tarrant and Commander Herbert A. Jones.

The comedian's admirers were attracted by the thousands to two mass services at the Hollywood Bowl and the Community Presbyterian Church of Beverly Hills.

By a proclamation of Gov. Merriam a minute of silence out of respect for Rogers' memory was observed at 2 P. M., the hour the funeral rites began. Most business houses throughout the state draped their flags at halfmast during the day.

Pettengill's Measure Held Good Will Aid

Congressman Tells Allied Of His Legislation

By BILL ORNSTEIN

Atlantic City, Aug. 22. — Hope that the anti-block booking bill sponsored by him would help win goodwill for the industry should the measure be passed by Congress was expressed by Representative Samuel B. Pettengill in an address before the New Jersey Allied convention here today.

In detailing his reasons for sponsoring the bill, Pettengill asserted he wanted to see the industry "succeed as a legitimate enterprise and build for the future and make money." He declared he was not "a long-faced dour Puritan," adding the bill was not a censorship move, although a lot had happened in the industry in the last 15 years which in his opinion ought to be curbed by Federal action. St. Louis Intrigued By Sabath's Probing

St. Louis, Aug. 22.—Announcement that the Sabath Committee investigating mortgage refinancing will send a sub-committee to this city from Washington to begin hearings into local situations in the next six weeks has caused some speculation in local circles as to whether any of the properties in which first run theatres are located will be included in the scope of the probe.

As is known, the Ambassador, Missouri and New Grand Central theatre buildings have been involved in much litigation and bitter scrapping between different interests desiring control and it is not entirely impossible that an echo of these fights may be heard before the sub-committee finishes its work here.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Service stations in this town now have fallen for the "Bank Night" craze and hold their drawings weekly. Restaurants and beer parlors also are going for the proposition and reports show a substantial increase in business.

Atlantic City, Aug. 22.—Hope for return of single features in Cleveland is gone, Moe B. He is attending the Allied New Jersey convention with Leo Greenberger of the Community circuit. Both plan to leave Sunday.

Horwitz stated that it is impossible to get 100 per cent of the exhibitors to eliminate duals and, unless every

Chance Game Test Case Is Reserved

Magistrate David Malin, sitting in city court for the 8th District, Brooklyn, yesterday reserved decision in the city's action against the Oceana, Brighton Beach, for operating chance games. This is one of the series of test cases planned for all five boroughs.

Jacob Schechter, as attorney for Movie Sweepstakes as well as the theatre, argued the game was not in violation of the state lottery law in that it was unnecessary to enter the theatre or to buy a ticket to participate in the awards. Decision was reserved until Sept. 3.

Hub Independents Consider Their Own First Run There

Boston, Aug. 22.—A new first-run may be established in Boston for independent features. Interest in such a project has been heightened among local unaffiliated distributors because of the decision of the RKO Boston to revert Aug. 29 from a double feature policy to single features and stage attractions. Under the double feature schedule, this de luxe house became an outlet for a number of such films.

Such an enterprise was attempted in the Majestic last winter by F. E. Lieberman, but was stopped and not brought an action to stop the Pathe reorganization on the grounds that the section of the stock corporation law governing the holding of extraordinary meetings of stockholders such as the one which ratified the Pathe reorganization plan was unconstitutional. The action was dismissed by State Supreme Court Justice O'Brien and an appeal taken by Hilbert. The order staying further reorganization procedure pending hearing of the appeal in October was granted by Judge Martin of the appellate division, before whom the argument to vacate the stay was made yesterday. Until the stay is vacated Pathe cannot conclude its reorganization.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

THIS department's caution of earlier in the week has fallen on ears largely deaf. It was then that this space urged some dignity in exhibitor deportment where the Rogers pictures were concerned. Like ghouls has been the response. The Fox distribution department has been deluged, virtually deluged, by wires and long distance telephone for earlier dates on "Steamboat Round the Bend." An authoritative spokesman there declares about thirty dates for the week of August 30 had been promised on stipulation that Fox accounts first played "Dante's Inferno." But the "Inferno" is not doing at all well and, as big business goes and what with Labor Day drawing close, it seems as if those thirty cities are to get the next Rogers ahead of the agreed upon date. . . .

AND so it is that "Steamboat Round the Bend" opens at the Roosevelt in Chicago today, two weeks ahead of the date first set for it. In Los Angeles, the United Artists, for which it is explained a reopening had been planned "some time next month," lights up to take care of Shirley Temple in "Curly Top" while the way is thus cleared for "Steamboat" to open day and date Saturday at Loew's State in Los Angeles and the Chinese in Hollywood.

It is of more than passing irony to note here that the Chicago house is operated by Balaban and Katz, who have been variously described over the years as among the most representative and upright in the theatre fraternity and that the latter two operations are managed by Fox West Coast, which is controlled by National Theatres, which is controlled by Fox, which made the Rogers pictures and halted its activities yesterday in tribute to the humorist's memory.

As a crowning effort for this frenzied activity in re-shuffling dates we suggest as a go-getting lobby ballyhoo an open grave with a wax figure of Rogers. That ought to wow 'em clear out of their pants and their money.

Dunn Settles Contract

Hollywood, Aug. 22.—James Dunn has arranged a settlement of his Twentieth Century-Fox contract which had two years to go and will free lance in the future. The main reason for Dunn's dissatisfaction was stories assigned him and particularly the recent postponement of "The Song and Dance Man" in which he was slated for the starring role under the Winfield Sheehan regime. The studio recently took up Dunn's option at a substantial increase.

Selznick in Town

David O. Selznick finally arrived in New York yesterday from Hollywood after a trip by easy stages across the continent, including the races at Saratoga, where he spent some time with John Hay Whitney. He plans to remain in the east for 10 days or two weeks to confer with executives of United Artists on the handling of his forthcoming films.

Sold for St. Louis

George Week, GB's general sales manager, yesterday placed his 1935-36 lineup with Harry C. Arthur first run at the Ambassador and Fox, St. Louis.

Jim Christie Relapses

Chicago, Aug. 22.—James A. Christie, Chicago division manager of RKO theatres, is suffering from a relapse after a siege of the flu. He is confined to his bed.

More Offices Planned

Undergoing reorganization, Latin America Pictures Corp. plans to expand its distributing activities in South America and Spain. Frank Z. Clemente is due to leave around Sept. 15 on a tour to establish offices there. Latin Artists plan to release 12 Spanish language films in that field during the coming season.

Won't Embrace Pictures

Theatre restaurants planned by the Continental Casino Corp. will not include pictures in their entertainment scheme, but parallel floor shows like that at the Folies Bergere in New York, according to Edward Hutchinson. He is one of the promoters of the chain idea.

Goldwyn Expects Korda

Hollywood, Aug. 22.—Samuel Goldwyn declared today he expects Alexander Korda of London Films here shortly to confer with Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and himself on future product, but beyond this bare statement would make no comment.

"Glory" to Pre-Release

"Page Miss Glory" will play 16 pre-release engagements in key cities next week, simultaneously with the New York premiere on Wednesday. These showings precede general release, which is scheduled for Sept. 7.

Sees No Hope For Singles In Cleveland

exhibitor goes along, the lone feature idea will not work out.

Cleveland independents had their experience last year when the Family, a closed theatre which was not involved in the agreement banning duals, was reopened on a twin bill policy, shortly after which about seven other houses followed suit.

Several sessions have been held in connection with extending the agreement which expired Aug. 10. Horwitz as sponsor of the original plan gives up all hope that had been held for a renewal of the plan.

Chicago Chains Drop Non-Union Lobbies

Chicago, Aug. 22. — Pressure brought to bear by the painters' and decorators' union here has resulted in a decision by B. & K., Warners, and Essaness theatres to stop using lobby frames and displays manufactured by the American Display Co. and Master Art.

About 100 houses, therefore, will end the use of processed cutouts and frames to sidestep any difficulties with the union. American Display and Master Art are understood to be non-union.

The change will necessitate the employment of many artists and decorators unless a settlement of some kind is made with the union by Sept. 1.

Harrisburg to Hold Sunday Referendum

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 22.—Petitions containing 5,574 signatures requesting that the question of Sunday films here be submitted to the voters at the September election were filed with the Dauphin County Commissioners today by C. Floyd Hopkins, district representative of the Wilmer and Vincent circuit in this section.

The petition contains several thousand more names than required by law, thus making it certain that the referendum will take place.

Harston Objects

Murry E. Harston, attorney for Allied M. P. Operators' Union, yesterday took exception to that angle of Motion Picture Daily's story of the Broadway picket fracas Wednesday which declared "Allied union officials said the incapacitated pickets would be replaced."

"Absolutely no official or representative of Motion Picture Daily was in communication with any representative of Allied M. P. Operators' Union insofar as obtaining any data of the reported raid on the picket line of Local 306 and except for a very brief interval of time, the theatres referred to were constantly picketed throughout the day," he declared.

Editor's Note—Sherwin A. Kane, a reporter for Motion Picture Daily, was an eye witness to the Wednesday raid and collected his facts on the scene of the incident.

gressman attacked racketeering and gangster films.

Because of diverse opinions received on the proposed bill, Pettengill asked for the views of those present.

Abram F. Myers, national Allied counsel, a member of the committee which drafted the bill, took the floor and recited alleged evils of compulsory buying and booking. About 100 exhibitors attending raised their hands in the negative when asked if they had the right of selection in buying.

Myers asserted that, while propaganda held block booking to be a good thing, meritorious pictures were delayed beyond the season and then taken off contracts and resold later. He maintained compulsory buying means getting rid of mediocre films and tends to place the business in the hands of a few. To prove his point he asked Sidney Samuelson, New Jersey Allied head, how many companies existed 15 years ago as compared with the present. The answer was 20 then against eight now.

Myers informed the conventionites Allied is getting out a book answering attacks on the Pettengill bill and intends to give it extensive circulation among exhibitors, civic, Catholic and other groups endorsing the bill.

It was said by Myers that a move by distributors is on to concentrate on a theatre invasion. He asserted the way to combat the move is to organize proper buying combines to encourage new production and engage in production.

"Unless this is done I don't know what is to become of exhibitors and investments," he said. "Definite steps must be taken now or it will be entirely too late."

Dave Snaper aired the question of preferred playing time.

Efforts of the nominating committee to have Samuelson accept re-election failed today when he declined on the ground he cannot do justice to the post in view of his obligation to national Allied. He pointed out conflict of duties between the local and national groups made it impossible for him to continue as head of the Jersey organization.

With Julius Charnow having declined the post, three prospective candidates for the presidency were understood being considered by the nominating committee. They are David Snaper, Lee Newberry and Frank Henry.

The next eastern Allied regional will be held in New York in October.

Chicago Holds "Adams"

Mrs. Samuelson said that her brother was interviewing several people to hire a maid when one of them insisted on Tuesday and Thursday nights off. The prospective maid claimed she had a number of dishes she had collected from week to week at the theatre and would rather sacrifice the job than miss out on a single piece of a set. She got the job.

Hear More Capital Sought by Columbia

That the directors of Columbia are planning new financing for the company was learned yesterday.

A stock dividend or splitup may be decided upon as well as an offering of new common stock, it is understood, with the new funds being used to lend added strength to the company's working capital. While the company is not in need of new funds immediately, it is said to feel that its production increase for the new season would make a larger capital valuable.

Earnings of more than $10 per share are expected to be reported by the company for the year ended June 30.

Court Denies Injunction; Urges Merger

Film attorneys, will contest the stay on Monday morning, with arguments to have it vacated.

Mrs. Fox's application for the injunction was denied by Judge McLaughlin, his opinion revealed, on the ground that there was no cause of action involving fraud in either the merger or reorganization and, therefore, in his opinion he could not substitute his own judgment for that of the Fox stockholders who have approved the merger.

It was stated that, in the court's opinion, most of the allegations made in support of the application for an injunction, including the one that Twentieth Century's balance sheet contained unexplained items, were mere conclusions. The opinion characterized the charge that Chase National Bank was attempting to dominate the merger as a "ridiculous charge on the basis of facts presented to the court."

The opinion stated that the court considered the merger to be for the best interests of Fox stockholders and should be consummated as soon as possible.

Judge McLaughlin advised dissatisfied stockholders that they could have their stock appraised by an official appraiser to be appointed by the court and, thereafter, could sell their stock to the majority stockholders at the price fixed by the appraisers. This procedure has been agreed to by the majority stockholders of Fox Film, the opinion disclosed.

First Under New Name

Hollywood, Aug. 22.—"Metropolitan" will be the first film which will go out under the new Twentieth Century-Fox banner, but campaigns will be held up until the injunction against the merger is settled. Pictures finished but not released before the merger and pictures finished since the merger such as the Wurtzel-produced "Ball of Fire" and "Beauty's Daughter" will go out as Fox pictures.

Darryl Zanuck has purchased "If Winter Comes" by A. S. M. Hutchinson and plans to remake a talking version of the story which was made as a silent several years ago.

Today Will Witness Fox Met. Transfer for $60,000 expenses, Judge Caffey adjourned the proceedings until today. The bondholders' application was granted by the court after Milton C. Weisman, receiver of Fox Theatres, which sponsors the Fox Met reorganization plan, agreed to guarantee against deficiencies in a $500,000 administration expense fund should any result from the immediate payment to the bondholders' committee.

Works Agenda Seen Aiding Ohio Houses

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 22.—A telephonic survey by MOTION PICTURE DAILY among the majority of key city film men following announcement of President Roosevelt's grant of $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to Gov. Davey personally in Washington as the initial allotment of Ohio's contemplated $100,000,000 projects program, disclosed a high feeling of optimism reminiscent of the boom days.

The grant of Federal funds, which is in the form of a loan, to rehabilitate the state's deteriorated physical properties, provide conservation projects for flood prevention, and other needed improvements, will necessitate an almost immediate special session of the State Legislature to arrange for "legal security."

Thousands of unemployed will be taken from relief rolls and spokesmen for exhibitors were enthusiastic in their predictions that this will ultimately find substantial reflection in box-office receipts.

Coincidentally, it was announced in Cincinnati that work on a new Federal building would be started at once for which the Inter-Department Committee at Washington has set aside $3,150,000 taken from the $60,000,000 building fund included in the second deficiency bill signed by President Roosevelt recently.

It is estimated that the site and structure will cost upward of $5,000,000 and the Cincinnati employment curve will rise very materially concurrently with the start of this project.

Coast House Dabbles With New Lighting

REDWOOD CITY, Aug. 22.—A novel, new and highly ornamental theatre lighting system, the first of its kind to make an appearance on the Pacific Coast, has been installed here at Phil Frease's Redwood.

The system is installed in the ceilings of the inner foyer and on the walls and ceiling of the auditorium. It consists of modernistically designed amber glass chandeliers which, at the flip of a switch, turn into any one of 16 different color combinations desired, the colors flooding the inner foyer or ornamenting the auditorium. Subdued, or bright, the advantage of the new system lies in the variety of colors offered and their blendings.

The Redwood is being used as a demonstration of the new system.

Italian Levy Under Study By Industry

Foreign department managers for large companies are studying the proposed new levies on foreign trade which are being considered by government officials in Italy.

While still in an indefinite stage, it is understood here that the new proposals would impose a tax of 10 per cent on gross sales in Italy by foreign concerns, with a minimum levy of 15,000 liras. This would replace the present flat 25,000-lira levy on remittances to foreign concerns by their Italian agents.

Some foreign department managers are of the opinion that the new levy would entail little change in costs to film exporters except in the case of pictures which return exceptional grosses.

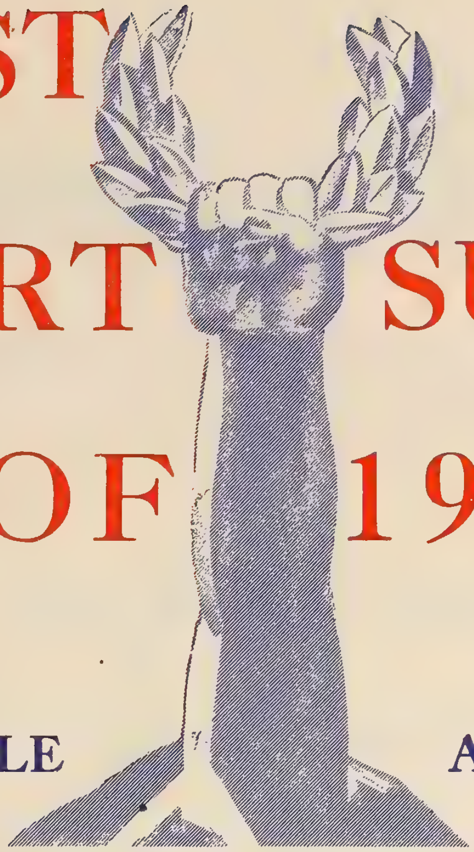
THE BEST SHORT SUBJECT OF 1935-1936!



AND THAT'S NO IDLE ADVERTISING BOAST!

We got the idea from these reviews:

"If this beautiful little novelty in the new three-color Technicolor process (the same as used with "Becky Sharp") doesn't win the Academy award, then I'll miss my guess. Without a doubt, here is a subject that rates especial attention from everyone."
—Jimmy Starr in L. A. Herald-Express

"Word of mouth advertising may build this short to feature importance, for it seems certain to be discussed at length as a splendid example of Technicolor in outdoor photography. The picture serves as a canvas that is always interesting and at times awe-inspiring. Included in the scenes shown are shots of Yosemite waterfalls, Mirror Lake, and the Grand Canyon as it probably has never been shown before."
—Motion Picture Daily

"This two-reeler stacks up as a really worthwhile subject. Scenically and from the standpoint of photography it comes close to masterpiece rating. Many of the Technicolor shots should not fail to elicit applause from any type of audience."
—Variety Daily

Kansas City Happy; Lopez And Dix Top

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 22.—First runs had a good week here in spite of continued torridity. The Mainstreet made the best comparative showing with "The Arizonian" and Vincent Lopez's orchestra. Backed by some strong promotion on the part of Manager Lawrence Lehman, the house grossed $14,000, when $9,000 is average for combination bills.

"Dante's Inferno" responded to strong national ballyhoo and went to $5,300 at the Fox Uptown, compared with $3,500 average. However, the crowds thinned toward the end of the run, and it was not held.

The Newman did nicely with "Shanghai," which grossed a substantial $1,000 over $7,000 par.

"After the Dance" and the stage show at the Tower entertained to the tune of $400 over this house's norm of $7,000.

The revival of "Smilin' Through" at Loew's Midland grossed $7,100. Par for the house is $11,500.

He will continue to operate both houses there. Benfield will continue to operate Ben's Broadway, Myrtle Beach.

Looking 'Em Over

"Annapolis Farewell"

(Paramount)

Heart-warming and illustrating how entertaining entertainment can be when timing is right and comedy and drama properly paced, "Annapolis Farewell," which had its world premiere at the Paramount last night, is a first-rate example. Paramount has not necessarily a big nor an important picture, but an attraction that will go places in all stratas of theatres.

As the title immediately conveys, this is a glorification of the naval arm of the nation. Yet so pleasingly and so naturally is it handled and with far less than the ordinary quota of bunkum and flag-waving that the results are there, emphatically and beyond question.

The standout among the players is Sir Guy Standing. He essays the role of an officer who saw service with Dewey at Manila and who goes down to his heroic and watery grave aboard the vessel which once he commanded and now is sunk at sea in peacetime target practice. His is a gallant and distinguished performance and one which is very apt indeed to send audiences out talking. Youth is portrayed by Tom Brown and Richard Cromwell and has its chance, but at no time do any of the other performances approach Standing's.

Direction by Alexander Hall is sympathetic and box-office. The screen play by Dale Van Every and Frank Craven from a story by Stephen Morehouse Avery is expert.

Production Code Seal No. 1078. Running time, 82 minutes. "G."

"Outlawed Guns"

(Universal)

The tale of the young fellow forced into a career of crime by a gambler to whom he is heavily in debt is told again in this Buck Jones western. The chap in this instance is Pat J. O'Brien, who plays the western star's kid brother. Buck pulls off some pretty heroic stuff in his effort to save the lad from the gang.

O'Brien attains a salvation of a sort when he dies with a confession on his lips. Roy D'Arcy, the brains of the gang, is relentlessly pursued by Jones, who pumps him full of lead when he catches up with him.

Woven into the story is a romance between Jones and one of the sheriff's gals, but the love element is kept very much in the background.

The production contains action galore, fine photography and a fair amount of humor.

Frank McGlynn, Sr., Ruth Channing, Joseph Girard, Joan Gale, Lee Shumway and Charles King are also in the cast. Ray Taylor directed.

Production Code Seal No. 1016. Running time, 59 minutes. "G.""

"Atlantic Adventure"

(Columbia)

A newspaper reporter, several jewel thieves, a murderer and Nancy Carroll are all thrown together on an ocean liner in this picture and the result is one that might produce audience satisfaction in houses where the patrons are not too exacting in their demands for entertainment.

Director Albert Rogell tries hard to overcome a very weak screen play, but it was too much even for him. The yarn starts out to be another newspaper reporter story until the locale is shifted to the boat, and here, when things seem to be improving, it slips back to a series of routine situations with only a few new twists.

Lloyd Nolan is in love with Miss Carroll but can't seem to keep a date with her because of his assignments. He fakes an interview with the district attorney, only to find the latter had been murdered, while he was supposed to be questioning him. Fired as a result of this, Nolan tries to redeem himself and lands on the boat along with Miss Carroll and his photographer, Harry Langdon. The trio uncover a group of jewel thieves and get in bad with the ship's officers at the same time. Before they can have the crooks arrested they are all captured by the robbers and the man Nolan was seeking for the killing. All ends well, however, with Nolan breaking away from the marriage ceremony when a man falls overboard.

The parent company will be known as Cascade Theatres Corp., affiliated indirectly with the National Theatres Corp. Officers are Frank L. Newman, Sr., president; John Hamrick, executive vice-president; and John P. Garvin, Clarence Innis, Alfred Shermanski, Hamrick and Newman, directors.

In Seattle, Cascade will have a subsidiary company known as the Rainier Theatres Corp., operating the Fifth Avenue, Paramount and Coliseum theatres (Evergreen) and the Blue Mouse, Music Box, Orpheum and Music Hall theatres (Hamrick). John Hamrick will be general manager of the Seattle group.

Mexican Producer Plans Villa Film

By JAMES LOCKHART

Mexico City, Aug. 22.—Mexico's newest producing enterprise, the Compania Cinematografica Latino Americana, S.A., starts 1935-36 production in September with a feature that will give "the true viewpoint" of the Pancho Villa legend. This picture is to be known as "Vamonos con Pancho Villa" ("Let's Go with Pancho Villa"). It will have versions in Spanish and English. Fernando de Fuentes, a former Paramount man here, who is to direct both versions, is now in Hollywood selecting a cast for the English picture. The version sions will be made in the very places in Mexico that were the hunting grounds of the gory Pancho.

Latino Americana is scheduled to have a large studio some 10 miles from here ready for service before the end of fall. It will be Mexico's largest studio and RCA equipment is to be used at the plant and in the making of both Pancho Villa versions.

on American programs. Its weakness is an unconvincing dramatic motive, leading to forced situations and dialogue. Editing should reduce this.

The story is that of a prosperous art dealer, treated harshly by his employer many years before, who tries to get even by "planting" on the other man's son, his own employer, a safe robbery actually committed by a typist, whose confession he suppresses. The boy's alibi depends on revelation of the fact that he was a fellow hotel guest of his employer's wife; he keeps silent, but the innkeeper lets out the truth.

The elder man's desire for revenge is not very convincing, but individual scenes and continuity are both good, as is the work of Greta Nissen, Chili Bourchier, Patric Knowles, Ivan Sampson and W. H. Berry—an excellent comedy innkeeper.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Goose and the Gander"

(Warners)

Hollywood, Aug. 22.—The familiar bedroom farce formula is lifted way out of its class by delightful dialogue, characterization and casting to make this a smart average picture with plenty to keep audiences laughing.

Kay Francis, ex-wife of Ralph Forbes, discovers that his current spouse, Genevieve Tobin, is planning an affair with George Brent. Miss Francis has fallen for Brent, but she is still angry at Miss Tobin for stealing Forbes. She arranges to have Brent and Miss Tobin misdirected to her mountain cottage when they start off for a weekend. The comedy of confusions starts when Forbes and a pair of jewel thieves also arrive.

Helen Lowell is exceptionally funny as a suspicious and dramatic aunt. Miss Tobin walks away with the acting honors as the fairly innocent, philandering wife with Brent a close second in the light comedy he does so well. Forbes is responsible for many laughs as the baffled husband. Miss Francis handles a smaller-than-usual part well.

Production Code Seal No. 730. Running time, 72 minutes. "A."

"Powdersmoke Range"

(Radio)

Hollywood, Aug. 22.—This western with a message is built around a character who says, "Thar's more straight shootin' than comes out of a gun." The cast, bristling with western star names, provides swell exploitation angles for audiences accustomed to horse operas. No chases, with dialogue substituted for action, keeps this strictly in its own class. A wise preview audience greeted the heavier drama with laughs.

Harry Carey, Hoot Gibson, Guinn Williams and Bob Steele buy a ranch. Bad man Sam Hardy rustles their herd of cattle and then hires Tom Tyler to get Carey. Carey beats dead shot Tyler to the draw, gets back the stolen deed to the ranch and reforms a couple of hard characters with his kind deeds.

Adele Buffington's screen play adapted from the novel by William Colt MacDonald is good, considering the lack of riding. Wallace Fox directed under the supervision of Cliff Reid. The cast includes Boots Mallory, Ray Mayer, Adrian Morris, Buzz Barton, Wally Wales, Art Mix, Buffalo Bill, Jr., Buddy Roosevelt, Franklyn Farnum, William Desmond, William Farnum, Ethan Laidlaw, Frank Rice, Eddie Dunn, Irving Bacon, Barney Furey and Henry Rocquemore. Emphasis on the impressive cast is the best bet here.

No production code seal. Running time, 74 minutes. "G."

Short Subjects

"Fighting Fish"

(M-G-M)

Another of the Pete Smith Oddities that is worth while billing on the marquee. The piscatorial subject deals specifically with salmon trout. Smith's witticisms make fishing worth while and this oddity something to look forward to. Production Code Seal No. 818. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Water Thrills"

(Columbia)

This one reel subject appears to be merely a compilation of newsreel shots of practically every boat race held in this country for the past year or so. Most of it is old stuff. Audiences will see again all the outboard motorboats in Florida running up inclines and through burning oil as well as the last America Cup race off Newport. Production Code Seal, No. 0482. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"A Merry Old Soul"

(Vitaphone)

Old King Cole marries the Old Lady Who Lives in a Shoe in this colored cartoon and, much to his surprise, along with the bride he acquires her brood of mischievous youngsters. Henceforth his time is spent in caring for the kids with the aid of novel mechanical contraptions of his own invention. This should please audiences, particularly children. Production Code Seal No. 957. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Metropolitan Nocturne"

(Radio)

This is a picturization of Louis Alter's symphony of the same name—a musical interpretation of the moods and nuances of New York. No dialogue is used, all the action being in pantomime with three orchestras employed to translate the melodies. A story of a boy's unrequited love for a girl is worked in as the background for the music. In most spots this will probably be too arty, but where there are music lovers it should more than please. Production Code Seal, No. 908. Running time, 18 mins. "G."

'Strange Championships'

(Columbia)

This is a strange one. The various scenes appear to have been taken some years ago and most of the cracks of John P. Medbury, who is usually very funny, are of the same age. Some audiences might think his remarks here quite funny, but it is doubtful. This is one of his weaker efforts. Such odd scenes as men using home-made shoes for walking on water, water bicycles and various queer inventions are all included in the reel. Production Code Seal, No. 922. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

broadcasting of the memorial services, held at the Hollywood Bowl, over the combined networks of the Mutual Broadcasting Co., the Yankee Network of the Columbia Broadcasting Co. and the Canadian Radio System.

Lasting one hour, the program sent the music and voices of some 25,000 people who had gathered in the vast arena to pay tribute to their "neighbor" into untold thousands of homes.

The services opened with the playing of "Nearer My God to Thee" by the Hollywood Legion Band followed by the invocation by Dr. Frank C. McCain, president of the Hollywood Ministerial Ass'n. Rev. Roy L. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Los Angeles, then read several passages from the Scriptures.

Conrad Nagel was the next to speak. He dwelt on the general feeling of loss among the American people as a whole. "All America feels it has lost a very dear friend," Nagel said, "even though most of the men, women and children never knew Will Rogers."

Lawrence Tibbett continued, singing a poem by John Masefield set to music.

Rupert Hughes, writer and lecturer and one of Rogers' closest friends, then dwelt for some time on the fine character personified by Rogers and told several anecdotes dealing with the dead humorist's charity and work. "He was a soldier of peace," Hughes described, "and God help America until another like him comes along."

The services were concluded with the Legion Band playing "'Long the Kingdom Come" from an early Rogers picture.

Tribute Is National

Hundreds of thousands of theatre patrons participated yesterday in the industry's tribute to Will Rogers when an estimated 12,000 houses throughout the country darkened their screens momentarily as services for the humorist who endeared himself to a nation were being said in Glendale, Calif.

Most of the screens were darkened for a two-minute period at the corresponding hour of the Rogers funeral service, which began at 2 P. M., Pacific Coast time. Hundreds of others, however, made the tribute during the evening when theatre crowds were at their peak.

All offices of Twentieth Century-Fox, Educational and Universal throughout the country closed down at noon yesterday as a further tribute. The Radio home office was closed from 3 P. M. on yesterday and numerous Hollywood studios closed or paused at their work at the funeral hour.

Allied Observes Minute Silence

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 22.—The Allied of New Jersey convention observed one-minute of silence here today during the funeral of Will Rogers.

The Dominion Joined

TORONTO, Aug. 22.—Canada joined today in mourning at the hour of Will Rogers' funeral services. All offices of Fox, Universal, Radio and Educational in the Dominion closed during the afternoon in tribute. Various Canadian cities sent messages of condolence to the bereaved family. Loew's and other theatres here and throughout the Dominion observed two minutes of silence at matinees.

Seattle Eulogies Colorful

SEATTLE, Aug. 22.—The death of Will Rogers brought colorful eulogies by motion picture editors of the local newspapers, in addition to the wealth of syndicated press material used here.

Richard E. Hays, of the Seattle Times devoted a lengthy column to his personal recollections of Rogers, as seen in Hollywood, and concluded his article with a brilliant review of "Steamboat Round the Bend" which was previewed here the day following the fatal plane wreck.

Harry B. Mills on the Seattle Star spoke at length of Rogers' humanness and then reported on the tremendous box-office value of his name to Fox. Mills' article concluded with the statement that Shirley Temple now stands as Fox's one chief asset.

"Thomas" Big in Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 22.—"Doubting Thomas," now showing in subsequent runs, is attracting more business than any of Will Rogers' recent releases. Exhibitors generally are looking forward to release of his two completed pictures.

Trade sentiment is that this is the most severe loss to the industry both in its social and commercial interests that could possibly have occurred.

"Annapolis" Bows In

Floodlights, mounted police and patrolmen returned to Broadway for the second night running last night for the opening of "Annapolis Farewell" at the Paramount. The front of the house was bathed in bright floodlights and the marquee sparkled in red, white and blue lights as the crowd, augmented by 500 bluejacket guests of the management; Rear Admiral E. Yates Stirling, Jr., commander of the Brooklyn navy yard, and prominent members of the industry turned out.

Fred Roche Dies

DENNIS, Mass., Aug. 22.—Fred Von Stade Roche, publicity director for the Cape Cod Playhouse, is dead as the result of an automobile accident at Yarmouthport. He was 44 years old. Roche began his career in Boston as a reporter on the Boston Globe,

Edith Roberts Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22.—Edith Roberts, film actress of the silent picture days, died at the Hollywood Hospital here yesterday after giving birth to a son. Miss Roberts was 36 years old and had retired from picture work in 1930. She was the wife of Harold Carter.

Hub Independents Consider Their Own First Run There

resumed after the house was bombed after about eight active days, allegedly the result of labor trouble.

Although Boston has seven regular first-runs at the moment, these are entirely controlled as follows: three by M. and P.-Publix, two by Loew's, and two by RKO. The Loew houses are day-and-date, fluctuating between single and double features. The M. and P.-Publix Fenway and Paramount, although double feature stands, are also day and date. The RKO Memorial is generally single feature, using Radio and some United Artists and Fox. The Metropolitan, New England's largest theatre, is a single feature stand using mainly Paramount, Warners, some Fox and no independent features.

Independent distributors consider their predicament crucial. There is a faint hope that the Tremont, another Lieberman house with a central downtown location, may go off subsequent-run hits and become a first-run indie, but this is slight. A number of the larger independents are listening to talk of banding together in a theatre enterprise.

An open declaration by David O. $21,981,333 in Two Months Bet at Massachusetts Tracks

Boston, Aug. 23. — Theatremen wondering what inroads pari-mutuel horse and dog racing can make in a community in a few weeks may gain an inkling of fact by glancing over the picture presented by Massachusetts where $21,981,333 has been wagered during the first two months that such racing has been legal here. The fact that $3,095,752 of this amount is automatically absorbed by the state and the track promoters has not deterred the betters. The total, moreover, does not include the millions clawed in by bookies or the cash spent for admissions.

The state's single horse track, Suffolk Downs in Boston, has grabbed off $10,842,734 so far. The Wonderland dog track a few miles outside of Boston has taken in $6,128,218. Tracks at Dighton and West Springfield bring the canine total to $11,000,598.

The Massachusetts racing season is far from being over, moreover. Present schedules extend well into October. There is talk of trying to run the dogs indoors during the winter.

"We have steadfastly refused to make any announcement as to our policy on the Will Rogers pictures, old or new, until everything that human mortals could do for Will Rogers had been done," said Kent. "That time has now passed. Gov't Will Subpoena 27 in St. Louis Case to issue subpoenas for 27 witnesses to be called by the Federal Government in the anti-trust injunction suit against Warners, RKO and Paramount scheduled to come before Federal Judge George Moore on Sept. 4.

While the names of these witnesses will not be made public until they are served by the U. S. marshal, it was learned that 14 are St. Louis residents, nine reside in New York City, two in Chicago and one each in Cleveland and Los Angeles.

The fact that the Government is calling these witnesses to appear on Sept. 4 is accepted here as definite indication that the trial of the injunction suit will actually get under way on that date. Apparently representatives of the Dep't of Justice have conferred with Judge Moore, who is vacationing at Longport, N. J., and obtained assurance from him that he would go through with the hearing on Sept. 4.

Columbus to Sport "Streamlined" House

Columbus, O., Aug. 23.—The Grand will be the first "streamlined" theatre in this part of the country when its remodeling is completed. According to Harry Schreiber, city manager, the owners are spending around $165,000 on the improvements, to which RKO has added approximately $50,000.

The house goes to RKO on a 20 year lease under terms of a deal just signed by Nat Holt, the circuit's division manager. Final execution of the document was delayed by the recent suicide of Will J. Dusenbury and the illness of his brother, J. W. Dusenbury, owners. Opening is tentatively set for Oct. 1.

Off to Aug. 30

Another case filed by the city against the Audubon to test chance games under the lottery law came up in magistrate's court on 151st St. and Amsterdam Ave. yesterday, but was postponed until Aug. 30 to permit the theatre to get a witness.

3 For Essaness

Chicago, Aug. 23.—The pending deals for the Avon, Clifford and Elston have been completed and the Essaness circuit takes over the management of the houses. They will be remodeled considerably before reopening for the fall season.

Warn Pickets, Then Adjourn Their Cases

Many cases involving arrests growing out of picketing activities in Manhattan were adjourned in two courts here yesterday after stern warnings from presiding magistrates that severe punishment would be meted out if pickets insisted upon creating disorder.

Several cases charging Local 306 men with assault on Allied men during Thursday's demonstration in Columbus Circle were adjourned to Sept. 3 when they came up for hearing before Magistrate Jonah Goldstein. A number of other cases, involving Local 306 pickets arrested in front of the Liberty in 42nd St. for disorderly conduct, were put off for hearing until Oct. 1 in Magistrate Adolph Stern's court.

Court Halts Fox Met Plan; To Study It

Fox Met reorganization which had been submitted to him simultaneously.

Judge Caffey pointed out that he had accepted supervision of the Fox Met proceedings for the one month while Federal Judge Julian W. Mack is vacationing in Europe without any prior knowledge of the company or its reorganization. The Fox Met proceedings have been before the Federal court for almost four years, during which time Judge Mack has had continuous supervision over the case. Judge Caffey declared that the first he had heard of it was on Aug. 19 when some 550 pages of documents embracing orders winding up the reorganization were presented to him for his signature.

"I want to say for the record," Judge Caffey told the attorneys, "that I have serious objections to the procedure taken in this case. The plain implication of your actions seems to be that I was to be made a rubber stamp. If it was assumed as it seems to have been, that I would sign these orders merely because counsel had agreed on them, I take serious offense at your procedure."

Judge Caffey said that he had obtained Judge Mack's consent by cable to proceed with the matters before him but that he would do so at his own time and would refuse to be rushed.

Milton C. Weisman, receiver of Fox Theatres and major domo of the Fox Met reorganization, as such, accepted the responsibility for the procedure complained of by the court. Detailed explanation of the entire Fox Met reorganization plan was then begun to acquaint the court with the subject and will be continued at later hearings to be held next week.

on Saturday night, Aug. 17, the defendants paraded with anti-Hearst placards in front of the theatre, causing a crowd of about 700 to gather, and a "near riot."

The court severely reprimanded the pickets for their conduct, declaring they had no right to picket the theatre merely because they objected to a film being shown. The judge particularly was interested in the defendants' admission they had not seen the film they were protesting.

Benjamin Zelman, attorney for the International Labor Defense, defended the pickets, all of whom were members of the American League Against War and Fascism.

Campaign of "Raids" Aim Of Selznick

up before he can begin on his five or six-picture-a-year schedule for United Artists' distribution, stated that he had already completed his arrangements for ample financing, representing a backing which, he said, could give him a producing organization "capable of competing with anyone."

"I do not intend," Selznick said, amplifying his avowed intention to "raid" wherever that was necessary, "to permit any old line company agreement to keep me out of the business."

He referred to the major studio agreement to refrain from negotiating for the services of talent under contract to a competitor until such time as the employing company had signified that it would not renew an employe's contract after its expiration.

"That agreement," Selznick remarked, "has been in existence for years. It probably originated at the time Warners took Ruth Chatterton, Kay Francis and William Powell from Paramount, and promised not to do it again. Darryl Zanuck was the next to do it and then agree to stop it. Now it's my turn. I'll get whom I want and be a gentleman afterwards."

Selznick made it clear that his "raiding" policy would not, under any circumstances, involve contract breaking. A case in point, he said, was his recent signing of Ronald Colman, negotiations with whom were opened while Colman still had another film to make for Twentieth Century.

"If stars walk out on their contracts," Selznick said at another point, "they deserve to take a licking."

Selznick said he placed little reliance on talent which might be available to him through borrowing. "You can't borrow unless you have something to loan," he said. "I got Freddie Bartholomew from M-G-M in exchange for George Cukor. When I have my own talent signed up I'll be willing to loan it in return for other talent, but I won't be any more philanthropic than the rest in that respect."

The producer attempted further justification for his intended policy of "raiding" with the declaration that there is an extreme dearth of big name talent now. "There are not more than 15 real stars in the business today. There isn't enough talent in the industry to make 60 good pictures a year." He branded large production schedules by individual companies and overproduction by the industry as the bane of the business. In this connection Selznick paid his respects to United Artists.

"It (U. A.) is the only place to which a producer wanting to make really fine productions can come," he said.

He remarked a tendency among the 15 whom he regarded as the only real stars to make new contracts limiting the number of pictures in which they would appear in the course of a year. "There is less inclination on their part to make a lot of money quickly," he said. "Apart from the sound theory that such players realize it is smart not to be seen too often, a fewer number of pictures per year gives them more leisure to devote to other things. And then, with the income tax what it is, most of their income from the extra pictures goes to the government, anyhow."

May Work Entirely at U.A.

Selznick, who plans to return to the coast about Labor Day, said he would probably do all of his producing on the U. A. lot and that his first for the company, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," with Freddie Bartholomew, would go into production about Oct. 15. He said there was a possibility of his making one or two pictures in England next year, depending upon the story and the casts required. He declined to reveal approximate figures at which his productions would be budgeted, stating, when asked, that he didn't think United Artists would care to have him discuss that.

Selznick was ensconced for the interview in the comfortable and immaculate office formerly reserved for Joseph M. Schenck's use when in the east, when he was president of U. A.

Selznick said he would not aim, in his new production, for road show or $2 admission pictures. "No picture," he said, "is too big to play at 60 or 70 cents, or whatever the average is. I'd rather have a picture in the Capitol or some comparable house for five weeks at the usual admissions, as 'Copperfield' was, than have one in another house for five months at a phoney, padded $2 top."

Mexico Plans Subsidy for Its Industry

Mexico, particularly with regard to foreign pictures, and the conclusion was reached that, owing to economic circumstances, production of Mexican films is not what it should be, chiefly because of inadequate capital for this purpose.

The ministry recommends that the state take an immediate hand in aiding the national industry, not only to assure production of better pictures but because of the artistic benefits that result for the nation from this activity. The ministry urges the establishment of an autonomous organization to be known as the National Institute of the Cinematographic Industry. This institute will have exclusive charge of orientating, stimulating and controlling the Mexican industry in all its branches from production to exhibition. Special attention will be given to the distribution of Mexican pictures abroad to obtain the greatest benefits for the industry and the country.

The institute would also see to it that the exhibition of Mexican-made pictures will be profuse and for the cultural advancement of the working classes. Stimulation of the organization of new companies and regulating imports of foreign pictures are to be other functions. It will also have charge of inspecting and revising imported productions.

The program calls for reducing by 50 per cent present taxes on Mexican-made pictures which are worthy of exhibition. The institute will be composed of officers and a board of directors that represent various federal government departments, film companies and employees of the industry. It is stipulated that the institute will have a fund not under 2,000,000 pesos.

Spoor Starts Action; Wants Trustee Out

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—George K. Spoor, former head of the old Essanay company and inventor of a wide screen and "third-dimensional" projection equipment, has filed suit in superior court here asking the removal of Albert W. Mahone, public accountant, as trustee of Spoor property which was segregated under a trust agreement.

Spoor seeks an accounting and an injunction to restrain the trustee from disposing of assets in the trust, claimed to be worth $2,000,000 and set aside to protect creditors with $65,000 of claims against Spoor. Named as defendants with Mahone are Attorneys Edward H. Barron, James G. Condon, Irvin H. Livingston, John E. Hughes and the Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Co.

Spoor asks that a settlement of the creditors' claims be made so that he can proceed with his plans for developing his new 70 mm. film project.

Rogers Films To Go Out in Regular Way

misunderstanding, our position is as follows:

"We will continue to serve the Rogers pictures to those accounts of ours that have them under contract and to our regular customers in the regular way. This will apply to the releases that are now out, as well as to the two new pictures, 'Steamboat Round the Bend' and 'In Old Kentucky,' which are still to be released. The handling and releasing of these productions will be done on exactly the same basis as though Will Rogers were still alive and working, and there will be no variation from this. We have refused, and will refuse, to reissue any of the old pictures at this time or take care of the hundreds of demands for spot bookings of the older Rogers pictures. We believe that the orderly showing of these pictures, without making any attempt to cash in on the publicity by the reissuing of old pictures, is the only decent and proper way to handle it, and that will be our policy.

"It is our opinion that Will Rogers will live in the memory of the people of the world for many, many years to come and that there will be a legitimate demand to see the work of this great character from time to time, but we refuse to make any attempt to cash in on that which would not have come to us except in the regular, orderly way. We believe that this would have been Will Rogers' wish if he were here today to express himself."

Allied Survey Finds Majors Are 61 Shy

M-G-M failed to release eight. U.A. in 1934-35 sold 23, then added four, but will only distribute 25. RKO, it was stated, may cut the seven to four. Universal, which has five to go, may come through with two or three. Warners, which sold 59 and one, the latter being "Anthony Adverse," has just advised accounts 11 will not be forthcoming.

Unger and Samuelson pointed out that the regular releasing schedules end July 31 and exhibitors must notify exchanges by Aug. 31 that they will accept late deliveries. Warners, however, is an exception and notices must be sent in by Sept. 15.

Samuelson decried the shortages which he estimated as from 18 to 20 per cent of the number of combined features announced by the eight distributors.

Discussing new output, it was stated: "The lion took a tumble from his throne last year, but this season the lineup does not look as bad. In the local territory four features are being sold at 35 per cent, eight at high allocations and eight others at low allocations.

"In other territories four are being offered at 35 per cent, four at 30 and the rest flat rentals. This company also has adopted the weekly payment plan for shorts," it was declared.

As the topic progressed, those who were not independent exhibitors were asked to leave the room.

Fox Policy Flexible

"Fox's policy is flexible. The product can be bought on a flat arrangement or six on percentage, which is an increase of two over last year. In other territories as many as 10 are being sold percentage. This company also has the short subject weekly payment plan."

Paramount's policy brought to light that "The Crusades" is being marketed at 40 per cent of the gross. This company is selling 10 on percentage, including "The Crusades," four at 35 per cent, four at 30 per cent and one picture left open. Regular payments for shorts obtain.

No definite committment from RKO has been made locally, but exhibitors stated percentages would be demanded on 16. One exhibitor held three features would be sold at 40 per cent and on the rest 20 per cent increases over last year will be sought.

Policy of United Artists is flexible and product can be bought flat or percentage. Of all the companies, this one is the only distributor not selling shorts on the weekly payment system, it was declared.

Universal can be bought on a fair basis, it was said. This company is willing to make deals under similar arrangements of past years.

In addition to "Anthony Adverse" at 50 per cent, Warners is offering 13 on percentage. "Anthony Adverse" was sold last year and is being resold because the company withdrew it from the releasing schedule. Seven features are available at 30 per cent, two at 35 per cent, and four at 25 per cent.

No one at the meeting could give information on Columbia as it was declared exhibitors have not been able to pin salesmen down to a definite policy. However, in Philadelphia, Columbia is demanding six at 35 and another six at 30 per cent with concerted resistance by exhibitors, exhibitors from that region contended.

Republic's selling arrangements could not be learned. No one at the convention had been contacted on the new lineup, it was said.

Favor Voluntary Arbitration

Atlantic City, Aug. 23.—Although opinion was divided, the majority of those at the New Jersey Allied convention here today expressed their favor of a voluntary arbitration plan. It was agreed to let exhibitors decide for themselves on cases which might arise.

Stymied over the persistent refusal of Sidney Samuelson to accept the renomination for the presidency, the convention recessed for two months to give the nominating committee sufficient time to study the situation. The time and place of the adjourned meeting were not set.

Samuelson, behind closed doors, gave apparent apathy on the part of members of the organization as the reason for his refusal to run for the presidency again. He said he desired action. A campaign for solidification and intensification of the activities of the group is being worked out and if it is followed through the incumbent head will most likely continue for a sixth year as president, it was understood.

Lee Newbury of Belmar, Simon Myers of Mooretown and I. A. Roth of Morristown comprise the nominating committee.

A motion was passed by the convention declaring eligible for membership theatres independently owned but in booking and buying pools with major circuits. There are about 10 such in New Jersey.

H. M. Richey and Ray Branch left for Detroit yesterday. Others who departed yesterday were Charles R. Metzger and Arthur Price. Abram F. Myers and Congressman Pettengill left this morning. Herman Blum leaves for New York on Sunday to discuss a deal with United Artists on Monday. On Monday night he plans to leave New York for Baltimore. Fred Herrington and Samuelson will depart Monday.

Sees 75 for Plan

Atlantic City, Aug. 23.—Although he could not estimate roughly how many theatres would go for the American Picture plan, H. M. Richey today stated he expected at least 75 Allied houses in Detroit to sign. Richey asserted 22 houses in the auto city had been using the idea before it was dropped some time ago.

On Sept. 15, national Allied will launch the plan generally, Richey stated.

"Just what I said," retorted Charnow. "This is a convention of Galitzianas."

When told of the incident, Sidney Samuelson evinced a sneer, revealing he was a Litvak.

Sheehan Will Get $375,000 Under Settlement With Fox

Winfield Sheehan's contract with Fox Film is being settled for $375,000, it was disclosed in information submitted to the court by the company in opposition to Mrs. William Fox's action to halt the merger with Twentieth Century.

For a release from the contract under which Sheehan received $400,000 per year, according to the information supplied the court, Fox will pay the producer $75,000 during the current year, $150,000 during 1936, and $150,000 during 1937.

The combined annual salaries of Darryl Zanuck and Joseph M. Schenck under their seven-year contracts with Fox aggregate $390,000.

The papers filed with the court also reveal that Chase National Bank's Fox stockholdings are 1,750,000 shares of Class A common, or approximately 70 per cent of the issue. Under the reorganization Chase will receive in exchange for its A stock, 900,000 shares of the new preferred, which is entitled to a dividend of $1.50 per share, or $1,350,000 annually on the block of stock. Chase acquired the A stock in 1933 in exchange for cancellation of loans and debentures amounting to $33,000,000, owed to the bank by Fox.

General Theatres Equipment Corp. owns 14,000 shares of the Fox Class B stock, or about 86 per cent of the issue, and 195,000 shares, or about eight per cent, of the A stock.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

AS the final services were being held for Will Rogers in Hollywood and as substantial segments of the public paused in regret, this, written by Pete Harrison in his Harrison's Reports, was in circulation in New York and, perhaps, already in points beyond as well:

> The death of no other person in recent years created so much sorrow in the United States as did that of Will Rogers. Here in New York, the sad accident was the talk everywhere.
> The motion picture industry has one other reason besides the sentimental to be sorry for—the commercial. Mr. Rogers was one of the best box office assets in the United States and in many other parts of the world, and his loss leaves a void that is hard to fill immediately.
> The death of Mr. Rogers also creates a problem for the Fox organization and for such exhibitors as have already bought Fox product. The prices these exhibitors paid were based on the pictures of the two stars—Will Rogers and Shirley Temple. By the elimination of the one star these exhibitors are finding themselves holding contracts with prices that are altogether out of proportion with the value of the program that will be delivered.
> I have a letter before me from an exhibitor who feels that he is entitled to a readjustment of his contract. There are, no doubt, other exhibitors who feel likewise.
> The Fox Film Corp. is, of course, protected legally by the Fourteenth Clause, which absolves the distributor from his failure to deliver any picture if such failure has been occasioned by causes beyond his control. But fairness requires that the Fox company make voluntary adjustments so that it may keep the exhibitors' good will.

The dollar is a mighty man. . . .

Young Dave Selznick rode into town late last week, fresh from Hollywood by way of Saratoga and the races, with a challenge on his lips and quite a hunk of a chip on his shoulder. If he feels like "raiding" other studios, he'll do it. Talent whose contracts were about up were "the property of the field"; no old-line company agreement would keep him out of the business; Warners had taken Chatterton, Francis and Powell from Paramount and were sorry; Darryl Zanuck brought people over to 20th Century from Warners and he was sorry. But that was after it had happened. So Dave, who has the Selznick flare for talking the sort of talk that makes good copy, went on, making the point quite emphatic, at the same time, that he would not encourage contract jumping. . . .

Starting his own company from scratch and being obviously shy himself of the talent he's talking about, Dave's conversation is easy to give; he has little to lose. It is to be presumed, of course, that, if and when he develops, hires or acquires such talent by "raiding" there would be no objection if his announced tactics are practiced on him by some other producer who views the technique in an identical light. . . .

Selznick had other observations to point up. "There are not more than fifteen real stars in the business. There isn't enough talent in the industry to make sixty good pictures a year." Agreed on count the first; disagreed on the second. Forgetting how we may view the matter, what's more to the point is what Selznick proposes doing about it. Simply to go pontifical without a remedy is old and easy stuff. His comment on the current drift toward fewer pictures from the names that count because they realize the danger of being seen too often and because the income tax makes futile any ambition to roll up huge earning power is, however, interesting. . . .

One of several stories out of Hollywood recently on the latter circumstance is that of a director, prominent enough to earn $5,000 a week. When his year was over, what with the tax—state and Federal—the yarn credits his residue at exactly $25,000. This man, then and there, determined to make fewer pictures; there seemed to be no point in proceeding otherwise. Returning visitors from the studios agree the tax problem is very apt to cut the number of important starring pictures. Faced by necessity, producers, including Selznick, will have to try harder to foster new talent. . . .

The technicalities of the Twentieth Century-Fox deal are over and the merger is a definitely completed corporate fact. This is how it happened: When word was flashed to the Fox office the other day that Justice McLaughlin had refused to grant Mrs. William Fox and her All-Continent Co. an injunction to halt the consolidation, the legal handicap collapsed. Stock transfer stamps and the rest of the necessary paraphernalia, poised for days awaiting this word, were put through their ritual and the final business details sealed. The stay immediately obtained by Mrs. Fox's lawyers puts a stopper on operations under the merger, but the merger itself is through. A bit technical, but there it is. . . .

Straw in the wind: Reliance completes its releasing deal with United Artists with delivery of (1) "Red Salute," (2) "The Memory Lingers On," (3) "The Last of the Mohicans." But Eddie Small, the other day in Hollywood, talked about plans for ten new ones. Where will they go? Maybe that's why Harry Goetz, around the town these days, has opened up his house again. . . .

Those linotypers! From Bland Johaneson's review of "The Crusades" in The Mirror:

> The story describes the brave Richard who loves a fight and enlists in the Crusades to recover Jerusalem from the Sarazens. . . .

The Gene Sarazens? . . .

Then there was the amusing Dick Watts in the Herald-Tribune whose typewriter pounded forth a gem on the same picture:

> Determination to clear up for us certain erroneous ideas about the Third Crusade, he (De Mille) demonstrates pretty conclusively that when the hosts of Christianity and Islam, led by the mighty Richard and the chivalrous Saladin, went into mortal combat they were chiefly concerned over the hand of Miss Loretta Young. I regard this as probably the greatest contribution made to history by the cinema since an early silent picture once proved that Washington crossed the Delaware to rescue Miss Marion Davies from an evil British officer.

Getting back to Selznick for a couple of lines. Could the "ample financing" he talks about refer to the Jock Whitney millions? . . .

More 10-Cent Shows Facing Kansas City

posed, although some 10-centing and some increase in double billings can be attributed to extra-curricular promotions.

E. E. Webber's Mary Lue, C. E. Esterly's State and Commonwealth's Ashland are among those forced by the tidal wave of giveaways to increase the number of 10 cent nights. The State and Ashland have been ten-centing on Sundays for several months, an unusual practice, and the Mary Lue is using more 10 cent nights than it used to because of competition.

In spite of the 15 cent minimum set by Warners, M-G-M, Fox, RKO, and Paramount, few exhibitors report any difficulty getting the quantity of 10 cent pictures they need. Most of them, however, are unable to secure enough of the kind of pictures they would like to have for 10-centing.

The tendency among producers to set a 15 cent minimum for pictures: some, all; some, specials and percentage films; and the remainder has led to the speculation as to whether or not efforts of producers to make a better type of picture have had any bearing on this tendency.

Says Would Cut Giveaways

E. Rolsky, operator of the St. John and National, dime houses, feels that if more pictures were made available for 10 cent showing, there would be less use of promotional schemes because many exhibitors are opposed to giveaways and would use 10 cent shows in preference to such as a competitive measure. However, many exhibitors feel that enough pictures are already available for 10 cent showing.

One exhibitor pointed out that in the past 10 cent houses have been known to advertise "The best shows in town available in (so many) weeks for 10 cents, why pay more?"

Some pictures should never play at a dime, one exhibitor said, although he, along with others, would not object to all companies allotting certain pictures for 10 cent showing.

During the last month or two Warners, and more recently, M-G-M, have made available for double billing at 15 cents pictures previously marked for singling. This is exclusive of specials and percentage pictures, it is understood.

N. Y. Chance Game Set to Invade Chicago

Lucky, which claims to have 135 accounts in the local area, will invade Chicago on Sept. 1, Howard Parker, owner of the game, declares. The move is in opposition to Screeno, which is said to have on its books 165 theatres in the Windy City and about 65 in New York. One house in the Chicago Loop is already playing Lucky, Parker states.

Chance games are expected to get started in Baltimore shortly, exhibitors from that area state. No theatre in the city is playing games now.

Meanwhile, test case in all five boroughs here is due this week. Attorneys for the various distributors met last week discussing legal procedure.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Here's to Romance"

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

Hollywood, Aug. 25—Choosing a story which permitted the introduction of operatic arias and the graceful presentation of such artists as Maria Gambarelli, Escudero and Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, producer Jesse L. Lasky gives a masterful showmanship exhibition in offering the tenor, Nino Martini, in his picture debut.

The original story by Ernest Pascal and Sonya Levien, designed for Martini's talents, suits them admirably. Reginald Denny and Genevieve Tobin, his wife, are art patrons. Denny, philandering, has a flair for ballet dancers, and in retaliation Miss Tobin sponsors the career of Martini. Studying in Paris, Martini meets Anita Louise, a ballet student. Romance between the pair is interrupted by the arrival of Denny and Miss Tobin and they are definitely separated when Miss Louise learns Miss Tobin has paid for Martini's debut at the Opera Comique. Reunited later in New York, Miss Louise brings the Metropolitan Opera impresario to a dime store where Martini plugs songs. Martini, given the chance to sing "La Tosca" at the Metropolitan, scores an outstanding success.

Director Alfred Green has extracted the utmost from the script and has spotted Escudero, Gambarelli and Madame Schumann-Heink in specialties to the greatest advantage.

Music lovers will probably return to see this picture a second and a third time as Martini's voice offers a thrill seldom found on the screen. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 89 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Death From a Distance"

(Invincible)

This is a neat little effort which, aided by good direction and fine character portrayals, moves along at a lively clip and should afford suitable entertainment in most houses. It isn't a pretentious picture by any means and in spots what was meant to serve as comedy falls quite flat, but it will satisfy most audiences, particularly those liking mysteries.

Frank R. Strayer directed from a good screen play and manages to keep the identity of the culprit hidden until near the end. The camera work of M. A. Anderson does much to enhance the film's values.

The story has Russell Hopton called in to solve a murder in a planetarium while a prominent scientist is lecturing. Lola Lane, newspaper reporter covering the lecture, is in on the killing, but, like everyone else present, ignorant of what happened. The action continues in the observatory, shifting once or twice to police headquarters or to Miss Lane's newspaper as Hopton tries to find the guilty party. By means of a ruse, however, Hopton finally gathers all the suspects into the observatory and, when he seems to be completely lost in a maze of evidence, all pointing to different parties, uncovers the guilty one. The windup has Hopton and Miss Lane, for whom romance had bloomed during the course of the investigation, winding up in each other's arms.

The cast also includes George Marion, Wheeler Oakland and George Reagan in prominent parts.

The astronomy angle in the film should give exhibitors an excellent hook on which to hang some of their exploitation ideas.

Production Code Seal No. 795. Running time, 68 minutes. "G."

"Sunny Youth"

(Amkino)

Ukrainfilm of Russia has produced in "Sunny Youth" an interesting and actionful bit of entertainment built around the Soviet's younger generation. The film details the interests that occupy the attention of Russia's young people, not forgetting their romantic life. To give the production added appeal the producers have injected a little villainy into the story having to do with a track athlete who resorts to dirty work in an attempt to win a race.

Scenes of athletic competition pack the picture and have been given the benefit of first-rate photography. For this reason if for no other young American film-goers ought to find the film pleasant entertainment.

seek today, therefore, would not extend beyond the date indicated by Judge Lazansky. Yet if Fox Film attorneys are successful in their arguments in having the stay vacated, even for this interim period, the company could then proceed with its reorganization and merger subject to final action of the court.

Mrs. Fox's action was dismissed on Thursday in a lower court by State Supreme Court Justice Alonzo G. McLaughlin, who, in his decision, observed that "further delay in consummating the merger may cause very serious damage to the merged companies. The nature and character of the business is such that uncertainty and delay may be costly."

Mrs. Fox's attorney immediately took an appeal to the appellate division with the result that the temporary stay of the reorganization proceedings, which will be contested today, was issued.

Judge McLaughlin made known in his decision that although Mrs. Fox and her All-Continent Corp., the plaintiffs in the action against the merger, have waived their right under the stock corporation law to have their stock appraised and receive for it its cash value, through failure to serve notice of their dissent within the time fixed by law, Fox Film has agreed to extend the privilege to the plaintiffs and to bear the expense of the stock appraisal.

Twentieth-Fox Stock Listed by Exchange

The new no par value preferred and common stocks of Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. have been admitted to the list and registration of the New York Stock Exchange. Fox Film's old Class A common will be stricken from the list and suspended from dealings after Sept. 4 as a result.

Listing of the new stock is one of the final phases of the Twentieth Century-Fox merger and reorganization, despite the fact that Mrs. William Fox's appeal of a Brooklyn court decision to prevent the merger and reorganization is pending.

"Diamond Jim Brady" opened to a terrific business at the Roxy Friday with 26,739 customers paying $7,283.25. So great was the business that an extra show had to be put on. At 11:30 P. M., Irving Lesser ordered the cashiers to stop selling tickets because of the standees in the theatre. Last week, the first independent picture to play the Roxy in two years wound up with a little more than $27,000. The picture was "Keeper of the Bees."

Second week of "China Seas" at the Capitol was good for $33,000. "Bright Lights" at the Strand took in about $12,975.

Hollywood, Aug. 25.—"The Robin Hood of El Dorado" unit on location heard tell from the natives near Sonora that a miner had buried $10,000 in raw gold on his claim before he died a short time ago.

Now William Wellman is having a time keeping his 80 players at work. They're all out digging.

GermanyBusy With a Polish Co-Alliance

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Steps are being taken in Germany to improve relations between German and Polish producers, according to a report to the Dept. of Commerce from Commercial Attache Clayton Lane in Warsaw.

Polish negotiations with the German industry also contemplate a contract for an exchange. It is reported theatre grosses have improved since the introduction of German language films into Poland. Negotiations are being conducted to establish joint Polish-German production.

UFA is preparing to produce educational films on Polish life and customs. The Polish Government has assured its assistance and has offered to cooperate.

Twenty features were produced in Sweden during 1934 and at least 40 will be completed during 1935, according to Acting Commercial Attache Osborn S. Watson in Stockholm.

The largest producer is Aktb. Svensk Filmindustri, Stockholm, established in 1919 and having a share-capital of 10,000,000 crowns (about $2,563,000). This company is also the largest single owner and operator of theatres.

Features are also produced by three other local firms—Europa Film, Ire Film, Vive Film. It is estimated that these firms will make 12 during 1935. Average cost for a feature produced in Sweden is around 150,000 crowns (about $38,000).

A total of 5,281 films, including originals and prints, exclusive of newsreels and nature pictures having a total length of about 13,170,000 feet were censored there during 1934. Approximately 70 per cent of the total came from the United States.

Remlap Corp. Formed

ALBANY, Aug. 25.—Remlap Amusement Corp., New York, has been formed here with a capital of 100 shares of non par value stock to operate theatres. Sol Rosenberg, David I. Schane and Ester Denker are the incorporators.

SO THAT OUR POSITION MAY BE FULLY UNDERSTOOD

We have steadfastly refused to make announcements as to our policy on the Will Rogers pictures, old or new, until everything that human mortals could do for Will Rogers had been done. That time has now passed. We have been deluged with telegrams and letters from the public at large, and from exhibitors, urging us to release the Rogers pictures, to reissue the old ones and to make all the pictures available for theatres and other places that desire to run them. So that there will be no misunderstanding, our position is as follows:

We will continue to serve the Rogers pictures to those accounts of ours that have them under contract and to our regular customers in the regular way. This will apply to the releases that are now out, as well as to the two new pictures STEAMBOAT ROUND THE BEND and IN OLD KENTUCKY which are still to be released. The handling and releasing of these productions will be done on exactly the same basis as though Will Rogers were still alive and working, and there will be no variation from this. We have refused, and will refuse, to reissue any of the old pictures at this time or take care of the hundreds of demands for spot bookings of the older Rogers pictures. We believe that the orderly showing of these pictures, without making any attempt to cash in on the publicity by the reissuing of old pictures, is the only decent and proper way to handle it, and that will be our policy.

It is our opinion that Will Rogers will live in the memory of the people of the world for many, many years to come and that there will be a legitimate demand to see the work of this great character from time to time, but we refuse to make any attempt to cash in on that which would not have come to us except in the regular, orderly way. We believe that this would have been Will Rogers' wish if he were here today to express himself.

Variety Club

Kansas City

Kansas City, Aug. 25.—Variety Club's No. 8 canvas is jogging along comfortably through the dog days. Monday's informal luncheons are pretty well attended; Bingo Wednesday nights is being patronized from nine to 12, after it cools off nicely, etc.

Although it cost a small fortune—$900 and over—to license the bar, that part of the club's activities is doing a good business for summer although it will be fall before profits begin to loom very large.

Aug. 12 saw twice as many at luncheon as the preceding week, with a large Fox Midwest contingent. For the latter Fox's convention at Excelsior Springs Aug. 13 and 14 largely was responsible.

D. S. Lawler and H. E. Jameyson were in from Wichita, and from Kansas City there were E. C. Rhoden, L. J. McCarthy, Charles Jones, Charley Schafer, Frank Ritter. T. S. ("Curly") Wilson, Fox manager at Excelsior Springs, was present.

Others included Don ("Hi Fi") Davis, Al Lindquist of RCA at Camden, R. C. Libeau, Joe Manfre, Jim States, and traveling auditor Ralph Brashear of Paramount; "Peck" Baker, etc.

Baker deserves having a medal struck for him as the most-consistent-Variety-Club-luncheon-attender. He hasn't missed any since Tent 8 was formed.

Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Aug. 25.—The first local industry golf tournament sponsored jointly by Tent No. 13 and The Exhibitor will be held Sept. 20 at Whitemarsh Country Club.

Whitemarsh Country Club, a championship course, will be the scene. A committee consisting of Clark, Greenberg, Rogasner, Bachman and Boardman accepted the site after Barker Clark announced it could be secured.

Varietymen and industry members from here as well as other cities may attend. A prize committee is at work and a special evening's festivities is planned.

Today Tent No. 13 adjourned to Tom's River, N. J., where kings for the day Harry Blumberg and Iz Hirschblond held sway at an all-day picnic.

Sept. 4 will mark a club luncheon in Atlantic City in connection with the Showmen's Jubilee. Regular local luncheons resume in October.

Finds Scripts Improved

Hollywood, Aug. 25.—"In England as in the early days of the movies in Hollywood, comparatively little attention has been paid to stories themselves," stated W. P. Lipscomb on his return from a vacation there. "Producers, until recently, have been more interested in mastering the mechanics of film making. During the past two years, however, more and more importance has been attached to scenarios, and as a result British writers are having an unprecedented opportunity for development. Hollywood will directly benefit from this situation in that a healthy competition among writers had grown, and an exchange of ideas and technique will ultimately better the product of both countries," he added.

Up Fifty Per Cent

New Orleans, Aug. 25.—Returning from a trip through Northern Louisiana, Leo Seichnaydre, manager for Republic, says business in the upper section of the state is practically 50 per cent better than a year ago.

Judel Plans Serials

Chicago, Aug. 25. — B. N. Judel, local independent, will return from the coast Sept. 3. He has been there a month, his first vacation in 20 years. While on the coast, Judel made plans for a group of serials.

"China Seas" Wow Up in Providence

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 25.—"China Seas" proved a smash attraction at Loew's State, bringing in the week's largest gross at $16,000—head and shoulders above anything else in town. Other houses felt the competition keenly and failed to reach par. Press raves helped materially and picture could have been held over except for the fact that Loew's, seating 3,800, exhausts most of the big business in a single week.

"Front Page Woman" and "The New Adventures of Tarzan," pulled $6,000, or $1,000 under, at the Majestic and the same total was the best the Strand could do with "Every Night at Eight" and "This Woman Is Mine." The RKO Albee with a good show, "The 39 Steps" and "Old Man Rhythm," did only $4,000, which is $3,000 under average.

Total first run business, $33,100. Average business, $40,500.

Estimated total for week ending Aug. 22:

"EVERY NIGHT AT EIGHT" Para.)
"THIS WOMAN IS MINE" (Para.)
STRAND—(2,300), 15c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $6,000. (Average, $7,000)

"TARZAN" (Burroughs)
MAJESTIC — (2,400), 15c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $6.000. (Average, $7,000)

"CHINA SEAS" (M-G-M)
LOEW'S STATE—(3,800), 15c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $16,000. (Average, $12,000)

"THE 39 STEPS" (G. B.)
"OLD MAN RHYTHM" (RKO)
RKO ALBEE—(2,300), 15c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $4,000. (Average, $7,000)

"NORTH OF ARIZONA"
RKO VICTORY—(1,600), 10c-25c, 4 days. Gross: $1,100. (Average, $1,000)

new total of 48. Negotiations are on for the Jerome and two other units in the same borough.

Peter and Adam Adams, who some time ago bought the Park Lane, Palisades Park, N. J., in the next few days will assume operation of the Leonia, Leonia, now being run by Julius Charnow. Negotiations are expected to be consummated in a few days. The Adams also operate in partnership with Paramount the U. S., Paterson, and Paramount, Newark.

Reinhardt Will Film Another Shakespeare

Max Reinhardt, who made "A Midsummer Night's Dream" for Warners, will return to America in the near future to do another film version of a Shakespearean play for the company, it is revealed by Jake Wilk, manager of the Warner story department, who visited the impresario in Austria last month.

Several European players trained by Reinhardt will be used by him in the film, according to Wilk, who asserts that the producer has already picked his next vehicle but refuses to reveal his choice until production is about to start.

It is further learned from Wilk that Reinhardt plans to transfer all his production activities to this country.

M-G-M Is Reported Selling Protection in Cleveland

tributors will take advantage of the deal and insist on similar zoning clauses.

Very little selling is going on, independents report. However, M-G-M is being watched. Whether action is planned by the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio has not been made clear and members are noncommittal. Moe B. Horwitz and Leo Greenberger of Washington and Community circuits, respectively, have been in Atlantic City at the Allied of New Jersey convention. It is understood they will discuss the local matter with Abram F. Myers and Sidney E. Samuelson before returning here from Atlantic City.

Balto Exhibitors Angered

BALTIMORE, Aug. 25.—Independent exhibitors are riled at an important local unaffiliated circuit operator who is demanding increased protection over last year. It is understood one exchange has already granted the extended clearance which might result in filing of a suit, which already has been threatened.

Avalon Petition Filed

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Aug. 25.—Reorganization of the Avalon Realty Co., operators of the Avalon, south side neighborhood house, is sought in a petition filed with the federal district court clerk. In addition to the theatre the building consists of 20 apartments and four stores.

Assets of $699,066 and liabilities of $502,558 are listed in the petition. It points out that $285,000 of the original bond issue is outstanding. Included in the assets are rents due from the rental of the theatre, totaling $146,799. J. H. Silliman, guarantor of the theatre lease, is president of the realty company.

Buys "Wandering Jew"

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Sam Handlesman will distribute the Conrad Veidt starring picture, "The Wandering Jew," in Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Looking 'Em Over

A good proportion of these scenes were shot in the Kiev Stadium, one of Russia's greatest sports arenas.

For the sake of continuity the story of the efforts of a scholarly Soviet youth to develop himself into an athlete in a desperate attempt to win popularity has been worked into the production. The climax comes when the lad steps into the starting lineup in a long-distance race at the last moment and beats the villainous athlete referred to above.

The film is a pleasant relief from the ordinary run of Soviet pictures in that it contains some really attractive feminine types in its cast, in which are to be found A. Shubnaya, M. Savitskaya, A. Lakhtionova, N. Penkovich, V. Gomolyak, C. Maeyerovich and A. Kerner. Paul Koromoitsev directed.

This is a silent film with English subtitles.

No production code seal. Running time, 75 minutes. "G."

"Superspeed"

(Columbia)

It seems a shame that players such as Florence Rice, Preston Foster, Charles Grapewine and others of that ilk should be compelled to display their talents in a story such as this. The plot is frayed around the edges from constant use and in this case even the director failed to relieve the monotony by inserting different twists into the humdrum plot.

The photography of Benjamin Kline is good, but the addition of newsreel clips of boat races in several sequences rather kills the good effect his early work creates.

The story has Foster graduating from college as an all-American football player, besides being an engineer. Mary Carlisle talks her father into giving him a job in his automobile plant. Arthur Hohl, the villain, ruins Foster's hopes of success when he tampers with a supercharger the latter has invented and is demonstrating. Foster, undaunted, joins up with Grapewin and Miss Rice at their motor boat plant and with his invention installed on a boat turns the tables on Hohl, wins Miss Rice and recognition in the mechanical world.

It will be difficult to find an audience that hasn't seen the same idea many times before. For small towns and neighborhood dual bills this may fit.

Production Code Seal No. 1115. Running time, 54 minutes. "G."

president of Invincible, will each produce six features for the new schedule, working jointly as in the past. The companies state that their production budgets will be "materially increased" for the new season, and that with this factor and the curtailed output, fewer and better pictures will be the aim of the two companies.

Under the new distributing arrangements completed with Pathe Film Corp. and First Division, the latter will also handle New England distribution for Chesterfield and Invincible in addition to New York, Albany, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Washington, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit, Louisville, Charlotte, New Orleans, Atlanta and Pittsburgh.

Batcheller and Cohen, who are en route back to the coast to set production on two of the three remaining pictures on last year's schedule, closed for stage plays and stories for the new season while here. Their last picture on the past season's schedule will go before the cameras within the next three weeks, it was said.

Library Gets Pledge Of Industry's Aid

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25.—Hollywood film leaders, headed by Will Hays, pledged the wholehearted cooperation of the industry to the Museum of Modern Arts Film Library in New York at a dinner given by Mary Pickford at Pickfair last night. The dinner was held for the purpose of outlining the plans of the museum and was attended by representatives of every major studio.

The library will undertake to assemble, catalogue and preserve outstanding films dating from 1890 to the present, drawing selections from here and abroad. The films will be exhibited for study in the museum and colleges throughout the country. The library will also assemble books and periodicals on films and collect photographs and old music scores originally issued to accompany silent films.

Following the dinner Miss Pickford urged the cooperation of the entire industry. Hays pledged the support of the Producers' Ass'n. John E. Abbott, vice-president and general manager of the library, and Iris Barry, curator, who has been working quietly on the coast for the past month, leave for New York Wednesday.

exhibitor asserted the I.E.P.A. of Philadelphia, which works in association with Allied of New Jersey, is trying to get a buying combine together to break down Columbia's demands in South Jersey and Philadelphia.

In Northern New Jersey and New York independents said the company is selling on flat arrangements. Louis Gold of Newark declared he knew this to be a fact and another exhibitor who bought on a percentage basis last year stated Columbia is asking him to sign a contract on a flat rental basis.

Discussions on and off the convention floor by exhibitors indicated many may book away from Columbia this year. Rodner, at the open convention, stated that with the exception of two pictures last season none of Columbia's output made money. He asked for someone to stand up on the floor and contradict him.

4 Columbus Houses Back Again to Neth

Columbus, Aug. 25.—In the public auction by the Franklin County Court of the four neighborhood houses, the Clinton, State, Eastern and Cameo, to satisfy foreclosure proceedings for default in bonded indebtedness, John H. McCoy, president of the City National Bank and Trust Co., representing J. Real Neth, acquired the houses for $342,000. This supplants the offer of W. C. Chesbrough of 15 per cent of the bonded indebtedness in cash for the Clinton and Eastern, the remainder to be covered by new bonds at 5½ per cent. His offer for the Cameo and State was 30 per cent cash and the remainder in 5½ per cent bonds.

By McCoy's action Neth regains control of the houses. According to state appraisals the State is valued at $108,000, the Clinton at $95,000, the Eastern at $85,000 and the Cameo at $25,000.

McCoy's bid will pay the bondholders of the Cameo and State in full, but the bondholders, on the other two houses, will not receive the full interest.

Chance Games Cases Go to Higher Court

Magistrate Refuses to Make a Decision

Magistrate Murphy in the Bronx yesterday passed on to Special Sessions a hearing on bank night against the Tremont, Bronx, after Melvin Albert of Weisman, Quinn, Allan & Spett, attorneys for the I.T.O.A., asked for dismissal.

Albert held that the chance games were not a violation of the lottery law, but Judge Murphy decided not to hear arguments or to ask for briefs, leaving the interpretation to the three judges to sit next month. A number of exhibitors have been arrested during the past few weeks for playing

Sales Tax for Missouri in Effect Today

Theatres There Upset Over Method

Kansas City, Aug. 26.—Exhibitors of Missouri were, figuratively and actually, groaning today as the collection of the one per cent tax gets under way Tuesday. The law replaces the one-half of one per cent tax which has been in effect and which the exhibitor absorbed. The one per cent he must collect. On practically everything the theatre buys—and all it sells—it must pay, or collect, the tax.

Few exhibitors are losing any sleep over the sales taxes which will be

Brandt Considering Joining New Circuit

Harry Brandt, with 42 houses in his circuit, is seriously considering joining the recently formed independent Theatre Circuit, Inc., but is withholding his decision until 30 theatres, which have signed up, send in checks for participation in the setup.

Brandt has been approached to accept an executive position in the new organization, but wants the circuit to prove its strength with 100 per cent participation of exhibitors. Brandt, most likely, will be named head of the unit at a salary of $1,000 a week.

New Stay Is Aimed at Fox Film Merger

tion against the Twentieth Century-Fox merger.

The stay sought yesterday by Murray Becker, of Hirsh, Newman, Reass and Becker, attorneys for Mrs. Fox and other minority stockholders of Fox Film Corp., was asked pending an appeal to the Appellate Division for a reversal of Justice McLaughlin's order in allowing the merger.

Ralph F. Harris, attorney for the film company, told the court that the merger had already been consummated. The court was informed that this was accomplished at 444 West 56th St. a brief time after Justice McLaughlin's order had been handed down last Thursday.

Becker insisted that the consummation of the merger had taken place before Justice McLaughlin had listed his stay on Thursday at 3 P.M. and said he had evidence to prove that the consummation actually took place at 2:30 P.M. Thursday, on which day a corporation certificate was handed the Secretary of State in Albany for the reorganized company. Harris declared that these objections were academic. Becker insisted that his point was that the consummation took place before Justice McLaughlin's order had been lifted and that while the stay was still in operation.

Harris said this situation was no embarrassment to the merger, but that it did damage the interests of 17,000 individual stockholders in the new company who found themselves in the possession of newly issued certificates of stock in the new company which they could not trade in on the open market.

The project is to give new talent six months' training, start them in shorts and later present them in features.

Cancel Censored Film

Scanty dress in the first three reels drew the majority of the disapproval.

Hyams Brings Product

Court Gives Approval for Fox Met Shift

Metropolitan Playhouses will be held tomorrow. It is expected Joseph M. Schenck will be named president and Weisman vice-president. Neither Schenck nor Weisman has definitely indicated acceptance of the executive posts.

Judge Caffey's order becomes effective the end of the week when the necessary papers will be drawn up and completed.

Skouras yesterday stated he does not intend to drop any Long Island theatres as reported elsewhere.

Charles Skouras, who arrived from the coast over the week end, plans to remain for two weeks on product discussions.

Lina Pictures Sues To Recover Assets

Joseph Briskman, as president of the Lina Pictures Corp., filed an application yesterday, in the Manhattan Supreme Court for an examination before trial of Benjamin W. Solomon, assistant secretary of Principal Dist. Corp., in connection with an action for an accounting brought by the complainant.

Briskman claims that on April 18, 1932, Talking Picture Epics, Inc., was about to give up its business as distributor of educationals and travelogues and engaged Principal to take over all of its assets and continue distributing the pictures over which Epics had control.

In his affidavit, Briskman complains Principal has withheld some of the proceeds which it had collected for the Epics and also alleges the contract which Epics and Principal entered into has been terminated and that he is now entitled to a return of all its property. This application was submitted to Justice Samuel I. Rosenman.

Counsel for the defendant denied allegations of Briskman for an accounting setting forth that Principal had submitted monthly statements. Counsel for Principal also claimed Epics was a declared bankrupt in January, 1933, and that Briskman purchased the estate in bankruptcy from the Irving Trust Co. which was the trustee in bankruptcy; that Briskman purchased the accounts receivable and other claims for "a measly sum of $375." Justice Rosenman reserved decision.

Thanks, MR. SARGENT

"I frankly admit to an interest in only one type of picture—the type of picture which makes it possible for Fox West Coast to keep some 200 theaters operating up and down the Coast, paying salaries to innumerable employees and giving the producer a fair return on his investment.

" 'Call of the Wild' is just such a picture. It is breaking records in almost every house. We are playing it at the worst time of the year, in the middle of a heat wave. But the most amazing thing about this picture is the fact that business grows from day to day instead of diminishing.

"Frequently, we play pictures with important stars and impressive box-office titles. When they do not live up to the expectations for the star or the title, we find we have a very profitable opening day—but from then on the receipts diminish, and the picture often ends up in the red.

"Only when the public enjoys a picture immensely does the business hold up for an entire week or two week engagement. Yet the second week's business at both the Chinese and Loew's State exceeded the first week's business of many of the important pictures played under the present policy.

"If you should ask me why 'Call of the Wild' is a success, my reply would be that it is a combination of all the ingredients of showmanship. It has a well-known story by a well-known author, is cast with well-known players, and is presented magnificently, romantically and with great human interest."

collected from them, but they are very uneasy about the effect of collection upon their patrons and about the process of collection itself. As one exhibitor remarked, Missouri showmen underestimated the effect of the sales tax until the last few days before it went into effect and then probably overestimated it.

It is expected to be an annoyance of the first water to get patrons accustomed to paying the tax. However, theatres expected to go ahead and use the tokens, which in one-mill and five-mill denominations, resemble in size, appearance and material milk bottle caps.

The physical detail of getting patrons past the box-office and into the theatre will be increased considerably at first. However, Barney Joffee of the Tower, for one, doesn't think that after the public becomes accustomed to it additional box-office help will be required except, possibly, at exceptional peaks. And when a theatre has a big crowd, the management probably won't be worrying about a small matter like the sales tax.

Can't Use Change-Makers

Because of the physical makeup of the tokens, theatres won't be able to use change-makers. Exhibitors expect for a few days, or possibly even a few weeks, that antagonism to the tax will express itself in refusal to spend any more money than is necessary.

The Fox Midwest circuit according to L. J. McCarthy, district manager, will use what other theatres use. He said he would have liked coupon books so that cashiers would not have to make change and box-office transactions would have been speeded up, but he doesn't regard the token problem as insurmountable. Fox theatres already have had experience similar to what they will have under the sales tax in the matter of "gift stamps."

The great fear of exhibitors is that the box-office will be slowed down so much additional help will be required to get patrons into the theatre.

The tax, which covers theatre, athletic and amusement admissions, will result in a profit for theatres with admission prices ending in the five-cent mark.

Tokens Secured at Banks

Tokens are being secured at banks. They can be redeemed there or at the state auditor's office. In half a dozen small Missouri towns banks have turned down the tokens and at Charleston, Mo., merchants have refused to become tax collectors for the state. Over 15,000,000 of the caps were in circulation today and more were being manufactured.

Exhibitors will have to pay the tax on any item they use as an ultimate consumer. This includes trailers, film delivery, electric lights, water, gas, posters, janitor supplies, laundering or cleaning of uniforms, newspaper advertising, billboards and handbills. Under the old one-half of one per cent tax, there was no tax on posters and one-sheets, newspaper advertising and electric lights.

Manufacturers will have to collect the tax from exhibitors on sound equipment, cooling apparatus, carpets and seats. However, installation service charges, for sound equipment and parts, will not pay the tax if the bill for service is rendered separately from the bill for equipment. Otherwise the supply company will have to include in the bill a tax charge covering the total equipment and installation charges.

Court tests of the constitutionality of the law may be expected, according to Attorney General Roy McKittrick, who has consistently opposed the sales tax. Also, it will be illegal to collect more than the amount of the tax due; that is, two mills on 15-cent sales, etc. Under such circumstances there would have to be, besides the one-mill tokens, tokens worth a fraction of a mill. The tokens are not legal tender and hence collection of the tax by that method by the state is not legal, inasmuch as the collection of any debt must be by legal tender.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Broadway Melody of 1936"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 26.—Entertainment grand and glorious, comedy joyful and boisterous, songs tuneful and melodious, dancing, world-beating, taps, terpsichore, choreography and rhythms plenty hotcha meld in this musical melody that propels a new personality, Eleanor Powell, to the mazdas and gives Jack Benny, the funny man; Robert Taylor, the lover; Frances Langford, the torch singer, Una Merkel and Sid Silvers, the laughateers, with Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, two eccentrics, and June Knight full and free outlet for their ace-high talents.

Here is a show with heart interest from a yarn based on a story by Moss Hart with the screen play by Jack McGowan and Silvers. It's all about a columnist, Benny, who can't keep his nose out of other people's romances until his beezer is poked a few times. He creates a fictitious personality, and Miss Powell, small town girl, is forced to impersonate his creation, she makes good in the big show and gets her man, Taylor. The story is designed with the heartache and victory of the Main Stem.

The song, "You Are My Lucky Star," sung by Miss Langford and also by Miss Powell, sticks in your whistle. Other tunes, "I've Got a Feeling You're Fooling," "Broadway Rhythm," "Sing Before Breakfast" and "On a Sunday Afternoon," all by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, the original "Broadway Melody" writers, are tuneful treats. Miss Powell, in her first film reveals star talents and is tops in taps, singing, beauty, imitations and trouping. Robert Wildhack's snoring specialties are belly laughs. Henry Stockwell sings the original "Broadway Melody" number.

Beautiful in movement and setting is Albertina Rasch's ballet. Distinctive is the musical direction of Albert Newman and the dances created by Dave Gould. The art direction, photography, gowns and sound are in M-G-M's best craftsman's manner.

John Considine produced under Sam Katz's aegis.

Benny's national popularity, the discovery of Miss Powell, fresh songs, laughs, dances, girls and romance make this a crackerjack musical show of big money and for big money.

Production Code Seal No. 1294. Running time, 110 minutes. "G."

"This Is the Life"

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 26.—"This is the Life" is keynoted by wholesome family appeal.

Jane Withers, ward of Gloria Roy and Gordon Westcott, supports her guardians by vaudeville trouping. Displeased with ill treatment and five shows a day, Jane joins John McGuire, who is fleeing from the police, in a transcontinental trek. Casting their lot with Sidney Toler and Francis Ford, who run a traveling medicine show, the pair proceed west, dodging their pursuers.

Eventually arriving at the ranch of Sally Blane and Emma Dunn, McGuire gives himself up to save Jane. The balance of the players then start a tent show, raising money which clears McGuire and permanently frees Jane from Miss Roy and Westcott's domination, with McGuire and Miss Blane clinching for a romantic finish. Joe Engel produced.

Lamar Trotti and Arthur Horman's screen play from Gene Towne and Graham Baker's original story, gives storm and sunshine Jane an ample opportunity to display her versatility. She sings, dances and acts with the grace and poise of a seasoned veteran. The direction of Marshall Neilan is expert throughout, hitting many memorable highlights.

As a pleasing comedy drama, the picture should click.

New Picket Arrests Bring Total to 400

several weeks ago tallies more than 400. Mass picketing of Harry Brandt theatres in the Times Square sector will be continued, it was stated at Local 306 headquarters. Allied pickets, meanwhile, continue parading before RKO and Loew houses on Broadway.

Negotiations between circuit-union representatives were resumed yesterday and are expected to last a few more days. While both sides are holding fast to an agreement not to give the sessions publicity, it is understood that the scale being set up will be basic for all theatres in the metropolitan area.

Overrules on Pickets

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—Judge Arthur Charbonnet of the Criminal District Court has reversed a decision of the lower court prohibiting theatre picketing. The lower court had convicted a group of Socialists, Liberals, Communists and Anti-Fascists who distributed handbills in front of the Crescent several months ago attacking the current film, "Man of Destiny," as un-American. Those convicted were charged with disturbing the peace.

Shirley Out Front Again; Chicago Now

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—It looked like the good old days around the Chicago last week what with terrific matinees and block-long lines waiting for their chance to buy tickets for "Curly Top." There were stage names on the bill, too, but all fell by comparison with the magic draw of Shirley Temple. The take was $40,500. Normal there is $34,600.

Total first run business was $133,900. Average is $122,100.

The show, co-featuring "Who Killed Cock Robin," easily led the town during a stifling week and is being held over in toto for a second week at the College.

The Paramount fell below par with "Every Night at Eight" and "Symphony of Living," grossing $4,200 as against its summer average of $4,800. "39 Steps" and "We're in the Money" at the Roger Sherman did $4,000, missing its par by several hundred dollars. "China Seas" Leads Boston With $17,000

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—"China Seas" made the big noise here last week and it was plenty. At Loew's Orpheum, where average is $12,000, the picture went to $17,000, and that called for a holdover.

Loew's State, which has been running day and date with the Orpheum, went $1,000 over par with the same picture, but now forsakes its former policy to go double feature. The shift is described as temporary.

"Jalna" held up at the Memorial, running to $14,000, or $2,000 ahead of the norm. Major Edward Bowes made a personal appearance Thursday to introduce his first amateur short, and this, of course, helped. Boston's substantial Irish population turned out for "The Irish in Us" at the Metropolitan, which did par business at $22,000.

Weather was fair and sweltering, except for what seemed like a cloudburst on Thursday.

Total first run business was $81,000. Average is $79,500.

Picture Bills Forgotten As Congress Ends

Copyrights and Sirovich Probe Hang Fire

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Leaving the copyright bill and the Sirovich resolution for an investigation of the industry hanging fire, the first session of the 74th Congress adjourned shortly after midnight this morning after a continuous sitting of eight months, leaving behind it a record showing appropriations of some $8,000,000,000 and the enactment of many New Deal measures of major importance.

So far as the film industry was directly concerned there was much talk but little action on legislation. The copyright bill was passed by the Senate but will not be acted upon in

Final Fox Met Action Awaits Mack's Return

Final approval of the Fox Metropolitan reorganization plan will not be given by the Federal court here until Judge Julian W. Mack, who has had jurisdiction over the company's affairs since it first entered receivership almost four years ago, returns from a European vacation some time next month, it was learned yesterday.

Thus, although Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey's order authorizing the transfer of the assets of Fox Met to the new company, Metropolitan Playhouses, will take effect this week and a complete board of nine directors has been named and is slated to meet to elect officers tomorrow, all of these steps will remain subject to

4 More Loew Theatres Switch—39 Now

Vaudeville will be dropped in four local Loew houses, two of the de luxe type, for double features starting Sept. 6. The move will bring to a total 39 theatres in the circuit on a twin bill policy.

Three of the units will adopt duals a week from Friday. They are the Valencia, Paradise and the Orpheum. The Boulevard on Sept. 13 will drop the four-day-a-week vaudeville policy.

The first twin bill will be "China Seas" and "Bright Lights." This program will play for a full week in all 39 houses, following which split weeks will be the order of the day. "China Seas" is an M-G-M special and "Bright Lights" is a 1934-35 Warner release.

Serious consideration was given to inaugurating a dual policy at the Pitkin, but late yesterday Loew execu-

Laemmle Again Says "U" Is Not for Sale

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—For the "umpty-umpth" time Carl Laemmle has denied that he plans to retire or to sell Universal. He made this statement during the course of an interview with Fred Johnson, drama editor of the Call-Bulletin. Laemmle was here to attend the premiere of "Diamond Jim" at the Orpheum.

"I've been in the picture industry for 29 years and I'm not yet ready to retire," he said, "both for business as well as sentimental reasons."

Laemmle added that he was opposed to the word "murder" in film titles and that he believed a studio can make pictures without going in for cycles, such as gangsters or biographies.

"The public is interested in many other things that are vital these days," he said, also adding that he felt business was muchly improved in the film industry.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

"SERVE those accounts that are under contract accepting no repeat engagements on any and immediately lock up and seal in your vault all prints of Rogers subjects that have completed all of their contracted business."

So John D. Clark wired Fox exchange managers yesterday, making it emphatically clear that no effort will be made while the comedian's death is still fresh to capitalize on a circumstance that lends itself poorly to opportunity for commercial gain. It should be said for Fox that it turned down flat hundreds of wires, telephone calls and letters seeking repeats of Rogers pictures earlier released, the unofficial estimate of business thus dangled before the distributor running to about $250,000 and perhaps as high as $300,000.

Interesting is Clark's telegram, indicating further how the corporation will conduct itself in a situation which was not easy to handle:

"'Steamboat Round the Bend' doing unprecedented business, every pre-release engagement including Chicago, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Tucson, Sacramento, South Bend and others proving conclusively Will Rogers pictures will bring premium. Therefore make certain to book 'Steamboat Round the Bend' to best of advantage, also get your keys set as soon as possible. It is our intention at least at present to release 'In Old Kentucky' Dec. 6 as originally announced. However on your Rogers retain to book 'Steamboat Round the Bend' serve all those accounts that are under contract accepting no repeat engagements on any and immediately lock up and seal in your vault all prints of Rogers subjects that have completed all of their contracted business. Based on the unprecedented business of 'Steamboat Round the Bend' we feel that we have a very valuable asset in these older negatives and we may release some of them this coming spring or possibly put them in our or possibly put them in our schedule next year. gested that this be done and have offered terms equally as good as the terms enjoyed for first engagements. Acknowledge this telegram and advise when each individual Rogers will be withdrawn from service."

Hot, like griddle cakes, is Floyd B. Odlum's interest in RKO and from it all something may develop. This is the deal whereby Atlas would become the dominant factor in RKO by purchasing RCA's investment in the company. Some of the detail of that proposal ran in this space on July 29. Because the outline has changed little and because scissors and paste make columning easier on a stuffy day, we repeat from that earlier day:

> The reputed difficulty about a deal between Sarnoff and Odlum is the usual difficulty which these matters entail. The former is striking for as much on RCA's sixteen millions in RKO that it can get. It is said to be in the Sarnoff mind that he is holding out for a dollar-for-dollar deal. It is also said for those who, by experience at least, are familiar with finance at large that Sarnoff, if he is holding on to such an idea, will find himself holding on for some time to come. The understanding is, however, that RCA is of far more interest to him than RKO and that, because this is so, Sarnoff is adamant about a full return on the communication company's investments in the film company.

The third circuit menace, as Loew and RKO view it, will not develop in this area after all that's been said and some of the things that have been done. Having had difficulties with the RKO chain on '35-36 product, Andy Smith, as you probably are aware, sold away to Abe Schwartz's Century Circuit, five theatres in the latter group thereby being stepped up into the first run classification in their zones. The houses are the Kingsway, Flatbush, which is pretty much of a lone hand with no direct RKO opposition; the Merrick, Jamaica, which competes with RKO's Alden; the Fantasy, Rockville Center, which was involved in a lengthy protection row with RKO's Strand, Far Rockaway, some months ago; the Patio, Brooklyn, which is in direct competition with the RKO's Kenmore, and the Grove, Freeport, which apparently doesn't annoy RKO. . . .

From Schwartz's angle the deal is of considerable interest because it made it possible to elevate the Merrick from third and fourth runs to first; the Fantasy from second and third—a victory over its traditional enemy, the Far Rockaway Strand; the Patio from third and fourth and the Grove from second and third. That is one deal. A second embraces Springer and Cocalis who operate the Beacon and Stoddard on the West Side. They have a buying arrangement with the Skouras' Riverside and Nemo and that works out in this fashion: When Skouras buys, the deal automatically includes the S. and C. houses; in reverse, the situation holds as well. The S. and C. deal, therefore, makes Warner product available first run in four, not two theatres and bids fair to seriously embarrass RKO's 81st St. A third deal with George Walsh for the Strand, Yonkers, closes out RKO's Proctor in that city. . . .

Whether or not they figured Smith was bluffing is not an available fact. At any rate, the RKO crowd turned busy the other day and began to palaver with several possibilities, all designed to send the dove of peace soaring over the greater city, in the immediate offing. One may be a Warner re-purchase of Century's contract on terms eliminating some of Schwartz's film worries by switches and changes in current protection to ease the strain at several points, notably the Fantasy and the Patio. Possible also is a deal whereby RKO will relinquish the 81st St. Possible, again, is a Warner-RKO get-together to include the latter's theatres not now covered in the three manoeuvres already engineered. This is a lengthy and rather involved route leading to the conclusion, poised at the outset, that the third first run circuit in Greater New York will not develop after all. . . .

Thalberg Denies He Plans New Company

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Irving Thalberg, who passed through here today en route from Hollywood to New York, denied coast reports linking him with a new production company, reputedly planned along United Artists lines with Winfield Sheehan, Sol Wurtzel and Hunt Stromberg, as owner-members. Arthur and David M. Loew have been tied in by report as well.

Wurtzel Non-Committal

Hollywood, Aug. 27.—Sol Wurtzel declared he had nothing to say when asked about reports linking his name with a new production company with which the names of Winfield Sheehan, Irving Thalberg and Hunt Stromberg have been connected via the rumor route.

Arthur Loew Uninformed

Arthur Loew late yesterday, when asked to comment on the report, said: "I don't know anything about it."

His brother, David, could not be reached for a statement.

Capitol Film Prod. Formed in England

H. A. Proctor, M.P., is chairman, Max Schach is managing director and directors of production are Louis A. Neel, John Hopkins and G. H. Bultimore.

The company will produce in conjunction with General Distributors, C. M. Woolf's new company, and release through the latter. British and Dominions studios will be used. The first year's production budget is set at £600,000.

The first picture on the schedule is "The Nuptials of Corbal," from Rafael Sabatini's story of the French Revolution. It will be directed by Karl Grune with Nils Asther and Aubrey Smith starred and a Hollywood player in the feminine lead. The second will be Jack Buchanan in "When Knights Were Bold," with Fay Wray. Jack Raymond will direct from a script by Austin Parker, with music by Sigler, Hofman and Goodheart.

Third on the list will be Richard Tauber in "Pagliacci," rights for which have already been acquired. Grune will also direct this one. Also scheduled is Gene Markey's "His Majesty's Pajamas." This will be the first on a two-picture deal with Al Werker. Ann Harding will star in a modern version of "The Lady with the Camelias" and a wheat story with a Canadian setting. Dita Parlo will be started in "Mademoiselle Docteur," Elissa Landi will be in "Koenigsmark," in combination with Richebe Prod. of Paris, with Maurice Tourneur directing. Anna Neagle will play in one picture with Buchanan under a three-year contract for one a year.

Tom Walls and Ralph Lynn will be under exclusive contracts to Capitol at the end of their present G. B. pacts.

Whether plans of Capitol Film Prod. Ltd., indicate a change in plans of Herbert Wilcox who recently formed an independent unit while, at the same time, he signed a new five year contract to handle supervise production for B. and D., his parent company, was not clear yesterday.

The program outlined for his independent unit, as announced in London and cabled to MOTION PICTURE DAILY, included a two-picture contract with Tom Walls and Ralph Lynn who are now embraced in Capitol's plans. Wilcox also stated he would have Anna Neagle.

Warner Theatre Men To Start Meet Today

Twelve Warner theatre zone managers from all sections of the country have arrived here for home office conferences and discussions of policy for the new quarter. The group is scheduled to convene for the first meeting this morning with Joseph Bernhard presiding. The sessions will probably go through two or three days.

Managers attending are James Coston, Chicago and Milwaukee; Nat Wolf, Cleveland; I. J. Hoffman, New Haven; Don Jacocks, Newark; Moe Silver, Albany; Ted Schlanger, Philadelphia; Harry Kalmine, Pittsburgh; J. J. Payette, Washington; Harry Copelan, Atlantic City; Lou J. Halper, Hollywood; Howard Waugh, Memphis, and B. F. Moore, St. Louis.

Judge Mack's approval or veto on his return.

The officers of the new Metropolitan Playhouses will be Joseph M. Schenck, president and chairman of the board; William P. Philips, vice-president and treasurer, and Milton C. Weisman, vice president and secretary.

The directors' meeting, which was to have been held today, was postponed to tomorrow when a messenger who was to take the papers to Albany for registration missed the last train for that city last night. The election will take place in Weisman's office.

Bondholders Name Three

The Fox Met bondholders' committee has named its three representatives to the board of the new company, as provided in the reorganization plan which calls for an initial board of nine members. The bondholders' representatives are Morton G. Bogue, counsel for the committee; Charlton B. Hibbard, banker, and L. B. Soper, a lawyer associated with Bogue's firm. The latter's election is regarded as a temporary one to fill the vacancy until a permanent candidate is agreed upon by the committee. The resignation of the three were tendered to the court yesterday in accordance with a condition laid down by Judge Mack at the time he gave tentative approval to the reorganization plan two months ago. The resignations permit Judge Mack to either confirm or veto the bondholders' representatives on the board, a right he reserved for the court.

Status Is Conditional

The indefinite status of these board members makes the election of Fox Met officers, and any action taken by the board or the officers between now and the time Judge Mack makes his final decision, purely conditional.

The remaining directors of Fox Met who were elected earlier are Schenck, Philips, Herbert Bayard Swope, Weisman, William Rhinelander Stewart and Samuel S. Allan. An option reserved by Schenck under the reorganization plan permits him to acquire the 50 per cent stock interest in the new Metropolitan Playhouses which would go to Fox Theatres Corp., provided the latter company does not itself exercise its right to purchase the stock. A protective committee of Fox Theatres' stockholders is now soliciting powers of attorney from stockholders in support of exercising this option. If it is not exercised, Fox Theatres would lose two members from the three it now has on the board and Schenck would gain two board members, in addition to his present two. RKO, whose representative on the board is Swope, would not increase its representation, but would be permitted to acquire a 20 per cent instead of a 10 per cent stock interest in Metropolitan Playhouses.

the House of Representatives until next session.

Representative Sirovich's resolution for an exhaustive investigation of the industry failed to receive action in the closing days of the session.

Among the measures which hung over the head of the industry during the session were bills providing for the banning of block and blind booking, repealing the prohibition on the interstate transportation of fight films, providing for the establishment of a Department of Science, Art and Literature, and creating a Federal Motion Picture Commission.

A high-light of the session just ended was the invalidation of the recovery codes by the Supreme Court and the futile effort of Congress to devise legislation to continue Government control of industry. Another feature was the "blank check" appropriation of $4,800,000,000 for public works and relief, from which the War Department will receive money for the construction of theatres at Army posts and New York City will get funds for the formation of troupes of vaudeville, dramatic and circus performers to give free shows to the public.

The industry will be directly affected by the social security legislation, providing unemployment and old-age pensions toward which all employers in the country will contribute through payroll taxes, and individuals and companies in the industry will also feel the effects of the 1935 revenue act, carrying heavy personal surtaxes and estate taxes, providing a sliding scale of corporation taxes, and increasing the capital stock and excess profits levies.

Photophone Eying Erpi Pact Details

intimated that home office officials who participated in negotiations with Erpi on the contracts in question were among them. Careful study of the pacts is also in progress with the entire activity aimed at determining whether or not the contracts contain restrictive clauses which operate to exclude Photophone from doing business with studios licensed by Erpi. The investigation is also designed, it was said, to ascertain whether the "interpretation" of the Erpi contracts serves to bring about that result.

Colonel Donovan, who has been conducting the investigation for Photophone in Hollywood for the past few weeks, returns tomorrow but will go to the coast again in two weeks to wind up his work. A decision on Photophone's course of action as a result of the investigation is expected about Oct. 1.

An Erpi official, asked for comment on the Photophone activity, said that the company had nothing to say for publication on the subject, adding, however, that "they (apparently referring to Photophone) have been studying our agreements for the last three years."

Korda Here to Confer with Lichtman on New Pact Terms

Twentieth Century-Fox, met Korda at the pier.

When asked by MOTION PICTURE DAILY if Korda would produce for Twentieth Century-Fox, Schenck stated he would not. Schenck added Korda came over to readjust his deal with U. A.

This is Korda's first trip over in five years. The production head of London Films was accompanied by Sir Connop Gutherie, chairman of the board of London Films; Stephen Pallos, commercial manager for the company, and Murray Silverstone, chairman of the board of U. A. in England.

Korda denied reports he was seeking an interest in U. A., declaring rumors of this nature were "false." He said he didn't know anyone in U. A. wanted to sell his interest, but would be happy if he could buy into the company. London Films' first color film will be "King of the Jews," a Biblical story by Mary Borden.

Korda is building a new studio at Denham. It will have five stages and will be completed sometime in February, he said. In connection with this, he will fly to the coast Thursday with Gutherie, Pallos and Silverstone to look over the latest production equipment. The group intends to remain in Hollywood three or four days.

London Films does not intend to make shorts next year, but may produce them the following year, Korda said. Asked if he would sign American talent while on the coast, the London Films' production head asserted:

"I have all the stars and players I need. I am very glad Hollywood wants my stars, I don't need theirs."

Silverstone said United Artists has signed a new four-year deal with British & Dominion to produce at least five features annually. While U. A. will have exclusive distribution rights in England and foreign countries, release of B. & D. films in this country will be up to Lichtman, who will pass on scripts before shooting is started.

Two other deals closed by U. A. in England are with Seymour Nebenzahl, who is scheduled to make two features, one, "La Vie Parisienne," based on an operetta by Offenbach, with Conchita Montenegro and Neil Hamilton. The second deal is with Marcel Hellman, who has signed Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., for an untitled picture. Hellman, Silverstone said, is now negotiating for story rights for the feature and will sign an important American director to handle it.

Silverstone added that in addition to distribution, U. A. also sponsors independent production in England, citing the two deals mentioned. He stated England is looking forward to "Dark Angel," which will have a simultaneous opening at the Leicester Square in London and in New York in September. The Broadway theatre has not been set.

John Zanft also arrived on the same liner. He said he spent six weeks in London on business dealing with the George O'Brien westerns being released by Twentieth Century-Fox. Zanft is also an agent. He stated he had signed Ned Sparks to a long term contract. He plans to leave for Hollywood in 10 days.

Helen Vinson, who has just completed a picture for G.B., said she planned to spend about 10 days before returning to the coast to resume free lancing. Madge Evans was another passenger.

It's Been 15 Years

With the arrival of Maurice Silverstone, U. A. chairman in London, the four Silverstone brothers will get together for the first time in 15 years in this country. With Emanuel and Arthur in the picture industry and here, Sid, a doctor at Mt. Sinai, completes the foursome.

tives decided to hold to the present single plan of full week bookings.

With elimination of stage shows, prices will be cut "comparable to local situations," it was stated at the Loew office. The new scales for the four houses will be set today.

The Boulevard, which has been playing vaudeville the first four days of the week, will double feature on these days after Sept. 13. The Orpheum has been booking vaudeville on split weeks. At the Valencia and Paradise stage shows have been booked for seven-day stanzas, but two features will play week runs beginning Sept. 6. The State on Broadway will be the lone vaudeville Loew house in the metropolitan area.

Out-of-town Loew houses playing vaudeville at present will see no immediate change in policy, it was declared.

RKO theatres playing single features are reported about to embark on a dual plan similar to Loew's.

Date for St. Louis Trial Set Sept. 10

That Federal Judge George Moore in St. Louis would not return from his vacation before the designated date of the injunction hearings against Paramount, Warners and RKO, thereby delaying the trial, was exclusively reported by MOTION PICTURE DAILY yesterday.

Philadelphia Tips $20,500 Top to "Seas"

Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—Moviegoers took the rubber bands from their wallets last week when "China Seas" moved into town. The first of the new season's big films, it clicked to $20,500 at the Stanley and was held a second week, rare for this big house.

The weather continued discouraging early in the week, but broke to cooler levels.

"Dante's Inferno" started big at the Fox, aided by a splurge of advertising. The pace cooled and it got $13,000 for its single week. At the Boyd "Alice Adams" did better than many recent offerings, garnering a neat $9,500 in six days. Robert Donat's new film, "The Thirty-nine Steps," was tossed in the Karlton without much advertising, but surprised with $3,100, due to Donat's popularity here.

The whole town showed surprising strength, far better than last week's doldrums.

Louisville, Aug. 27.—"China Seas' inundated the town, topping all opposition, and doing the best opening business since "Tugboat Annie." This was in spite of the continued ban on children under 14, who are in a virtual state of quarantine, due to daily reports of new infantile paralysis cases. Loew's State grossed $6,500 on the picture, which is $2,000 above average.

"The Irish in Us" at the Mary Anderson, in its second week, got $2,800, which is slightly above average, while "Accent on Youth" at the Rialto was under par, with $3,400 on the week.

Milwaukee, Aug. 27.—Outside attractions, including the circus which played to 38,000 Saturday and Sunday, hit theatres. "China Seas" was good for $8,500 at Fox's Wisconsin and Art Jarrett and Eleanor Holm did $5,200 at the circuit's Palace with admissions boosted from 40 to 55 cents top.

Donkey baseball breezed into town on Tuesday and attracted almost 20,000 people in three nights. The second of two free summer operas sponsored by the city park commission played to 15,000 on Wednesday night, while an amateur six-day girls' bike race, a free gag, was good for several thousand onlookers. "Smilin' Thru," a revival, did average $4,000 first run business at Loew's State. "China Seas" Cracks Record In Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Aug. 27.—Last week was the biggest downtown Pittsburgh has seen in several months. At the Penn, "China Seas" smashed through to more than $20,000, a figure this house hasn't seen in a blue moon, while the Stanley, with Major Bowes' radio amateur winners on the stage getting the credit rather than the picture, "College Scandal," zoomed along to a sensational $25,000.

At both houses, these figures represent a new all-time peak.

Even the Warner got its share of trade, "We're in the Money," with a good box-office draw team, Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell, and "The Healer" doing pretty close to $4,800.

Total grosses in three first run houses were $49,800. Average is $24,300.

"Seas" Smash Kansas City Hit, $25,000

Kansas City, Aug. 27.—"China Seas" rolled in last week and proved a tidal wave at the box-office of Loew's Midland. Behind big copy, the show did $25,000, more than double John McManus's par of $11,500, and it was held. The house used two cashiers Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Well above average for combination bills at the Mainstreet was the $13,000 done by Olsen & Johnson's "Booby Hatchery" with "Old Man Rhythm" on the screen. Average for the Mainstreet is $9,000.

"The Farmer Takes a Wife" built nicely during the week to go $900 over a normal $3,500 at the Fox Uptown.

The Newman's $7,800 was considered good on "Every Night at Eight."

"Champagne for Breakfast" (Columbia) disappointed at the Tower with $5,800 against a par of $7,000.

Kansas City's first cool weather of the summer helped.

Total first run business was $56,000. Average is $38,000.

Houston Goes for "Seas" in Big Way

HOUSTON, Aug. 27.—"China Seas" ran away with the money last week, as opening day marked up a record. The week's business zoomed to around $16,000 at Loew's State where the average weekly take is $7,000. The S. R. O. sign was out every show for the first five days. Gable is a favorite because of a personal following gained when he played stock here two seasons in 1928-29. The picture was held over.

"Old Man Rhythm" drew fair patronage at the Metropolitan, and "The Raven" drew the usual quota of horror fans and children, but both films took a licking from "China Seas."

"The Arizonian," at the Kirby, did a bit above average over the week-end, and "Front Page Woman," the midweek feature at the Kirby, held nicely to five per cent above average for midweek.

Total first run business was $32,500. Average is $26,000.

Decision Set Today on 20th Century-Fox

had decided to abandon any thought of bringing contempt proceedings against Fox Film. Such procedure had been considered when attorneys for the company admitted on Monday that the reorganization and merger had been completed last Thursday between the time that Supreme Court Justice Alonzo McLaughlin dismissed a stay and the time that a new stay was issued by Justice Lazansky. The belief of Mrs. Fox's attorneys had been that with an interval of only about 20 minutes between the two court orders, the action by Fox Film might have been taken in violation of either one or the other of the stays.

In announcing the decision not to bring contempt proceedings Becker observed that a violation, if any, might have been only a matter of seconds, in any event.

Further urging of an injunction, however, led the court to inquire: "What is there to stop now that hasn't already been completed?"

Says Court Can Still Act

Becker said that the court still could enjoin Fox from exchanging the new stock for the old and from paying to Sidney R. Kent, Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl Zanuck the salaries provided for in the merger agreement.

The court observed that it considered the "real question" before it to be whether there was any inequity in the size of the salaries in question. Justice Lazansky said that the question of fraud in the merger and reorganization had been gone into by the lower court and added that "I do not feel it incumbent on me to reverse the lower court on that point—but $250,000 per year is a lot of money to pay one man, even in these days."

In reply, Ralph S. Harris of Fox Film counsel reminded the court that "high salaries are paid to many persons in the motion picture industry" and asserted that delay or trouble here in effecting the merger and reorganization might have costly consequences among the companies' "temperamental stars" in Hollywood.

The charge that the reorganization represented an attempt by Chase National Bank to dominate the merged companies was revived by Becker but appeared to make little impression on the court.

"The proposals, as a whole," Judge Lazansky remarked at one point, "appear to me to be a good business deal."

Kane to Leave for England on Sept. 4

Robert T. Kane, recently appointed head of the English producing activities for Twentieth Century-Fox, sails Sept. 4 on the Berengaria for England, where the company will make 10 pictures annually.

Kane pointed out yesterday that these films will not be quota pictures, but will be produced for the world market. He expects to set up production headquarters at Denham Studios, now being constructed by Alexander Korda. The script on the first is in work, Kane said. It is "St. Joan," which will star Elisabeth Bergner with Paul Czinner directing.

Sidney R. Kent, president of Twentieth Century-Fox, sails for England next month to complete plans for the new unit.

The decision of the court today now means that Ascap will be restrained indefinitely from conducting business or entering into any future agreements in the state without court approval.

The complaint of radio stations KOL, Seattle, and KGY, Olympia, asking receivership and return of $19,000 allegedly overpaid Ascap since October, 1928, was withdrawn because of a conflict with the state receivership proceedings conducted by Attorney General G. W. Hamilton.

Bela Lugosi arrived on the Majestic yesterday after spending six weeks in London where he appeared in "The Mystery of Mary Celeste" for C. M. Woolf, who recently formed General Distributors, Ltd. He said Woolf had offered him a contract for another three pictures, but signing of a deal depends on whether he can sandwich in the time between Universal pictures. Lugosi stated he will leave for Hollywood Sept. 2 to begin work on "The Invisible Ray," following which he will appear in "Dracula's Daughter."

While in England, Lugosi signed a deal with Concordia, Inc., to play the star role in "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari." He will sail for London on the Majestic on Oct. 25. Werner Kraus also will appear in this film.

the effect of invalidation of the code system on American business.

With Congress expected to conduct studies of possible legislation before reassembling in January, the Recovery Administration disclosed that superficial investigation showed minorities in the film and other amusement lines were forcing the level of competition downward during July. Departures from code practices occurred in 17 states.

Suggesting the rapid spread of bank night, the NRA data listed 21 separate instances of "price cutting" in the amusement field, with 17 of this number charged up to Nebraska. There were 17 reports of increased hours, eight of wage cuts and 11 of combined hour increases and pay slashes.

The reports showed, however, that the amusement industry group had the smallest number of departures from code standards during July. Most changes were in retail trade, where more than 2,500 individual cases were noted. In all codified lines, there were well over 12,000 complaints of hour lengthening, wage cutting and price reductions.

Operator Pay Parleys Snag On Ultimatum

Circuit and union representatives reached an impasse early yesterday morning on negotiations for a new wage scale when Local 306 turned down the circuits' ultimatum of $1.60 an hour top for operators now receiving $2.12½. The union countered with a $2 an hour minimum.

In addition to the $1.60 quotation, the circuits demanded a 10-year contract instead of a two-year deal. This was immediately turned down by the operators.

The executive board of Local 306 yesterday held a special session to discuss and vote on the circuit proposal and unanimously held for rejection. The board decided to put the matter to the entire membership which

Merger Stay Again Denied For Mrs. Fox

Appellate Court Refuses To Take Action

The application of Mrs. William Fox and her All Continent Corp. for an injunction to restrain Fox Film from completing its reorganization and merger with Twentieth Century was denied yesterday by Justice Edward Lazansky of the Appellate Division of the N. Y. Supreme Court at Brooklyn.

In a brief opinion supporting the denial Justice Lazansky said that while there were grounds on which he might have issued an injunction, he refrained from doing so because all but "minor, formal detail" of the merger and reorganization had been completed, and to subject the transaction to a court trial might result in "serious

Pathe completed its reorganization immediately afterwards, but despite this Hilbert obtained a temporary stay pending an appeal to the Appellate Division. It was this stay which was vacated yesterday by Judge Martin.

Hilbert's action was brought on the grounds that the section of the stock corporation law authorizing the holding of extraordinary meetings of stockholders such as the one at which the Pathe reorganization plan was approved is unconstitutional. Merger Stay Again Denied For Mrs. Fox loss to all interested and be of little benefit to the plaintiff." The decision also observed that "the plan is satisfactory to all but a very few shares of Fox Film."

The grounds on which the court's opinion held that an injunction might be issued were those involving All Continent's allegations that Twentieth Century's assets had been speculatively valued and the purchase price was "recklessly exorbitant." These allegations, the opinion held, were not "satisfactorily answered" by Fox Film.

Mrs. Fox's attorneys said that while they would not appeal Judge Lazansky's decision in a further effort to obtain a stay of the merger and reorganization, they would probably take action within the next few days to obtain court orders prohibiting the carrying out of some of the provisions of the merger. Their action against officers, directors and large stockholders of Fox Film, charging wastage of assets and other acts, still remains and may be tried in October, according to the attorneys. If this action is won the court could compel the company to undo what has been done in the reorganization and merger procedure, a representative of Hirsh, Newman, Reass & Becker said.

Original Stay Denied Thursday

The original application for an injunction was denied by N. Y. Supreme Court Judge Alonzo G. McLaughlin at Brooklyn last Thursday, and the merger and reorganization was completed by Fox Film in the approximately 20 minutes intervening between Judge McLaughlin's decision and the issuance of a new stay by Justice Lazansky on All Continent's taking an immediate appeal to the Appellate Division.

In his decision yesterday Justice Lazansky said:

"I am of the opinion it would not have been an improvident exercise of discretion to have granted an injunction pendente lite in view of the statement in the moving papers below, not satisfactorily answered, indicating that the price paid by Fox Film to Twentieth Century Pictures, Inc., for the latter's property, speculatively valued, was recklessly exorbitant. But it is represented by counsel for the defendant that after a decision below, and before application for a stay pending appeal, the transaction sought to be enjoined had been fully consummated except as to some minor, formal detail. I have decided not to grant a stay as to those details for the following reason:

"To disturb the status quo until the validity of the transaction may be determined at a trial might cause serious loss to all interested and be of little benefit to plaintiffs, of whom the corporate plaintiff (All Continent) is really represented by the receiver of another corporation (General Theatres Equipment) appointed in Delaware, the court of which state has directed that receiver to vote for the plan, and the other plaintiff (Mrs. Fox) has a very small interest in Fox Film. Twentieth Century Pictures, Inc., is not before the court. The plan is satisfactory to all but a very few shares of Fox Film. Application for a stay denied."

Warners Vote Thumbs Down For Columbia

of line as compared with performance based on other season's deliveries. Coupled with this are rumblings of "high-handed tactics."

This is the second anti-Columbia move which has developed in less than a week. At the Allied of New Jersey convention in Atlantic City last week, opposition of Philadelphia zone independents was also voiced to the distributor's selling plan for 1935-36. Lou Rodner of the Broadway, Camden, at that meeting led the opposition, declaring exhibitors had refused to buy Columbia on the basis of six at 35 per cent and a second half dozen at 30 per cent. He also stated 20 houses in the Quaker City area already had refused to do business on these terms and that the Independent Exhibitors' Protective Ass'n of Philadelphia was forming a buying combine one of the purposes of which would be to resist Columbia.

Rodner also stated that, with the exception of two pictures last season, none of the Columbia output had made money and defied any of the theatremen there present to contradict him. There were no dissenting opinions.

Columbia Profits Up

Columbia yesterday reported a net for the fiscal year ending June 29 of $1,815,266.72 after all charges including provision for Federal income taxes. This is equivalent to about $9.91 on each common share after deducting preferred dividends, the company states.

During the 1934 fiscal year the income was $1,008,834.58, equivalent to $5.69 on the common.

The balance sheet as of June 29 shows working assets of $7,255,046.73 with current liabilities of $1,136,627.13. Earned surplus was given as $4,627,554.57. Cash on hand totaled $1,272,136.53. Assets were listed at $9,407,211.59.

Front Pages Supply Most Yarns—Tuttle

Producers are getting subject matter for their pictures more and more from the front pages of the daily newspapers because it is there they find what audiences are sincerely interested in, said Frank Tuttle yesterday as he prepared to return to Hollywood after a short visit here. "In the next few years, and probably long before, pictures will begin to be produced with more of a lesson and in more vital and closer contact with people as a whole," he further explained.

In discussing the suggestion of M. A. Lightman that exhibitors would do well to zone their territories according to the customers and consequently only show pictures to fit these sections, Tuttle expressed the opinion that directors and producers could turn out better work if they aimed at only one class of audience. There should be certain pictures for the family trade, certain ones for sophisticates and certain ones for general audiences, he continued, and when those making the pictures in Hollywood can aim at certain audiences and concentrate on these, the work will be correspondingly better.

Tuttle at present is under contract to Paramount and just finished directing Bing Crosby's latest, "Two for Tonight." His contract comes up for renewal in November. He admitted that he had been approached by Crosby and Emanuel Cohen to direct the picture they will make starring the former, but nothing definite on the deal has been done as yet.

Tuttle leaves today for the coast by train and will start work soon on the yet untitled feature starring Jean Arthur and Buddy Rogers for Paramount.

Warner Zone Heads Finish Policy Talk

The 12 Warner theatre zone managers yesterday concluded a two-day meeting under direction of Joseph Bernhard to discuss policy for the coming quarter. The session was originally scheduled to last two or three days but was concluded in one.

Managers attending were James Coston, Chicago and Milwaukee; Nat Wolf, Cleveland; I. J. Hoffman, New Haven; Don Jacocks, Newark; Moe Silver, Albany; Ted Schlanger, Philadelphia; Harry Kalmine, Pittsburgh; J. J. Payette, Washington; Herbert Copelan, Atlantic City; Lou J. Halper, Hollywood; Howard Waugh, Memphis, and B. F. Moore, St. Louis.

The group last night assembled at the St. Moritz to tender a dinner to Bernhard at which home office theatre department executives also were present.

Premiums Harmful, Mort Singer States

Mort Singer, RKO theatre partner in the middle west, is definitely against premiums and chance games for his nine theatres. He states that this sort of stimulant only tends to kill business, rather than aid grosses.

"I want to stick to the theatre business," Singer declares. He plans to leave for his home in Beverly Hills as soon as negotiations between circuits and unions wind up.

Looking 'Em Over

"Charlemagne"

(France-Film)

In "Charlemagne" Pathe-Natan of France has produced a highly amusing satire on government. Lack of a knowledge of French ought not to hinder American filmgoers in their enjoyment of this film, thanks to the generous use of subtitles in English and the splendid work of the cast, headed by Raimu, who, in the name part, turns in a most effective performance.

In its theme the film is reminiscent of Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton." It tells of a stoker, bullish and crude but with a deep sense of the injustice of things, who finds himself holding the upper hand when a yacht is wrecked on a desert isle.

The castaways, among whom is a sole woman (Marie Glory), become completely dependent upon the stoker for their existence. Realizing the strength of his position now, he rebels at being bossed around and sets himself up as king of the island with Mlle. Glory, an actress, as his queen. Raimu revels in his new-found glory, forcing the others to take a bit of their own medicine until their rescue reduces the stoker to his former station in life.

The satire is extremely well done, with many moments of real fun the result. Fine photography has been lavished upon the film, which was directed in good style by Pierre Colombier.

Leon Bélières, Jean Dax, Gaston Jacquet, Pierade and Lucien Baroux are among the other players.

No production code seal. Running time, 77 minutes. "G."

"Public Opinion"

(Chesterfield)

By virtue of an interesting treatment Invincible has turned familiar material into attractive entertainment for neighborhood houses. The film also has the benefit of a good cast. Especially is it fortunate in the services of Crane Wilbur, who offers a sterling performance in the role of a famous bacteriologist married to an opera star (Lois Wilson).

The story details the ups and downs of the married life of the scientist and the prima donna. The two separate when Andre de Segurola, an operatic tenor, comes between them. As is usual in tales of this type on the screen, the wife is innocent of any wrongdoing, the husband just insisting on misunderstanding her relations with the third party. After much suffering on both sides, husband and wife are reunited when their boy, dangerously ill of infantile paralysis, recovers through the ministrations of the mother.

The happy ending is made possible when Shirley Grey, who consoled Wilbur during his separation from Miss Wilson and who secretly loves him, bows out of the picture.

There are to be found in the picture a number of genuinely dramatic moments. Direction is by Frank Strayer.

The film has been given a good production and first-rate photography. Luis Alberni, Paul Ellis and Ronnie Cosbey are also in the cast.

No production code seal. Running time, 71 minutes. "G."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Streamline Express"

(Mascot)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28.—Using a streamline train a la Grand Hotel, this rapid comedy clicks, unfolding several plots and counterplots as it goes.

Victor Jory, a stage producer, is pursuing Evelyn Venable, who has walked out on his show. He gets a job as steward on her train, where a varied assortment of characters gather. Ralph Forbes is taking Miss Venable home to marry her. Clay Clement, eloping with Esther Ralston, finds Erin O'Brien Moore, his wife, also on the train. Sidney Blackmer, fleeing the police, is an old friend of Miss Ralston. Vince Barnett is rushing his wife west so that his heir may be born in California. Bobby Watson rounds out the group as a drunk.

In the ensuing complications a diamond pendant is reported stolen and each character comes under suspicion, though the jewel has been given to Blackmer by Miss Ralston as blackmail. When things are a circulation of 34,000,000 and an estimated reader coverage of 100,000,000.

Howard Dietz is convinced that his nationwide billboard campaign in 1,900 cities on "China Seas" got that picture off to a big start and that the magazine advertising now under way will prove a general industry benefit at the start of the new season.

The company expects to spend $2,500,000 on advertising during the year, he says.

Circuit representatives are expecting to meet with the union men today when the results of last night's meeting will be detailed. However, the meeting may not be held, but this depends on whether theatre heads are willing to confer again with the operators on different terms.

Harry Brandt, president of the I.T.O.A., yesterday filed a number of suits against Local 306 through Joseph Basson, president, alleging damages aggregating $500,000. Milton C. Weisman filed the papers for Brandt in the N. Y. Supreme Court.

Omaha Paper's Music Show Stirs Friction

OMAHA, Aug. 28.—A situation that once caused friction between exhibitors and the Omaha World-Herald gives indication of returning.

The World-Herald sponsored the Midwest Music Festival Saturday night, starring Mary McCormic, the opera singer, and featuring 1,000 musicians, singers, choral groups and bands.

The program was staged in Creighton stadium before 15,000 persons at a 25-cent top. It has been announced that the festival will become an annual event.

Saturday night business in all houses was hit badly. Topping it off there was a circus in town to mar the matinee receipts.

The World-Herald and the local exhibitors came to an understanding last winter when the publisher began booking operas and ballets. At that time he agreed to step out of the theatrical business.

Radio Busy on Shorts

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28.—The shorts department at Radio is unusually active under the supervision of Lee Marcus. Al Boasberg, who has just finished writing and directing "Ribber Stay Away from My Door," which stars Leon Errol, has been assigned to direct and write the next of the Errol series. "The Worm Burns," starring Dorothy Sebastian, has also just been completed, and Harry Edwards who directed, is preparing another.

Director Leonard Fields has touched lightly on all these situations, making them entertaining though not too believable. The screen play by Fields, Dave Silverstein and Olive Cooper from Wellyn Totman's original provides some amusing dialogue. George Yohalem's production concentrating on the modernistic lines of the train is interesting.

The picture should satisfy on a bill with a more serious subject.

New RKO-Warner First Run Circuit Deal About Ready

pendent circuit when RKO stepped in and asked for a halt. These deals are off until the major circuit situation is cleared.

RKO is planning to double feature on split week policies in all local houses, starting around Sept. 6. Some of the theatres are now showing duals the first part of the week with singles the latter. This booking setup will be changed to follow the Loew policy. RKO has bought a number of independent features to fill in with major product.

RKO may tie up with George Walsh at the Strand, Yonkers, pooling the house with the Proctor. A deal is in work. If consummated, it will give RKO the benefit of Warners and Paramount, which Walsh has lined up.

"Page Miss Glory," first of the new Warner releases, is set to open at the Paramount, Brooklyn, on Sept. 6, following which it goes into the entire Century circuit.

Reports Warners were trying to buy back the Century and S. & C. contracts were denied by all three parties. Warners claim both deals are advantageous to the company. Century stated it had been looking for a first run contract for 15 years and now that the circuit has it there is no chance in giving it up. Sam Cocalis yesterday put the damper on re-purchasing reports, saying he hadn't even been approached.

Offices will probably be opened late in September.

Lasky to East Monday

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28. — Jesse L. Lasky starts east Monday. From Chicago he will proceed directly to Toronto, from where he will depart for England. The fact Lasky is avoiding New York is interpreted here as indicating he probably will have closed a deal on the coast prior to his departure.

Des Moines Theatre Meeting Terminates

DES MOINES, Aug. 28. — Tri-State Publix annual three-day convention closed at the Kirkwood Hotel here today.

G. Ralph Branton, who presided, praised producers for offering for the new season the best product in years. The consensus of opinion among the managers present was that a feeling of better patronage existed throughout the territory.

B. & K. and Tri-State worked out improved territory arrangements for Publix for the coming year. B. & K. was represented by Barney Balaban.

The convention closed with a banquet and a screening of "The Crusades." Among the speakers of the day were Cecil B. DeMille, Jerome Beatty, A. H. Blank, Bishop Bergen, Mrs. Max Mayer of the Des Moines Civic Club and John Cowles of the Register-Tribune.

IBEW Opens Trial of 40 Members Tuesday

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28.—The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers on Tuesday will place the first group of 40 members before a trial board for asserted activity in the National Ass'n of Cinema Craftsmen, formerly called the National Ass'n of American Employes. The organization will charge violation of obligations to the brotherhood and will ask that members found guilty be punished to the full.

No findings will be rendered by the trial board until all accused members have been heard.

The extreme penalty is expulsion from the I.B.E.W., which automatically prevents members from working in studios having a pact with the brotherhood.

Big Crowd Is Drawn To "Glory" Opening

CINCINNATI, Aug. 28. — Variety Club is taking over an adjoining room in the Netherland Plaza, making three rooms in the local quarters.

The club was chartered a little less than two years ago, and the membership is increasing steadily.

Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 28.—Tent No. 8 is planning a carnival, tentatively set for Oct. 4-5. The function probably will take place in Variety Club rooms.

A number of the directors met at luncheon to discuss the matter and suggest plans. Among these were R. R. BIECHELE, WILLIAM WAGNER, CHARLES JONES, JOHN MUCHMORE, Chief Barker GEORGE BAKER, CHARLES SCHAFER, F. E. RITTER, R. C. LIBEAU, ARTHUR COLE, EDWARD SHANBERG, and A. F. ("Peck") BAKER.

Tentative plans call for a floor show, concessions, dancing, and drawings for prizes. Probably there will be an admission price, in addition to special charges for concessions. Purpose of the carnival is to raise money for the club.

A Hallowe'en party was also suggested at the meeting and SHANBERG said he thought the tent should be planning for its New Year's Eve party, highlight of the social season for Variety members.

The annual charity ball will be moved forward this year until after the first of the year so as not to conflict with holiday activities and thus bring it too close to the carnival.

Omaha

OMAHA, Aug. 28. — Sol Francis, manager of American Distributors, was chairman of the weekly luncheon. He introduced as guest speaker, A. W. MILLER, warden of the Nebraska Reformatory. The company also has obtained metropolitan distribution rights for the Europa Film Co. of Cleveland which handles Hungarian dialogue films.

Drop Winnipeg Pickets

WINNIPEG, Aug. 28.—Labor difficulties have been temporarily shelved with the giving of an understanding by the Canadian Theatrical Federation and the Winnipeg Musicians' Ass'n. that they will not continue the picketing of named theatres until applications by the proprietors for an injunction against the unions is heard in September.

The labor organizations had demanded that two union operators instead of one be employed and that exhibitors discontinue the doubling of an orchestra at two theatres. The houses involved are operated by Allied Amusements.

Throttle Pushing

MOTION PICTURE DAILY

CHEYENNE, WYO. — Walter S. Smith, new city manager of the Fox houses here, is doing a bang-up job. Walter was transferred here from the Santa Ana house of the Fox Coast division. Chet Miller, Fox Rocky Mountain division manager, still has his home here.

G. E. Jaynes, operating the Orpheum at Buena Vista, Colo., is remodeling the old silent house at Red Cliff and plans to open Aug. 15. M. P. Foster, who has managed Dave Hess's Granada at Monte Vista for the past five years, is busy supervising installation of a new Neon sign and present plans provide for redecoration and complete remodeling of this popular theatre this summer.

Hi Bischoff, who operates the Armada, Lowell, Wyo., and the Cowley at Cowley, is busy remodeling and enlarging the Armada from 400 seats to 650 and installing an air-cooling system. Just as soon as the present work on this theatre is completed, work of remodeling the Cowley will begin.

Things are humming around Ross J. Keckler's Wigwam Theatre at Basin, Wyo. Modern stage equipment, sliding curtain control and modern ventilating, washed-air system are being installed. Also a new marquee, paint and all the trimmings. Ross has been five years in business in this thriving community.

Speaking of real pioneers there is Tom Kirby, who operates the Elk at Worland, Wyo., and who started in show business at Sheridan in 1908. Tom has purchased ground across from the Elk and will build a 700-seat house in the near future. Present equipment at the Elk has been augmented by the recent installation of new Simplex projectors and Wide Range sound.

We had a fine time trying to find J. S. Ward of the Princess, Douglas, Wyo., the other day. After a couple of hours, we located the reason, who was E. M. Loy, Fox salesman, who had been busy selling the works to Ward. This deal was finally consummated in the office of our Roll-A-Home trailer.

Fred Curtis, owner of the Whiting, Thermopolis, Wyo., has just returned from a trip to Hollywood, where he visited Charlie Starlett and Honey Wilcoxian of the RKO studios. According to Fred, this must have been a real binge. Tim McCoy and Isabel Jewell come from this section. Fred tells us that the "March of Time" is a 100% draw for his house and is building all the time. George Arliss is his leading star, but they walked out on "Black Fury." The principal patronage of this section is Belgian coal miners. Stark and Rahrer, who are operating the Liberty, Fromberg, Mont., told us a funny one. We have often suspicioned that editorials of our dynamic editor, Red Kann, carried a mean wallop, but it fell to the lot of F. W. Stark to verify this fact. He tells us that when the issues of MOTION PICTURE DAILY are of no further use to his theatre, he gives them to the different coal miners around here to use for wadding for their "shots" in the mines.

Bill Kyle is receiving bids for the general overhaul and remodeling of his Oasis Theatre at Columbus, Mont. This is a thriving community in Yellowstone Valley where crop conditions are very good. Conditions throughout this section are the best they have been for the past five years.

Yellen Yells

Sam Yellen, general manager for the Leff & Meyers circuit, had a trying and somewhat unusual experience the other day when he was arrested for playing Screeno at the De Luxe, Bronx.

Unable to get $500 bail for three hours, Yellen was thrown into jail. The first thing the cops did was remove his tie and belt. This is the same procedure when crooks are locked up, the police fearing suicide if the articles are not taken away.

Yellen was more interested in getting his tie and belt back than the necessary bail, but as it happened he got all three after three hours behind bars.

Metro Develops New Portable Sound Unit

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28.—M-G-M will use new portable sound equipment on location for "Rose Marie." The equipment was designed by Douglas Shearer, head of the sound department, and was constructed at the studio. It is light enough to be transported by two pack mules and powerful enough to record a full symphony orchestra, it is claimed.

'Change by November

LOS ANGELES, Aug .28.—The new Paramount exchange, now being constructed at 20th St. off Vermont, will have the last word in equipment. Eight vaults with blowout chambers and drainage pipes for sprinklers are being built into the foundation. The structure will be two stories high, thoroughly fireproofed, and will give the exchange an area of 11,500 sq. ft. It will be ready in November.

Oklahoma Firm Expands

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 28.—The Film Speaker Co. here has changed its name to the Oklahoma Theatre Supply Co.

The name was changed because the company, which formerly sold only sound equipment, now carries a complete line of theatre equipment.

To Build at Waynesville

WAYNESVILLE, N. C., Aug. 28.—James E. Massie, proprietor of the Waynewood here and the Colonial in Canton, will begin work soon on a new $40,000 theatre here.

Short Subjects

"Rah, Rah Radio"

(Vitaphone)

Several radio performers, including Ralph Kirberry, Jack and Loretta Clemens, are presented in novel manner. Harry Burns is conducting a radio technique school and advertises the established stars as his former pupils. He presents them as examples of his work, introducing several gags while doing so. A bit of entertainment that should please. Production Code Seal, No. 0374. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"How to Sleep"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28. — Offering Robert Benchley in a wild mood, this short is one of the funniest Benchley has made. In his familiar role of lecturer, he gives a satirical talk on insomnia, at the same time illustrating his remarks with bedroom gymnastics. Every problem that has ever confronted a person unable to sleep is offered in Benchley's most amusing manner. Production Code Seal No. 1,120. Running time, 9 mins. "G".

"Lady in Black"

(Vitaphone)

This is a very good musical short that combines a romantic episode with the presentation of several night club performers. Countess Olga Albani and Albert Van Dekker are featured with the vocal numbers of the countess the highlights of the picture. Most audiences will more than appreciate this one, and where radio fans know the singer it should increase the appeal. Highly recommended. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

"Pitcairn Island Today"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28. — Although smacking strongly of being a glorified trailer for "Mutiny on the Bounty," this short is pictorially effectual and comment by Carey Wilson is interesting. Starting with a shot of H.M.S. Bounty, the picture shows shots of the island and its present-day inhabitants, while the voice of Wilson tells the story of the mutiny. Those who do not object to advertising in this form will find it an interesting subject. Production Code Seal No. 1,069. Running time, 9 mins. "G".

"Trained Hoofs"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28. — A Pete Smith "Sports Parade." Tracing the career of a thoroughbred colt from the time it is foaled until it faces a racing barrier for the first time, this short will hold interest for all animal lovers. Nice touches, showing the affection between mare and colt, and a gripping scene showing the young horse being nursed through pneumonia have been cleverly inserted by Director David Miller. The Smith comments mix sympathy with humor. Production Code Seal No. 1,148. Running time, 9 mins. "G".

Ascap Begins Move to Fight Georgia Taxes

Regarded as Starting of National Battle

A test of the constitutionality of state legislation imposing heavy taxes on music licensing will be undertaken by the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers in Georgia at once, E. C. Mills, general manager of the society, said yesterday following his return from a month's study of new adverse influences affecting Ascap operations.

The test will be in the form of a court action attacking the constitutionality of Georgia's law imposing a tax of $1,000 per county on music licensing agencies. Although similar laws have been enacted in Louisiana, Mississippi and Wisconsin, no effort to enforce them by attempts to collect the taxes specified have been

Admissions to Stay As Is, Early Survey Data Reveal

What is the drift in theatre admissions—up, down or none at all? Now that business conditions, it is conceded on all sides, are better, the industry has been ruminating about the course theatres at large will pursue insofar as price scales are concerned.

Motion Picture Daily today begins to furnish the answer with Boston, Washington, Kansas City—big key centers, and Albany and Bridgeport, lesser key centers—reporting no shift. The city-by-city dopesheet follows. Other points will be covered in subsequent issues.

New England Standing Pat

Boston, Aug. 29.—New England is standing pat on admissions, it is revealed by a Motion Picture Daily survey just completed in this territory. There is every indication, furthermore, that theatres in this state will continue to stand pat.

With the present seasonal competitive difficulties in this vacation area, many believe that the only sage change that could be made in admissions would be to scale them down during the summer months when pari-mutuel horse and dog tracks garner millions of dollars weekly, when beaches and lakes draw hordes, and when beano, golf, baseball, dances and macadam roads serve as a magnet for a majority of the populace.

"Raise admission prices?" one theatre executive asked. "There wouldn't be any sense to it."

M. and P.-Publix, operating the largest circuit in this territory, is not making any move to lift prices. According to an official of the company,

Kansas Prices Not Hiked

Kansas City, Aug. 29.—Exchange managers, exhibitors and circuit operators report definitely that admissions throughout the western Missouri and Kansas territory have not been raised. They even go so far as to point out that no indications are apparent at the present time that they will be soon.

There has been little change for the past eight months, either in Kansas City or outside it, unless the increased use of chance games and premiums can be taken to mean that prices actually are lower than they were a year ago.

The increase in number of 10-cent nights in Kansas City is so small it could not be considered as lowering the general level of prices.

First run managers have had no word on increased admissions for this fall, though this has been considered a possible development. Protection and the use of giveaways by suburbans this fall will probably determine such a move.

Key cities like Kansas City, Wich-

Otterson May Make Coast Trip Oct. 1

John E. Otterson, Paramount president, who returned from a two months' survey of the company's studio yesterday, may return to Hollywood about Oct. 1. Before leaving Otterson will pass upon agreements extending for one year the Paramount theatre operating and partnership contracts which expire Sept. 28. Preliminary drafts of these extension agreements have been prepared for his inspection and are awaiting his approval. Many of the pacts will have to be passed upon by the Paramount board, as well.

"Top Hat" Terrific In Music Hall Start

"Top Hat" opened to terrific business at the Music Hall yesterday, setting a new first day record, according to RKO. By 4 P.M., approximately 13,000 paid to enter the theatre, it was stated. Fred Astaire, star of the picture, attended the second evening show with a party of friends. "Alice Adams," which finished a second week at the Music Hall, tallied about $75,500.

The big noise of the week which closed last night was "Diamond Jim" at the Roxy, which grossed $41,922 in

Operator Wage Scales Talks Resume Today

Circuits and Local 306 Agree to Discussion

Representatives of major circuits and Local 306 will resume negotiations today on a basic wage scale for the local territory, it was agreed yesterday following a three-hour session in Charles C. Moskowitz's office at Loew's.

Local 306 yesterday advised the circuits its board of directors and membership had rejected the theatre men's minimum and maximum offer ranging from 98 cents to $1.60 an hour. The union, however, expressed a desire to continue negotiations in an effort to reach a satisfactory agreement.

Circuit executives contend that in New York they have been paying the highest wages to operators for the

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

JACK COHN on the telephone yesterday with this:

"The story in this morning's paper is a lie. We [Columbia] have been doing business with Warners for years. The product for the new year was sold to them weeks ago all over the country and in most of their spots."

The story or the part, at least, branded as a falsehood:

"The Warner circuit, which along with Paramount, Fox, RKO and Loew's, is one of the industry's 'Big Five' will not buy Columbia product this season. The decision is national in scope and will embrace all situations in which Warner theatres operate.

"While an official statement was not obtainable at Warner circuit headquarters, the understanding is decision was reached because Columbia's terms for the new lineup are regarded as out of line as compared with performance based on other seasons' deliveries. Combined with this are rumblings of 'high-handed tactics'."

The facts, awful perhaps, but the facts:

Prior to a visit to Warner theatre offices by Abe Montague, sales manager for Columbia, and his assistant, Rube Jackter, a commitment had been made for some of the Columbia product for some of the Warner coast theatres which total exactly twelve.

A heavier commitment had been made for some of the Warner theatres in the Philadelphia zone, one hundred houses strong.

Unconfirmed, but probably true, is a third deal for some of the circuit's houses operated out of Albany by Moe Silver.

However, and despite Cohn's flat statement that "the product was sold to them weeks ago all over the country and in most of their spots," the situation is this:

Warner theatres have not bought and will not use the Columbia lineup in these cities and areas:

Chicago.
Connecticut.
Kentucky.
New England.
Ohio.
Pittsburgh.
St. Louis.
Wisconsin.

Selling isolated situations is not closing a circuit deal. Cohn either knows that or he is rewriting accepted trade parlance to suit Columbia's purpose. He may be interested in learning here that Warners are so intrigued by Columbia's six-at-thirty-five and six-at-thirty-per-cent demands and their methods that, in their present frame of mind, they are determined never to do business with the distributor again. Not even in those scattered coast theatres. Or in Philadelphia. Or in Albany.

How do we know? An executive of the circuit says so and he ought to know. . . .

A prediction: That, no matter what the basis or who gives up what, the circuits and 306 will get together finally and that the possibility of a strike in New York is remote enough to be entirely discounted. . . .

Irving Thalberg on the why and wherefore of his current sojourn:

"Even a producer is entitled to visit New York once in two years, don't you agree."

What else to do? . . .

Argument Up Today In "Adeline" Action

A motion will be argued by counsel in the N. Y. County Supreme Court this morning on behalf of Harry Armstrong and Richard E. Gerard, authors and composers of the song, "Sweet Adeline," to file an amended complaint for $500,000 damages against M. Witmark & Sons, Inc., Warner Bros. Pictures and Warner Brothers Production Corp.

The amended complaint charges that the defendants unlawfully appropriated the musical composition known as "Sweet Adeline" without the authority of the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs further aver that on Feb. 27, 1930, they entered into an agreement with M. Witmark & Sons, Inc. for the renewal of the copyright to "Sweet Adeline" and that they were to receive one-third of any sum derived from the song. The complaint further states that without obtaining the sanction of the plaintiffs Witmark & Sons, which is affiliated with Warners, permitted the latter to use the composition for the picture, "Sweet Adeline" and that the defendant falsely represented that Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein II, were the authors and composers of "Sweet Adeline." The plaintiffs also ask for an accounting and an injunction restraining the defendant from further violating the agreement. Counsel for the defendant will move before Justice Samuel Roseman to have the complaint dismissed.

Skouras Gets Englewood

George Skouras today takes over the Englewood, Englewood, N. J., from Walter Reade on a 10-year lease. The deal was signed yesterday following election of officers and directors of Metropolitan Playhouses, Inc., the new parent company for Fox Met.

Moss Gets Lease on New Broadway Spot

B. S. Moss has closed a deal with City Bank Farmers Trust Co. for a 42-year lease on the new 1,800-seat theatre now being constructed on the old Criterion-Loew New York site. Aggregate rental for the period of the lease will be about $3,000,000.

The understanding is that Moss will not operate. He is reported trying to make a deal with Paramount. Eugene DeRosa is the architect and he will draw up the plans under supervision of Thomas W. Lamb.

A six-year deal for the Broadway was closed by Moss on Wednesday. He had operated the theatre for a number of years and dropped it about four years ago.

Sherman Takes Over Belle Film Buying

Ben Sherman has relieved Elias Mayer in the buying for Belle Theatres, which operates about 15 houses on the east side of Manhattan. Charles Steiner, who assisted Mayer, will continue in the same capacity with Sherman.

Mayer, meanwhile, has taken over the Majestic, Jersey City. Negotiations with Harry Harris and Belle circuit on a booking deal have been definitely declared off.

Michigan Allied to Convene in Detroit

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—Allied of Michigan will hold its annual convention in Detroit this year, probably early in October, H. M. Richey says.

An effort will be made to bring the author of the Pettengill bill here as a speaker. Allied leaders from other centers also will attend.

ANNA KARENINA

The heart of a man called to the listening heart of a woman. "We love", it said, "and love is all." Heart answered heart. With eyes open to what she was leaving forever behind her, she went where love called... to dark despair —or unimaginable bliss. "Anna Karenina" is an absorbing drama of deeply fundamental human emotions, of man and woman gripped by circumstance, moved by forces bigger than they—a great drama, portrayed by players of genius and produced with all the fidelity, insight and skill which made "David Copperfield" an unforgettable experience.

but are expected to sign. J. W. Cotter, who operates the Bijou, is the only one who has refused to sign the petition.

In distribution circles it is regarded unlikely that distributors can grant independents the schedule submitted on Aug. 16 because Fox Midwest is not a party to the setup.

The Fox Midwest circuit, which represents, it is said, around one-half of the business in this territory, can dictate its own terms, and that Elmer C. Rhoden, president, is buying in zones few can be found to deny.

If independent exhibitors do not get their clearance schedule, shrewd observers expect chaotic conditions to develop this season with their judgment based on past experience and present factors. For one thing, there probably will be little control of premiums.

six days. On Wednesday, $5,602.55 was checked in at the box-office, indicating that the picture would wind up the first week with slightly under $48,000. According to the management, a new attendance record was established with "Diamond Jim." SRO was the order every evening.

"The Crusades" in the first six days at the Astor at two-a-day was slightly, but not seriously, disappointing at $10,500. The picture is building daily and the second week's gross bids fair to better results.

At the Paramount, "Annapolis Farewell" garnered approximately $20,000, including the preview last night of "Two for Tonight." "We're in the Money" at the Strand ended a week's run at $10,750, while "Call of the Wild" was good for $21,000 for the second week at the Rivoli.

Admissions to Stay As Is, Early Survey Data Reveal

no such move in the near future is contemplated. E. M. Loew Theatres, the largest independent chain in New England, has not raised admissions and does not intend doing so. Exchange managers and bookers, operators of lesser chains, exhibitor organization heads, and theatre managers combined in the opinion that there is no move at present to jog up admissions in this territory and that such a move might well be suicidal.

The sole instance of a potential price raise in Boston is in the case of the RKO Boston, first-run situation, which today lifted its scale from 25 and 40 cents to 35 and 65 cents. This is because the house will drop one feature at this time and add stage shows.

New England is leaning toward premiums, rather than toward admission charges, to attract its audiences. M. and P.-Publix, for instance, is now negotiating for Bank Night for some of its Maine houses. This is in addition to the extensive use of dishware and other giveaways throughout the circuit. The fact that some of $30,000,000 have been wagered here on horse and dog runnings indicates that it's not money that's keeping folks from the shows. Yet the fact that they are staying away, in some districts at least, is amply shown by the checkup that only approximately 75 people were in a Boston first-run house at 8:30 one night the third week in August.

The belief is that admission prices are not the solution.

Little Change in Washington

Washington, Aug. 29.—No widespread increases in admission prices in the Washington exchange territory is indicated by a survey completed today by Motion Picture Daily. The only definite case of an increase is in southwest Virginia.

Last month Roanoke's American and Grandin and Salem's Salem Theatre upped their night prices from 25 to 35 cents. Prior policy of the three houses was 25 cents at all times.

Persistent rumor points to Baltimore as the next point where a price change may be made. While Carter T. Barron, Loew's division manager, freely admitted that there was "something in the wind," he refrained from committing himself as to the location or the nature of contemplated change.

From Dominion Theatres comes the information that other than reinstating the usual fall-and-winter price scale from the current summer prices now in vogue, no additional increases in tariffs are contemplated.

Exchanges and theatremen look for no general price boosting in this territory, although they do admit that in certain situations the price scale is somewhat under what it should be.

"Alice Adams" Strong

Portland, Aug. 29.—"Alice Adams" got off to a strong start at the Orpheum with an $1,800 gross, topping previous Hepburn pictures by 10 per cent.

ita and Topeka get 40 cents top for outstanding pictures. Semi-key cities get 35 cents, while smaller towns are content with a 25-cent top, 15 cents and 10 cents for family nights. This is the observation of Gus Diamond, office manager for Warners.

Clarence A. Schultz, Commonwealth Theatre Enterprises, Inc., which operates 21 houses in Missouri, Kansas and Iowa, asserts there are none of his situations in which prices have been raised and he knows of no others in the area where this is true.

W. R. Humston, Consolidated Film Distributors: "There aren't any increases in admission prices in the territory, so far as I know. With premiums and so on, actually admissions can be said to have decreased."

No Change in Bridgeport

Bridgeport, Aug. 29.—Price scales in first runs in this territory have remained practically unchanged during the last year. Neighborhoods here clipped off a nickel with the advent of warm weather and, in most cases, expect admissions to return to normal on Labor Day. Several neighborhood houses advertised "summer prices," but no actual change was made.

The Globe was only downtown house to cut prices, the slash coming with the dropping of vaudeville. Plans are now uncertain as to whether or not house will continue to present low rate during fall.

Albany Reports No Shift

Albany, Aug. 29.—A general pickup in admissions over a year ago is reported by all of the leading Albany theatres. Exact figures are not available, but more people are attending theatres.

Leading exhibitors and exchange managers attribute this to two reasons: first, the League of Decency is not functioning the way it was a year ago; secondly, the general tone and character of the pictures has improved over a year ago.

Admission prices remain about the same as a year ago. The first run houses all show at 25 cents up until 6 P. M. and after that, 40 cents top.

Four Are Taken on Film Theft Charge

New Brunswick, Aug. 29.—Four arrests have been made on the coast, according to word received here, in connection with the theft of a large quantity of raw film stock from the Du Pont plant at Parlin, N. J. Those held are Joseph L. Doren and his wife, Elizabeth, and Walter T. Toner and his wife, Alice.

The film was stolen last October. Since that time 180,000 feet has been recovered in a Bronx garage and 300,000 feet was found in a houseboat near here.

American Internat'l Plans 24 Features

head. Allied with it is the American International Pictures Corp., organized by Ralph Gordon Fear to finance producers for release through A.I.D.

The first year's lineup, producing contributors to which neither Fear nor Weisfeldt was ready to divulge yesterday, will be composed of six Vogues, six Signals and 12 Tip-Tops, but for the season starting July 1, 1936, the plan is to step up the Vogues to 12, the Signals to a like number and the Tip-Tops to 24.

"Pictures," they explained, "will be furnished to their franchise distributors on a certified cost basis and no padded budgets allowed. This will permit earlier split figures or overages from the exchanges. Overages are the only profits and these will be split 50-50 with the exchange and A.I.D.

The producer, if he makes them good, is rewarded with the lion's share of the A.I.D. overages, the distributing company being paid a percentage out of the producer's share.

The producing company, according to Fear, is to be comprised of a group of producers and directors "associated for their mutual protection and strength." He added they will use their own exclusive studio, owned by one of their members; their own laboratory, owned by another member, and their own sound and camera equipment.

Fear, following engineering posts with Universal, returned to the business in 1920 at Paramount. Later he joined Mitchell Camera Co. and in 1928 formed his own company, Fearless Camera, which he continues to operate today. In 1930, he sold out to General Theatre Equipment, Inc., and acquired his company again two years later. This is his first direct effort in production.

Weisfeldt is an old hand at distribution, for years having been associated with FBO as a district manager. Since then, he has been in business for himself, chiefly under the name of Picture Classics. In 1926 he was western sales manager of FBO and later, together with Frank R. Wilson and Daniel E. Pomeroy, organized Talking Picture Epics, Inc.

Cecil Maberry, one time general sales manager of Columbia, has acquired the Greater New York franchise and plans to have his exchange established by Nov. 1. For years, he was a special representative for M-G-M and P.D.C. and also has been operator of his own theatres in Oklahoma.

Weisfeldt will remain here for several weeks closing distribution deals. Fear plans to return to the coast via Atlanta, on Sunday to launch production.

Bernhard Denies Pool

Emphatic denial that Warners were pooling its theatres in Albany, N. Y., with Si Fabian, was made by Joseph Bernhard, managing director of the Warner circuit. The story was published elsewhere.

Comedian Reported Ill

Hollywood, Aug. 29. — George J. ("Slim") Summerville, Universal comedian, was reported critically ill with a heart ailment at a local hospital today. Summerville is 35 years old.

Variety Club

Des Moines

Des Moines, Aug. 29.—Variety Club's first annual outing at Riverview park and the Hyperion Club had a full attendance of members and several guests from over the state. In the golf tournament, the championship flight was won by Leo Wolcott of the Grand at Eldora, also head of the Allied Theatre Owners of Iowa. L. E. Gaines of Fairfield was runnerup. E. E. Morris of the Princess at Eagle Grove won the second flight, with Jess Collins of Midwest runnerup. Bill Tony, manager, National Theatre Supply Co., won third flight, with L. E. Judd, Midwest branch manager runner-up. Fourth flight—A. W. Riegelman, Fox salesman, first; Mark Raymond, RKO, runnerup; and consolation, Bill Finter of the liquor commission, first, and Harry Herman, Vitagraph, runner-up.

The bathing beauty contest resulted in a tie between Elizabeth Carberry as "Miss Vitagraph" and Maxine Kliff as "Miss Central States." Both received a prize.

A "kangaroo court" was the feature of the Riverview outing. A police patrol manned by Harry Gottlieb, Fox, and Clyde Pratt, Vitagraph, appeared on the scene to take off various members of the industry in the patrol and hale them into court, where W. C. Eddy of Indianola as judge passed sentence.

Other events in the field of sports were: a soft ball game won by Vitagraph 25 to 3 against a team of combined exchanges; footrace won by Chet Houser of Vitagraph, Inc.; slipper kicking, Mrs. A. W. Riegelmann; Carrie Geis of Fox, the women's 50-yard dash; film salesmen's race, by Frank Thomas of Paramount; and the tug-of-war, won by distributors against the exhibitors. Significant, perhaps.

Kansas City

Kansas City, Aug. 29. — Chief Barker George Baker has named Finton Jones chairman of the carnival committee. Other members are L. J. McCarthy and F. E. Ritter. The committee met Aug. 26 at Variety Club headquarters to discuss preliminary plans for the event.

On the New Year's Eve committee are Frank Hensler, Harry Taylor, Edward Shanberg and Beverly Miller.

Sept. 9 the club will return to regular programs with kings for a day.

The summer policy—informal buffet lunch without a set program—has been fairly successful considering the hot weather and has attracted regular, if small, crowds.

Washington

Washington, Aug. 29.—Another quiet get-to-gether was spent in the club rooms, when George Gill and Archie Engel presided over the semimonthly smoker as the kings for a day.

Supplementing the pastiming customarily available at headquarters, the kings raffled off a dozen different articles to holders of lucky numbers.

Ampa Resumes Sept. 12

The Ampa will resume its regular Thursday meetings beginning Sept. 12. Jack Dempsey's is the new rendezvous.

Looking 'Em Over

"The Dark Angel"

(Goldwyn-U. A.)

There is something about this picture that reminds one of the playing of a master violinist who varies a simple central theme with such infinite tenderness that the listener is transported into a new emotional world. Four strings, a feeling for deft shadings, the tender sensibilities of an artist can work wonders.

It is that way in "The Dark Angel." The theme is simple—the lifelong longing of a woman for one man. The variations, the chords that lend it movement and depth, are founded on the love of two men for the girl, a love so deep that each is willing to sacrifice his hopes to the other, while the mother of one watches the drama of life unfold with sympathetic restraint.

Both men go away to war. One is blinded and prefers to let his family think he is dead rather than be an object of sympathy.

Merle Oberon is the girl. She has dropped her siren attributes, appears as an unaffected girl of the English rural aristocracy and is gorgeous. Women are going to do some weeping just watching her control her emotions.

Fredric March and Herbert Marshall are magnificent as the brothers, and Janet Beecher is going to wring mothers' hearts with the fine restraint and finesse with which she presents her role.

Sidney Franklin has supplied a master's touch in the direction and Gregg Toland has done a camera job that is a delight.

It's a woman's picture, one of those exceptional productions that by sheer artistry and concentration upon an objective make themselves memorable. It's an axiom of the show business that women love to cry and men like to watch them because they can swallow their emotions and feel superior. This one does all that. It ought to be big at the box-office.

Running time, 110 minutes. "G."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Two for Tonight"

(Paramount)

Hollywood, Aug. 29.—In a shiny, surface story of a playwright, Bing Crosby, in search of exciting situations, scores a personal hit, his popularity and singing being the main attractions of the film. As a satire of how plays are written it pokes fun rather than has fun. Goofy cracks dominate while smooth continuity and cohesive action are underemphasized.

The story is a glossing over of the formula where a boy and a girl meet, separate and then unite.

The casting of Joan Bennett as a secretary, Mary Boland as Crosby's much-married mother, Lynn Overman as a play producer, Thelma Todd as his sweety and Ernest Cossart as his butler are good selections but the screen play affords only average expression for their talents.

The Mack Gordon and Harry Revel songs warbled by Crosby in his likable, crooning manner are interesting but none stands out. A seltzer bottle sequence is grand hokum burlesque.

Frank Tuttle's direction is good. The photography is painstaking and artistic. All the physical values are good but the picture seldom pierces the emotions or packs a sympathetic wallop. Depending on Crosby's name, fame and singing it will draw but the film is of average stature.

Production Code Seal No. 1,107. Running time, 61 minutes. "G."

Benefit for Sandler

A midnight performance for the benefit of the widow and children of Harry Sandler, an employe of the Randforce Circuit in Brooklyn who died recently will be held at the Savoy, Sept. 14. The entire proceeds will go to the survivors. Local 306 is donating its services.

Des Moines, Aug. 29.—Cecil B. DeMille talked on "The Crusades" and "Samson and Delilah" at the three-day convention of Tri-States Theatres Corp. which closed here yesterday. With him were Barney Balaban, Harold Lamb, author, and William Pine, studio publicity head for Paramount.

Short Subjects

"Everybody Loves Music"

(Van Beuren-Radio)

Donald Novis, Irene Taylor, Shemp Howard, Mrs. Pennyfeather and Meyer Davis and his band are all at a party Mrs. Pennyfeather is giving for a visiting potentate. Howard is a private detective and his antics will probably have audiences in stitches. He's funnier here than in months. Novis and Miss Taylor sing and Davis presents several musical numbers in novel form. Grand entertainment. Highly recommended. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 16 mins. "G."

"Turbulent Timbers"

(Wonder Pictures)

The lumber industry of Roumania is covered here in a thorough and most interesting manner. The camera goes up into the mountains, where much of Europe's lumber supply is found, and catches the native lumbermen at their tasks. Their methods of felling and stripping the trees are shown, but it is the manner in which they get the giant timbers down the mountain that will interest and thrill audiences. The scene then shifts to the saw mill and storage yards. This one-reeler should please. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"You Gotta Be a Football Hero"

(Paramount)

Popeye, the Sailor, joins a football team because Olive seems to prefer Bluto since the latter started playing the game. The antics of the three, once the game gets under way, are very funny and should have audiences roaring, particularly those who like this series. It is one of the funnier Popeye cartoons of this season. Recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 0534. Running time, 5 mins. "G."

"A Quiet Fourth"

(Radio)

Woven around the secret marriage of Betty Grable to Earl Blackwell and the efforts of her mother, Margaret Armstrong, to marry her off to rich Jack Rice, this short has many a laugh. Everything happens on the Fourth of July, including the bombardment of a park by the U. S. Army, and the finish is good. Where slapstick comedy gets over this should be highly successful. Recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 794. Running time, 14 mins. "G."

Frames Disappear

M-G-M has a new problem on its hands. It can't keep admirers from stealing its accessories.

Halsey Raines says so, and he submits documentary evidence from an exhibitor in Detroit to prove it. The accessories are miniature 24-sheet boards for insertion of cards. W. James Olson had 20 of them, he wrote to G. L. Becker at the Detroit exchange, and when he went out to insert cards for "Reckless" he could locate only seven. Some merchants wanted to buy them.

He tried screwing them down, but they continued to disappear.

Canadian Theatres Cut Capital Stock

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Capital stock of five Allen Theatres, under lease to Famous Players Canadian Corp. for years, has been reduced under Ontario Government sanction and, simultaneously, goodwill entries in the respective balance sheets have been proportionately sliced. The theatres concerned are at Kingston, St. Catharine and Kitchener and the Parkdale and St. Clair in Toronto.

Reductions were effected by cutting the par value of common stock, that for the Kingston theatre being cut from $100 to $1; Parkdale common from $100 to $13; St. Catharine from $100 to $7; St. Clair from $100 to $50 and the Kitchener from $25 to $1.

Rumania Levies Fund For Nat'l Industry

Washington, Aug. 29.—The Rumanian Cinematograph Fund which was launched in May, 1934, through establishment of a tax of 10 lei, has grown to approximately $116,666 according to reports to the Dep't. of Commerce by Consul General Harold D. Clum in Bucharest. No official figures have been released, however.

Although strong attacks have been directed against this fund in the press, its abolition appears unlikely, states the consul.

Four Federal Suits Up in Dallas Soon

Dallas, Aug. 29.—Four or more suits, any one of which might prove of major importance are in the offing for the fall terms of U. S. district courts.

Among those being prepared at this time is a revival in Federal action of the so-called Glass-Hoblitzelle 25-cent case, lost by the complainants in state actions; an appeal of the Fuller-R. & R. case at Palestine; institution by Ruben Frels of action in his complaint against Jefferson Amusement Co., and a probable similar action by Cole & Lilly of Greenville, also against Jefferson, and by F. M. Baker, Hillsboro, against R. & R.

Plans are being made to bring these actions in more than one district court, to the end that more than one Federal judge will be included and diverse jury action be recorded.

Ontario Concession Found to Be Limited

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Premier M. F. Hepburn extended a concession to exhibitors of Ontario by amending the drastic Amusements Tax Act to exempt children under 16 when the price of admission does not exceed 25 cents, but it has been found that they must continue to make complete returns on the non-taxable attendance.

Further, exhibitors have been warned that the exemption applies only when the total admission for a child does not exceed 25 cents. If the price is above that limit, the tax must be paid on the whole ticket and not on the portion above 25 cents only.

Immediately the amendment came into effect, exhibitors throughout the Province dropped the juvenile charge to the extent of the levy. In most cases it meant a reduction from 17 to 15 cents. As soon as the news of the tax change was wired to theatres, announcement was made from stage and screen and notices were posted in lobbies with the almost immediate result that juvenile patronage pulled up.

Dogs to Resume at N. O.

New Orleans, Aug. 29.—Dog racing will be resumed hereabouts Aug. 31 by the Arabi Greyhound Ass'n in St. Bernard parish. Seven years ago the sport was banished by the legislature. Before the legislative ban races were run in the evening after 6 o'clock. Now it is proposed to run Saturdays, Sundays and Mondays. While afternoon races on a Monday will not hurt theatres, the Saturday and Sunday events will pull heavily from matinee attendance.

last five years in comparison with other theatres throughout the country. They also claim that for years they have been paying top scales while competitive houses continue to use the same union's men at half the scale.

The theatremen hold that in all parts of the country the number of men in the booth and scales are reduced when stage shows are eliminated and runs are changed, but that this is not the case here. In New York, second runs are paying the same scales as first run units, it is stated.

Charles L. O'Reilly, a member of the NRA fact-finding committee, was the author of a formula for gauging scales according to seating capacity and runs, but this plan faded into oblivion with the expiration of the NRA.

The circuits also are demanding long-term agreements so that they do not have to negotiate contracts from year to year. Throughout the country, theatre heads say, operators' pacts run from two, three and four years. Original circuit demands were for a 10-year contract, but it is understood they will compromise at a five-year agreement.

Union officials yesterday pointed out that most of their card men are working on a 20-hour week. They said that the new administration was trying to improve conditions within the organization and that valiant efforts were being made to sign up all independent houses in this area. Local 306 is demanding $2 an hour as the minimum. Allied M. P. Operators is said to be charging $1.25.

Several of the circuit men who had planned to leave town for the Labor Day week-end may be detained for the resumed conferences which are expected to last a few more days.

Commenting on the numerous actions filed against Local 306 and Joseph D. Basson by Harry Brandt for alleged damages totaling $700,000, the union president yesterday stated he regards them "as nuisance suits."

Basson said that "if Brandt wants to collect, he will have to serve every member individually." Milton C. Weisman is attorney for Brandt.

K. C. Pacts Renewed

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 29.—Loew's Midland, RKO Mainstreet, B. & K. Newman, Tower and Fox Uptown have renewed contracts with stagehands to replace those which expire Aug. 31. The contracts are the same as those in effect during the past year, according to Felix Snow, IATSE representative.

Operators' contracts also expire Aug. 31 and are expected to be renewed on the same basis.

No demands for an increase were made by the union, according to Snow, and will not be made in the case of operators.

The working agreement with subsequent runs, which expires in October, has not been discussed. This does not involve contracts between theatres and the union, but "an agreement" to which all subsequent runs are a party.

Agree in Detroit

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—Present wage agreement between operators' union No. 199 and subsequent run theatres will be continued for two years from Sept. 1, an agreement having been reached this week.

This scale calls for a minimum of $50.28 per week in houses of 500 seats or under giving continuous Saturday and Sunday matinees, and is topped with a wage of $85 in the larger houses.

It is understood that a similar agreement has been reached with first runs.

Transfer of Salem Theatres Completed

SALEM, Aug. 29.—The deal has been consummated by which the Salem Realty Co., headed by John A. Deery, takes over a string of Salem theatres which have been operated by M. & P. Theatres Corp. for Publix. Philip Bloomberg, manager of the local Paramount for many years, has resigned to become city manager of the group.

Considerable activity is evident here. The Plaza, long an active competitor of the Paramount units, has been taken over by the Salem Realty Co., from Joseph Morency, an independent. The Federal is being stripped in preparation for use by a sports concern for boxing, wrestling, etc. The Salem, another antiquated location, has been disposed of to a furniture concern for use as a showroom and warehouse. The Empire, closed for many years, is being remodeled and renovated. The deluxe Paramount has been equipped with Wide Range sound.

Take Over Park Lane

Harry Brandt, in association with Jack W. Springer, has taken over the Park Lane on a 15-year lease from Isle Theatres, Harry Shiffman, president. The house changed hands yesterday.

This deal has been in work several weeks and does not necessarily indicate another breach between Springer and Sam Cocalis.

Louisville House Reopens

Boston Union Still Against Long Reels

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—The local operators' union is standing pat on its recent determination against 2,000-foot reels. Queried by MOTION PICTURE DAILY as to any change in the policy as the result of negotiations in New York, Business Manager James Burke motioned to a notice on the bulletin board that states that any member caught using more than a 1,000-foot reel will be fined $50.

"It still goes," Burke said.

However, a number of Boston's larger houses are splicing and using 2,000-foot reels as a regular thing. There is also talk of orders for equipment to fit the longer reels. The union is closing its eyes to any infringements of its rule at present, one member said, and will accede to circuit orders for the longer reel. Such orders will be forthcoming soon, this informant believed.

Fox Intermountain Meets, Sets Policy

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 29.—New season policies were the principal topics under discussion at the annual Fox Intermountain convention at the Broadmoor. About 30 managers from the Denver and Salt Lake territories, as well as members of the office forces at these two cities, were present. Rick Ricketson, division manager, arranged the convention, and presided.

Subjects discussed included "1935 Showmanship and Its Fundamentals," such as proper policy, admission prices, booking, house operation, advertising, business stimulators and theatre trends.

Several outside speakers addressed the opening session. They included Albert J. Gould, attorney for Fox Intermountain, who spoke on "Public Relations"; Fred Soeers, Denver Post critic, "Theatre Publicity"; J. Don Alexander, "Screen Advertising," and Duke Dunbar, former code secretary, on the Hays organization.

About 200 guests were entertained at luncheon, at which Governor Johnson of Colorado was guest of honor.

Several pictures were previewed, and for the first time, the wives of the managers were guests.

Charging the unlicensed exhibition of "The Kid" and "Shoulder Arms," Charlie Chaplin instituted suit yesterday in Federal court here against Mogull Bros., Inc., a Bronx firm, through Nathan Burkan. The comedian accuses the firm of "duping" and circulating prints of the two films with profits of millions realized by Charles, Leo and Peter Mogull, the members of the company.

made except in Georgia. The test in that state is expected to have a bearing on the enforceability of the legislation elsewhere through establishing a precedent in the event of the necessity of appeals to the U. S. Supreme Court, Mills said.

The Georgia action will be a defense of the refusal of the Ascap branch operating in that state to pay the tax imposed. Suits involving the test have already been filed and may be brought to trial as early as next week. The action is regarded as Ascap's first defensive move in the legislative and court campaigns which are being waged against the society on a national front by exhibitors, radio and hotel interests.

Enjoined in Washington

In addition to the heavy state tax legislation aimed at Ascap in the states mentioned, the society was recently enjoined from operating in the state of Washington pending proof to the courts there that its price fixing methods were not arbitrary and illegal. In addition, a Federal anti-trust suit, brought by the government, is pending against the organization here.

Mills arrived from Hollywood by plane yesterday, ending his month's trip in the organization's interests. He declined to comment on the possibility of a healing of the indicated breach between the society and the Warner music publishing interests, stating that the organization has not been notified that Warners do not intend to renew membership contracts with Ascap which expire next Dec. 31. Until this is done Mills said he could make no official comment.

Warners are reported to be dissatisfied with the annual $300,000 return on its music catalogue which it receives from Ascap, and are said to be demanding a minimum annual return in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. Ascap's attitude is reported unofficially to be that it cannot triple Warners' return except by increasing its music licensing fees threefold.

Providence Showmen Await End of Races

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 29.—Exhibitors here look to the closing of the present horse racing at Narragansett to give box-offices a considerable boost. Matinees have fallen off during the summer because many women patrons have turned into railbirds and the Discoveries and Cavalcades have transcended in pull value the Gables and Garbos—for the moment.

The Little Theatres at Newport and Matunuck, which have been successful, fold Saturday.

Mrs. Rogers Sole Heir

Under the terms of Will Rogers' will, Mrs. Rogers receives the entire estate. One of its big assets is a Lloyd's insurance payment of $2,500,000. It is unofficially estimated that the estate will total $5,000,000.

"THE CRUSADES"

"The epic maker has lost none of his skill. 'The Crusades' is a grand show. It is rich in the kind of excitement that pulls an audience irresistably to the edge of its seat." —Andre Sennwald, New York Times.

"DeMille spared neither money, horses nor extras in creating this ambitious and exciting historical spectacle. He made a mighty picture, gigantic in size, dramatic in theme, rousing in it's lusty activity. All the elements of lively entertainment are in 'The Crusades'."

"'The Crusades', with the possible exception of his 'Ten Commandments', is Cecil B. DeMille's finest picture. It is great entertainment from every angle and for every kind of audience, and will enjoy a long and prosperous life at the box office." —Daily Variety.

"Cecil B. DeMille, master showman, in creating this, his greatest picture, gives exhibitors super de luxe entertainment, intriguing the eye with spectacle, thrill; assailing the heart with tender romance and exalting the moral senses with religious passion."—Motion Picture Daily.

"This is one of the best DeMille pictures. The battle scenes are among the most thrilling made since the inception of talking pictures." —The Film Daily.

"ANNAPOLIS FAREWELL"

"Built on frankly sentimental lines, to bolster the heart throb, and well produced in every respect, 'ANNAPOLIS FAREWELL' has the formula for a better than average grosser." —Daily Variety

Getting Set For Fall in The Midwest

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Plans for fall openings are well under way in several downstate houses. Extensive remodeling and in some cases the building of new houses has been in progress during the summer and September finds theatres ready for use.

In Decatur the A-I theatre has been remodeled and renovated at a cost of $35,000 by Gus Conston. In Urbana the Alger Brothers are preparing for the influx of college students and are opening the Albro, formerly the Colonial, which has been done over after being dark for the past 10 years.

A. L. Hainline, owner of the Illinois in Macomb, has spent $30,000 remodeling his house, and with a new front, seats and balcony it becomes one of the finest theatres in that part of the state. Opening is set for early in September.

Fred Anderson, indie circuit operator, opens his Naper in Naperville after a refurnishing job. Anderson is also building a house in Macomb which is set to open Oct. 5. He also plans to build a house in DeKalb which he expects to open this fall.

Compete in Alameda

ALAMEDA, Calif., Aug. 29.—I. and O. Theatres Corp., composed of A. E. Levin and George Oppen, will build a new house here to be called the Vogue which will be in direct opposition to the Alameda, operated by Nasser Bros.

The Vogue will seat a trifle under 1,000 and will mark the return to exhibition of Oppen, long retired. Louis Lurie, San Francisco realtor who is interested with Sol Lesser in the George O'Brien westerns released through Fox, is said to be one of the financial backers. With completion of the new house, Levin will withdraw from the 'Frisco circuit in which he is now interested with his brother, Sam H.

As a counter move, the Nassers plan to reopen the Strand here.

Changes in Michigan

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—Changes in ownership of several theatres are reported here. William Thick, operator of the Garden, Marshall, has taken over the Coliseum, Bronson, from Gail Warner.

The Gem, Colon, has been sold by P. J. Hanson to Conrad Meyers of St. Joseph and Homer Cox has taken over the Our, Quincy. The Gem, Cassopolis, formerly operated by Robert Hupp, has been sold to Russell Huff.

Three houses of the Komer circuit, the Redford, Royal Oak and Whittier, are now being booked by Co-Operative.

Alliance House to Reopen

ALLIANCE, O., Aug. 29.—The Columbia, shuttered for the summer, will be relighted Sept. 1. Ray Wallace, who operates the Strand and Morrison here, again will manage.

N. E. Shifts Continuing

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Theatre shifts are still very much in evidence in the New England territory. The Colonial in Nashua, N. H., recently acquired from the Shea circuit by F. E. Lieberman, has been transferred to the Morse and Rothenberg group.

Assorted Fare

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Out of a group of 111 neighborhood houses playing second and third runs, 26 were playing "Let 'Em Have It," 21 "Oil For the Lamps of China" and 17 "Doubting Thomas." This was the booking for one day, recently. In 169 theatres outside the "loop" a choice of only 31 pictures was available to theatre patrons.

The Community in Dedham, recently acquired by Ralph Snider, another independent circuit owner, from M. Spero, has gone to the Stanley Sumner group.

Remodel Dallas House

DALLAS, Aug. 29.—Interstate has closed the Capitol for overhaul. The house will be air-cooled, acoustically treated, relighted inside and out and redecorated. It is next door to the new Rialto which is now under reconstruction. Both houses will be cooled from a common plant and will generate electric juice for all purposes for both houses from gas engines burning Texas natural gas.

Two Install New Sound

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 29.—Maurie S. Cohen's Grand at Council Bluffs, Kan., a Fox Midwest affiliate, and Benjamin Harding's Liberty at Council Bluffs, Kan., have installed new wide-range sound.

Take Circleville House

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Aug. 29.—Richard Simkins and Hazel Clifton have taken over the Cliftonia here from Harry Clifton.

Fine to Build Another

CLEVELAND, Aug. 29.—Myer Fine, head of Associated Theatres now operating more than 20 houses in the Greater Cleveland area, is head of the Shaker Theatre Co., which will immediately start construction of a theatre and office building at Lee and Kinsman Roads, Shaker Heights.

Coliseum to Reopen

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—A Saturday matinee on Sept. 14 will see the re-opening of the Coliseum which was badly gutted by a $25,000 fire. The Levins are expending $100,000 on remodeling and refurnishing. Bob Harvey will direct publicity.

To Open Portland Oriental

PORTLAND, Aug. 29.—After having been closed for the past three months, the Oriental has reopened under the management of the Evergreen Theatres. Ronald Harrington will manage.

Buys South St. Louis House

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 29.—The Roxy Theatre Corp. has purchased the Roxy theatre building in South St. Louis. It has been using the theatre under a lease during the past five years. The house seats 700 and was acquired from the William S. Drozda Realty Co.

Pantages Scales to Go Up

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29.—When the Pantages starts playing day and date with the Hillstreet on Sept. 1 prices will be raised to correspond with those of the downtown house, going from 25c in the afternoon to 35c. All seats will be 40c at night. Balcony seats formerly were 25c. The first feature will be "Top Hat."

Leases Rockville House

ROCKVILLE, Conn., Aug. 29.—The S. A. Amusement Co. has leased the Princess from Frank Mann. The house will reopen following alterations and installation of sound equipment.

Georgia House Remodeled

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 29.—E. T Hopkins, owner and manager of the Colonial, has completed remodeling the house and will reopen shortly.

Hub Awaits Ruling In Bank Night Suit

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Decision on the bank night-gold mine case, heard before Special Master Arthur L. Stevenson for Federal Court here, is still awaited. This case is expected not only to establish whether the latter cash giveaway is an infringement of the bank night idea, but also to decide whether or not bank night comes under lottery laws.

In New Hampshire, where a friendly test suit is pending against Attorney General F. W. Johnson to determine whether or not the ban against bank night on grounds that it is a lottery, a declaratory judgment is not expected for more than two months.

Ohio House Uses Screeno

TIFFIN, O., Aug. 29.—The Ritz, independent, operated by Sol Silverman, Toledo, is using screeno, being one of the few spots in Ohio to install and continue the stunt without interference.

Iowa Hits Bank Night

DES MOINES, Aug. 29.—The state attorney general's office today ordered county attorneys and sheriffs throughout the state to take steps toward ending bank night.

M. & P.-RKO Split Fox

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—M. & P.-Publix and RKO will again divide Fox product among their five local first run situations. M. & P.-Publix, which controls three of these stands, will take two-thirds of the lineup. The entrance of Twentieth Century into the Fox picture does not change local distribution, inasmuch as the two Loew first runs will again screen the Twentieth Century list.

Mexican Strike Delayed

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 29.—The strike of employes of local American company offices originally set for tomorrow has been postponed until Sept. 7 in order to allow the Federal Labor Department to examine the workers' demands. They are asking increases ranging from 10 to 25 per cent.

Selznick Signs Tucker

Sophie Tucker has been signed by David O. Selznick for one picture. The deal was closed at the Piping Rock Club in Saratoga where Miss Tucker is now appearing. She will complete a tour of the RKO circuit before reporting to Hollywood, however.

Richey Warns Of Danger of New Mergers

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—A bulletin issued by H. M. Richey to members of Allied of Michigan urges all exhibitors in the state to give local independent exchanges all possible support as insurance against mergers among major producers, which Allied predicts will eventually leave but three large companies in the production field.

The bulletin says in part: "Fox-Twentieth Century, bank control of Paramount and RKO, with actual possibility of a merger between the two, makes the whispered statement that soon the production and distribution of pictures will be concentrated into three sources, more than a mere supposition.

"Then what? For the past few years we have seen such radical curtailment of product that an exhibitor in a double-billing situation is forced to make many unfavorable and costly film deals to secure proper product.

"Exhibitors in small towns haven't yet felt the situation so keenly, but when the time comes that three sources control the production, distribution and sales policies of pictures, then the axe will really fall.

"It behooves exhibitors to look to the future and preserve in the business the independent companies, if for no other purpose than as an insurance policy against complete domination of the industry by the banking interests. It's time for the ninth and tenth major companies now. Better buy a couple of insurance policies this year."

Way Open to Avoid Sp'c'l Kansas Session

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 29.—If Kansas officials can find a way to enable counties to set up funds to participate in the Federal social security plan, which they are now attempting to do, the special legislative session which has been threatened and at which it is feared an amusement tax may be introduced will not materialize, it is understood.

Under such circumstances there would be no meeting of the Kansas legislature until 1937, inasmuch as sessions are held regularly every odd year.

It is understood that Gov. Alf M. Landon is very desirous of not calling a session unless it is absolutely necessary.

To Picket Coast House

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29. — Following their failure to negotiate successfully with Harry Popkin for over a three-week period, representatives of musicians' Local 47 and projectionists' Local 150 will start picketing his Million Dollar tomorrow. The picketing is in protest at the Popkin wage scale, now 60 per cent under the union regulation, according to union leaders.

The two locals recently picketed T. L. Talley's Criterion, forcing that house to close its doors.

No Admission Raises Seen For Chicago

View Is Business Gain Doesn't Warrant Hike

This is the second installment of a national survey on the trend in admission prices.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—With grosses gradually on the upgrade and most of the receipt figures on the black side of the ledger, Chicago operators are not interested in any admission price changes at the present time.

General opinion seems to be that, as long as a profit can be made at present figures, to change them would be extremely unwise. Both independent and circuit managers predict that business this fall will be the heaviest in many years and that one way to

Film Attacks Fail In Massachusetts

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—Bills affecting the industry were foremost in the some 3,000 measures acted upon this year by the Massachusetts Legislature that has just closed after a record of 225 days. The business emerges completely unscathed. But it cannot relax, as many of the unfavorable bills will be brought back at the session which begins Jan. 2.

The bill of Representative Thomas A. Dorgan of Dorchester, seeking to ban children under 14 from all theatres

Fox Met Filing Fee Totals to $16,664

ALBANY, Aug. 30.—Filing fees of $16,664 were paid to the Secretary of State here for the incorporation of Metropolitan Playhouses, Inc., the reorganized Fox Met company, with 332,288 shares of non par value stock. Also incorporated were the new company's 18 operating subsidiaries which have been numerically named, beginning with Number One Theatre, Inc.

'Top Hat' Tops

"Top Hat," by official check yesterday, had the biggest first day at the Music Hall in the theatre's history except for a holiday opening.

'Jim' Sets 5-Yr. Attendance, 3-Yr. Gross High at Roxy

Chalking up the best attendance record in five years and the highest gross in almost three years, exactly 133,507 patrons paid $47,000 to see "Diamond Jim" for the week ending Thursday night at the Roxy.

Topping this intake was "Call Her Savage," which played to the tune of $58,000 for the week ending Dec. 1, 1932. Clara Bow made a personal appearance that week and admissions were scaled at 35 cents to $1.10 in comparison with the current 25-55 cents.

Under the present scale, "Diamond Jim" tops all past attractions. "Imitation of Life," which garnered $44,000 for the week ending Nov. 29, 1934, is second to it.

Next in line is "Invisible Man," which did $42,500 for the seven-day period ending Nov. 23, 1933. This gives Universal the first three ratings for high grosses under current box-office conditions. "The Bride of Frankenstein" also was in the big money class at the Roxy. It got $38,000 for the stanza ending May 16, last.

"Universals are the money making pictures for the Roxy," an executive of the theatre stated yesterday.

Union's Wage Parleys Reach New Deadlock

Unable to reach a common basic figure for a wage formula in local theatres, circuit and Local 306 representatives yesterday were deadlocked for a second time this week.

The impasse is not regarded as serious by either side. Negotiations are expected to be continued either today or after Labor Day. Meanwhile Local 306 operators are sticking to their posts, keeping in daily contact with union headquarters on latest developments.

About 25 pickets arrested two weeks ago were to have been arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Capshaw, but the judge withdrew from the cases, postponing them until Sept. 14 when another magistrate will sit. No Local 306 pickets were arrested during the last week, it was stated at the union's headquarters yesterday. Allied M.P. Operators has reduced the number of men parading the circuit houses to one.

Weisman Seeks Stay To Get "China Seas"

Milton C. Weisman, attorney for the Gotham Amusement Corp., operating the Gotham, yesterday filed an application in the N. Y. Supreme Court for an injunction against M-G-M, seeking to restrain the exhibitor from delivering "China Seas" to the Dorset, competitor to the Gotham.

Hearing on the application will come up today before Judge Steuer.

No Flying Ban Contemplated By Producers

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30.—Although most producers have had a standing rule for some months prohibiting players from flying during production, executives here are not contemplating changes in the rule whereby talent would be prohibited from commuting by air entirely, according to a survey of the studios.

Most companies require talent under contract to obtain special permission to fly and recently a major studio tried to restrain Ruth Chatterton from flying her own plane, but without success. Cecil B. DeMille, Harold Lamb, William Pine and Herbert Wilcoxon recently flew to New York and back from here to attend the opening of "The Crusades," and Miss Chatterton led a group of flyers from here to Cleveland in a special race for which she had donated a trophy. DeMille, Pine, Lamb and Wilcoxon, however, had permission of Paramount to fly.

Selznick Financing Finished, Is Report

David O. Selznick is understood to have completed finances for his new company with Wall Street banking and brokerage houses. He will leave for the coast Tuesday to prepare "Little Lord Fauntleroy" with Freddie Bartholomew, his first for United Artists release. For the present, he will produce on the U. A. lot, now 100 per cent owned by Samuel Goldwyn. Later, Selznick anticipates making one picture in England.

RKO Follows Loew to Dual Billing Here

Albee to Be First, with Others Soon After

RKO yesterday started its first move toward dual features in all local houses, following plans announced by Loew's to twin bill at the Valencia, Paradise, Orpheum, Boulevard and Metropolitan.

The Albee, which has been playing vaudeville for many years, yesterday put on its initial two-ply picture program. "Dante's Inferno" and "Orchids to You," two Fox films, comprised the program. Other RKO units will add second features within the next few days. Prices will be reduced all along the line.

Local independent exhibitors are evincing signs of uneasiness as the two major circuits continue to eliminate single features.

The combination of "China Seas" and "Bright Lights" at thirty-nine Loew houses for a week's stand is expected to devastate subsequent runs, independents declared yesterday.

Paramount Denies St. Louis Charge

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 30.—Denial of any conspiracy to withhold films from the Ambassador, Missouri and Grand Central is made by Paramount Pictures Distributing Corp. and Paramount Pictures Distributing Co., Inc., in an answer filed today in Federal Court in the Government's anti-trust suit.

Famous Players Men End Canadian Meet

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—The annual Famous Players Canadian convention closed here today with N. L. Nathanson, president, rushing from a New York train after returning from a European vacation, to address the gathering.

The meeting yesterday concerned itself chiefly with regional conferences and the screening of new product from various companies. The speakers at the general meeting today at the King Edward Hotel were Clarence Hobson, eastern supervisor of theatres; T. J. Bragg, secretary and treasurer, and A. W. Bolstad, comptroller.

Bragg declared there were more people now employed in Canada than in 1926 and that prosperous conditions were evident once more although theatres are adversely affected by iniquitous amusement taxes in Ontario.

Skirballs Gaining In Penn. Hospital

Mildred's gains, however, are less pronounced than those of the others. All three are still confined to the Valley Hospital in the Pennsylvania town.

The incorporators are Joseph M. Schenck, president and chairman of the board; Milton C. Weisman, vice-president and secretary; William P. Philips, vice-president and treasurer; Herbert B. Swope, director; Melvin A. Albert and Herbert S. Keller.

Attorneys and committees who served in the reorganization of Fox Met will file applications for fees for their services shortly after the return from Europe next week of Federal Judge Julian W. Mack, who has jurisdiction over the reorganization. The reorganization plan provided for the setting aside of $500,000 for the fees.

J. R. Grainger, general sales manager of Universal, has closed a deal with the Jefferson Amusement Co. of Beaumont for the entire 1935-36 Universal lineup. This places the "U" product in 59 houses in eastern Texas. Joseph and Tom Clemens acted for Jefferson in the deal and Harry Graham and Edward Olsmith with Grainger.

help insure such a condition would be to leave prices at the present scale.

If plans called for a raise in admissions here it would have to meet with unanimous approval by all exhibitors in order not to upset present booking arrangements which are based on the various price levels. Prices, as they now stand, generally are considered to leave a fair margin of profit and outside of giveaway nights, which are used in some form or other by practically all houses, no price cutting practices are used.

Exhibitors who predict the waning of interest in Screeno, Bank Night and other such devices before very long are of the opinion that the coming of the new season's product will offset the loss of these games and keep the grosses at a good figure.

Pickford and Lasky Organize New Firm

Lasky. Headquarters will be at United Artists, which will release. The deal was signed at Pickfair. Lasky will be president and Miss Pickford vice-president.

The company, which will make five films annually, will be independently financed, according to Lasky, and will function as an independent unit. Writers, directors and composers will share profits. The first to be signed are Nino Martini, Francis Lederer and Ernestine Schumann-Heink. The first two will make two yearly, while Mme. Schumann-Heink will make one, with production starting Oct. 15. Lederer will make one musical.

In outlining the program, Lasky suggested the possibility of developing Mme. Schumann-Heink into a Marie Dressler.

Samuel Goldwyn, Abraham Lehr, Lloyd Wright and Lederer witnessed the signing.

A congratulatory wire from Al Lichtman was read by Lasky, who leaves Monday for England, where he will make one film. Later Miss Pickford may join him there.

Weisman, in his application, alleges that the Gotham bought "China Seas" on a 1934-35 contract, but plans to date the picture into the Dorset sometime next week under a 1935-36 pact. Weisman contends that the Gotham contractually has the first right to the film and that M-G-M refuses to deliver it to his client.

Skouras Now Has 47

Addition of the Englewood, Englewood, today gives Skouras Theatres 47 for the circuit. The house was to have been taken from Walter Reade yesterday, but, due to delay in signing of the papers, the theatre does not change management until this morning.

SENSATION

EASTMAN Super X Film was originally designed for rephotographing projected backgrounds. Yet because of its great speed it also won fame as the negative extraordinary for tough newsreel shots. And now it is being widely used for regular feature production, as well. Offering not only extra speed but generally improved photographic quality, Super X is unquestionably the sensation of the year in 35-millimeter raw film. Eastman Kodak Company. (J. E. No Flying Ban Contemplated By Producers

Other than prohibiting their players from taking to the air during production, the studios have no rules governing their use of common carriers and transport ships. Warners, however, while prohibiting players from flying their own ships, have no objection to their using regular air lines at any time.

James Dunn, now free-lancing but until recently under contract to Fox, was entered in the "Chatterton Air-Derby" but withdrew at the last minute. Director Henry King, Wallace Beery, Howard Hughes and Hal Roach are all licensed transport pilots flying their own ships and use them at all times for traveling and the general feeling is that they would refuse to abandon that means of transportation if requested.

Bishop Bergan Lauds Film Uplift Results

DES MOINES, Aug. 30.—Most. Rev. Gerald T. Bergan, bishop of Des Moines, extolled producers as "having set a censorship on themselves with the result that 80 per cent are producing decent films" at the banquet of Tri-State Theatres Corp., Aug. 27.

The bishop had sent letters throughout the diocese during the Legion of Decency campaign asking non-attendance at indecent films. A laugh greeted his remark that he was going to attend the showing of "The Crusades" after the banquet in person, but that he was glad it wasn't DeMille's "Cleopatra."

"I hope the average American citizen will show appreciation by patronizing those theatres where proper pictures are shown," the bishop declared.

Helen Jepson Returns

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30.—Helen Jepson, Metropolitan Opera star, who arrived here on Monday, returned to New York by plane Wednesday afternoon. She advised Paramount, to whom she is under contract, that she will await a call, and will meanwhile continue her broadcasts. The studio has no story ready for her at present. Miss Jepson sang at the Hollywood Bowl on Tuesday night, but turned down an offer to sing there again next week.

Grainger to Do Four

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30.—Edmund Grainger, Universal associate producer who recently completed "Diamond Jim," is scheduled to put four pictures into work during the next month. They are "The Great Impersonation," starring Edmund Lowe; "Fast and Furious," "Spinster Dinner," starring Carol Lombard, and "Sutter's Gold."

The St. Nicholas Ave. entrance to the Audubon was bombed yesterday while a policeman was on guard at the Broadway entrance. Police say it is another phase of union rivalry.

Paramount Denies St. Louis Charge

H. Moore on Sept. 10 and is also requested to dismiss the injunction.

Reviewing the first run situation here, the answer states that franchises for exhibition of Paramount pictures in the three theatres were canceled by Paramount-Publix because the Skouras Super Theatres Corp., franchise owner, had breached its terms through inability to comply therewith. Denial was made that Warners caused this cancellation. The answer further states that contracts entered into with Warner subsidiaries a year ago to show Paramount films at the Shubert and Orpheum were signed without agreement or consultation with any other defendant corporation except the company with which the contracts were signed.

Judge Moore, at the request of Government counsel, has issued subpoenas for witnesses here and in New York to produce books, records and correspondence.

Phila. Musician Row Still Far from End

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—Musicians here are still far from an agreement with the Earle and Fox. Both houses opened with new shows today with all-film bills. The Fox started big with "Steamboat 'Round the Bend." The Earle also started with big business, with "Bright Lights" the picture.

Musicians are asking for two bands of 20 men each for the Fox and two bands of 15 each for the Earle. The union has signed up the Carman, with an additional man in the pit. It is asking neighborhoods to increase the number of vaudeville days from one to three each week. Fay's will reopen with negro shows, and negotiations are now on with the negro local of the musicians' union.

Musicians and managers will have another conference after the Labor Day holiday.

John Thorn Passes

HARRISBURG, Aug. 30.—Death has claimed John Thorn, veteran screen and stage actor, in a sanitarium in Mercer, Pa. He was 55 years old and had suffered a long illness. He appeared in silent films and afterward went on the stage. He was a native of Leesburg, Pa., and was educated in the Mercer public schools. He is survived by an uncle, Frank Thorn, of New Castle, Pa.

Alfred F. Wolfson Dead

$11,000 in Two Days

"Page Miss Glory" grossed $11,000 Wednesday and Thursday, its first two days, at the Strand, according to Warners. The picture holds over.

Plan Disney Hour

One solid hour of Walt Disney product will be shown in many of the Loew key houses on Sept. 28 in celebration of Mickey Mouse's seventh birthday. Every house in the circuit will have a number of Disney shorts on its program on that day.

Many other circuits throughout the country will take part in the celebration.

The Rivoli here will put on a special Walt Disney revue in observance of the event.

Fox Midwest Ending Grubel Bros. Deal

Fox Midwest is dissolving its partnership arrangement Oct. 1 with Grubel Bros. in Kansas City, Elmer C. Rhoden, operating head of the circuit, stated yesterday prior to his departure after several weeks here conferring with Spyros Skouras on a five-year contract.

Fox Midwest on Oct. 1 will resume operation of the Granada while Grubel Bros. will take back the Electra. The joint operation has been in effect a number of years.

Discussing the new season, Rhoden said:

"We are expecting a bulge of business this fall. This year we have had the smallest wheat crop in years, but theatre conditions this past season have been lots better than last year."

Final FWC Hearing Scheduled Sept. 18

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30.—Sept. 18 has been set as the date for the final hearing on the discharge of Fox West Coast Theatres from bankruptcy by Samuel W. McNab, Federal referee.

The final report on the administration of the company's business was submitted yesterday. William H. Moore, Jr., trustee in bankruptcy, said all the affairs of the circuit had been liquidated with full payment allowed to every creditor on approved claims.

When the bankruptcy was filed in 1932 the report showed the operating loss at $25,000 weekly, but the theatres are now operating at a profit, it is said.

Randforce Extends Lease

Randforce yesterday extended its lease on the Utica, Brooklyn, for 10 years. The house was acquired from RKO a few months ago.

Within the next week, Randforce will increase its Brooklyn circuit to 51 theatres. The unit now has 47 houses and expects to add four more in the next few days.

'Time' Resuming Sept. 20

The sixth issue of "The March of Time" is now being edited for release Sept. 20, according to Ralph Rolan. After a lapse during July and August the reel will be released monthly through Radio.

Korda Names Another

Alexander Korda, now visiting from London, said yesterday he has scheduled "Lions Die in Naples." Jacques Feyder, French director, will make it.

Film Attacks Fail In Massachusetts

except those approved by a politically appointed board and to recall all licenses of distributors handling any film not found suitable for youngsters, will be reframed and presented.

Billboard and pari-mutuel matters are sure to hold the limelight again, political observers say. Dog pari-mutuels go before the people again in referendum form at the next state election. The billboard matter, also a hot political issue, seems bound to arise again in view of the strenuous efforts of the Administration to shove it across.

Senator Scanlon sought to convert local licensing authorities into censorship groups, each required to pass on any film to be exhibited to anyone under the age of 21. The bill also had a provision that no one under 14 should attend any film show after 7 p.m. unless accompanied by an adult. Although beaten, the matter does not appear finished.

Other bills defeated included the effort of Representative Dorgan to bar minors from theatres located in buildings where liquor is sold. An attempt to establish a state NRA, with control of film financing, distributing, etc., was snowed under. A petition, evidently designed to insure more stringent enforcement of the Sunday censorship law, was declared unnecessary.

Among the tax bills, those especially pertaining to the industry were killed. In addition to a number of sales tax measures, these included an attempt to levy a tax of five cents on all theatre admissions with an additional excise of 10 per cent on admissions above 50 cents.

So-called public safety measures, mostly backed by unions, were beaten.

All branches of the industry here are frank in crediting Joseph H. Brennan, former Loew's State manager serving his first few months as business manager for the local M.P.T.O.A. branch, with being mainly responsible for the record chalked up by film forces.

Capitol Ridicules Prospect of Duals

Reports that the Capitol would shortly embark on a dual feature policy were scouted at Loew headquarters yesterday when an executive stated the theatre has enough two-week attractions lined up to last until January.

"'Anna Karenina' yesterday opened to a better gross than 'China Seas'," it was declared. "By 1 o'clock the Garbo picture was $500 ahead of 'China Seas.'

"While the booking schedule has not been set, attractions following 'Anna Karenina' will include 'Broadway Melody of 1936,' 'Mutiny on the Bounty,' 'Tale of Two Cities' and others which are now being completed."

ITOA, Allied For Showdown On Columbia

Oppose Sales Policy—Seeking Action

Members of the I. T. O. A. and Allied of New Jersey are preparing for a showdown on Columbia's sales policy. Concerted action is planned at future meetings for both organizations, it was indicated over the week-end by a number of theatre owners who say they have grievances against the distributing company.

From time to time, Columbia's selling plans have been criticized at closed meetings. Although some exhibitors have demanded action at times, resolutions have been put off because of the intervention of one or two pro-Columbian accounts. However, this picture is reported to have changed as a result of experiences last season. Even the so-called pro-Columbia exhibitors now are apparently in a fighting mood.

One of them, who will not be quoted for the time being, said over the week-end:

"The rank and file of independent exhibitors in this territory have been treated very badly by Columbia."

This theatre operator is the head of Pool in Pittsburgh To Run for a Year

Loew's pooling arrangement with Warners in Pittsburgh is for one year, retroactive to Aug. 16. Stage shows will be continued at both Loew's Penn and Warners' Stanley. Product arrangements are now being worked out.

Although Loew's recently terminated an eight-year operating agreement with Wilmer & Vincent in Richmond, both circuits will have a half interest in the new 600-seat theatre now being completed on Grace St. The new house is expected to be ready in a few weeks and will cost approximately $30,000.

RKO-Pantages Pool On Coast in Effect

Los Angeles, Sept. 2.—Pooling of the RKO Hillstreet and Pantages, Hollywood, went into effect Sunday. The Pantages replaces the Warners' Hollywood with RKO. Under the deal, both houses will play Universal product day and date with the exception of from 10 to 12 pictures which will be dated for full weeks without accompanying features.

Milwaukee Level Unchanged; Fall May See an Increase

Milwaukee, Sept. 2.—Admission prices here have remained steady for the past eight months. An increase was sought early this summer by the Independent Theatres' Protective Ass'n of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, but it failed to materialize due primarily to lack of co-operation from circuit operators.

Indications point to a price hike here this fall. Two reasons are given, namely, an up in wages undoubtedly to be asked by the projectionists in their new wage contracts and the continuance of dual features, which has added to exhibitors' costs. If these issues become a certainty, it will be almost impossible even for the circuits to sidestep a hike in admission prices.

Pittsburghers Not Inclined Toward Raises

This is the third installment in a national survey on the trend of admission prices.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 2.—Admission scales in the Pittsburgh territory have remained fairly stationary the last few years and a survey here reveals no hint of a rise, at least this season. In fact, prices here are lower than they have been at any time during the past decade.

That is particularly true in the first-runs. Where previously a stage show and a picture used to bring 60 and 75 cents for loges, now all seats go for 55 cents, including tax. Where straight pictures are the policy, the scale is 40 cents against a former 50 cents.

Scales were sent to rock-bottom here last winter by a price war, with combination bills selling as low as 35 cents top with a 15-cent ticket at opening, but since then a new deal has been effected among the managers and prices are now being regulated by the newly-organized Managers' Association. Officers in the managers' group

Loew Board to Vote Dividend Tomorrow

Loew's directors will meet tomorrow to vote on the quarterly dividend of $745,047.50 which will be available to holders of the outstanding 1,490,095 common shares. The regular dividend is 50 cents and will be payable Sept. 30 to holders of record Sept. 13.

The new total of outstanding common includes the 27,890 shares picked up by various M-G-M and Loew executives who exercised their options last March.

Pathe Forms Holding Unit For Financing

First International Pictures, Inc., has been organized by Pathe as a holding company for its picture producing and distributing activities. The new company will own all of the stock of First Division, which is to be the principal operating subsidiary.

Robert W. Atkins, vice-president and director of Pathe, will be elected president of First International, probably on Thursday of this week. Harry H. Thomas will continue as president of First Division.

First International has been capitalized with issues of 3,000 shares of first preferred stock of $100 par value, 3,000 shares second preferred stock of $100 par value and 10,000 shares of common stock of non par value. Through Pathe support, in part, First International will supply all of the First Division financing, for both production and distribution here and abroad. The production financing, it is understood, will extend to Chesterfield and Invincible, which will release through First Division. Additional financing will be made available to First Division for extending

Warners-RKO Get Together On Film Buys

National in Scope and Covers N. Y. Area

Climaxing two weeks of negotiations, resumed after a short interval during which first runs were sold to A. H. Schwartz's Century circuit in three Long Island and Brooklyn spots and to four Springer & Cocalis units on Upper Broadway, RKO late last week finally got together with Warners on a national product deal. Major Leslie E. Thompson represented the circuit while A. W. Smith and Gradwell Sears acted for the distributor.

In addition to Greater New York, RKO theatres in New Orleans, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha, Des Moines, Sioux City, Davenport, Cedar Rapids and other cities are included in the deal.

Four local RKO houses only are affected by two independent circuit deals with Warners. They are the Kenmore, Brooklyn; Tilyou, Coney Island; Alden, Jamaica; 81st St. on Broadway. The Kenmore is opposition to Century's Patio and Kingsway, the Alden to the Merrick, Jamaica, and Fantasy, Rockville Center, and the 81st St. to Riverside, Beacon,

Expect Quick Deal On Operator Wages

Circuit and Local 306 representatives are expected to reconvene today after a week-end lull on negotiations for a basic wage pact. It is understood that the union men are now working on a new but temporary basis of $1.60 an hour instead of $2.12½ with expectations that the new schedule will be completely worked out by the end of the week.

Late Friday night all RKO and Loew managers were held at their

Milwaukee, Sept. 2.—Expansion of the Fox circuit in Wisconsin was intimated by H. J. Fitzgerald, general manager, with the opening of the circuit's 10th anniversary in the state. Fitzgerald predicted that "Fox theatres of Wisconsin will be one of the major exhibiting companies of the entire country within another year."

The circuit now operates 44 houses. Recent acquisitions have been the Calumet, Calumet, Mich., and People, Laurin, Mich.

Boston Distributes Will Rogers Photos

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—Ten thousand autographed photographs of the late Will Rogers were distributed by the management of the Fenway and the Paramount, local M. and P.-Publix first runs, during the first two days of "Steamboat Around the Bend." Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

ERPI has abandoned its idea of establishing an engineering service to cover all phases of theatre maintenance, for the time being at least. The reasons are interesting but, given to this department "off the record," cannot be aired at the moment. When Erpi disclosed early in the year that it was giving consideration to introducing the new engineering service, reports were broadcast that the company intended going into the equipment business. Not true then, and still not true, the reports, nevertheless, increased the opposition which Erpi's plans met. This, however, is not the reason why the idea is being shelved now. . . .

Exhibitors and others who sought to harass Ascap—and did—by getting through their state legislatures measures imposing heavy taxes on the music licensing society's operations, may find the statutes a boomerang, or at least so E. C. Mills, general manager of Ascap, believes. If the states having such laws enforce them by collecting the taxes and Ascap is unsuccessful in having the tax measures declared unconstitutional, music licensing rates will be increased accordingly in those states, Mills says. In other words, the licensees, not Ascap, will pay the tax, if Mills is right. . . .

William Fox may have to submit to examination to prove that he is as poor as he says he is which is that he is so poor he has had to accept a friend's offer of shelter and make his home in the limited quarters above that friend's boat house out on Long Island. Fox, some time ago, confessed to a $360,000 judgment as a result of a personal guarantee he had given on a San Francisco theatre lease subsequently defaulted. Efforts of the landlord to collect on the judgment resulted in bringing to light Fox's financial predicament. Skeptical attorneys, however, wanted Fox to submit to an examination and prove his poverty. They were unsuccessful for some time, however, in subpoenaing him. Finally, he was served at his boardwalk hotel in Atlantic City, where he is reported recuperating from an illness. Fox's attorneys protested that the service was invalid because Atlantic City is outside the 100-mile limit in which the legal action was brought. The Federal court is now pondering the question. If it decides the service was legal Fox will have to prove that he is having a struggle keeping off the relief rolls. . . .

GROPING for an adjective not hitherto used in her connection, this hapless column ends up with superb for lack of something better with which to comment on Greta Garbo's work in "Anna Karenina." The Tolstoi novel of Imperial Russia, containing as it does dramatic elements repeated time without end in many and far less distinguished pictures, makes a fitting vehicle for the screen's leading tragedienne. The care and the thought so typical of the more important M-G-M product are displayed on all sides here with results that register heavily. "Anna Karenina," slightly ponderous perhaps from the point of view of story content, is, nevertheless, an impressive and thoroughly worthwhile motion picture directed by Clarence Brown with pronounced ability and acted by Fredric March, Basil Rathbone and Freddie Bartholomew in Miss Garbo's support competently and well. Yet it is a tribute to her great talents, to point out now as has been done with other and not so fortunate vehicles of hers, that she stands far and away by herself, a lonely and beautiful and tragic figure. A generous segment of the Capitol audience hailed her first screen appearance on the opening night with applause. This, the morning after, prompts us to remark we wish we had joined. . . .

Angles call for settlement and they will be, but the weekend developed facts enough to bear out this space's prediction that there will be no third first run chain in the metropolitan area. Warners have sold the RKO circuit and that's a sensible procedure, for it gives the seller something close to one million dollars in rentals and the buyer a major line of product which he sorely needs. To be settled is the situation arising out of Abe Schwartz's deal with Warners by which several of his theatres mature into the first run category. This blocks out the Warner lineup from a few RKO houses for the present, anyway. Possible and easily so is it for Schwartz to relinquish that contract in return for which will come concessions, principally protection, that will ease the strain on a couple of his much harassed and expensive theatre properties. Tying in with this indirectly but not so indirectly when you figure it out is Loew's giving up twenty Columbias to help out RKO. If this indicates nothing else, it demonstrates that the city's two principal circuits, often opposed on film buys, continue to recognize that there is more to be gained by playing with, not against, each other. . . .

an independent circuit, is no "fly-by-night" and, in his business relations with other exchanges in this territory, rates favorably, a checkup with resident exchange managers proved.

"The treatment small exhibitors receive from this exchange is shameful," the circuit operator added. "Every year the company demands increases, when, as a matter of record, the greatest number of money-making pictures turned out in one year by Columbia totals four. Last year the distributor only had two pictures that made a profit in this territory."

This corroborates the statement made by Lou Rodner of the Broadway, Camden, N. J., at the Allied convention in Atlantic City recently.

"In 1933-34, Columbia sold six specials and 34 program pictures. The next season the distributor sold a like number of specials, but added four 'super specials' in addition to 30 programmers. This season, the company has something new. It's six 'super-super specials,' a half dozen specials and another six 'super specials,' plus 22 program releases."

In the weekly survey of exhibitors' new deals at the Atlantic City convention Columbia scored a zero, meaning that no one present had bought the new product. In the Philadelphia area 20 theatres have refused Columbia's demands for six pictures at 35 per cent and six at 30 per cent.

Hearings Due Soon On Lottery Charges

Hearings on chance games in Special Sessions will be held in a week or 10 days, Milton C. Weisman, attorney for the I.T.O.A. and screeno, stated yesterday.

Last Tuesday, Magistrate Eilpern in Brooklyn declared Lucky not in violation of the lottery laws. The decision was handed down when Howard Lesser of the Glenwood, Brooklyn, was brought up on charges preferred by the district attorney. Barr & Barr represented the theatre.

Ruben on "Riff-Raff"

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2.—M-G-M has assigned J. Walter Ruben to direct "Riff-Raff," which will be Irving Thalberg's next. Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy will head the cast, which will include Mickey Rooney, Baby Jane Quigley, Victor Killian and George Givot.

Cole Back at Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 2.—Col. H. A. Cole, Allied, has returned from South Texas where he placed bookings for 35 play dates for A. Sacks Film Co., picture the rental of which will go to the association. The deal involves commissions on other subjects sold.

Make Charge on Passes

DENVER, Sept. 2.—Fox Intermountain theatres are charging five cents each on all passes and the money is being used for the employes' relief fund.

Looking 'Em Over

"Peasants"

(Amkino)

There can be no denying that "Peasants," which shared first honors with "Chapayev" and "The Youth of Maxim" at the recent Russian film festival celebrating the 15th anniversary of the Soviet industry, is a powerful and gripping dramatic document. There can also be no denying that it reeks with propaganda from beginning to end. It advances the theory of collectivism frankly and unabashedly and at considerable length. Nothing, not even the fine playing of its cast and its effective photography, can save it from being a bit of a bore.

The story tells of the efforts of the enemies of Communism to undermine the collective farm system of the Soviets. A hog-raising farm is the scene of their operations. The villain of the piece (from the Soviet point of view, of course) is a former kulak who secretly conspires to ruin the collective farm where he enjoys high standing as a hog-raiser. The truth about him comes out after he has murdered his wife in a struggle following her discovery that he is an enemy of Communism. The man escapes arrest for murder by hanging the woman to a rafter to make it appear she has taken her own life.

Strangely enough, the most entertaining portion of the film is a comedy sequence showing the peasants at the festive board.

In the cast are E. Yunger, B. Poslavsky, A. Petrov and Nikolai Bugolyubov, among others. Friedrich Ermler, who recently visited America, directed.

No production code seal. Running time, 104 minutes. "G."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Charlie Chan in Shanghai"

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2.—The admission of Keye Luke to the Chan firm as Warner Oland's son adds a human touch to this picture, placing it high in the series for entertainment value. Luke and Oland work in perfect harmony for comedy and drama.

The story concerns the rounding up of an international opium smuggling gang. Oland arrives in Shanghai for a vacation in his native land. At a banquet in his honor a British secret service man is shot and Oland himself attacked. The next day Oland and Luke are kidnapped but escape. Russell Hicks as an American agent, arrives on the scene and the trail of the gang leads to Charles Locher, secretary of the murdered British detective. With the aid of Irene Hervey, his sweetheart, Locher escapes and the trail is renewed. The final denouement at a waterfront hideout proves Locher and Miss Hervey to have been working with Chan throughout and the leader of the smugglers is Hicks, who has been impersonating an American G-man.

Director James Tinling, once started, carries through the plot elements interestingly and swiftly. Edward T. Lowe's screen play from Gerard Fairlie's original, baffles the solution of the crime, yet it plays fair with the audience.

In the supporting cast Halliwell Hobbes and Frederik Vogeding stand out.

The John Stone production is good and Charlie Chan fans should be well pleased with the effort.

No production code seal. Running time, 67 minutes. "G."

"Hi Gaucho"

(Radio)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2.—John Carroll's voice and some rousing ballads are the chief attractions in "Hi Gaucho," a thin tale of horse thievery and romance in the Argentine. The film never does decide whether it is farce, melodrama or a western in a new locale. The whole cast uses elaborately broken English, presumably to emphasize the South American atmosphere with the result that the dialogue is difficult to understand at times. Some good riding helps.

Carroll is in love at first sight with Steffi Duna and discovers that she is the daughter of a rival cattle rancher. Miss Duna has been betrothed by letter to a Spanish noble, Tom Ricketts. Rod La Roque, bandit, captures Ricketts and poses in his place. After some serenading, state flatly that there has been no talk at all of a possible price increase.

In the neighborhoods, too, prices are expected to remain the same. Thirty-five cents is the nominal top for the subsequent runs, although some key spots get as high as 40 cents and, since most of these houses are controlled by the circuits, their scale necessarily ranges down from the first-runs. Unless there is a raise downtown, there can be no tilt in the neighborhoods.

No Terre Haute Hike

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 2.—There has been no advance in admission prices in any of the larger Terre Haute houses and, according to Shannon Katzenbach, general manager for the Fourth Avenue Amusement Co., operators of the Grand, Indiana, Liberty and American, there will be none so far as he knows. Katzenbach stated his prices have been in effect for four years. He also said he did not see how higher prices would aid, as in some of the larger cities they are "paying" people to attend.

Other local houses operating on the same price schedule, which has been in effect for years, are the Orpheum, operated by Ross Garver; the Savoy, owned and operated by Jack Van Boersum; the Fountain, operated by Mrs. A. Burnett; the Lyceum, operated by the Murdock family; the Swan and the Little Virginia. There are several dark houses here at present. They are the Rex, Victory, National and the Hippodrome; the latter is also under the operation of the Fourth Avenue company.

The major houses here operate on a 55-cent night admission policy. The matinee prices are 25 cents up to 6 P. M. The smaller houses' prices are 15 cents to 20 cents at all times.

Nebraska Trend Down

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 2.—The trend in this territory so far is down on admission prices, it is revealed in a MOTION PICTURE DAILY checkup. Here, two houses, the Orpheum and the Kiva, within the last two months have cut prices a nickel. The Orpheum, a Cooper house, went from 10-15-25 to 10-15-20; the Kiva, a Dent Westland house, dropped from 20 and 15 to straight 10 cents any time. The Varsity, one of the latter string, recently reopened and at 5 cents less on the previous two bit top.

Coincident with this move, since last January, when only the second run Sun was a dual biller, five houses are now double featuring. This is within two houses of being equal to the all time high on duals.

In the territory, such towns as Seward, York, Grand Island and Hastings, the smaller keys, are all sporting Bank Night and playing it heavily. Dishes and giveaways are common, the trend being more to bargain as show business goes than to get back to respectability and jack up admissions. There's some talk of revisions upward after the hot weather and people get used to the idea of indoor amusements again. That's to be seen.

Warners-RKO Get Together On Film Buys

Nemo and Stoddard, Springer & Cocalis and Skouras first runs.

Although Warners had sold to George Walsh at the Strand, Yonkers, in opposition to the Proctor, RKO made a deal with Walsh to extend for five years the operating pool which expired on Sept. 1. This deal was exclusively reported in MOTION PICTURE DAILY, as well as the situations sold away from RKO, last Thursday.

While it is not generally known, the Strand, Far Rockaway, an RKO unit, will play first run, despite the fact that the Fantasy, Rockville Center has tied up the Warner output. RKO and Schwartz spent several months before the local clearance and zoning board during the latter months of its existence in an effort to adjust Century's claim that the two situations were not in competition with each other.

The local board decided in favor of the independent circuit and the verdict was appealed to Code Authority. Because of the unexpected U. S. Supreme Court decision in connection with codes, Campi never handed down a verdict. However, Warners hold that the two houses never were competitive and that's the way the product has been sold.

"Page Miss Glory," which is current at the Strand and is slated to open at the Paramount, Brooklyn, on Sept. 6, will be the initial attraction available for RKO and the two independent circuits. Warners were dealing with a number of other independents when RKO intervened and resumed negotiations. Subsequent run deals will now be sold to the unaffiliated circuits which formerly held high hopes for a first run Warner contract.

Atlantic City Variety "Jubilee" on Today

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 2. — The Philadelphia Variety Club's "Showmen's Jubilee" opens its week of festivities here tomorrow, which will feature a national talent event for the selection of "Miss America 1935."

A full program of sports events and entertainment has been arranged for each day, culminating with the selection of "Miss America" on Saturday. Hundreds of Variety Club members from other cities will take part in the Jubilee.

Jersey Arrests Man In Film Theft Case

FAIRVIEW, N. J., Sept. 2.—John Martin, 33, is being held for investigation by Federal, Bergen and Middlesex county authorities in connection with the theft of 550,000 feet of raw film from the plant of the DuPont Film Mfg. Co. at Parlin, Middlesex County, March 2.

Martin is in the Bergen County jail, Hackensack, without bail, as a fugitive from justice pending return to Middlesex county.

This arrest follows the arrest in Hollywood of Walter Toneh and another man named Van Doren. The men are alleged to have tried to sell 125,000 feet of film to a subsidiary of the DuPont company. When the film was tested in the California company's laboratory, it was revealed that it was part of the stolen loot and the two men were placed under arrest.

With the arrest of Martin, all the film has been recovered, one man already is serving a 20-year prison term and two others arrested last March are detained in connection with the robbery.

"Hi Gaucho"

leaping over walls and baffling comic police, Carroll exposes the bandit and gets the girl.

In the cast are Montagu Love, Ann Cordee and Paul Porcasi.

Adele Buffington did the screen play from an idea of Tommy Atkins', who directed under the supervision of John Burch. The music and lyrics by Albert Hay Malotte will be heard for the next few months.

The film is adapted for second spots on duals.

No production code seal. Running time, 59 minutes. "G."

"Storm Over the Andes"

(Universal)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2.—Although the story is in the formula class there is enough action to make this acceptable.

Jack Holt, soldier of fortune, joins the Bolivian forces in the Gran Chaco war. Wounded, he is sent to a base hospital. While convalescing at a fiesta he meets Mona Barrie, wife of Antonio Moreno, his commanding officer. Unaware of her identity, he flirts, then falls seriously in love with her. Moreno, returning on leave, is outraged when he learns of the affair, particularly because of Holt's philandering reputation which has followed him from Shanghai to Paris.

Back at the front Moreno is forced down in the jungle, Holt saves him at great personal risk and man and wife are reunited as Holt is again left recovering from wounds. Interwoven in this thin thread are several remarkable airplane scenes showing air battles and some comedy furnished mostly by Gene Lockhart, as Holt's mechanic.

Christy Cabanne's direction is best in the action sequences. The photography by Charles Stumar, Harry Forbes and John Fulton is uniformly good. The production by Maurice Pivar is effective in the fiesta sequences. In the supporting cast Grant Withers, Barry Norton and Juanita Garfias are good. Al Demond, Commander Wead and Eve Green fashioned the screenplay from Eliot Gibbons' and Laclede Christy's original story.

The picture should be exploited as an action novelty.

No production code seal. Running time, 85 minutes. "G."

"Two Sinners"

(Republic)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2.—Two people win understanding through suffering in this human interest film showing the difficulties confronting a sensitive man after his release from prison.

Otto Kruger serves 15 years for the murder of a man who stole his wife. To avoid the coldness of his old friends Kruger goes to Italy, where he falls in love with Martha Sleeper, governess of Minna Gombell's spoilt child, Cora Sue Collins. When Kruger tells Miss Sleeper his past she is momentarily shocked and runs away. Minna Gombell offers pretexts to avoid paying Miss Sleeper even when a cable announces that her mother is dying. Miss Sleeper takes money from Miss Gombell's purse in desperation, is arrested and sentenced to one year imprisonment. Cora Sue hunts and finds Kruger, who stands by.

Interesting characters, problems and the sympathetic handling of a family story register heart tugs. Cora Sue Collins is telling as the spoiled child. Minna Gombell stands out as unpleasant mama. Kruger gives a sympathetic portrayal and Miss Sleeper does a good character study of a shy governess. Others in the cast support competently. Arthur Lubin directed. The story is by Warwick Deeping, the screenplay was written by Jefferson Parker. Trem Carr produced.

Production Code Seal No. 1,140. Running time, 78 minutes. "G."

"BRINGS DOWN THE HOUSE" "A delightful picture . . . with Astaire and Rogers dancing to your heart's content . . . The Berlin melodies linger in the memory . . . Mr. Astaire is the tops . . . He has never done anything better than the dance he does to the music of the title song . . . He uses his stick most effectively in the taps and, when he turns it into a machine gun and shoots the male chorus, one by one, he brings down the house."
—Kate Cameron, N. Y. Daily News

"WORTH STANDING IN LINE FOR" "Fred Astaire, the dancing master, and Ginger Rogers, his ideal partner, bring all their joyous gifts to the new song and dance show at the Radio City Music Hall . . . 'Top Hat' is worth standing in line for. From the appearance of the lobby yesterday afternoon, you probably will have to."
—Andre Sennwald, N. Y. Times

"BEATS 'ROBERTA'" "That matchless dancing team, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, appear in a rollicking light comedy which beats their recent 'Roberta' . . . It is a handsome picture, lavishly produced and mounted, filled with infectious tunes and bright with laughs . . . The complete family will relish 'Top Hat' . . . a sparkling, tuneful, refreshing musical hit."
—Bland Johaneson, N. Y. Daily Mirror

"BEST ASTAIRE-ROGERS" "It is a plain fact that 'Top Hat' is the best of the Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers vehicles, which is to say, it is the top in screen musicals . . . It ripples and flows from scene to scene, and it is not only a tonic for tired eyes but a fillip to appetites which have become jaded by the ordinary run of Hollywood musicals . . . The dialogue has more genuinely funny gags than all the rest of the screen musicals put together."

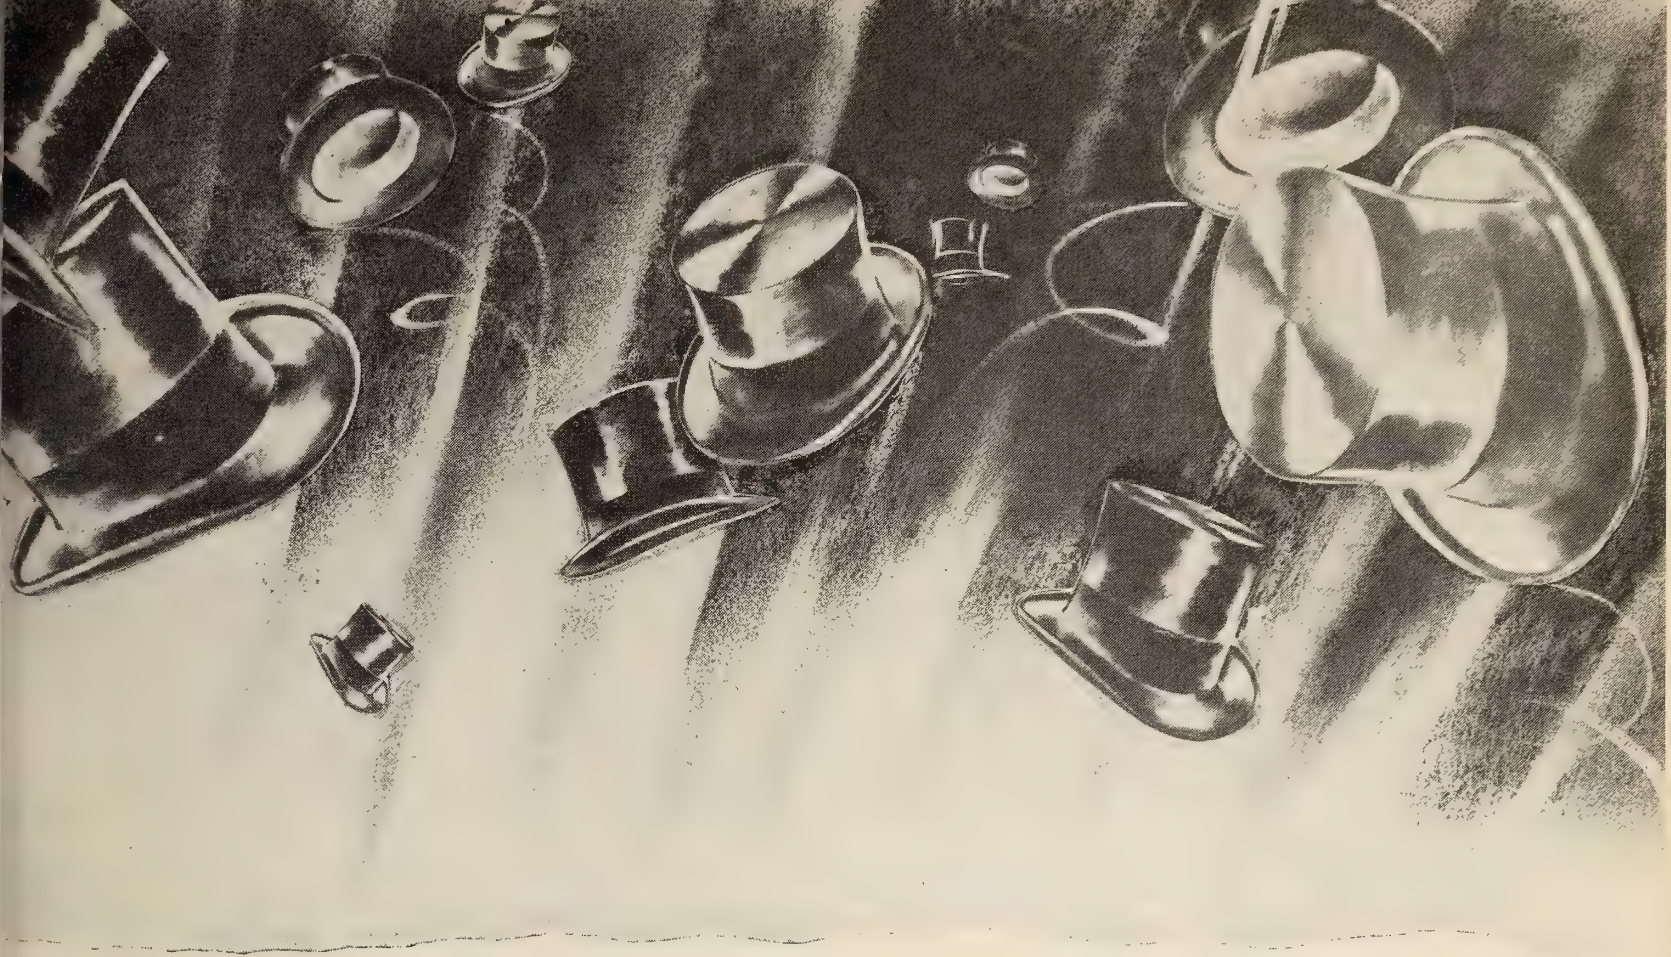
"TOP



"DELIGHTFULLY 'TOP HAT'" "Topping entertainment, replete with song and dance, ringing with merry quips, abounding in sly situations, well cast, handsomely produced, 'Top Hat' is tall tile and tails class musical comedy . . . All in all, 'Top Hat' is delightfully—well, delightfully 'Top Hat'."

—Regina Crewe, N. Y. American

"VASTLY ENGAGING" "The screen's number one musical comedy team is in admirable form at the Radio City Music Hall this week, and thereupon 'Top Hat' assisted by some attractive Irving Berlin songs, becomes vastly engaging entertainment."

—Richard Watts, Jr., N. Y. Herald-Tribune

"TOP ENTERTAINMENT" "'Top Hat' is top entertainment. It's even better than 'The Gay Divorcee' and 'Roberta' . . . The best thing one can do is call it the grandest screen musical in months and then go to see it again . . . You'll enjoy it tremendously."

—Rose Pelswick, N. Y. Evening Journal

"THE BEST YET" "'Top Hat' is the best musical that this charming twain has yet produced . . . Tuneful, rollicking, merry, it is a cheerfully fast and footloose film, one of the especial delights of the new season and one that will give you a very gay morning, afternoon or evening in the cinema. . . Consider 'Top Hat' something to shoot away the blues."

—William Boehnel, N. Y. World-Telegram

"TOPNOTCH MUSICAL" "Those dancing feet of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers have already done a good deal to make this world a gayer place. Now they again lighten the woes of the nation with a merry bit of fluff, 'Top Hat' . . . a typical Astaire-Rogers musical, light, frothy, funny, with plenty of songs and dances . . . Delay "China Seas" Pending Court Move

At a hearing before Supreme Court Justice Steuer Saturday on an application of the Gotham for a stay restraining M-G-M from delivering "China Seas" to the Dorset, a competitive house, the distributor promised not to book the film into the Dorset until Sept. 28, pending argument on the injunction move.

According to Milton C. Weisman, attorney for the Gotham Amusement Corp., M-G-M had planned to book the film into the Dorset this week under a 1935-1936 pact after the production had been contracted for by the Gotham on a 1934-1935 deal. It is charged the Gotham has first right to the picture and that M-G-M refuses to deliver it to the house.

M-G-M agreed to set back the booking of the film at the Dorset when Justice Steuer indicated he might grant the desired stay.

The motion for the stay will come up before Justice Steuer on Thursday.

Cleveland Reports Agreement on Music

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—It is reliably reported that first runs have come to an agreement with the musicians' union on terms of next year's scale. The scale remains the same as last year, with no guaranteed playing time. All engagements will be spot bookings. However, in the event of musicians playing 40 weeks at a house during the year, there will be a reduction in the scale of $5 per week per man.

Operators' and stage hands' scales are still in controversy. The stage hands are asking for a double crew in vaudeville houses and a $5 weekly increase over last year. Local theatre men are quoted as saying that there is nothing in the past year's business to justify these conditions. Operators are asking for a 15 per cent wage boost. In all probability, final settlement of stage hands' and operators' scales will have to made in New York.

Maryland Increases Its Censor Forces

BALTIMORE, Sept. 2.—Two additional inspectors are being added to the Maryland State Board of M. P. Censors, increasing the membership to seven.

The additions were believed necessary by Dr. Ben Paul Sandy, chairman, because of extra work now being done by the board. Funds for the retention of the new members were obtained by reducing salaries of the five now employed.

Missouri's Tax Law Attacked as Invalid

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2.—First test of the constitutionality of Missouri's sales tax law has been started here by Maxwell's, Inc., Joplin cafeteria, in the Cole County Circuit Court, Jefferson City.

The suit invokes a law which went into effect Aug. 27 and permits courts to pass on laws before a violation occurs, so that the case will not interfere with operation of the law while the case is pending.

Section 5 is the target of attorneys who point out that it makes absorption of the tax by the seller unlawful and requires the seller to pass the tax on to the buyer. It is claimed that this deprives buyer and seller of the right of contract. It is also claimed that the tax places an undue burden on the seller as an agent of the state without compensation, and because of the expense involved infringes upon the state constitutional provision against taking property without due process of law.

The petition asserts that the law is special in application and not in general and is unconstitutional for this reason. The case is expected to come before Judge Sevier during the October term.

Independents Following FWC on Increases

This is the fourth instalment in a national survey on the trend of admission prices.

Los Angeles, Sept. 3.—The trend of admissions in this territory since September, 1934, has been upward. On that date Fox West Coast started a general policy of raising admissions from five to ten cents in their neighborhood and outlying houses. The changes were continued until June, 1935, at which time a general scale of 30 to 40 cents was set up and has been maintained since with no immediate change contemplated. The deluxe houses of the circuit have maintained a scale of 50 to 75 cents for a number of years.

Independent theatres, following West Coast, also began a gradual raise in

New Season In With Rush; Box-Offices At Large Zoom

'Top Hat' to Set Music Hall High at $135,000-$140,000

Perfect theatre weather, the descent of hordes of visitors attracted to the Big Town by the extended Labor Day weekend, the drawing power of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, excellent reviews of their latest, and the continued lure of the house itself are combining to send "Top Hat" to a new record for the world's largest theatre—the Music Hall.

In the five days to Monday night, the attraction did a phenomenal gross of $99,698 and the end is not yet in sight.

Here is the day-by-day tally:

Day	Estimate
Thursday	$17,100
Friday	17,600
Saturday	21,666
Sunday	21,666
Monday	21,666
Five-day total	$99,698

While individual grosses for Saturday, Sunday and Monday were not available last night, the three-day combination bulked $65,000. By 2 P. M. yesterday and despite the rain, the theatre was packed to the doors and a line waited along the 50th St. side of the house.

Yesterday's business was running at the rate of the opening day's take. With $17,000, therefore, forecast for Tuesday and a like figure for today and tonight, both the Music Hall management and Radio Pictures compute the attraction will reach $130,000 without any effort and may end its first week somewhere between Heading for a record at the world's largest theatre.

In five days—Thursday and over the Labor Day weekend up to and including Monday night—this attraction grossed $99,698 and is skyrocketing toward the tops for the Music Hall. Anticipation last night was the picture will end at somewhere between $135,000 and $140,000.

Attendance Hits 1929 Peak—Takes Big in View of Scales

Theatre attendance over the Labor Day weekend touched the normal of pre-depression years in many sections of the country, circuit headquarters here reported yesterday. Attendance figures, it was said, reached proportions which had not been equalled in two and three years by national circuits.

Although grosses fell short of normal for the years immediately prior to 1933 due to lower scaled admissions, net will equal the old-time figures for comparable weekends because of uniformly lower operating costs, some circuit representatives believe.

In New York, aided by a cool weekend and threatening weather conditions on Labor Day, grosses shot to record proportions along Broadway. Other factors contributing to a heavy weekend attendance were the postponement of all major league baseball games scheduled for the city on Monday, and of other sports events. Three weeks of continued cool weather is also credited with having sent vacationists back to the city earlier than usual. Moreover, current film fare is, for the most part, of better-than-average box-office calibre.

With the Labor Day weekend accepted as marking the opening of the new season, home offices received the weekend attendance reports with more than usual interest and satisfaction.

Buck in with Films, Animals and Stories

Frank Buck arrived from the coast yesterday prepared to spend the next two months cutting and editing "Fang and Claw," the temporary title to the picture he has just filmed in Asia. He spent nine months in the Far East.

Buck recounted some of the experiences for the benefit of the press at a breakfast at the Ambassador. He said he had shipped on the Steel Navigator, which arrives at Staten Island Saturday, 600 animals and 5,000 birds for his zoo in Amityville, L. I. The boat is bringing back a female Indian rhinoceros which was ordered by the Chicago zoo and a number of seladangs, called gaur buffaloes in this country, for the St. Louis zoo.

Discussing his latest film, Buck said it will be from seven to eight reels and along the same lines as his last two pictures where the explorer was shown getting a collection of wild animals and the vicissitudes he encounters. He does not plan to leave on another expedition until next May or June, he stated. He will probably make personal appearances at the Music Hall and other key centers with the opening of the picture, he said.

that they are a lottery, will hold or be dissolved. This circumstance is the result of the ruling of Justice Warren James of the Superior Court which transfers without decision the petition sponsored by bank night for a declaratory judgment as to whether the cash giveaway scheme comes under the New Hampshire lottery laws.

The petition was filed as the result of an order by Attorney General Johnson for theatres to stop bank night.

Increase Chicago Nights

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Abruptly changing their policy, bank night promoters here are now allowing the game to be used twice weekly if a theatre so desires. Theatres pay an additional license fee for an extra night.

It is possible that the bank night case before the Iowa courts today and the Cleveland situation are responsible for the new policy. It is felt that should the courts rule against the plan in those spots, the Chicago territory would be jeopardized.

The Sheridan, Essaness house, and the Century, B. & K. theatre, announced a dual policy today. Many others are expected to follow suit immediately.

Sweepstakes Win Court Test

Movie sweepstakes were adjudged not in violation of the New York lottery law yesterday in a decision handed down by Magistrate David Malbin in the Magistrate's Court for the 8th District, Brooklyn. The theatre in the case was the Oceana, Brighton Beach.

Magistrate Malbin held that the operation of Movie Sweepstakes was not illegal in that no admission fee was necessary to enter the competition and anyone was permitted to participate in or out of the theatre. Albert L. Green was the defendant and the attorney who successfully represented the theatre and the game was Jacob Schechter.

Late August Breathes New Life Into Key City Takes

Late August breathed new life into grosses in 22 key cities of the country in spite of the heat and the fact that this is supposed to be one of the worst weeks of the summer slump. The total for the week ending Aug. 22-23 in 22 cities with 123 houses open was $1,210,965, a gain of $102,585 over the previous week. This was the best week since May 23-24.

Studios Sign Batch Of New Term Pacts

Hollywood, Sept. 3.—New contracts handed out by major studios include these at M-G-M:

To Freddie Bartholomew, whose last role was in "Anna Karenina" which is now at the Capitol, New York. It is a long-term pact.

To Robert Benchley, whose arrangement provides he is to have a six months' vacation annually to permit him to resume critical writing in New York.

To Nat Pendleton, whose first assignment is tentatively set as Sandow in "The Great Ziegfeld."

To Eadie Adams, radio singer. She hails from Illinois where she had been appearing in local night spots.

Radio has signed Tony Martin, San Francisco radio warbler. No assignment has been determined as yet.

Paramount has signed Grant Garret, Robert Miles and Paul Gerard Smith. Garret will work on comedy construction for "Coronado." Miles is assigned to the Zane Grey story, "Nevada," to be produced by Harold Hurley, and will serve as technical adviser in conjunction with his writing duties. Smith's assignment is "F Man," the Charles R. Rogers production in which Jack Haley is to be featured.

Cincinnati Business Gains Are Reported

Cincinnati, Sept. 3.—Average employment in 18 local industries for the first seven months of this year was 2,000 more than all of 1934 combined, and 2,000 greater than the corresponding period of last year, according to a report released by the Chamber of Commerce.

Employment in manufacturing lines has gained steadily since 1933. By March of this year it equaled March, 1929, while in May it was 5,000 in excess of May, 1929.

The aggregate of bank clearings for the first seven months was $1,406,646,945, a gain of almost $200,000,000 over a like period of 1934, while capitalization of new incorporations was $3,421,500, or more than $2,000,000 more than 1934.

Say One Reissue Given

Clarifying a settlement made with Louis Geller of the Palace, Jersey City, when the exhibitor refused to play "Affairs of Cellini," United Artists states that only one reissue was given Geller instead of two, as reported. The U. A. claim was on the arbitration calendar of the New York Film Board and after several postponements was withdrawn by agreement between both parties.

New Season In With Rush; Business Up

Grosses for Broadway houses were, of course, aided materially by three consecutive days of advanced admission.

The Music Hall with Radio's "Top Hat" appeared to be headed for a new all-time record after the gross for five days passed the $99,698 mark and hold outs were still the rule despite an all-day rain yesterday. Officials of the theatre predicted a gross for the week of $135,000 to $140,000 which, if realized, would better the present record by about $25,000.

The RKO circuit reported excellent weekend business nationally. Boston, which is also playing "Top Hat," was cited as a particularly bright spot.

Warner theatres reported very big business nationally and totals well ahead of Labor Day last year. "Bright Lights" and "Page Miss Glory" were listed as the circuit's current best bets in the first runs and "The Irish in Us" in the subsequent runs. Locally, Warner officials predicted a $40,000 week for "Page Miss Glory" at the Strand. The picture needed to do only a $4,000 business yesterday and a repeat today to touch that figure.

Paramount circuit officials reported grosses ahead of last year's in many operating sections, with many key houses hitting an attendance volume equal to the normal for pre-depression years. The Skouras office, headquarters for Fox theatre operations, said that Labor Day business touched figures that had not been reached for the past two or three years.

"Diamond Jim" Sets Record

Breaking the all-time Sunday record for attendance, "Diamond Jim" on Sept. 1 established a new mark for future pictures to shoot at when 29,557 patrons passed through the Roxy portals. The day's attendance top was set by "The Cock-Eyed World" on a Friday six years ago. The day's checkup then showed 30,654 people were admitted.

Howard S. Cullman, trustee, yesterday decided to hold the Universal picture a third week. It is possible "Diamond Jim" may be held a fourth session, depending on the coming weekend performance. For the first four days of the second week, the film garnered $33,061.50, which is $2,400 more than the similar days of the first week. The second stanza may wind up with a tally of close to $45,000.

Loew's reported "tremendous" weekend business compared with that of a year ago. "Anna Karenina" with Garbo is playing the circuit's key houses and is credited with much of the improvement shown. "Chained," with Clark Gable and Joan Crawford, had the Labor Day bookings in the circuit last year and left a high standard of box-office comparison behind it. Locally, the circuit reported weekend business up 40 per cent over a year ago. Loew's officials predicted a $65,000 to $75,000 week for the Capitol, after $48,740 had been chalked up for the first four days. This is $1,000 more than "China Seas" did in its first four days there. "Karenina," already set for a second week at the Capitol, may be held for three or four weeks.

$135,000 and $140,000. A second is definite now and a third already in sight.

Traffic in and around the Music Hall has been in a complete snarl since last Thursday when the picture started. The theatre has been opening at 9:30 A. M., or two hours ahead of its ordinary schedule, in order to get in an extra run. The experience, aside from the pleasant glow developing from the take itself, has been unique in many ways even for that theatre.

By 1 A. M. on Sunday, for instance, 10,000 people either had been in the theatre and had cleared out or were ensconced in its comfortable seats. For instance again, the line extending along the 50th St. side of the house has been the object of a massed attack, the eager patrons fighting not to get into the theatre itself on several occasions, but merely for a place inside the waiting line. An extra show at Saturday midnight, incidentally, found almost every seat occupied.

Hazel Flynn, who handles publicity for the Music Hall, thus found herself busy checking previous records. Her count tallied at five new ones before she finished. Her is her dopesheet:

"Thursday was the biggest in the history of the house.

"Friday broke all previous Friday records.

"Saturday completely shattered records of previous Saturdays and the same was true of Sunday.

Sets Holiday Record

"As for Monday, the picture not only played to more people than on any previous Monday in the Music Hall's two and one-half years' experience, but up until 5 P. M. it had already eclipsed the record of any previous holiday.

"Since Thursday there have been 24 performances, each to capacity and playing to an estimated total of 148,000 people. Police reserves were called Monday as a precautionary measure, but the crowds proved orderly and traffic was kept moving freely."

Motion Picture Daily then got busy on its own score and began to compare the sensational course of "Top Hat" with other topnotch grossers at the Music Hall. Its research unearthed, among other facts, these:

"Top Hat" definitely will reach $130,000 by Wednesday night when its first week closes. Disregarding the anticipated $135,000 to $140,000 gross as a figure which perhaps may not be reached and computing comparison on the basis of a $130,000 take, the Astaire-Rogers picture will outdistance "Little Minister," its closest competitor, by $20,000. The Hepburn picture played New Year's Week, had a midnight performance on New Year's Eve and grossed $110,000 for the week ending Jan. 2, 1935.

"Little Women," another Hepburn, now is about to slide into third position. That picture, in its first week of three, did $109,000 the week ending Nov. 22, 1933.

Fourth will now go to the first week of "Cavalcade," which for the seven days terminating April 12, 1933, garnered $107,761.

Other $100,000-and-over grossers at the Music Hall since the inception of its straight picture and presentation policy follow:

"Cavalcade," second week ending April 19, 1933—$105,986.

"One Night of Love," first week ending Sept. 12, 1934—$104,120.

Same picture second week ending Sept. 19, 1934—$103,793.

"One Man's Journey," week ending Sept. 6, 1933—$103,064.

"Private Life of Henry VIII," week ending Oct. 18, 1933—$103,000.

"Nana," week ending Feb. 7, 1934—$103,000.

"Cardinal Richelieu," week ending April 24, 1935—$103,000.

"Little Women," third week ending Dec. 6, 1933—$102,000.

"Morning Glory," week ending Aug. 23, 1933—$101,249.

"Topaze," week ending Feb. 15, 1933—$100,956.

"Love Me Forever," week ending July 3, 1935—$100,019.

"We Live Again," week ending Nov. 7, 1934—$100,000.

"Broadway Bill," week ending Dec. 5, 1934—$100,000.

Capitol 3-Week Sail On "Seas" $109,000

With a $27,000 gross for the third and last week, "China Seas" at the Capitol garnered a total of $109,000 during the three-week stay. This with no stage show, is big money for the Loew house.

For the first seven days the tally was $49,000. The second week's take dropped $16,000, to $33,000, and the third and last session wound up with a handsome profit. "Anna Karenina" is ahead of "China Seas" on the first weekend gross and may top the figures on the Gable-Harlow-Beery combination.

S.R.O. for "Steamboat"

Cincinnati, Sept. 3.—"Steamboat 'Round the Bend," which opened at the RKO Palace Wednesday, instead of the usual Friday opening, has been playing to S.R.O. since the first hour and promises to establish a summer record. The newspaper advertising space has been exceptionally modest as compared with the smash displays on other current pictures, while the text of the advertisement has consisted of little more than an announcement of the picture.

Warners, RKO Deny St. Louis Charges of trade by refusing to sell films to the Ambassador, Missouri and New Grand Central theatres.

The denials, like that of Paramount, ask that U. S. District Judge George H. Moore dismiss an order to show cause on Sept. 10 why the Government's temporary injunction should not be dismissed. This injunction is aimed to prevent continuance of the alleged agreement.

Refusal to grant the denials is expected, as the court has just issued subpoenas for books and records bearing on the case.

Milt Arthur Gets Subpoena

Los Angeles, Sept. 3.—Milt Arthur, associated with Harry Arthur in the Cabart circuit, has been subpoenaed in the Government's St Louis anti-trust suit. The circuit has five houses in St. Louis. Arthur leaves here Saturday by plane.

Heavy Terre Haute Draw

Terre Haute, Sept. 3. — "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" opened at the Grand to capacity audiences. The picture had been spotted in for a later date.

"Farmer" Gets $7,500

"Farmer Takes a Wife" at the Palace last week was fair at $7,500. "Accent on Youth," currently showing, will probably wind up with about $9,000.

Vernon Scott Injured

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 3.—Vernon Scott of the Ideal Amusement Co. of this city will be confined to the Mercy Hospital here for at least six weeks due to a fractured knee cap he sustained in an auto accident recently.

It is quite within the realm of probability that Mascot's "Harmony Lane" will open up a hitherto neglected field for picture material . . . portraying the lives and careers of great Americans in various fields of activities just as they were . . . true, we have had our Barnum on the screen . . . but he was essentially theatrical to begin with . . . but in the life of the immortal composer, Stephen Collins Foster, as limned so truly and beautifully in "Harmony Lane," there is really a great human document . . . done without theatricalism or glamour . . . it is Foster as he moved through the years of his tragic yet glorious career . . . presenting the story of his thwarted love and unhappy marriage in a manner that will grip the hearts and emotions of every girl and woman who sees it.

Here is dramatic screen material in its purest form . . . struggle, despair, a great love that is never fully possessed, a nagging, unsympathetic wife, the fight to express himself through his glorious songs, and eventual frustration . . . it is of such things that great dramas are written . . . and the wonder is that our producers have not turned to this fertile field long ago . . . the life of Stephen Foster on the screen has pointed the way to many others that but await intelligent and sympathetic treatment to turn into outstanding productions . . . which "Harmony Lane" most assuredly is. . . .

So, producers . . . and writers and directors . . . we leave this little hint in your keeping . . . after "Harmony Lane" has clicked decisively at the box offices of the nation . . . which we are convinced it will . . . you can then dig up a score of other True Portrayals of illustrious Americans . . . and reap great rewards . . . Coast Trend Is Upward on Ticket Scales

September, 1934 and are still bolstering admissions throughout the territory.

Harry Vinnicof, newly-elected president of the I. T. O. A. of Southern California and Arizona, looks for the new season to prove one of the most constructive in the history of the business. Vinnicof, who operates the Strand theatres in Los Angeles and Long Beach and the Garfield in Alhambra, states his organization will fight harder than ever this season to sell shows by constructive showmanship.

Questioned as to what he means by "constructive showmanship," he replied:

"When theatres employ the use of giveaways and reduced admissions by means of service passes, that is destructive. I have known cases where theatre owners have jammed their houses to the doors through these devices and have lost money. What is worse, they knew before they started they would lose, but they adopted their policies in the hope of destroying their competitors. Our organization aims at constructive practice only. Shows can and must be sold by showmanship."

Calls Singles Exhibitor Need

Vinnicof also added that the organization would make a fight for single bills, which he described as a crying need for exhibitors in this territory. He declared that not only would a single bill policy aid the studios, but also that patrons themselves, as evidenced by letters received, were demanding one feature because of eyestrain, particularly on children and adolescents, involved in sitting through too long a program.

Underneath the remarks of independent operators and circuit owners seems to be the thought that "the racket and double bill evils" can best be corrected by distributors. Although none will be quoted, all agree that a clause should be inserted in every exhibition contract to the effect that a print is rented for showing at a certain price and that clause is violated if the exhibitor resorts to any subterfuge whether it be a giveway of cash or merchandise.

Lou Halper of Warners said that the Warner circuit would not put into effect any price changes. The company is switching Warners Hollywood and Downtown back to a day and date policy.

Providence Holds Fast

Providence, Sept. 3.—Despite race track competition exhibitors here intend to hold fast to current admission prices, at least as long as the other fellow doesn't try to steal a march. For the past two years 40 cents has been the top general admission at all theatres and there has been no effort to change. The only house in the business center to deviate is the little Victory, 1,600 seater, which gets a 25 cent top for a split-week showing some first runs, but mostly seconds and unusual features not shown at the other places.

Most of the neighboring houses scale their seats for a 25-cent top, but fluctuate when a big feature comes their way.

Birmingham Stays As Is

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 3.—Local theatres have made no changes in admission prices for the past year.

M. S. Suggs, manager of the Alabama, reported that volume is up a bit but prices unchanged. The Alabama tariff is 30 cents in the balcony, 40 cents downstairs. This is the city's leading house.

N. H. Waters, president of the Waters Theatres, a suburban group, reported business hardly holding its own with last year. Admission prices are unchanged with him.

Local 306 Seeking Independent Pacts

Brandt circuits have split away from Local 306 and have signed with either Allied or Empire State unions.

Although no specific period is mentioned in the letter, it is learned Local 306 is anxious to sign independents on a two-year pact. The union also is offering major circuits the same time contract, although affiliated theatres are reported holding out for a five-year pact. Negotiations between circuit and union representatives were resumed yesterday and indications are that a deal may be struck by the end of the week. Local 306 operators are understood to be working under a temporary arrangement which provides for $1.60 an hour instead of the $2.12½ previously paid.

Face Judgment in Buffalo

Buffalo, Sept. 3.—Members of Local 233 of the operators' union are in a state of agitation over the refusal of Justice MacGregor to delay execution of a judgment for $12,079 obtained by Arthur Geddes, a former member.

The judgment was given by a lower court after Geddes had sued for damages on the ground of illegal expulsion from the union. Failure to satisfy the judgment resulted in the appointment of a receiver for the union.

Avoid Union Trouble

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Master Arts Studios have joined the painters' and decorators' union and thus have avoided pulling their displays out of local theatres.

Adams Get Another

Adams Brothers yesterday added a fourth New Jersey house to their circuit. With the U. S., Paterson; Paramount, Newark, and Park Lane, Palisades Park, already in the circuit, the brothers yesterday took over the Leonia, Leonia, from Julius Charnow. Charnow retains an interest in the theatre. Paramount owns a half interest in the Newark and Paterson units.

Frank Drew Celebrates

Cleveland, Sept. 3.—Frank Drew today celebrated his eighth anniversary as local M-G-M branch manager with the announcement that every Cleveland circuit and independent theatre had contracted for his company's new product. This is the earliest buying in the history of the exchange, it is said.

Singles Hit Low

Decision of Loew's and RKO to go for two-ply film programs in a big way will leave about 15 houses in Greater New York on a single feature policy.

Never in the history of show business has there been so small a number of theatres showing one picture. The majority of these houses will not have vaudeville or stage shows surrounding the film menus.

No Early Moves to Hinder Fox Merger

large stockholders of Fox Film involving charges growing out of the merger and reorganization, it was learned yesterday.

Murray W. Becker of Hirsh, Newman, Reass & Becker, William Fox's attorneys, is out of the city and will not return until next week at the earliest. Becker has been conducting the current litigation for Mrs. Fox and All-Continent. It was stated at his office last week that, with the merger consummated, moves were being considered to apply for injunctions to restrain the new company from paying the prescribed salaries to Sidney R. Kent, Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl Zanuck, and from taking other steps under the reorganization. This move is now seen as having been abandoned, and it is believed that Mrs. Fox's next step will be an effort to examine officers and directors of Fox before trial.

K. C.'s Clearance Schedule Missing

here, which would be interested in looking over any clearance and zoning schedule drawn up for Kansas City, report that they have received no copies of the document, and have not seen the schedule in any form. Elmer C. Rhoden, general manager of Fox Midwest, without whose participation a Kansas City clearance and zoning schedule could not be placed in effect, spent last week in New York without mentioning a schedule to Fox circuit headquarters here, according to that office.

New York executives, moreover, are at a loss for an explanation of why the schedule, if one actually exists, would be forwarded here in any event. They point out that if a schedule is drawn by Kansas City exhibitors and is satisfactory to them, New York would have nothing to say about it one way or another.

Knobel Gets New House

Ben Knobel, who operates two theatres in Mt. Vernon, one in Poughkeepsie and another in the Bronx, has leased a new theatre which is to be built at Greenwich Ave. and 12th St. Previously, it was reported Knobel had leased the Sheridan, which is operated by Loew's, but the latter circuit is not giving up the house.

Study Moves Here to Halt Double Bills

move to do away with multiple feature programs.

The major circuits contend that they have been forced to double feature in de luxe theatres because second and subsequent run exhibitors not only twin bill for 15 cents, which is from 40 to 60 cents below the prices charged by ace neighborhood houses, but also resort to booking of revivals on Friday and Saturday night, making three features on a single program without an increase in admission.

It is also pointed out by the circuit that in numerous spots all sorts of articles are given away to patrons in addition to playing chance games where money is distributed. Neither Loew nor RKO is in favor of this idea, although Loew tried Bank Night for a few weeks and dropped it. Skouras is very much pro-chance games and most of his theatres are using them in one form or another.

Loew's doesn't like the idea of twin billing and has on several occasions during the past few years participated in exhibitor meetings called for the purpose of eliminating duals. RKO, while attending the conferences, has never actually put its stamp of approval on the idea. With the decision to go dual features with the exception of the Capitol and the State, Loew will have 70 theatres showing two features on split weeks within the next few weeks. RKO will have about 42 houses, including the Albee, which started the new policy last Friday.

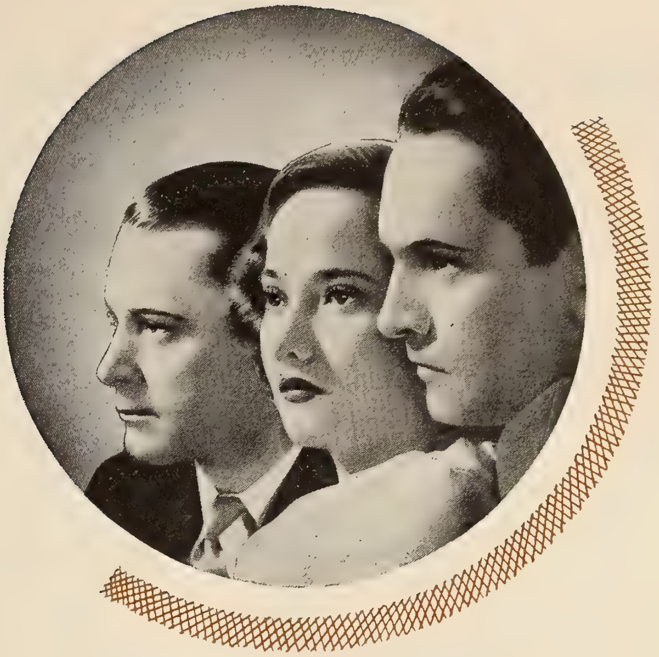
Independents cognizant of the first Loew dual bill, comprising "China Seas" and "Bright Lights," starting Sept. 6 for a week's stand, see this circuit dualing M-G-M's formidable array of specials, such as "Anna Karenina," "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "Broadway Melody of 1936" and "Tale of Two Cities" in addition to Joan Crawfords and Norma Shearers. Rather than wait until this happens, heads are being grouped together and the topic of conversation is "how about calling a mass meeting to end double features?"

Firestone Is Held Up

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Early this morning Samuel Firestone, owner of the Lyndhurst and Aster, and his son were held up in their home and robbed of $641 after they had been bound with wire. They broke loose and battled the holdup man on the street, securing his gun, but he broke away and disappeared with half of the cash.

Made Barcelona Manager

Jose Xaubet has been appointed manager of Paramount's exchange at Barcelona, succeeding E. Aguilar, resigned. Casimiro Bori, who has been managing the Coliseum in Barcelona, becomes assistant manager of the exchange while Sally Romano, ad sales and traffic head of the Spanish branch, has taken over Bori's former duties.



Tomorrow

the world premiere of the most eagerly awaited film success of the new season will take place at the Rivoli Theatre, N.Y. It is a love story so heart-stirring in its emotional power, so enchanting in its elusive beauty that it seems destined to win screen immortality as one of the ten best pictures of the year! Samuel Goldwyn's finest achievement . . .

Sales Heads Study New French Plan

Foreign sales managers in New York yesterday were displaying interest in cabled dispatches from Paris indicating that the French government had in preparation a new decree which would alter the current system of importation and sale of American pictures in France. It was reported that the government planned, by law, the creation of a central organization to collect rentals directly from French exhibitors, passing the proceeds on to distributors. American distributors under the plan, therefore, would not be permitted to collect rentals on their own product, and the same apparently would apply to French distributors.

As part of the proposed law, Paris cables also had it that the current level of import quota would be revised upward and would make it compulsory for French exhibitors to exhibit a greater percentage of French-made films.

"Miss Glory" $9,800 Lead, Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 3.—Supported by a big ad campaign, "Page Miss Glory" was the outstanding draw of the week. The Newman took in $9,800, where $7,000 is normal.

"Lady Tubbs" at the Tower built up surprisingly during the week to boost that house's gross to $8,000 above par by $1,000.

"Keeper of the Bees" at the Fox Uptown made a strong finish and did $3,400 in six days. "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" was brought in for the holiday week-end.

The Mainstreet plugged "Bright Lights" heavily along with "March of Time" and did $200 above a normal $8,000.

A gross of $8,900, while well below Loew's Midland's average of $11,500, was considered good for "China Seas," a smash its first week.

"Chan" and Show $19,000 Philly Smash

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3.—Business swung high for a second straight week with the Fox grabbing the grossing honors, with $19,000. Credit goes to Howard Thurston's stage magic show rather than to the film, "Charlie Chan in Egypt," as the Chan pictures have not been good Philly grossers in the past.

The town also went for "Bonnie Scotland" and the comedy stage show at the Earle, featuring the three Stooges, to the tune of $14,500. "Diamond Jim" also gave the Stanton its first hit picture in a long time, grossing $7,300 and earning itself a second downtown week. In its second and last week, "China Seas" also topped the house average with $13,000 at the Stanley.

Most disastrous flop of the week was "Pursuit," which only did one day at Keith's and was yanked for the re-issue of "Smilin' Through," which finished the week with a fair $2,100.

Looking 'Em Over

"Murder by Television"

(Imperial)

Routine material of the program variety, this murder mystery film, independently produced, appears more suitable for the second position on a double bill. Featuring Bela Lugosi and June Collyer, the cast names are otherwise not impressive, and present little in the way of selling ammunition.

There is a timely note struck in the theme, which finds a television in the inventor's home, from which the broadcast originates, including mental broadcasting program. The expected several suspects are present in the incentor's home, from which the broadcast originates, including a Chinese house servant, a visiting doctor and the fiance of Miss Collyer, who is the inventor's daughter. A police chief, also a visitor, takes charge of the case. Lugosi, assistant to the inventor, is the most vital suspect.

Lugosi finally is revealed as an agent of the United States Secret Service, and the least suspect, the doctor, is found to be the murderer, who had dealt the blow via television from his own office laboratories. Efforts in the direction of relieving comedy are not too successful, chiefly as a result of being overdone. In general the picture develops as average, or less than average entertainment.

structure which should be righted," said Giannini who ranks well up front among American bankers who have financed production in this country. "The industry there will not be completely sound until the bankers evidence enough direct interest in the business to eliminate the middleman in financing and do it directly. The difficulty insofar as the British banker is concerned continues to be his lack of sufficient confidence in the stature of his own country's film industry.

"Product in England and in France is improving. I saw enough pictures from both sources to convince myself on that score. It is true that in my opinion producers of both nations have considerable to learn in point of tempo and continuity, but the strides made this year over last are concrete and self-evident.

"I believe further that our own government might well tear a leaf from the book of the English, the French, and, in fact, virtually all European governments. They are interested in the status and the future progress of their film industries because they recognize the force of the medium. I do not mean that the American government should interfere with the normal operations of the business on this side, but I do feel that by its attitude and its reactions to industry problems it could easily be an influence for good."

Giannini will remain here about a week visiting and discussing trade problems with ranking executives in various major companies whom he knows well and then return to his banking post in Los Angeles.

Anti-Trust Angles Studied in Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 3.—Dwight Savage, Washington, special attorney assigned to anti-trust investigations in Texas, is in Dallas. M-G-M Sales Of Protection Are Admitted

Policy Is National to Safeguard Revenues

Admitting that M-G-M has sold increased protection to a number of independents in Cleveland, an M-G-M sales executive declares that this policy is not limited to Ohio, but is national in scope.

"More than 25 independents in Cleveland recently reduced admissions to 15 cents," the sales executive said. "As you know, the town is flooded with double features again after a period of singles.

"There are a number of exhibitors who do not want to reduce admissions, but would be forced to follow suit unless granted extended clearance. In order to protect our rentals we had to sell with an extra seven days to two weeks protection. Many of our pictures play on percentages in Cleveland and if exhibitors cut to 15 cents our revenue would likewise diminish.

"I have always maintained that clearance has a definite value in returns of our pictures. M-G-M has no stereotyped plan of clearance, but we are anxious to keep up admissions and likewise protect our revenue nationally. This company has only sold protection where justified," the executive declares.

Competitive Practices Stir Moves for Control

Complaints, Pleas Pour In; Chance Games and Duals Big Problem

Unrestrained competitive practices that are sweeping through exhibition have deluged official and semi-official industry bodies with complaints and pleas for the establishment of some form of regulatory and disciplinary machinery, it was learned yesterday.

The complaints are directed for the most part against the use and unrestrained spread of chance games and giveaways, but double featuring, admission price cutting, overbuying and protection abuses are also bringing a storm of protests and threats of retaliatory action from aggrieved exhibitors in every section of the country, it was said.

The protests are being received daily at headquarters of virtually every loof the International for an immediate audience. The departure to Washington of the committee depends on Browne's reply.

On the committee, in addition to Basson, are Frank J. Ruddock, vice-president of Local 306; Charles Thide, Alexander Polin, Bert Popkin and Harry Storin.

Meanwhile the executive committee of the union and circuit representatives met last night to continue negotiations on a basic wage scale.

The move to rescind the strike order does not necessarily indicate such a step will be taken. Local 306 feels its powers under local autonomy are being nullified because of interference by the I.A.T.S.E. The union is anxious to make a two-year deal with the circuit and independents, but, at the same time, does not want to be handicapped by International regulations.

Warners-Skouras In 7-House Pool

State, Jersey City. Warners' theatres are the Oritania, Hackensack; Ritz and Regent, Elizabeth, and Stanley, Jersey City.

After canceling the lease on the Pascack, Westwood, Skouras has signed a new rental agreement for the theatre under the name of Modern Playhouses, Inc. The circuit also operates the Westwood in this town, having acquired it some months ago from the Rosenblatt-Welt circuit. Skouras has also closed for the Cameo, Ossining, N. Y., making two for the outfit in this town. The other house is the Victoria.

Skouras late last week took over the Englewood, Englewood, N. J., on a 10-year lease from Walter Reade.

The Warner-Skouras pool has been on and off for the past three years and was finally consummated late last week.

Final details in the pooling arrangement between Skouras and Century in Long Island will be set Sept. 14. The original date was set for Sept. 7, but has been postponed a week by consent of attorneys.

Quiet on Loy Pact With H-M Pictures

The law firm of Chadbourne, Stanchfield & Levy, which represented Myrna Loy in her much publicized negotiations for a contract with Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, declined to comment yesterday on Miss Loy's return to the M-G-M studio on a contract said to involve the same terms as those of her former M-G-M pact. William Saxe, a member of the law firm, made himself unavailable to reporters and other persons in the law office professed to know nothing of the effect which Miss Loy's return to M-G-M would have on her publicized contract with Hecht and MacArthur.

THE PICTURE OF THE WEEK

Because it introduces to the screen charming young SYBIL JASON, 5-year-old singing, dancing, and acting sensation... because its story of a lovable youngster reforming a pair of champion chiselers will tug at every heart-string . . . because it features Glenda Farrell, Robert ('G-Men') Armstrong, Edward Everett Horton, all stars in their own right...Warner Bros.' "LITTLE BIG SHOT" is far and away the big shot among this week's screen fare. Directed by Michael Curtiz. Released September 7th.

Scale Boosts Not in Sight For Seattle

passed on to the patron as required by law.

The only local examples of changes occurred about two months ago at the Paramount and Orpheum. At that time it was agreed by Evergreen (F WC) and John Hamrick to abandon the 25 cent general admission after 1 p. m. The scale in those houses, now under merged joint operation, is 25 cents until one, 30 cents until 6 p. m. and 40 cents thereafter, instead of 25 and 35 cents as formerly.

A few scattered third and fourth runs often vary their prices five cents for matinees on big attractions, but this cannot be considered a trend toward either increase or decrease generally.

No Change in Columbus

Columbus, O., Sept. 4.—Prices at first runs will remain the same for the new season. They have not been reduced, except for the change when adding the three per cent sales tax instead of the previous 10 per cent admission tax.

Loew's Ohio and Broad, as well as the RKO Palace, charge 30 cents matinee with a scale of 30 to 42 cents evenings for balcony and lower floor. The RKO Majestic gets 25 cents in the afternoon with the evening tariff 25 and 30 cents balcony and lower floor, respectively. Scale for the RKO Grand, recently taken over by the circuit for opening next month, has not been determined.

Subsequent run houses, downtown, neighborhood and suburban, charge from 10 to 25 cents. These prices will be maintained. Exhibitors say it is all, and occasionally more, than the traffic will stand.

Canton in Status Quo

Canton, O., Sept. 4.—This city's three downtown first runs—Loew, Palace and Alhambra—will continue their 35 cent top scale through the fall and winter. There is no indication that admissions will be upped in any of the city's eight houses now in operation.

The 35 cent top agreement was reached by the management of the city's three major theatres several months ago and has been in effect throughout the summer. Afternoon admission is 25 cents.

The Mozart, Valentine and McKinley, second runs, are charging 15 cents nights and 10 in the afternoons. The Strand, downtown stand, playing duals, and the Windsor, a neighborhood house offering double features most of the week, are holding to a dime at all times. Children under 12 pay a dime at all theatres.

The Grand, oldest house here, is the only dark house at the present time, the situation being better than for several years.

"Salute" for St. Louis

M. & P. to Try Bank Night in Portland

Portland, Me., Sept. 4.—M. & P. Publix will spot bank night at the State, managed by Harlan Boucher, on Sept. 9. The scheme recently failed to click at the Empire.

M. & P.-Publix tried cash night, a cash giveaway of its own, in a number of its houses without much success. Bank night added headaches with a threatened suit for infringement of copyright. If bank night lines them up in Portland, it bids fair to be utilized over much of the circuit, which is at present going in big for dishware in many situations.

Papers in Mickey Tieup

One hundred and twenty-three newspapers in this country and Canada will take part in the celebration of Mickey Mouse's seventh birthday on Sept. 28 by running on that date a special comic strip devoted exclusively to the Walt Disney cartoon character. Manchuria's Film Imports Building

By H. TOMINAGA

Tokyo, Aug. 11.—Manchurian film imports and box-office receipts are on the increase, reports indicate. Since the Chinese Eastern Railway was taken over from the Russians by the Manchurian Government the Japanese population along the line has increased steadily. This is especially true of educated Japanese.

Audiences have shown marked gains during the past two years in Dairen, Mukden, Shintsing and Harbin, the rise amounting to about 20 per cent.

Popularity of film types is practically the same as in Japan—musicals with jazz songs and dance music. No Japanese films have been produced to fill this need, so all of the current supply is imported.

A widespread movement has started here for the study of films in universities and high schools. Some schools have introduced film study as a part of the literature courses. Weekly discussions are held.

In a recent vote taken by 300 students in Nippon University, a majority of whom take the film courses, the popularity ratings of foreign stars were given as follows: Jean Parker, 14; Marta Eggerth, eight; Greta Garbo, eight; Anna Sten, seven; Joan Crawford, seven; Loretta Young, six; Marie Bell, four; Lilian Harvey, four; Elisabeth Bergner, three; Shirley Temple, three; Angela Sallcker, two; Dorothea Weick, two; Francoise Rose, two; Fay Wray, two; Myrna Loy, two.

Milton Arthur, one of Harry's brothers on the coast, was served Monday. He leaves by plane for St. Louis on Sunday.

E. K. Hessberg and Robert W. Perkins of the Warner legal department also have been served and leave tomorrow for St. Louis.

cal and national exhibitor organization, circuit headquarters, the M. P. P. D. A. and various Federal trade practice bureaus at Washington. In addition, legal actions involving trade practices are becoming more and more common in local and Federal courts and numerous exhibitor groups are eying legislative bodies with a view to obtaining regulatory legislation, according to information received in New York.

Recent statistics compiled by the NRA at Washington revealed nearly 70 instances of abandonment of former code standards in this industry since the nullification of NRA codes last spring.

Industry and exhibitor leaders, spurred on by the increasing number of complaints and appeals for aid in restraining unlicensed trade practices, have been making an untiring search for a workable system of internal regulation, but have met with little success to date, it is said. The existing situation, however, is seen as emphasizing the need for adoption of an enforceable, yet voluntary, trade practice code, or a comparable form of regulatory machinery. Many industry sources see present conditions hastening the setting up of new arbitration and trade practice units, possibly on the foundations of the old Film Boards of Trade, this fall.

Although the Council on Trade Agreements listed the industry as one of 49 "engaged in drafting voluntary trade practice agreements" in a recent report, the industry's voluntary code committee which was formed last June following the passing of NRA admits that it has been unable to determine a legal basis for a voluntary code.

J. Robert Rubin, chairman of the committee, points out in Motion Picture Herald today that an effective industry code would have to avoid any semblance of concerted action in order to be legal and to receive the approval of the Federal Trade Commission. such a document would be very difficult to draft, he said, and added that any plan discussed up to now has inevitably come up against "the element of combination."

FitzPatrick Gets Talent

James A. FitzPatrick has just signed Mrs. Maria Grever, composer, to do an original score for "Oriental Paradise," which was filmed by Mrs. FitzPatrick in Japan. Rosario Bourdon will handle the orchestration. It will be cut to feature length.

Nathaniel Shilkret is doing a music score for "David Livingstone," another feature. Cameron Rogers did the script and scenes were made in Africa.

Hollywood, Sept. 4.—The "prop" building on the Paramount lot here was the scene of much excitement today when a fire broke out. Actors at work on nearby sets assisted firemen in extinguishing the blaze, which threatened the studio arsenal.

Texas Probes Film Problems of Frels

Dallas, Sept. 4.—Dwight L. Savage, special assistant to the attorney general, has had a group of branch managers at the office of George Wright, film companies' attorney, and has submitted to them a letter conveying a request for answers to questions on a prepared questionnaire.

Eighteen questions were asked, including a list of all releases for the seasons 1930-31 to 1935-36 inclusive; the names of all such pictures announced in advance; the ones that were not released; the ones that were delivered; the ones that were made available to Rubin Frels, Victoria theatre, Victoria, Texas, for first run exhibition, together with the prices paid; the same for second run, and both of the above questions for Frels' Uptown at Victoria. This series of questions numbered eight.

Beginning with question nine, the same information was desired with respect to Jefferson Amusement Co. and/or J. G. Long for each season of 1933-34, 1934-35 and 1935-36, for their Queen at Victoria, both first and second run, and the prices paid, and for the seasons 1930-31 to 1935-36 inclusive for their Rita at Victoria.

Questions 13 and 14 asked for a list of all other towns in Texas for which licenses were granted to Jefferson Amusement Co., or its subsidiary, East Texas Theatres, Inc., for either first or second run.

This investigation grew out of cases filed by Rubin Frels before the grievance board, complaining of his inability to obtain pictures. Frels has filed suit in a Texas court at Victoria, and is understood to have action in preparation for the Federal court.

Jefferson Amusement Co. has been in Victoria since the 1930-31 season, but beginning with the 1933-34 season transferred its holdings to J. G. Long, delivering to him completed film agreements at that time.

Missouri's Tokens Must Be Kept Clean

Kansas City, Sept. 4.—Missourians are not to have even the pleasure of wise-cracking in connection with the new sales tax, over which exhibitors and others have suffered a headache.

Forrest Smith, state auditor and collector of the tax, has issued a warning to merchants not to accept tokens bearing anything but the printed inscription.

The warning was prompted by wisecracks, advertising, etc., on the blank side of the tokens, a method Missourians have resorted to to vent their opinion of the sales tax law. One example of "defacing" is a picture of Tom Pendergast, local and state political boss, stamped on the tokens. "Vote G. O. P. get rid of the sales tax" is another form "defacement" has taken.

Smith termed the defacement fourth degree counterfeiting—whatever that is—punishable by five years' imprisonment. Any such tokens are accepted by dealers at their own risk, and they may not be redeemed at Smith's office.

In the out-of-town houses where admission prices are higher than in Kansas City, Dubinsky Brothers are attempting to get people in the habit of having the sales tax tokens ready with their admission.

Looking 'Em Over

"Seeing Hungary"

(Danubia)

In "Seeing Hungary," Hunnia of Budapest has turned out a first class travelogue that ought to be of wide appeal to American filmgoers who like this type of entertainment. The picture offers a comprehensive picture of life in Hungary. No phase of Hungarian life is left untouched.

The camera shows the nation at work and at play, records some of the folk tunes, takes the spectator into every nook and cranny throughout the width and breadth of the land of the Magyars. It is educational and entertaining at the same time.

The film has been fitted out with a musical score packed with lilting tunes and has been given the advantage of beautiful photography.

English subtitles are used.

No production code seal. Running time, 54 minutes. "G."

"Heart's Desire"

(Associated British Pictures)

London, Aug. 27.—Richard Tauber, star in A. B. P.'s "April Blossoms," has as many opportunities to sing and a part of a much more popular type in this new musical from the same studio. There is a happy blend of the ballad and operatic elements in his solo efforts, story values are popular and modern and settings and sound are both good.

The comparatively simple story, of a Viennese beer garden singer who becomes an opera star but, jilted, returns to Vienna and his first sweetheart, enables Tauber to go through his repertoire against well varied backgrounds. His magnificent voice should bring in all his admirers and the support in both comedy and serious roles is generally good. Paul Graetz is outstanding as the singer's manager.

The musical appeal is definitely presented in a more popular form than in "April Blossoms," the film to which this can be most fairly compared.

Running time, 87 minutes. "G." ALLAN.

Install Aids for Deaf

Tampa, Sept. 3.—The Tampa has equipped two full rows of seats with hookups for head sets for deaf people at a cost of $550. The theatre will have a number of head phone sets to lend people who haven't any.

Audio Finishing Two

Audio Prod. is completing two Musical Moods tentatively called "Winter" and "Spring," with Edwin E. Ludig doing the musical direction and scores. Much of the footage was shot recently by Charles L. Glett on a transcontinental tour.

Two Titles Changed

Hollywood, Sept. 4.—Universal has changed "The Hangover Murders" to "Remember Last Night?" At the same time RKO, fearing that "In Person" might be misleading over a marquee, has canceled that as the title of Ginger Rogers' next picture and is seeking a new one.

Stage Shows for Omaha

Omaha, Sept. 4.—Competition has taken a new turn. L. L. Dent has added stage shows at the Varsity on a full week basis to compete with J. H. Cooper's vaudeville-film combination at the Orpheum.

Start Razing Old Hollis

Boston, Sept. 4.—Almost on its 50th anniversary to a day, razing the old Hollis Street Theatre has begun. The space, it is said, will be used as a parking lot for the Metropolitan.

Marta Eggerth Feted

Marta Eggerth, Universal's latest importation, was feted at a cocktail party yesterday at the Hotel Pierre. A large crowd was there to wish her welcome.

Among those on hand were Frank Nugent of the New York Times, Martin Dickstein of the Brooklyn Times, Madge Evans, C. Halliwell Duell, Robert Hurat, Dorothy Day, Dr. Reiss of the Staats-Zeitung, Dorothy Dunbar, Florence Strauss, Leah Salisbury, Leila Bauer, Bland Gregory, Alice Schupper, Stephan Bosch, Ramon Romero and Morris Kinzler.

The Hungarian actress, who arrived on the Normandie Monday, leaves Saturday with her mother for the Universal studios.

Close Englewood Houses

Englewood, N. J., Sept. 4.—The two local houses have been closed by order of Dr. John H. Irwin, city physician, in an effort to limit the spread of infantile paralysis. Gatherings of all sorts, including political rallies, have been called off. It is possible that the Sept. 11 school opening will be delayed.

No Mayberry Successor

Hollywood, Sept. 4.—Max Arnow head of Warners' casting department, will not replace William Mayberry, his assistant, who resigned to go to Twentieth Century-Fox. Russel Trost and Irving Kunan, who have been in the casting office for some years, will divide Mayberry's duties between them.

Ticket Tax Sponsor Resigns in Ontario

Toronto, Sept. 4.—The father of the Amusements Tax is out. J. T. White, assistant treasurer of the Ontario Government, has been permitted to resign from his post because of "ill health" and this is said to be the first of a number of resignations which will take place because of dissatisfaction of Premier M. F. Hepburn over the provincial amusements tax situation.

It was the Province of Ontario which created the first "ticket tax" anywhere, this having been an emergency measure during the war to raise further public funds, and J. T. White was credited with being the author of the idea which was later adopted by other provinces and countries. Eventually, the so-called war tax became a permanent institution.

The heavy tax increases in Ontario, starting last June, quickly brought more revenue to the province than Premier Hepburn had intended and as a result of the great outcry by theatres and amusement patrons the Government has been placed in an embarrassing position, it has been stated.

Mississippi Has Hopes

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 4.—Possibilities of obtaining a repeal or modification of the Mississippi 12 per cent admission tax are envisioned by state exhibitors as a result of the nomination of Hugh L. White for governor at this week's primaries. Nomination in this state is tantamount to election.

White has been friendly to the theatre industry and was aided in his campaign by 80 per cent of the exhibitors, all of whom made their screens available to White and his campaign workers. His defeated opponent, Percy Johnston, attacked films in his campaign speeches and flatly asserted that he would maintain the 12 per cent admission tax if elected.

I. B. E. W. in a Deal With Independents

Los Angeles, Sept. 4.—The I.B.E.W. has drawn up a basic working agreement with independent studios for sound men, according to organization officials. Five independents have signed the agreement, which puts the sound craft on a new wage scale. Heretofore, the I.B.E.W. had a verbal agreement with independents with no contract.

From inside sources it is reported a splitup in I.B.E.W. membership is impending due to the trial of members now being conducted for alleged affiliation with the N.A.C.C. According to reports, I.B.E.W. members having no affiliation with the N.A.C.C. have received notices to appear before the trial board.

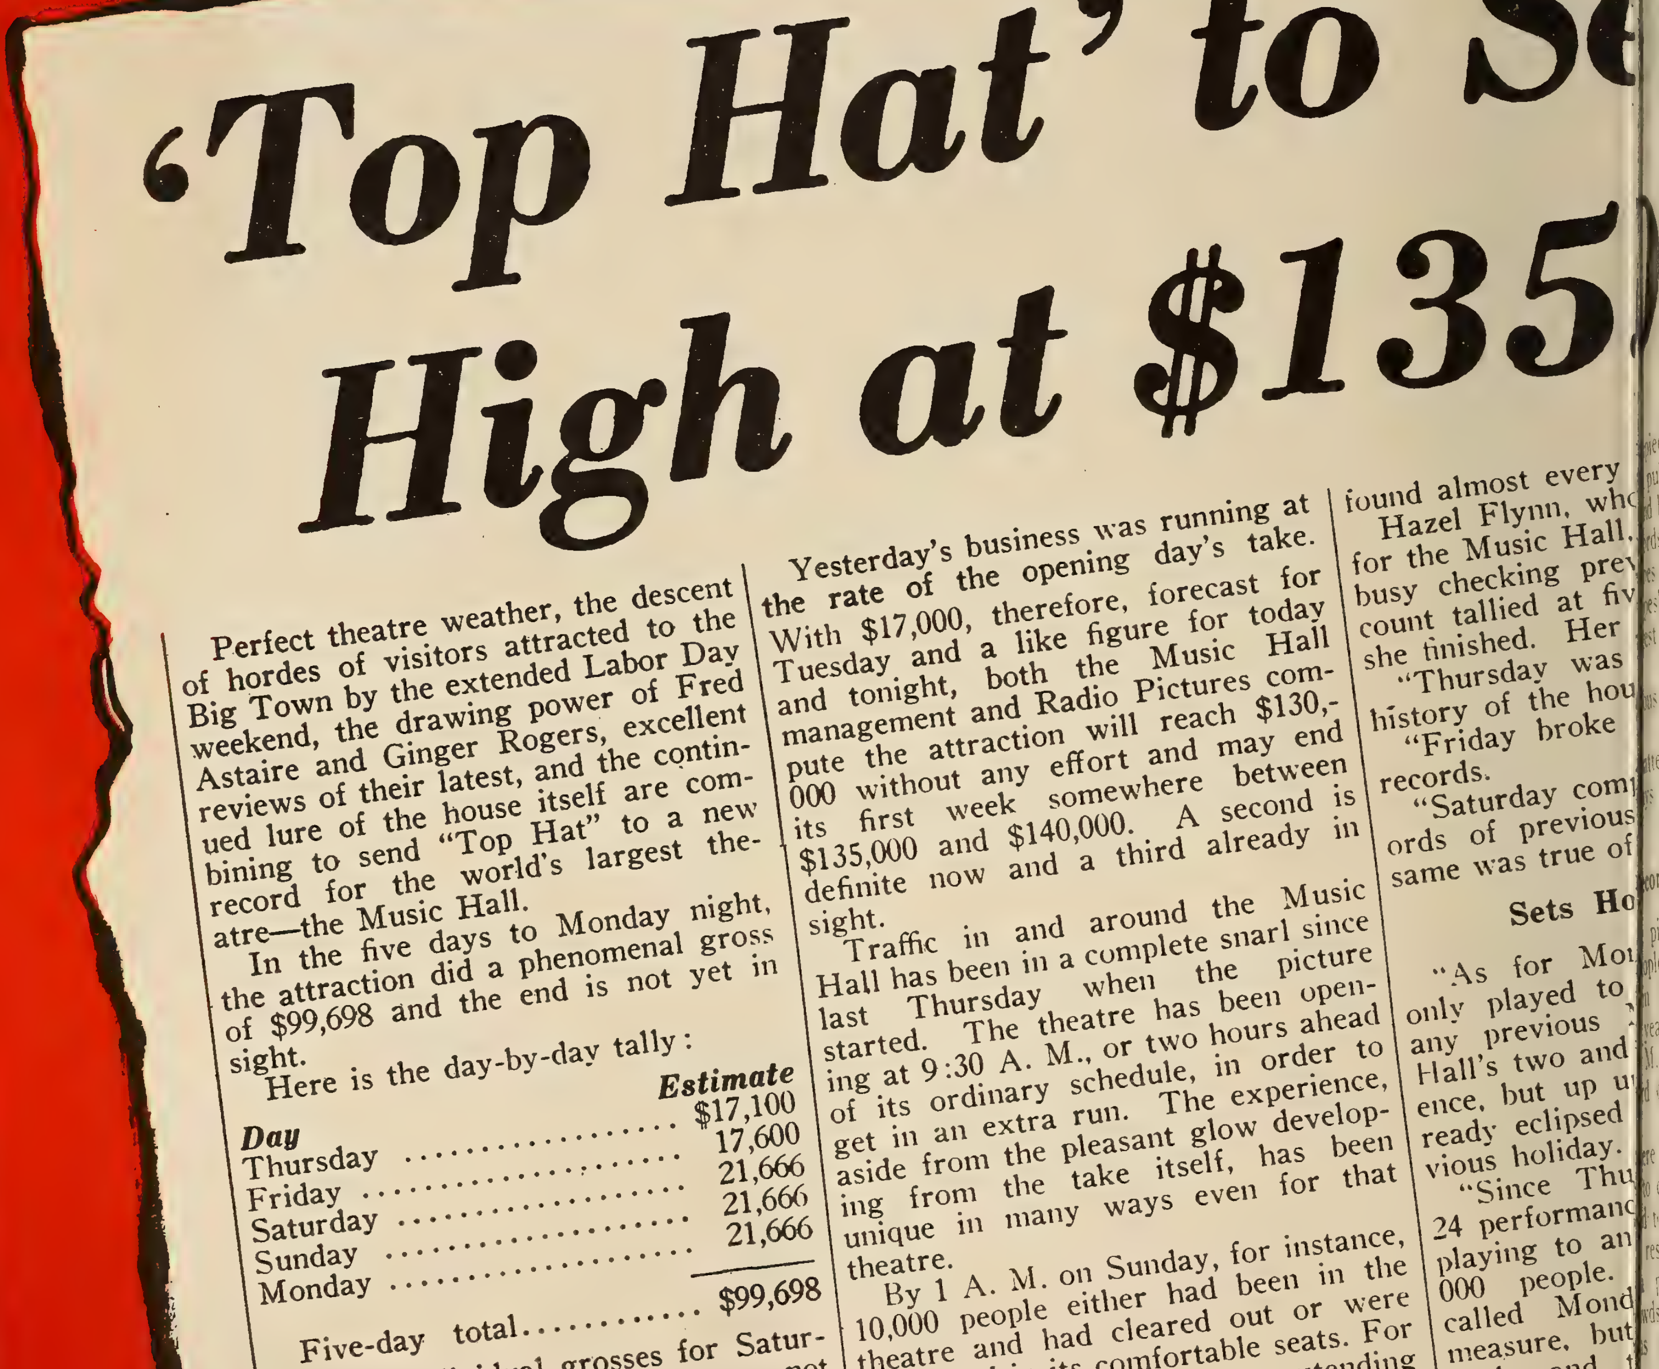
Hearings started last night with the schedule calling for two members to appear before the trial board each night over a period of a month.

Curtis in Montreal Job

Montreal, Sept. 4.—Gene Curtis, recently at the headquarters in Toronto of Famous Players Canadian Corp., has been appointed manager of Loew's Theatre, Montreal, which has reopened after a summer's darkness. He succeeds James Adams, who is now in Regina, Sask., after a long sojourn at the big Montreal house.

DID YOU SEE

MOTIO
DA



'Top Hat' to Se High at $135

Perfect theatre weather, the descent of hordes of visitors attracted to the Big Town by the extended Labor Day weekend, the drawing power of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, excellent reviews of their latest, and the continued lure of the house itself are combining to send "Top Hat" to a new record for the world's largest theatre—the Music Hall.

In the five days to Monday night, the attraction did a phenomenal gross of $99,698 and the end is not yet in sight.

Here is the day-by-day tally:

Day	Estimate
Thursday	$17,100
Friday	17,600
Saturday	21,666
Sunday	21,666
Monday	21,666
Five-day total	$99,698

While individual grosses for Saturday, Sunday and Monday were not available last night, the three-day combination bulked $65,000. By 2 P. M. yesterday and despite the rain, the theatre was packed to the doors and a line waited along the 50th St. side of the house.

Yesterday's business was running at the rate of the opening day's take. With $17,000, therefore, forecast for Tuesday and a like figure for today and tonight, both the Music Hall management and Radio Pictures compute the attraction will reach $130,000 without any effort and may end its first week somewhere between $135,000 and $140,000. A second is definite now and a third already in sight.

Traffic in and around the Music Hall has been in a complete snarl since last Thursday when the picture started. The theatre has been opening at 9:30 A. M., or two hours ahead of its ordinary schedule, in order to get in an extra run. The experience, aside from the pleasant glow developing from the take itself, has been unique in many ways even for that theatre.

By 1 A. M. on Sunday, for instance, 10,000 people either had been in the theatre and had cleared out or were ensconced in its comfortable seats. For instance again, the line extending along the 50th St. side of the house has been the object of a massed attack, the eager patrons fighting not to get into the theatre itself on several occasions, but merely for a place inside the waiting line. An extra show at Saturday midnight, incidentally, found almost every

"Top Hat" definitely will reach $130,000 by Wednesday night when its first week closes. Disregarding the anticipated $135,000 to $140,000 gross as a figure which perhaps may not be reached and computing comparison on the basis of a $130,000 take, the Astaire-Rogers picture will outdistance "Little Minister," its closest competitor, by $20,000. The Hepburn picture played New Year's Week, had a midnight performance on New Year's Eve and grossed $110,000 for the week ending Jan. 2, 1935.

"Little Women," another Hepburn, now is about to slide into third position. That picture, in its first week of three, did $109,000 the week ending Nov. 22, 1933.

Fourth will now go to the first week of "Cavalcade," which for the seven days terminating April 12, 1933, garnered $107,761.

Other $100,000-and-over grossers at the Music Hall since the inception of its straight picture and presentation policy follow:

"Cavalcade," second week ending April 19, 1933—$105,986.

"One Night of Love," first week ending Sept. 12, 1934—$104,120.

Same picture second week ending Sept. 19, 1934—$103,793.

"One Man's Journey," week ending Sept. 6, 1933—$103,064.

"Private Life of Henry VIII," week ending Oct. 18, 1933—$103,000.

"Nana," week ending Feb. 7, 1934—$103,000.

Heading for a record at the world's largest theatre.

In five days—Thursday and over the Labor Day weekend up to and including Monday night—this attraction grossed $99,698 and is sky-rocketing toward the tops for the Music Hall. Anticipation last night was the picture will end at somewhere between $135,000 and $140,000.

"Cardinal Richelieu," week ending April 24, 1935—$103,000.

"Little Women," third week ending Dec. 6, 1933—$102,000.

"Morning Glory," week ending Aug. 23, 1933—$101,249.

"Topaze," week ending Feb. 15, 1933—$100,956.

"Love Me Forever," week ending July 3, 1935—$100,019.

"We Live Again," week ending Nov. 7, 1934—$100,000.

"Broadway Bill," week ending Dec. 5, 1934—$100,000.

"Seas" Pulls Seattle Lead In Holdover

SEATTLE, Sept. 4.—"China Seas," on an extended run from the Fifth Avenue at the Blue Mouse, made the best showing of the week by getting $4,800, and was held for a third week.

All other first runs were below normal. "The Girl Friend" and "The Black Room" failed to make much of an impression at the Liberty with a take of $3,900. Both were from Columbia.

Total first run business was $27,750. Average is $30,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending Aug. 30:

"Jalna" combined with "Town Hall Tonight" amateur winners disappointed at the Brown, the gross not going over $2,500. All other first runs had rather rough going, with the paralysis situation still serious. The loss of juvenile trade has put a decided crimp in grosses the past few weeks.

"Steamboat 'Round the Bend" was put in to fill, and is playing currently. "Manhattan Moon" turned in $1,950 at the Strand, an overage of $450, but a beauty contest and amateur night helped. The other spots, although satisfactory, failed to get into high territory.

RKO Boston Drops Duals

Denver Stock Winds Up

DENVER, Sept. 4.—Elitch stock finished an 11-week season with "Ah, Wilderness," which did 25 per cent more business than anything else this year. Business for the year was 10 per cent ahead of last year. The theatre was tough competition for film houses. This is indicated by the fact that the cheaper seats in the balcony were sellouts every night.

Theatre Remodeling Swings Into High in Local Area

Realty Co. Modernistic architecture will be used on the new theatre, which will seat 1,200.

Fox recently spent $75,000 in rebuilding the Babcock, Billings, Mont. The old one burned. During the past summer the Lotus, at Sheridan, Wyo., has been rebuilt.

The redecorating and remodeling of the Kiva, Durango, Colo., is also being planned by Fox. Acoustical plaster and new signs will be among the improvements.

St. Louis Jobs Rushed

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 4. — Repair, redecoration and reconstruction work in theatres in this territory are now going ahead at full steam and all the houses will be ready by the beginning of the fall season.

At Highland, Ill., reconstruction of Herbert Lowry's Opera House is expected to be finished about Sept. 15 and the house will reopen shortly after. A. B. Jeffries has completed work on his house at Piedmont, Mo., and will open soon.

Redecorating is now going on at the Star, Quincy, Ill.; the Avon Theatre, Decatur, Ill.; the Jackson, Cairo, Ill.; the Playhouse, Centralia, Ill.; the Grand, Hillsboro, Ill., and the Ritz, Arcola, Ill.

Take Portland Theatre

PORTLAND, Sept. 4.—The Taylor St. Theatres Co. has been incorporated, with J. R. Ellison president and treasurer, and Phil H. Carlin as general manager and vice-president. Phil Carlin has for many years operated the Bluebird here, and later opened the Lincoln and Star. These three will continue to be operated by Carlin in connection with the Taylor St. Theatre.

Another for Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—A second theatre in the Lee Road section is to be built. Paul Gusdanovic, P. E. Essick and Howard Reif, in association with others, have acquired a site on the north side of Kinsman Road for a 1,700-seat house, offices above and a grill room beneath. Estimated cost is $280,000. Plans were made by John H. Graham, architect, and contract for construction has been awarded to the J. L. Hunting Co. The building will be completed early in 1936.

Earlier in the week it was announced Myer Fine, Sam Stecker and associates would build a $200,000 theatre and office building opposite the one announced by Gusdanovic. Work on the Fine house has started.

RKO has a sign on property in the immediate vicinity of these two prospective houses, announcing construction of still another theatre, but it does not seem probable that in a small residence suburb three houses will all be built at the same time.

To Remodel at Seattle

SEATTLE, Sept. 4.—The Neptune, second house in Evergreen's University district setup, has been closed for remodeling. Improvement of sound installation, projection and other technical apparatus will be made, in addition to decorating and refurnishing. No definite reopening date has been set, but it is expected to be prior to Oct. 1.

UNIVERSAL'S 'DIAMOND JIM' IS AN EARTHQUAKE!

'Jim' Sets 5-Yr. Attendance, 3-Yr. Gross High at Roxy

Chalking up the best attendance record in five years and the highest gross in almost three years, exactly 133,507 patrons paid $47,000 to see "Diamond Jim" for the week ending Thursday night at the Roxy.

Topping this intake was "Call Her Savage," which played to the tune of $58,000 for the week ending Dec. 1, 1932. Clara Bow made a personal appearance that week and admissions were scaled at 35 cents to $1.10 in comparison with the current 25-55 cents.

Under the present scale, "Diamond Jim" tops all past attractions. "Imitation of Life," which garnered $44,000 for the week ending Nov. 29, 1934, is second to it.

Next in line is "Invisible Man," which did $42,500 for the seven-day period ending Nov. 23, 1933. This gives Universal the first three ratings for high grosses under current box-office conditions. "The Bride of Frankenstein" also was in the big money class at the Roxy. It got $38,000 for the stanza ending May 16, last.

"Universals are the money making pictures for the Roxy," an executive of the theatre stated yesterday.

South to Keep Its Prices at Current Level

Jumps Regarded as Not Feasible at Present

This is the sixth instalment in a national survey on the trend in admission prices.

Atlanta, Sept. 5.—Admissions in this territory, covering Georgia, Florida, East Tennessee and North Alabama have not been increased nor has there been any effort made to that end. The average tariff is 40 cents at night even when vaudeville or musical shows are also on the program; 25 and 30 cents at matiness and 10 cents for children at all times. Practically all suburban houses have an invariable 10 and 15-cent admission, a few exceptions being 10 and 20 cents where there is no nearby opposition.

Not since 1929 has there even been

Row Stirring Over British Booking Moves

KRS Pressure Against Combines Irks CEA

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, Sept. 5.—Controversy confronts the British industry on the heels of increasing stringency on the part of the Kinematograph Renters' Society (distributors) against booking combines.

A stiffening of the attitude of the K.R.S. is evidenced by a new decision binding its members to book only to individuals or groups exercising voting and financial control of theatres where previously the organization had only asked for proof of a substantial interest in such properties.

The Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n is reported seeking legal advice

Warners to Produce "Life of Beethoven"

Hollywood, Sept. 5.—Warners will produce "Life of Beethoven," based on the career of the famous composer, in line with the belief of Jack L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production, that there is a definite demand for "more worthwhile films." It is planned to make the picture on the same elaborate scale as "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

$131,200

"Top Hat" grossed $131,200 in its first week, ending Wednesday night, at the Music Hall and gave that house a new high by a comfortable margin of approximately $21,000.

The anticipated $135,000 to $140,000 take faded late on the seventh day when continued rain cut into Wednesday night receipts.

Early Action On Regulation Is Predicted

Proposals for governing injurious trade practices and regulating cutthroat competition are certain to be considered at the first fall meeting of the M.P.P.D.A. board following the return from the coast of Will H. Hays within the next 10 days or two weeks, industry executives predicted yesterday.

Whether or not definite programs believed to hold a solution for the widely complained of trade practices have been evolved could not be learned, but it was stated on many sides that current competitive practices rampant in exhibition have reached proportions that demand attention from the industry's leaders. Predictions were made that with the submission to the M.P.P.D.A. board of reports on existing conditions and the effects they are having both inside and outside the industry, the situation might be shown to warrant the

Also Elected to Board: Guthrie Gets Post

Hollywood, Sept. 5.—Alexander Korda today became a fifth owner-producer of United Artists, uniting American and British studios for the first time in the industry's history. Korda also was elected a member of the board.

Following signing of the contract, Sir Connop Guthrie, chairman of London Films' board of directors, here with Korda, was elected a member of the U. A. executive committee. The contract specifies Korda becomes an equal member with Mary Pickford, Charles Chaplin, Samuel Goldwyn and Douglas Fairbanks. Korda will produce six pictures during the year, four of which will be made in England, aiming at the international market.

Korda said talent would be exchanged between the studios here and abroad. He intimated certain films not in the announced program might

Briskin Resigns from Columbia Studio Post

Hollywood, Sept. 5.—Confirming reports current for some time, Sam Briskin, studio manager of Columbia, last night resigned that post, effective Oct. 15. He gave as his reason the fact that he couldn't get together with Harry Cohn on a new deal due to alleged financial trouble involving a stock transfer which allegedly never materialized.

Briskin is deciding among several offers tendered him by major studios. He plans a vacation after a new deal is set with another company.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

THE extent of the commercial blow which Fox experienced by the death of Will Rogers becomes significant in the light of the following scattered facts:

"Judge Priest" grossed $1,400,000.

Rogers negatives were always thoroughly, but cheaply made, averaging somewhere between $300,000 low and $500,000 maximum. This, largely because Rogers worked fast.

The company never went into the red on any of his features.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars in other film on the program were sold because exhibitors had to take them all to get Rogers. As is always the case in all major lineups, a strong attraction constantly bolstered the also-rans.

Exactly what the loss to exhibitors will be is, of course, beyond calculation. There simply is no way of figuring it out. Will, under the deal signed and announced the day before he died, was to make three pictures a year for three years and would have earned $1,000,000 if the contract, calling for ten pictures, had been lived out. It is understood his salary was to be stepped up from the former $100,000 per negative figure to $125,000; that he was to get full payment under the contract by the time the eighth picture was completed and then make the final two without salary.

Fox, which had been making four Rogers a season, was set to cut to three for 1935-36. "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" and "In Old Kentucky" were to be the first of the year's trio.

One calculation maintains Rogers' passing will cost Fox $10,000,000, this amount being computed on the basis of the new ten picture deal.

Only a few days before the crash, an exhibitor had complained to John D. Clark over the proposed slash from four to three this season. Clark is said to have replied:

"If Will doesn't stop flying around in those 'planes you'll be lucky if you get the three."

Resting in the Fox files today are many indications from exhibitors that they are in accord with the company's decision not to capitalize on Rogers reissues. There is one, by way of example, from Robert H. Poole, general manager of the I.T.O. of Southern California, and another from W. Harmon Reed, president of the Alexandria (Va.) Amusement Corp. "The sentiments expressed in these letters have been verbally expressed by many exhibitors through the United States," says Clark about them. . . .

John W. Davis, one-time Democratic nominee for the presidency, prominent lawyer and legal spokesman before the United States Supreme Court for unsuccessful distributors who fought the Thacher decree outlawing compulsory arbitration some years ago is again in the film business. That is to say, he is in that he is understood to have been retained by that producer, famed throughout the length and breadth of the business, who is disgruntled with his present affiliation and seeks an out from his present contract. They say it's a rather ironclad contract. They say further there may be no out except the release which comes when the expiration date arrives. That's some time off. . . .

Short of its excitable forecast but, at $131,200, one helluva gross, "Top Hat" rounded its first week Wednesday night with the Music Hall's blue ribbon flying jauntily from its brim. It's the money tally that counts, but the statistical picture is intriguing on another point as well. Courtesy of Radio, it appears 197,211 men, women and children jammed their way into the house in those seven days, or an average of 28,173 per day. There are innumerable cities and towns in these United States whose total population is less. . . .

Dave will not talk beyond declaring the story, officially bedecked with official seals will emanate from Hollywood in about ten days. However, the financing which is to make Selznick's own company go 'round, as this space informed some days back, will come from Jock, last name Whitney. He and Sonny will be two of the directors; Dave will have two, and a banker well known in this business will be the balance wheel. . . .

Sol Wurtzel's new deal with Twentieth Century-Fox sends him out of that phantom company talked about on the coast in which other partners presumably were to be Irving Thalberg, Winnie Sheehan and Hunt Stromberg. Thalberg has denied any such plans, the Loew boys have gone ditto, Sheehan adheres to his published statement about a new connection after he returns from Salzburg and the Continent. Only Stromberg has had nothing to so say for himself. . . .

Korda Named 5th Producer Owner in U.A.

be made for the English market only. Korda and Guthrie plan to fly to New York on Saturday.

Verifying statements made in the east, Korda said today he was not interested in raiding American studios for talent and that he had all he needed. He emphasized the fact that he will build his own talent roster and expected American studios to do the same.

Stephen Pallos, commercial manager for London Films, and Maurice Silverstone, chairman of the U. A. board in England, will accompany Korda and Guthrie east.

When Alexander Korda was interviewed on his recent arrival from England, he said he would like to buy an interest in U. A., but didn't know who was willing to sell his or her share in the company. In the same interview, published in MOTION PICTURE DAILY on Aug. 28, Korda denied reports he was seeking an interest in the company, declaring such rumors "false."

Korda recently organized Denham Studios, Inc., which is building a new British studio to contain five stages.

Al Lichtman, president of U. A., had planned to leave for Hollywood early next week, but it is now believed this trip will be unnecessary. Nathan Burkan, counsel for U. A., sat in on the directors' meeting on the coast and will return with the party on Sunday.

The U. A.-Korda hook-up definitely sets at rest reports that the British producer would tie up with Twentieth Century-Fox.

"THE STAYING POWER OF THIS PICTURE IS PHENOMENAL!"

ROXY THEATRE, N. Y. DATE: 9-4-35

TO: MR. HOWARD S. CULLMAN
MR. HARRY ARTHUR

FROM: MR. IRVING LESSER

It might be interesting to you to note that the records disclose the five days of the second week of "Diamond Jim" exceed the the first five days of the picture.

Receipts to date on the second week are $36,870.95. The first five days of the first week totaled $36,319.00 so the second week shows a gain over the first week of $551.95. The staying power of this picture is phenomenal.

In attendance, the second week to date shows that we have shown to 106,390 people or 2,273 more people on the second week than on the first week. It is rather interesting to note the totals in five days of each week.

The first five days of this week total 106,390 people.
The first five days of last week totaled 104,117 people.
The total attendance for twelve days is 239,897.

an effort made to hike prices on specials, with the exception of "Dinner at Eight" and a few other pictures of like type which played at roadshow prices in legitimate theatres in the territory.

Well-posted theatrical men in this section do not think a hike in admissions at this time is practicable.

No New Orleans Shift

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 5.—A careful survey locally and throughout the immediate territory indicates there will be no advance in admissions this season. Suburbans say it is difficult to obtain present prices and for that reason are compelled to rely on prizes, both cash and otherwise.

The St. Charles which has been operating on a 10 and 20-cent basis during the summer reverts back to the old scale of 16 and 26 cents with the opening of the regular season. It is a foregone conclusion that neighborhood houses will remain stationary as far as prices are concerned, although they may double bill or add additional come-ons.

Downtown houses will remain as is during the winter unless unforeseen conditions arise.

union, could not accompany the committee because his attendance was required last night at another meeting with circuit representatives on a basic wage scale. Negotiations between the two factions are reported continuing smoothly, but apparently neither side is getting anywhere. The circuits are demanding a top of $1.60 while the union is seeking a maximum of $2 an hour.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Although George E. Browne and Louis Krouse could not be reached, the I.A.T.S.E. headquarters today stated no meeting was being held today on the New York situation.

"Dark Angel" Opens

"The Dark Angel" had its world premiere at the Rivoli last night before a large audience. Among those attending were: Helen Vinson, Fred Perry, Dr. A. H. Giannini, Sir Gerald Campbell, Lillian Hellman, June Knight, Dorothy Mackaill, Burns and Allen, Mae Murray and Phil Baker.

Early Action On Regulation Is Predicted

calling of a general industry mass-meeting to devise voluntary codes for all branches or to consider other forms of possible regulatory measures.

A flood of complaints from aggrieved exhibitors in all sections of the country to outside official agencies as well as to industry authorities is viewed apprehensively by many responsible executives. All are directed at the rapidly spreading trade practices which tend to reduce admissions and cheapen theatre fare. Many industry observers see in these practices a dissipation of exhibition's finest chance to stage financial gains since 1930. With theatre attendance rapidly reaching levels unknown since boom years all over the country, and with new season product of strong box-office potentialities ready for release, observers view these advantages as being wasted or discounted by the prevailing trade practices.

Delay "China Seas" Case

Dispute between the Gotham and M-G-M over booking of "China Seas" into the Dorset will be argued in the New York Supreme Court on Sept. 20, it was stated yesterday by Milton C. Weisman, attorney for the Gotham.

A motion for a stay of the Dorset booking was scheduled for yesterday before Judge Steuer, but inasmuch as M-G-M promised not to release the picture until Sept. 28, it was agreed to put the case over.

The Gotham claims prior right to the picture on a 1934-35 contract and alleges M-G-M wants to give the film to the Dorset first under a 1935-36 agreement.

secretary, Eugene J. Zukor and Edward Brown, assistant treasurers; Frank Meyer and Cokell, assistant secretaries.

The Broadway company's application for listing of its new $8,875,000 issue of first mortgage sinking fund loan certificates, due Feb. 15, 1955, was granted yesterday by the Stock Exchange. The certificates, which are guaranteed by the parent company, Paramount Pictures, Inc., are being issued to holders of $8,875,000 of original certificates of the company, in exchange.

The 1935 assessed valuation of the Paramount Bldg. site is $6,000,000, and of the building itself, $5,600,000. The consolidated balance sheet of the Broadway company, as of June 30, last, shows assets of $14,018,040, of which $446,927 is in accounts receivable from the parent and affiliated companies. A deficit of $1,155,646 at June 30, last, is reported.

Terms of Reorganization

Under the terms of Broadway's reorganization it will lease to Paramount Pictures to Feb. 15, 1955, the entire building with certain reservations. Rent from Feb. 15, 1935, to Feb. 15, 1945, is to be $188,147 per year, and thereafter to the termination of the lease at a yearly rental to be fixed by appraisers. The theatre is leased to Hercules Theatre Corp., a Paramount subsidiary, at $260,000 for the first year and a minimum of $200,000 plus percentages of the house's gross above certain figures for the succeeding years.

The Stock Exchange yesterday suspended from dealings the old Paramount Publix 20-year, 5½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds due Aug. 1, 1950, and certificates of deposit for the issue, and also Paramount-Famous-Lasky 20-year, 6 per cent sinking fund gold bonds and certificates of deposit due Dec. 1, 1947.

Court to Rule on Pathe Examination compelling them to produce all records, account books and agreements at the time of examination.

This is an action in discovery and inspection to determine the assets and all of the business transactions of Pathe Exchange, Inc. The petition for examination before trial lists 40 distinct items regarding which Casey desires to examine Kolbe and Atkins. Casey's affidavit explains that the examinations are sought to show that Robert R. Young dominated and controlled Stuart W. Webb and Frank F. Kolbe during the time each occupied the official position of director and president of the defendant corporation; to show that Robert R. Young was in command of the defendant corporation and constantly supervised and directed its program and policies; that at the same time Young held an obscure official position in the management of the corporation; to show that during 1933, 1934 and 1935 and a considerable period of time prior thereto, the defendant acted under the direction of Young and conspired with Young to the extent of causing waste of the defendant's assets, violating their duties and wrongfully suffering acts to be done in such a manner as to result in the squandering of the defendant corporation's assets. Among some of the items cited by Casey leading to the alleged squandering of the assets of the defendant corporation, he listed the borrowing of $2,000,000 from the Bankers Trust Company in behalf of the defendant corporation and also pledging as collateral security for the Bankers Trust Company loan the 49 per cent stock interest of the Dupont Film Mfg. Corp. owned by Pathe Exchange, Inc. Casey further alleged that the defendant failed to reveal to the stockholders the true financial condition of Pathe Exchange, Inc., at the meeting on March 4, 1935.

Row Stirring Over British Booking Moves

with a view to a possible test action along lines of alleged conspiracy in restraint of trade or for an application to the Government for legislation to hold distributors in check.

Following a meeting on Tuesday, the K.R.S. tonight issued this statement:

"Where an exhibitor, a company or individual or booking agent undertakes bookings for another exhibitor, this will be considered a booking combine and in contravention of the society's policy unless the exhibitor or booking agent has acquired a majority control in the financial and voting of share capital of the company holding the cinema."

The statement added that other circumstances may be considered as constituting a booking combine and that the K.R.S. reserves to itself the right to examine any case complying with the above requirements but in which "the share capital of the company controlling the cinema is nominal or the management and operation of the cinema is in the hands of one exhibitor and the booking in the hands of another exhibitor or agent."

If universally applied, this stand will invalidate several booking arrangements of many years' standing, including perhaps one Scottish circuit of over 40 houses.

Paramount Situation Up

The particular attention which appears to be directed toward Paramount on the buying situation is understood to have developed over a reputed hookup between the company and Reed Theatres, Ltd. Both companies share the same offices and Paramount officials are associated with Reed, which is a recent amalgamation of a number of separate theatre corporations controlling 12 houses. A. H. Reed says he merely books stage acts through Paramount.

The K.R.S., it was also learned, is scrutinizing the G.B. purchase of three of the H. & G. theatres in various London suburbs, the understanding being that, insofar as the K.R.S. and its policy are concerned, the purchase is not yet considered bona fide. Unless further investigation demonstrates otherwise, distributors will not permit Gaumont to book these houses.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Cappy Ricks Returns"

(Republic)

Hollywood, Sept. 5.—Robert McWade builds sympathetic interest for Cappy in this picture, which rates as good average entertainment.

Recalled from retirement when his hated business rival, Oscar Apfel, has his assistants, Lucien Littlefield and Kenneth Harlan, in a spot, McWade, with the aid of Ray Walker, soon has the situation in hand. Apfel has jammed a bill through the legislature making McWade's shingle roofing illegal. With the time element against them, McWade and Walker rush through a referendum repealing the bill while constantly fighting thugs, hired by Bradley Page, who destroy voters' signatures. Florine McKinney, as Apfel's daughter, first aids her father but switches when her romance with Walker develops.

George Waggner, who adapted the Peter B. Kyne story, makes every dialogue line count for the advancement of the plot and Mack Wright's direction keeps the action moving rapidly. Comedy is plentifully provided by McWade's temper and by one sequence which features "Man Mountain" Dean.

The production by Trem Carr is creditable from every angle and Harry Neumann's photography is good.

The picture should please.

No production code seal. Running time, 67 minutes. "G."

RCA Sales, Service Forces End Meeting

Camden, Sept. 5.—Sales and service representatives of RCA Photophone completed a two-day meeting here today. Approximately 100 from both divisions attended. E. M. Hartley, sales manager of RCA, presided, with Edward Auger, his assistant, also in the chair. E. T. Cunningham, president of RCA Manufacturing Co., of which Photophone is a division, greeted the delegates.

F. B. Ostman told the meeting that the company's service contracts were more than double this time last year. Richard Turner explained the entrance of the company into the Trans-Lux rear projection and Sonotone hard-of-hearing fields. The rear projection equipment is being leased, the Sonotone sold. A demonstration of the newly developed push-pull method of recording, designed to eliminate noise, was held. Thomas F. Joyce spoke on company advertising. Representatives of allied departments discussed the work of their divisions. A dinner was held at the Tavistock Country Club, concluding yesterday's session.

Burlesque Theatres Closed by a Strike

Burlesque performers are on strike in New York and a number of other cities—Paterson, Baltimore, Boston, Union City and Washington—and the theatres are dark. Houses affected here are the Apollo, Republic, Eltinge, W. Second St.; People's, on the Bowery; Gotham, on West 125th St., and the Irving Place.

The walkout was called by the Burlesque Artists' Ass'n, an affiliate of Actors' Equity and the A. F. of L. Herbert K. Minsky, president of the Eastern Burlesque Managers' Ass'n, says the strikers refused arbitration. Thomas J. Phillips, union spokesman, says the performers wanted a return to the NRA guarantee of a day off in every 14, $22.50 minimum for the girls in stock and $25 on the road.

Jersey Allied Men Talk Issues Today

Allied of New Jersey's board of directors, nominating committee and officers will meet today with Sidney Samuelson to discuss administrative matters and leftover business from the Atlantic City convention.

One of the topics expected to come up is the presidency. Samuelson has refused to continue in this post unless the organization gets down to business and keeps on its toes. The shore convention was adjourned two months to give the various committees sufficient time to show their support to the president.

Juggle Chicago Bookings

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Unable to get Joe E. Brown here to appear in person with the showing of "Bright Lights," Balaban & Katz juggled bookings and "Page Miss Glory" opened at the Chicago today. There was a heavy newspaper campaign in the Hearst paper.

"Anna Karenina" follows "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" into the Roosevelt as a result of the changes and "Dark Angel" goes into the United Artists after an extended run of "China Seas."

Without Stage Shows

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—The Earle and Fox begin their second week tomorrow without stage shows, as musicians and managers are still unable to reach an agreement. The first week has brought good grosses to both houses because of the wet Labor Day, which kept crowds in the city.

Lasky's First in England

Chicago, Sept. 5.—During his short stop between trains on his eastward trip today, Jesse L. Lasky said that he was on his way to London to make his first Pickford-Lasky production in the Korda studios in London. Nino Martini will be starred, he said.

Short Subjects

"Major Bowes Amateur Theatre of the Air, No. 1"

(Biograph-RKO)

This initial issue of Major Bowes' series of amateur radio performers makes a good, entertaining subject. With its ready-made audience of radio fans, it should rate special billing and attract extra business. Bowes himself and seven amateur radio acts are included. All are vocal or instrumental performers, but the reel is novel and rates as better than average short subject entertainment. Production Code Seal No. 0520. Running time, 17 mins. "G."

"Johnny Green and His Orchestra"

(Vitaphone)

Something went wrong in the cutting of this "Melody Master." The various acts are thrown together regardless of sequence and order. While some of them are above average, the net result amounts to only a fair rating. Johnny Green is supposed to put some life into a sleepy mountain resort. He plays one number, then there is a hill billy trio, Majory Logan and Jimmie Farrell contributing their bits which somehow fail to click. Production Code Seal No. 0456. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Time for Love"

(Paramount)

A new Fleischer cartoon in what is apparently a newly developed color process, this is an entertaining subject. The color provides surprising tints, which are in keeping with the fanciful nature of the subject. A male and female swan are love-making until a black rival appears to steal the sweetheart. When he mistreats her, the former lover comes to the rescue. Effective and entertaining. No production code seal. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Lady in Red"

(Vitaphone)

Leon Schlesinger does it again with a swell "Merrie Melody" in three-component Technicolor. In this number the cockroaches and flies make merry in their own insect fashion until an insidious parrot tries to capture the lady in red. The bird finds to his sorrow that the small creatures can give him a good dose of his own medicine and it doesn't take long before the parrot scampers off with a burning tail. The music, coupled with the intriguing antics of the pesky flies and roaches combine for a gay seven minutes of pleasing entertainment. Production Code Seal, No. 1064. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Jolly Ol' London"

(Van Beuren-RKO)

A sightseeing tour of London in the company of the Easy Aces shouldn't be hard for theatre patrons to take. Glimpses of the city's world-renowned buildings and points of interest, with entertaining observations by the Aces as you go, make a brief but enjoyable "rubberneck" trip by celluloid. Production Code Seal No. 0568. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

More SMILEAGE

Gidgets and gadgets and flowery advertising words may attract attention at the automobile show. But it's the old road test that proves the real worth of a car.

And it's the old audience laugh test that proves the value of the short comedies you play. When theatres playing Educational Comedies show a 20 per cent increase in a year, there must be a reason. It's more power in the box-office star names—more smileage per reel.

Houston Looks For No Change In Admissions

Cuts Not Heavy; Present Scales Held Normal

This is the seventh installment in a national survey on the trend of admissions.

HOUSTON, Sept. 6.—Prices have never dropped to the level of those in many other localities and haven't so far to go to reach normal again. In fact, operators here consider the price level normal now and so no raise is contemplated.

The Metropolitan and Majestic here, Interstate theatres, have a top of 50 cents, including tax, and an early matinee price of 25 cents. Loew's top is 40 cents, and the Kirby, another first run Interstate theatre, is 35 cents.

The better class subsequent runs have a top of 25 cents and a low of 10. A few have a 15-cent top with five cents for children. These prices

Browne, IATSE Head, Refuses To End Local 306 Strike Ban

Washington, Sept. 6.—George E. Browne, president of the I. A. T. S. E., today declined to rescind an order recently handed down denying Local 306 the right to strike in the event negotiations between the circuit and union in New York reach an impasse. The International head met with a committee of five from Local 306. The committee made a special trip from New York for the conference with Browne.

On telegraphic orders from Local 306, union members are accepting $1.60 an hour until negotiations on a basic wage scale are completed. Acceptance of this scale is not in the form of a salary, but is being paid in the form of I. O. U.'s, the understanding being that if a higher scale is agreed upon finally the operators will receive the difference on signing of a contract.

Charges of unlawful assembly against 21 Local 306 pickets were yesterday dismissed by Magistrate Michael A. Ford in the West Side Court.

'Jim' at $45,850 Impresses In 2d Week; B'dway Strong

"Diamond Jim," with a five-year attendance record and a new three-year high to its credit in its first week at the Roxy, kicked in with a handsome $45,850 in its second week, which terminated Thursday night, a final count demonstrated yesterday.

In the face of adverse weather and such competition as "Top Hat" at the Music Hall, "Anna Karenina" at the Capitol and "Page Miss Glory" at the Strand, but with the extended Labor Day weekend in its favor, the second stanza of the Universal picture gave an impressive account of itself, particularly in view of a negligent shrinkage of only $1,150 as compared with the first week take of $47,000.

Business along Broadway reminded of old times. "Page Miss Glory" gave the Strand a whopping $33,751. The Paramount did $25,400 with "Two for Tonight," which is holding over, and the final eight days of a three-week run gave the Rivoli $24,200 with "The Call of the Wild."

"Accent on Youth," aided by the holiday naturally, stepped up business at the Palace to $13,600, where normal these days ranges between $7,500 and $10,000. The second week of "The Crusades" at the Astor drew $10,500.

Circuits Here Going Back to Chance Games

Loew's and Consolidated Plan Resumption

Loew's and Consolidated Amusements are planning to reinstate chance games in their local houses sometime next week, it was learned yesterday. Both circuits dropped the games about three weeks ago when the district attorneys of all five boroughs issued orders to the police force to notify exhibitors to discontinue the practice.

Eight Loew theatres were playing Screeno at the time they were abolished while a similar number of Consolidated units were featuring Lucky. Whether the games will be extended to additional houses in the major and independent circuits could not be learned yesterday, but it is believed that where competitive situations are playing games the Loew and Consolidated theatres will adopt them.

The move to again go in for games is predicated on two recent decisions

Bouchard Feted by Canadian Industry

Montreal, Sept. 6.—All branches of the industry in Canada were represented in tribute to T. D. Bouchard at a banquet in the Mount Royal Hotel to honor the past president of Allied Theatrical Industries on his appointment as Minister of Municipal Affairs, Trade and Commerce in the cabinet of the Quebec Provincial Government.

In his speech Bouchard declared that, although taxation was a necessity, any levy should not be a crushing burden to industry. He expressed the view that a distribution of wealth was necessary for economic stability. Today, more than ever before, people had a right to sane entertainment and it should be placed at the disposition of all at a reasonable price. Taxes should be imposed which would bear equitably on the poorer classes and he warned that imposts that struck heavily at industry and legitimate capital would kill those sources of wealth. He saw better days ahead for theatres.

Arthur Hirsch, president of Consolidated Theatres, took advantage of the opportunity to denounce the continued ban on the admission of juveniles under 16 years to any theatre in the province and asked for a square deal.

The speakers included Col. John A. Cooper, Toronto, president of M. P. Distributors of Canada; President Charles B. Howard of Allied Theatrical Industries, and Alban Janin of France-Film, Ltd.

U.A., "U" Counsel To Fight Sales Tax

United Artists and Universal will retain special counsel to represent them in opposing the city's attempts to collect sales tax on local film rentals, it was decided following a meeting of representatives of the companies yesterday.

The city has already filed notices with both companies for payment of the sales tax on the film rentals of each. Briefs setting forth the companies' reasons for declining to pay the tax have been filed with City Comptroller Frank J. Taylor, but no hearing date has been set yet. As no other companies have been served with the tax notices the outcome of the U. A. and Universal protests are viewed as test cases for the rest of the industry locally. Special counsel for the two companies will endeavor to obtain a dismissal of the tax assessments without a hearing, it was said.

Warners Shift Theatre Heads In East-West

Washington, Sept. 6.—Warners are revising the theatre management setup in this territory. Effective Sunday all the local first runs as well as the subsequents will be in the same division with Harry E. Lohmeyer, manager of the Earle, as district manager, states John J. Payette, general zone manager.

Out of town districts have been altered. The district including Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia will be under Guy Wonders, who was formerly in charge of first runs in Baltimore, Washington and Charlotte. He will continue as production manager for the vaudeville houses in the zone.

John E. Firnkoess, district manager in charge of out of town theatres, has gone to New York to await further assignment.

Nat Glasser will have charge of Virginia houses. He has been in charge of Washington subsequent runs.

Charles R. Grimes, manager of the Colony here, goes to the Earle; Fred J. Thomas, manager of the York, goes to the Colony; Arthur Kilburg, manager of the Home, gets the York; Claude Land, assistant at the Central, becomes manager of the Home.

George A. Crouch continues as assistant general zone manager in charge of film buying and bookings for the 35 houses.

When the new Uptown and Penn are completed Walter E. Cersley, now at the Avalon, will manage the former, and Daniel A. Reynolds, now at the Avenue Grand, will have the latter.

Halper Gets Three Aides

Los Angeles, Sept. 6.—To relieve Lou Halper of details and coordinate coast theatre operation, Warners have made several managerial changes. Under the new setup there will be three district managers instead of one. George Weiss, who had the entire district, will now confine his activities to the Hollywood, Downtown and Beverly Hills houses. Carl Walker, former manager of the Granada at Santa Barbara, and Ben Wallerstein, manager of the Huntington Park, will assist Weiss, and all will have headquarters at the Warner Hollywood Theatre Building.

Wallerstein will handle the Forum, San Bernardino, and San Pedro theatres in addition to the Huntington Park, while Walker will add all Santa Barbara houses, plus the houses in Fresno, Aberdeen, Wash., and Salem, Oregon.

Several house managers have been shifted, and the lineup is now as follows: Jimmie Hicks transfers from the Hollywood to the Downtown, exchanging jobs with Mel Murphy; Vic Rosen goes from the Forum to the Granada in Santa Barbara; Frank Regan from San Pedro to Fresno; Cliff Chellew from Fresno to the Forum; Earl Cook from Beverly Hills to San Pedro, and Fred Kislingbury from Santa Barbara to Beverly Hills. All other managers remain as they were.

Sues Columbia Over Royalties on Series known as the "Voice of Experience"; Elmer A. Rogers, general manager of Rex Pictures, and Benjamin K. Blake, production manager for Rex.

According to the petition, Levey claims he first approached Rogers and Taylor and sold them the idea to make the shorts. Voe Pictures was then formed with Levey as president, getting one-third of the stock and Rogers also getting a third, the petition cites. A contract was then closed with Taylor and he was to get 35 per cent of the profits, the papers state. The Voe company then negotiated a deal with Columbia and on the day the pact was to be signed all the books disappeared, it is alleged. A week later Rex Film Corp. was formed and proved to be identical to Voe with the exception of Levey, according to the complaint. This company signed the Columbia deal, it is further claimed.

An order signed by Justice Samuel I. Rosenbaum requires the defendants to show cause why they should not be required as directors and officers to turn back the Voe records to Voe.

Louis Martin Levy has filed notice of appearance as attorney for the defendants. Nathan Burkan's office is handling the matter for Columbia.

investigation, which is being made to determine whether the single feature agreement has violated the anti-trust laws.

A reliable report has it that if evidence warrants and the anti-trust claims are substantiated, independent producers and distributors will ask for damages from all the signatories of the single feature agreement, claiming that the agreement illegally closed the local market to independent product.

It is also understood here that the government is investigating the alleged excessive and discriminatory local protection situation, especially that between competitive houses charging for their size, the same admission.

The local Common Pleas Court in a test case held the Cleveland single feature agreement to be legal and binding.

Howard, which in my opinion will give business a feeling of confidence and act as a signal for full speed ahead, the signal for which business has been waiting.

"I believe that the period of recovery has arrived and all lines of business are beginning to feel its beneficial effects and will enjoy its full effect in the very near future."

Ask Reorganization Of Keith, Columbus

Columbus, Sept. 6.—A voluntary petition for reorganization, signed by C. Harry Schreiber, treasurer and city manager, has been filed in Federal Court by the B. F. Kieth Columbus Co., operating the Palace and Majestic.

The petition, predicated on Section 77B of the amendment to the bankruptcy law, also seeks a 12-year extension on the aggregate $500,000 bonded indebtedness now outstanding, and a reduction in the interest rate from 6½ to five per cent. Equipment, fixtures and furnishings, valued at $180,000, which were not pledged in the initial bond flotation, now are offered as security.

The financial setup shows that the original bond issue was $750,000, of which $250,000 has been redeemed. Bonds amounting to $200,000 were due on Sept. 1 of this year; $50,000 will become due Sept. 1, 1936, and $250,000 on Sept. 1, 1937.

Judge Benson W. Hough will hear the petition Sept. 28, but meanwhile has authorized continuance of operations.

The RKO Grand, recently acquired under lease, and now being remodeled for opening Sept. 20, is not affected by the proceedings.

chance games and giveaways—will cause Fox West Coast to go in for them on a wholesale scale.

At present, the organization bulletin states, 65 independents are using the stunts and F. W. C. has stated that it will start them "on an unprecedented scale in this territory."

"Our only thought," the bulletin continues, "in this letter is to suggest that if rackets could be modified to an extent that it would not cause the F. W. C. theatres to start them on a large scale, it would naturally benefit the independent theatre owners in this territory, but it is naturally up to each of you individually to decide for yourselves what your action will be."

In the same bulletin the membership is informed that the clearance and zoning schedule has been modified so that 25-cent houses outside of Los Angeles will be reduced from 49 days to 42 days and subsequent runs will be reduced seven days accordingly. The association aims to get this reduced to 35 days on 25-cent theatres, if possible.

handed down in Brooklyn. On Aug. 27, Magistrate Eilpern in the Schneider Ave. court declared Lucky legal when Howard Lesser of the Glenwood was brought before the judge by the Brooklyn district attorney. Bernard Barr, of Barr & Barr, represented Lesser. On Sept. 3, another important verdict was handed down by Magistrate David Malbin in the Magistrate's Court, 8th District, Brooklyn. In this instance Movie Sweepstakes were adjudged not in violation of the New York lottery law. The Oceana, Brighton Beach, was the defendant. Jacob Schechter represented Albert Green, who operates the theatre.

Magistrate Malbin pointed out at the time that the operation of Movie Sweepstakes was not illegal in that no admission fee was necessary to enter the competition and anyone was permitted to participate in or out of the theatre.

Short Subjects

"Dublin in Brass"

(Vitaphone)

Morton Downey's mellifluous voice is a treat in any short. The singer renders several numbers which are new. He is surrounded by a bevy of girls who for no good reason wander in and out of the numerous sets for routine dances. This number has to do with Downey graduating from a police training school in Ireland and landing in America prepared to join the New York force. He lands on St. Patrick's Day and the parade peps him up. In addition, the dancers and several other acts perform for the benefit of the singer, who, instead of joining the police, is signed up by a radio station. The cutting is poor and some of the acts unnecessary. Production Code Seal No. 0464. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

"Unusualities"

(Van Beuren-RKO)

This contribution to the Easy Aces series directs the diverting comments of the team to a selection of innocuous subjects such as might have been filmed for—but might have been rejected by—a newsreel editor. Included are impractical inventions, the manicuring of elephants, the extraction of a needle and thread-like substance from a cactus plant and the use of cormorants by Japanese fishermen. Most of the reel's entertainment is in the Easy Aces' dialogue. Production Code Seal No. 0500. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Radio Ramblers in Nutville"

(Vitaphone)

Here is a clever "Pepper Pot" novelty, entertaining from the first to last foot of film. The Radio Ramblers, arriving at a small town while hiking, find that the sane are lodged in an asylum while the "nuts" walk around as the proud citizens. Incarcerated, the trio put on an act in which they impersonate Morton Downey, Fred Allen, the Marx Bros., Joe Penner, Kate Smith and others. In one number, one of the trio mimics Grace Moore and two male operatic stars in a way that deserves a hand. Should go over big. Production Code Seal No. 0483. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Night Life"

(Radio)

This Headliner comedy is built about the characters and incidents of an evening at a night club fashioned into a two-reel vehicle for the display of Gene Austin's vocal and musical talents. A touch of melodrama in the suicide of a girl whose lover is arrested in the night club cuts through mildly comic characters and incidents. Tom Kennedy, Jack Mulhall and Monte Collins are in the cast. Austin's songs rate as the mainstay of the subject. Production Code Seal No. 0821. Running time, 22 mins. "G."

Texas Control Of Admissions Being Probed

Federal Agents Studying Interstate's Pacts

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—A Department of Justice study of minimum admission clauses in contracts between the Interstate Circuit and film distributors is under way here and may have a bearing on determining the legality of contract riders such as have been urged by the M. Dwight L. Savage, special assistant to the Attorney General on anti-trust cases, has been here for some weeks past holding daily conferences with individual exhibitors and various attorneys for the several interests involved in his survey. The declared object of his scrutiny is the clause in Interstate's contracts through which distributors agree not to sell film which has played at opening run admissions of 40 cents or more to subsequent runs charging less than a 25-

Warners Make Point in Opposing Injunction

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8.—Charging that F. & M. and their associates in the operation of the Ambassador, Missouri and New Grand Central have combined with operators of the Fox and St. Louis to control first run exhibition in this city, Warners assert in a new supplemental answer that if the court should grant the preliminary injunction sought by the government the alleged combination would "dominate the first run houses in St. Louis and absorb the available supply of first run films, thus stifling and preventing competition in St. Louis."

A hearing on the government's application for the temporary injunction to restrain Warners and other defendant distributors from allegedly continuing to withhold first run films from the Ambassador, Missouri and New Grand Central will be held here Tuesday before Federal Judge George H. Moore.

FILTHY weather never seriously dimmed the enthusiasm of eager hordes waiting in rain and on line to see "Top Hat" at the Music Hall. Aside from further emphasizing the terrific drawing power of the attraction, the circumstance seemed to make fitting some slight contemplation of the reasons why a public, anxious to buy, will do what it has been doing over on 6th Avenue and to draw the conclusion immediately thereafter it mattered little so long as it did.

The weather being what it was, this column, curiosity sharpened by the Astaire-Rogers phenomenon, cleared its desk in order to go statistical. With the aid of records and adding machine, emergence finally came plus an array of calculations all having to do with the Music Hall, the pictures it has played and the grosses they have achieved or not. . .

Confining its research to the year beginning with the week ending Aug. 1, 1934, and terminating with the seven days ending July 31, 1935—fifty-three weeks—this department discovered many things. For instance, not one of the 40 pictures which captured playdates at the theatre dipped under $52,000, a sizeable gross in any house but the one under discussion and not at all good there. The low, giving the facts their say, went to "Evergreen" and "Music in the Air," which hit it off at exactly this figure.

Up the line in various divisions, the take went forward to reach the year's high with the first week of "The Little Minister" at $110,000. That's business, you might well be reminded, and yet it is not when you realize, as you cannot but help, that "Top Hat,"

Theatre Taxes Up $765,982 For the Year

The Total of $15,379,397 Exceeds Estimates

BY BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Better theatre grosses during the last half of 1934 and the first half of this year were reflected in the Treasury Department's preliminary report on miscellaneous tax collections for the year ended June 30.

An increase of $765,982.74, putting the total well above preliminary estimates, was registered in collections from admission taxes, which reached a new peak of $15,379,397.16. Direct box-office sales, which account for all but a tiny fraction of the government's revenue from the 10 per cent amusement levy, showed a healthy increase, suggesting widespread improvement in grosses. Total receipts were above the previous year in two-thirds of the collection districts, although declines were noted in a number of large cities and industrial states. Although the greater part of the nation obviously

Say Bank Night Case Hinges on Copyright

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Certification of copyright from Washington is holding up the decision of Federal Court here on the infringement suit brought by Bank Night against Gold Mine, and heard before Special Master Arthur Stevenson, say George Ryan, Bank Night attorney, and Roy Heffner, New England franchise holder.

The Boston suit is adjudged to be of national importance, inasmuch as Federal Judge Brewster said that it should also be decided in the course of the hearing whether or not Bank Night is a lottery.

The case, after many delays, was finally concluded five weeks ago. The decision has been pending since that time.

Elections Set for New Theatre Group

With more than 55 of the 87 theatres pledged sending in checks for participation in the Independent Theatre Circuit, Inc., elections have been definitely set for Wednesday at the Astor, following the regular meeting of the I. T. O. A.

Milton C. Weisman has been ordered to incorporate the name of the circuit and papers will be filed with the Secretary of State in Albany this week.

Harry Brandt, president of the I. T. O. A., has not definitely committed himself to joining. He has 42 theatres and before he signs, Brandt wants every exhibitor pledged to support the circuit financially. It is likely that if Brandt joins, he will be named president. Weisman had been offered the post and has turned it down. He is vice-president and secretary of Metropolitan Playhouses, Inc., formerly Fox Met.

Harrison Sees Need For a Film Theatre

Harrison, N. J., Sept. 8.—Local business men, pointing out that residents of Harrison spend money in Newark and Jersey City which would be spent at home if this town had a theatre, are sponsoring a move to reduce the prohibitive $10,000 license fee for theatres.

The town has a population of 1,500 and has 80 saloons, but no film house.

Profitable Relief Shows Federal Aim

actor relief program, it was announced yesterday.

With many details still unsettled, headquarters of the works program revealed President Roosevelt has approved the expenditure of $27,315,217 for cultural projects intended to give emergency jobs to artists, writers, musicians and actors. Nearly half of the total will be spent for drama projects.

Including vaudeville performers as well as legitimate talent, relief authorities will concentrate on encouraging local activities which in time will become self supporting and will attempt to provide "entertainment to large audiences at low cost."

Equity and stage hands lost their fights for observance of union scales when relief directors announced the subsistence wage schedule, with a maximum of $94 monthly, will be adhered to in the cultural program.

Rush Warner Buildings

Hollywood, Sept. 8.—The $1,500,000 building program at Warners is progressing so rapidly that five of the projected 10 new sound stages will be finished by the end of September. Two already are in work. By the time all 10 are finished, Warners will have 29 sound stages. The building schedule includes a number of storerooms, shops, a crafts building and a props storage building.

Governor Marland, chairman; Amon G. Carter, Ft. Worth publisher, vice-chairman; Walter Harrison, Oklahoma City newspaperman, secretary; Will H. Hays, Mrs. Roberta C. Lawson, president of the Federated Women's Club, Tulsa; Dr. J. C. Bushyhead, cousin of Rogers, Claremore; Frank Phillips, Bartlesville, Okla., oil man; J. B. Milam, Chelsea, Okla., and T. E. Braniff, Oklahoma City.

The appointment of general, executive and finance committees was discussed, but naming of their personnel is being deferred for several days to permit members of the main committee to obtain acceptances, eliminate duplications and to make sure all interested groups are represented. Adopting part of the national committee already started, the organization committee named John Nance Garner, vice-president of the U. S., as active chairman of the national committee, and Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., as treasurer.

The committee did not discuss the type of memorial to be selected, its location or probable cost, leaving these details to be worked out by the full organization. It was agreed, however, that the memorial, or memorials, should be considered from a nationwide viewpoint as well as from the local aspects of birthplace and residence.

Selection of the finance committee is being left to Governor Marland, Carter and Harrison. Members of this committee will be expected to organize the activities of the industries they represent. For example, the film industry would be represented by one man who would be responsible for the participation of actors, producers, distributors and exhibitors.

Lupton Wilkinson of the M. P. P. D. A. represented Hays and the film industry at the organizing meeting here.

Columbia Gets Only Massachusetts Cut

Boston, Sept. 8.—Out of more than two dozen films passed upon by the Dept. of Public Safety, under the Massachusetts Sunday censorship laws, only one picture was given the scissors. The dialogue, "That stuff's bellywash," was ruled out of Columbia's "Western Frontier," according to the latest approved sheet signed by Commissioner Paul G. Kirk.

Eliminations were ordered on nine vaudeville acts on the same sheet, while three were ruled out entirely.

Maryland House Flooded

Federalsburg, Md., Sept. 8.—The Federal, an independent house, was flooded by high waters from the Nanticoke River during the rain and heavy windstorm which swept the Delmarva Peninsula.

Horlacher Delivery Co's truck carrying $2,500 worth of film, was swept into a stream between this town and Denton during the height of the storm. The driver, whose name could not be learned, barely escaped drowning. The truck plunged into the stream when a small bridge gave away.

Texas Control Of Admissions Being Probed

cent admission. Interstate has used the clause for some time and it was contested by local subsequent run exhibitors and upheld in the state courts. In effect, the clause involves the legal principles encountered in the use of the contract rider recommended by M. P. T. O. A.

R. J. O'Donnell, general manager of Interstate; John Moroney and George Wright, attorneys for Interstate, have conferred with Savage. According to Moroney, Interstate has a formulated doctrine of economic justification for its use of the restrictive admission clause and that, on those premises, the circuit believes it is within its legal rights under Federal law. He declared, however, that Interstate would abandon its position if it could be conclusively shown that its interpretation of law is at fault. If this was not done authoritatively, he said, Interstate would be forced to accept the issue at law, as it did in the state courts, in the event the Department of Justice presses the issue to that extent.

Also here for conferences with Robb & Rowley circuit officials are Julian Gordon of Jefferson Amusement Co. and R. E. Griffith of Griffith Amusement Co., Oklahoma City, which has Texas interests. All are reported to have clauses similar to Interstate's in their contracts with one or more distributors.

Charge F. & M. Seeks Control In St. Louis

government's show cause order why the injunction should not be granted was signed by Former U. S. Senator James A. Reed of Kansas City, Sam B. Jeffries, Arthur E. Simpson and Paul F. Plummer, all of the Warner legal staff. In their previous answer Warners denied every allegation of the Department of Justice contained in the petition seeking the court restraining order. The new answer sets forth that as a result of the alleged combination of F. & M. and its associates with the operators of the first run Fox and St. Louis, the granting of the injunction would injure the defendants and the public by making possible a complete dominance of the first run situation by the five houses.

The answer further stated that the granting of the injunction would cause the operators of the Shubert-Rialto and Orpheum, the Warner outlets here, large losses in advance of judicial determination of the government's conspiracy charges against them. The answer then added that the disputed facts in the case are the same in the application for the injunction as they are in the conspiracy case, and asserted that the full issues could be heard and determined as speedily at the actual trial of the facts as in the preliminary hearing set for Sept. 10.

The court has set Sept. 30 for trial of the criminal charges against Warners and its subsidiaries, Paramount, RKO and several of their officers.

Whittam Takes Over Trenton, Mo., Spot

Kansas City, Sept. 8.—The Uptown at Trenton, Mo., formerly operated by Glen W. Dickinson, Inc., has been taken over by Frank Whittam, who has been managing the two Dickinson houses in Manhattan, Kan.

Whittam reopened the theatre recently after installing cushioned seats and making other improvements.

It is understood that Lee Jones of the Plaza had a contractual agreement with Dickinson that the latter would not re-enter the town for some years.

Several months ago Jones joined Commonwealth Theatre Enterprises, Inc. When Sam Yoffie's Uptown was purchased by the Kaw Valley Theatre Co., report had it that Jones went to the court and showed that the Kaw Valley was a Dickinson company, securing a temporary injunction enjoining Dickinson from operating in Trenton. Jones' application for a permanent injunction is pending.

Arrest Glen Dickinson

Lawrence, Kans., Sept. 8.—Glen W. Dickinson, circuit head, has been arrested, charged with placing posters and advertising matter on poles not his property. Dickinson posted $100.

The case will be heard Sept. 11, when both Dickinson and his son, Carleton Dickinson, will appear. A conference between Will Johns, chief of police, George Melvin, city attorney, and Donald Hults, Dickinson attorney, resulted in a decision to charge Carleton Dickinson with the same offense.

Casting Note

Also cast in the effort are: Donald Duck, Pluto and The Goof.

Lasky Will Protest On Schumann-Heink

under way. Jesse L. Lasky declared yesterday in a radio message from the Empress of Australia, on which he is a passenger en route to Europe.

"Regarding published statements that M-G-M has signed Mme. Schumann Heink to a contract, which would be in violation of my agreement with her," Lasky cabled, "I am submitting the matter to Will H. Hays for adjudication and settlement through orderly industry channels. I cannot reconcile this action by M-G-M in interfering with my negotiations with this artist in the light of past industry ethics.

"A full review of the facts by Hays will establish Pickford-Lasky's rights to produce pictures with Mme. Schumann Heink and will protect our company and other artists from future interferences of this kind."

It is understood that Lasky had an option on Mme. Schumann Heink which he exercised before announcing a film with her for his new producing alliance with Mary Pickford.

Californians Study Suit Against Ascap

Los Angeles, Sept. 8.—Legal moves to get a return of fees paid to Ascap during the past two years are contemplated by Independent Theatre Owners of Southern California. The plan has been prompted by the injunction against Ascap obtained by exhibitors in the state of Washington.

Some definite development is expected within a few days, according to the association bulletin. Exhibitors have been instructed to call at the association's office to discuss the matter so that action will be uniform, if it is started.

Four Pickets Are Held

Grand Island, Neb., Sept. 8.—Hearing was held for four operators yesterday on charges of picketing the Empress. The charges against the four were filed on complaint of William Youngclaus, manager of the Empress.

The four operators were under joint bond of $500.

Youngclaus recently discharged his union operator and engaged a non-union man when the local refused to agree to a lower scale.

Smaller collections were recorded in New Jersey, four of the six N. Y. State offices, two of the three Pennsylvania districts, two of the four Ohio districts and in scattered states of the middle west. The Dakotas, Indiana, Iowa, Idaho, Kentucky, Maryland, Delaware, Oklahoma and Wisconsin were affected by the down trend.

With the remainder of the nation giving evidence of business improvement, the Treasury reported particularly gratifying increases in admission tax collections in California, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Texas, Florida, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Washington.

Film Profits Given Scrutiny in Mexico

By JAMES LOCKHART

Mexico City, Sept. 8.—Films are a highly profitable business in Mexico, it is indicated by figures gathered by the Ministry of National Economy. Foreign pictures dominate the market. Revenues of nine distributors prompted recommendations to the Federal government that a National Institute for the Cinematographic Industry be organized to enable Mexicans to obtain a greater share of these profits. This institute is to have a state endowment of 2,000,000 pesos (approximately $560,000, U. S.)

Highlights of data obtained by the ministry are:

Nine distributors of foreign pictures are functioning—United Artists, Columbia, Fox, Paramount, M-G-M, Radio, Universal, Warners, First National and German Camus & Co.

The combined capital of these distributors is 469,440 pesos (3.60 pesos per American dollar is the current foreign exchange rate). From 1929 to 1933, these companies imported films and discs to the value of 3,032,455 pesos. During that period, the firms spent 522,697 pesos for wages—40 per cent to executives, 33 per cent to white collar help and 27 per cent to workers—and about 200,000 pesos for publicity and exploitation.

From 1929 to 1933, the companies sent their home offices 7,901,940 pesos, of which 5,690,773 pesos were subject to income tax, which left the distributors a net profit of some 3,061,000 pesos.

"Wild" Leads Big Gains in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Though the rainfall of the last five days has exceeded the average for the entire month of September, the week proved one case where foul weather gave the showman a break. It kept the crowds home on Labor Day and sent most of them to the movies.

The Aldine's opening week-end was one of the best in its history and the house snared $14,000, or double its average for the first week of "Call of the Wild."

"Steamboat 'Round the Bend" was another winner, taking $21,000 at the Fox. The Earle got $14,000 for "Bright Lights" and neither house felt the lack of stage shows. With the musicians still holding out for more men, theatres are in the second stageless week.

Garbo proved a magnet at the Boyd, where "Anna Karenina" grabbed $17,000 for its first week. "Page Miss Glory" took $15,000 at the Stanley.

Ontario August Tax Totals to $230,978

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—The Provincial Government yesterday reported that amusement tax receipts for August under the new tax regulations totaled $230,978, this figure comparing with a revenue of $44,000 secured by the Ontario treasury from the same source for the corresponding month of last year.

The heavy tax increases went into effect in June. For that month and the two succeeding ones the amount collected totaled $735,000, which almost equals the aggregate of $745,000 obtained during the whole 12 months of the last fiscal period.

At the present rate Ontario will get $3,075,000 in the current 12 months, and exhibitors are extremely blue because every tax dollar means a dollar less in theatre grosses. The campaign for renewal of tax exemption on admissions of 25 cents and under is continuing.

Insiders' Outlook

in its first seven days terminating Wednesday night, grossed $131,200, somewhat shy of the enthusiastic $135,000 to $140,000 predicted for it but very, very handsome nevertheless. A foul final day in the first week stepped between the actual gross and the anticipation.

Forty separate attractions spread over these fifty-three weeks, twelve of them playing two weeks each and one, three weeks. How was the playing time divided? Interesting query to which the answers are these:

Columbia—four pictures spread over eight weeks.
Fox—twelve pictures over fourteen weeks.
Gaumont British—three over three weeks.
Paramount—two over two.
Radio—thirteen over seventeen.
United Artists—four over seven.
Universal—two over two.

Pictures have to hit a man's-sized stride to rate as holdovers at the theatrical pride and joy of the Rockefellers. What the attractions were that rated consequently makes an interesting commentary.

Columbia had three: "One Night of Love," and "Broadway Bill," two weeks each; "Love Me Tonight," three and the only film in the year that did.

Fox had two: "The Catspaw" and "The Little Colonel."

Radio bulked four: "The Gay Divorcee," "The Little Minister," "Roberta," and "Becky Sharp."

United Artists, three: "We Live Again," "The Scarlet Pimpernel" and "Cardinal Richelieu."

Nine attractions, one of them "The Little Colonel" on a holdover, fell into the $50,000 to $60,000 gross division, giving the house an aggregate in the lowest bracket of $500,500 for the group or a weekly average over the nine weeks of $50,489. Red ink prevailed for those engagements.

Eleven attractions lodged in the $60,000 to $70,000 classification which embraced second weeks of "The Little Minister," "Cardinal Richelieu," "Becky Sharp" and "Broadway Bill" and a third of "Love Me Forever." In that period, Music Hall business ran to $715,750, or a weekly average of $65,068. The ink began to veer toward the black on these entries.

Twelve films did somewhere between $70,000 and $80,000 each, bearing much in mind that the grouping there included second weeks of "The Catspaw" and "The Scarlet Pimpernel." At a bulked gross of $880,580 for the round dozen or a weekly average of $73,381, the Music Hall here found its best cross-sectional business. Not only did the house enjoy more engagements in the $70,000 to $80,000 division, but, naturally, its biggest consolidated gate. There was profit in those drawing cards.

As receipts went higher, the number of contributing features, of course, grew fewer. Eight attractions banded themselves together in the $80,000 to $90,000 segment, not forgetting in this particular listing a second week for "The Gay Divorcee," "Love Me Forever" and "We Live Again." These eight, in combination, gave the house a total gross of $679,800, or, reduced to averages, a weekly intake of $84,975. Much in the black by this time.

An even half dozen found their choice way into the $90,000 to $100,000 breakdown, an added distinction accruing to "Roberta," which was extremely strong at $98,000 in its second seven days. Indicative of what this exhibition colossus can do with only six attractions are the figures for this division—$570,000 which gave the house a weekly average in this classification of $95,000, or more profit for each of those six weeks than many theatres gross each seven days.

Into the rarefied atmosphere which surrounds any $100,000-and-over wow, likewise were there an exclusive six, although the Music Hall had seven weeks when its receipts reached and went over this enormous total. "One Night of Love" stayed there for two weeks hand-running. With the six pictures in seven weeks, the gross tallied $720,932, fixing the weekly average at $102,990. Truly an amazing business.

With its low weekly average of $50,489 to its peak weekly aver-

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8.—Mayor Harry L. Davis has signed a proclamation establishing the week of Sept. 20 a "Major Bowes' Week" in honor of the Major Bowes unit which will play an engagement at the RKO Palace.

Photophone Points to Profits

He TOOK DOWN THE SIGN

We know a theatre owner (name on request) who was convinced he couldn't make money, so much so that he offered the house for sale. A buyer turned up who said he knew he could make the place show a profit, by putting in RCA Photophone High Fidelity Sound. This made the exhibitor think that maybe what the Photophone salesman had been telling him was true. So he placed an order with us, knowing that if he wanted to sell later, he could add to the sale price the value of his equity in the Photophone equipment.

The installation was made in a jiffy, and from that day the theatre commenced to show a profit. For sale? NO!

Switzerland Turns To American Films

Washington, Sept. 8.—Decline in popularity of German films has turned Swiss exhibitors more and more to the United States, reports Consul General A. C. Frost, in Zurich, to the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Swiss imports of German, French and Italian films, he points out, have all shown declines during the current year, while in contrast, imports of American films have increased.

A greater number of original version American films are being shown in the German section of the country, but only because they are not available in the German language. It is believed, the report states, that American shorts of a travelogue or educational type, in which there is little dialogue, could be profitably marketed in Switzerland. Their value would be enhanced if given in a French or German version.

The proposed establishment of a national producing industry in Switzerland is hardly likely to materialize, the Consul General declares. Opposition to the proposition has appeared in several quarters. Critics of the plan point out that the high cost of production, the lack of technical experience and artistic personnel, and dependence upon export would be obstacles.

K. C. Operators Ask 20 Per Cent Raises

Kansas City, Sept. 8.—The operators' union, No. 170, is asking a 20 per cent increase at downtown first run houses. The request is being opposed. Negotiations are proceeding. Contracts expired Aug. 31.

Contracts with stagehands' local, No. 31, according to Felix Snow, I.A.T.S.E. representative, have been signed with no general increase, but with an additional man at the Tower.

A 25 per cent increase for the stagehand at the Royal was effected, Snow said.

Para. Files Claims For Print Damages

Paramount has filed two cases against local exhibitors for arbitration before the New York Film Board. In each instance the distributor alleges prints were damaged.

One of the cases is against Consolidated Amusement's Jerome in the Bronx and the other against Phillip Eisenberg of the Maple, Jeffersonville, N. Y. Hearings are set for Friday. Robert Benjamin, associate of Louis Nizer, will represent the exchange.

"Karenina" at $57,000

"Anna Karenina" ended its first week at the Capitol with a tally of $57,000. This is slightly under the expected $65,000-$75,000 predicted earlier in the week by Loew executives. A bad break in the weather hit not only the Capitol, but all Broadway houses last week.

Roach Studios Reopen

Hollywood, Sept. 8.—The Hal Roach studios here which have been closed for more than a month will reopen tomorrow. Although the studio is seven pictures ahead of schedule, four companies will begin work on the fall production schedule.

Looking 'Em Over

"Red Salute"

(Reliance-U. A.)

Barbara Stanwyck turns in a good performance in her comeback picture, ably assisted by Robert Young, Hardie Albright, Purnell Pratt and Cliff Edwards, but is somewhat handicapped by a drawn out plot in a film which can stand trimming here and there. The heroine is as charming as ever and there is plenty of wisecracking between her and Young. Some of the gags are destined for bellylaughs.

The heroine's main passion while attending college is Albright, whose communistic leanings get him in wrong with Pratt, Miss Stanwyck's father, a colonel in the army. To avoid distasteful gossip, Pratt inveigles his daughter into a trip to Mexico with her mother. When she gets there she escapes from the guardianship of her parent and later meets Young in a cafe. Young, a private, overstays his time and is anxious to get back to headquarters, while Miss Stanwyck cannot wait until she returns to Washington and her boy friend.

Both encounter a series of rough and tumble experiences before they are caught by the army officers ordered by Pratt to get the fugitives. The experiences on the road include a romantic interlude which is climaxed in Young's favor when Albright decided his preachings mean more to him than Miss Stanwyck. However, there's never any doubt that the affair would end that way.

Sidney Lanfield directed this Edward Small production, which makes for satisfactory entertainment.

Previewed without a code seal. Running time, 78 minutes.

"The Girl Who Came Back"

(Chesterfield)

Striking as average entertainment with a measure of action, this is the story of a girl counterfeiter who, turning straight, falls in love, only to have her past catch up with her. Her effort to save her sweetheart and clear her past is successful in a lively climax.

Shirley Grey and Sidney Blackmer head the cast, which contains a few familiar, but no outstanding names. In chief support are Matthew Betz and Frank LaRue. Charles Lamont, in his direction, handled the story in competent fashion, the picture as a whole appearing definitely suitable in dual bill situations as the second half of the program.

Miss Grey decides to give up the racket, double-crosses the gang on a jewel robbery, returns the gems and goes west. She falls in love with her employer, Blackmer, a banker. Her former "friends" find her and plan to rob the bank. When they do, she admits her identity and leads the police to the rescue of Blackmer and the capture of the gang. Blackmer understands and their romance concludes the film.

Production Code Seal No. 873. Running time, 65 minutes. "G."

"Peg of Old Drury"

(British & Dominions)

London, Aug. 29.—The same high standard of technique that marked "Escape Me Never" is observable in this further B. & D. production. It would be a credit to any American studio in this respect, and in entertainment value, variety and acting also does it definitely belong to the select few of British films which have to be compared with the first rank American output.

Outstanding assets are the charm of the London backgrounds, of the 18th century period, and the really fine performance of Sir Cedric Hardwicke as the famous actor, Garrick. Playing Garrick, Hardwicke also plays such of his famous roles as Shylock, Richard III and "The Alchemist" on the stage of Old Drury. The story of his love affair with Peg Woffington, ending with her death in his arms, in her stage dress of Rosalind, is tenderly told and the climax, with Garrick delivering her last message to the audience, is affecting.

Anna Neagle is definitely good as Peg, especially in the comedy interchanges with her rival, Kitty Clive. Maire O'Neill and Hay Petrie are notable in a first class cast.

Of its kind, this is an excellent picture; it must be taken into very serious consideration in any territory where production artistry and good acting are appreciated.

Running time, 75 minutes. "G." ALLAN

Frisco Fox Tries Duals

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—The Fox, 4,600-seater, has dropped stage shows and will use double bills. During the past few weeks the theatre has featured Eddie Cantor, the Duncan Sisters and the Fanchon chorus revue.

Two-Year Picketing Ends

Kansas City, Sept. 8.—For two years the Murray, operated by E. C. Hartman, whose brother operates the projection equipment, has been picketed. The other day the union gave up and removed the picket.

Short Subjects

"All American Drawback"

(Vitaphone)

If you can conceive a ventriloquist's dummy playing the star role on a college football team and between games trying to make love to whatever girl comes his way, this subject will hold your interest. However, Edgar Bergen coaches his dummy through the various scenes, but the final sequence shows the dummy doing all right by himself when he is pitted against the college's board. They start out to give him an oral examination and the number winds up with the board members on the floor in a football huddle. The act depends on local audiences and may get better reaction from them than from this reviewer. Production Code Seal, No. 0503. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Three Lazy Mice"

(Universal)

An artistically done short, "Three Lazy Mice," in the Color Cartune group rates with the best of the type. The whimsical story of three mice in the mouse kingdom revolves around their evasion of work by pretending to be blind. Beggary takes them outside the walls of micedom where they become the prey of a marauding cat. Follows the usual chase with the mice back and put to work at dishwashing. Recommended. Production Code Seal No. 704. Running time, 9 min. "G".

"Scottie Finds a Home"

(Van Beuren-RKO)

A good color cartoon of the Rainbow Parade series, this presents the story of the little boy who, wanting a dog for a pet, finds one but is refused permission by his grandmother to bring it into the house. A visit from a tramp provides the dog with an opportunity of becoming a hero and winning a home. The animation is good and so is the color. Production Code Seal No. 0504. Running time, 6 mins. "G."

"Land of the Eagle"

(Van Beuren-RKO)

This travelogue on Guatemala is an addition to the "World on Parade" series. It presents glimpses of Indian life and customs and native crafts, such as pottery making and weaving. Native scenery and ancient Aztec and Spanish architecture are other subjects included. It is an interesting reel, splendidly photographed. Production Code Seal No. 0540. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

"Pathe Topics—No. 6"

(Radio)

The subject matter of this release is more or less routine, with the high spot of interest going to glass reproductions, enlarged one million times, of microscopic life observed in a drop of water. Other subjects presented are views of cathedral towns of England, tricks of magic and dances in slow motion. Production Code Seal No. 0507. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

No Movements For Increases Seen in Texas

Present Rates Are Due To Many Experiments

This is the eighth instalment in a national survey on the trend of admission prices.

DALLAS, Sept. 9.—No general movement in price increases is apparent in Texas except the contractual one requiring 25-cent admissions for "A" pictures in subsequent runs. This is a stipulation insisted upon by the Interstate circuit to protect its first runs and has been the object of attack by Allied.

The peak was set in '29 when box-office scales throughout Texas reached 60 cents for metropolitan first runs and 40 cents and 35 cents were common even down to towns of 1,500.

Center Understood After the "Dream"

The Rockefeller Center is understood to be after "A Midsummer Night's Dream" for its opening attraction under the extended run film policy which that theatre is about to launch. "The Great Waltz," stage musical, which reopened there recently is about to terminate its run.

Warners are arranging to bring on the entire cast and executive production staff for the opening which, unless switched, is slated for the Hollywood Oct. 9. Max Reinhardt, the producer, now in Europe, will return for it.

Florida's Theatres Are Damaged Little

TAMPA, Sept. 9.—The tropical hurricane, which swept up the gulf coast of Florida Tuesday and Wednesday, did very little damage to theatres, according to reports.

At Tampa, where the storm struck Tuesday night, the Ritz, in the Ybor City section, was forced to close when several light poles were blown down. All lights were turned off at midnight

Ohio Playdate Test Coming Up Sept. 23

COLUMBUS, Sept. 9.—The RKO case against Attorney General Bricker to test the validity of the bill outlawing preferred playing time in Ohio, will be heard in Federal court of Columbus Sept. 23.

Chicago Exhibitors Now Give Awards Every Night

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Local exhibitors are trying to figure a way to get more than seven nights into one week. At present most of them are playing Screeno three to five nights a week, Bank Night two nights and are using giveaways the other nights. If anything else of this nature comes along, it will have tough going finding a night to show anything.

While in other cities police are bearing down on giveaway nights here they are helping out. Crowds ranging from 1,000 to 20,000 on Bank Nights when the award is at a high figure necessitate the use of police to handle traffic. Last Thursday night at the Southtown, 20,000 persons attended. At 3:20 o'clock the 3,200-seat house was sold out and at 5 o'clock all standing space in the theatre and 400 ticket holders outside in a parking lot—reserved that day for people and not cars—awaited the drawing which was scheduled for 8 o'clock.

On other nights theatres have china and glassware, or some such nights. During the past few months beauty and screen test nights have been prevalent and amateur nights also.

Exhibitors claim that these forms of added attractions have kept more than 60 theatres, usually dark in the summer, from closing and have given them more cash than they have had in the past five years.

Exchange men who at first were strongly against the giveaway games are changing their minds after a perusal of books which show the advance in grosses. They claim that the double-bill threat will not be of any consequence as long as the chance games continue. And most of them feel the games are preferable to the double features.

Five Million Bet

Pawtucket, R. I., Sept. 9.—The first dozen days of pari-mutuel betting at the Narragansett Track drew $5,317,526 from New England fans, while other unestimated millions have gone to bookies, board rooms, etc. This is a record daily average of $443,126, continued despite the fact that only 12 favorites have come through in 72 races. Theatres are suffering.

ITOA Plans Court Test on All Games

Test cases of every chance game on the local market will be made by the I.T.O.A., it was stated by Harry Brandt, president, yesterday. The move is to give members official opinions and decisions on what games can and cannot be played.

Two games, Lucky and Movie Sweepstakes, have already been passed upon favorably by two magistrates in Brooklyn. The Glenwood had been playing Lucky and the Oceana, Movie Sweepstakes, when both exhibitors were haled into court on charges of violating the lottery laws. In both

Little Change in Cleveland by M-G-M

CLEVELAND, Sept. 9.—In answer to the charge that M-G-M plans to upset local clearance and zoning by selling greater protection than stipulated in the schedule, Frank D. Drew, M-G-M branch manager here, states that this season there is very little change of setup for film distribution in the Cleveland territory from previous seasons. The only major change of policy, according to Drew, is that this season M-G-M in no instance is making admission price a factor in establishing protection.

Film Leaders In St. Louis Court Today

Preliminary Battle Aims To Prevent Injunction

By BILL ORNSTEIN

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—Film men and attorneys are here in force for the legal battle tomorrow in Federal court which will precede the general defense of anti-trust charges brought by the Government.

Warners offered a motion for postponement, due to the absence of former Senator James A. Reed, its attorney, who is en route to Portland, Ore., following the death of his sister. The motion was taken under advisement. Counsel for Paramount and RKO are ready to go ahead. William Benton of Washington is assisting District Attorney Russell Hardy.

Tomorrow's hearing is an argument by the principal defendants, RKO, Warners, and Paramount, to convince

Coast Maps Battle On Copyright Bill

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9.—A Hollywood committee has been appointed to organize a west coast campaign against the Duffy copyright bill removing the maximum penalty for copyright infringements. On the committee are Irving Berlin, Al Jolson, Gus Kahn, Wolfe Gilbert, Bert Kalmar and Al Dubin. The committee will work in conjunction with Nathan Burkan, New York counsel for Ascap.

Burkan, addressing a meeting of 60 studio composers here recently, described the Duffy bill as "tantamount to licensed piracy." The bill has been passed by the Senate but failed to emerge from a House committee. It is slated to be revived at the next session of Congress.

"Top Hat" Heads to $114,000 2nd Week

"Top Hat" at its present pace will gross between $112,000 and $114,000 in its second Music Hall week which closes tomorrow night. If this figure is reached, the Astaire-Rogers film in its second stanza will break the previous high for the house formerly held by the first week of "Little Minister" in its first week at $110,000.

Without fanfare, the Music Hall has put into effect a slight increase in prices. In view of the management's assertion that there has been no complaint, the increase will remain. The

The recession from this peak, in the main, has stabilized tops at 50 cents and 25 cents.

First need for change was shown in "horse opera" releases. This state has been a consistently good market for this type of release, show time for them usually being Friday and Saturday. However, receipts became so meagre at 25 cent scales that many houses abandoned these showings, with a resultant loss of the farmer Saturday trade. The western became a drug on the market. Gradually individuals adjusted prices to 15 cents and even 10 cents for this class and there was an immediate revival of patronage. For a time there was a shortage of good westerns—possibly for two years. Then with the redemand came a new supply in adequate quantity. All operators in Texas are involved in this trade, big chains along with small independents.

The matter of price scales bothered everybody in the trade. It took long-time study, some experiment, and a gradual removal of reluctance to change scales to effect these shifts. After it had been done, those who could see the result concluded that it was an adjustment of admission prices to the economic level of commodity prices and the rates of wages—the re-attraction of the biggest segment of low income trade in the state, which had been alienated by prices beyond its ability to pay.

Wide Range of Prices

Out of this experience came adaptations for other types of releases. Sunday towns generally maintained a 25 cent price, with week day adjustments ranging from straight price lowering to bargain days, family rates and other methods. All of these plans proved themselves favorably and they remain in operation now. The result is that in the bulk of Texas towns there is a range of price scales to take care of classes of trade and to sustain the gross for the week.

Another modification is the chain-closed town, where "A" and "B" houses and subsequents are scaled to classification. Some circuits have maintained prices at a low of 25 cent first run, especially in closed towns. Others have adjusted prices due to local competition and out of this experience have lowered prices in closed spots.

With a resurgence of business, some independents are adding new houses in which they will establish 35 cent or 25 cent rates, continuing low prices in present houses.

Interstate Circuit is stiff in its determination to maintain prices. Its new Dallas neighborhood will be scaled at 35 cents.

R. & R. Theatres lately reduced scales over the whole circuit for mid-week days. H. B. Robb, president, says it has produced substantial increases in the gross.

In the prosperous oil towns of the East Texas Theatres there is no need for reductions. Although this company, also, has been led to meet competitive prices.

Little Change in Cleveland by M-G-M

to the policy of the house as we see it," Drew explained, "and our established policy is to sell clearance as clearance is deserved in our estimation with no regard to admission prices.

"We furthermore reserve the right to determine what protection we will give to double feature houses," Drew said.

In order to make it clear that this is the policy of M-G-M and does not involve policies of other local distributors Drew stated: "I have never discussed clearance or protection with any other local exchange representative, but in my opinion our policy is equitable to both distributor and exhibitor."

Loew's, local M-G-M first run account, as in former seasons, is taking 35 days' protection over de luxe suburban houses, but has increased its protection over 15-cent and double feature houses to 77 days instead of the former 63 days.

Contrary to the statement that selling in Cleveland is slow, Drew reports that he has sold earlier this season than at any time in his eight years' experience as Cleveland M-G-M branch manager. He announces he has closed every account in the Greater Cleveland area including both circuits and independents.

Tax Threatens Film Stoppage in Mexico days, unless the Mexican government rescinds its recent tax rulings within 30 days.

Discussions had been held with the Mexican government over a long period, it was said, but no concessions had been forthcoming. The most recent order required that distributors in Mexico post a bond to guarantee that they would not exceed the import quota. Distributors could get no better satisfaction, it was learned, as a result of appeals to American authorities. Consequently, it was determined that the only positive way of obtaining vitally necessary concessions in the matter of taxation from the Mexican government was to invoke the cancellation clause in the standard contract universally used by American companies in Mexico. The notices have been sent to exhibitor accounts, with the expectation that, lacking necessary product, and facing the prospect of being forced to close their theatres, Mexican exhibitors will bring pressure to bear on the government looking to a moderation of its taxation program.

U. S. District Judge George Moore that no preliminary injunction should be issued to prevent the defendants from carrying out an alleged agreement not to sell film to Fanchon & Marco's Ambassador, Missouri and New Grand Central theatres.

Warners and their affiliates are contending that no injunction is necessary, as the same issues are covered in the trial of the anti-trust charges set for Sept. 30. RKO and Paramount contend there is no agreement not to sell to the theatres. Warners make the additional contention that any injunction that might force film sales to F. & M. would place this company in absolute control of the local first run situation, as F. & M., the company charges, has an agreement covering the Fox and St. Louis theatres.

Indictments in the case were returned several months ago.

Subpoenaed for the action are Neil Agnew, Austin Keough and Norman Collyer for Paramount, Jules Levy and Cresson Smith for RKO, E. K. Hessberg and Robert W. Perkins for Warners. Subpoenaed locally are: Louis Ellman, RKO; Maurice Schweitzer, Paramount; James Winn, Warners; Clayton Lynch, Metro; Harry Scott, U.A.; Joseph Garrison, Universal; Byron S. Moore, Shubert Theatre; Robert Hicks, Orpheum; Harry Greenman and Charles Kurtzman, Fox Theatre; Clarence M. Turley and Allen L. Snyder, Ambassador; Tom K. managers said, according to Rolsky, that they would forward the petitions to their sales managers for action. E. S. Young and E. E. Webber also were on the committee which contacted managers.

It is understood that Universal has sold Fox Midwest, but without including a clearance and zoning arrangement, which the home office indicated would have to be worked out locally.

That New York executives are at a loss to explain why the schedule, "if one actually exists," would be forwarded to New York, since New York would have nothing to say about it one way or another anyway, is surprising in view of the answer exchange managers are reported to have made to independents when presented the petition. If New York executives have nothing to say in the matter, and Kansas City managers are waiting for them to okay the schedule, then that document already has been "pocket vetoed," and is "lost."

This would not be surprising to some exhibitors here who have felt that the schedule did not have a chance without the signature of Elmer C. Rhoden, Fox Midwest head.

Ask Examination in Suit Against M-G-M

A motion was filed in Federal Court yesterday to examine E. F. Bitner, president of Leo Feist, Inc., in connection with a suit brought by that firm against M-G-M for alleged infringement of copyright on "Since I've Been Knowin' You." The complaint sets forth that on Nov. 19, 1930, Nacio Herb Brown and Raymond B. Eagan wrote the music and lyrics and transferred all rights to Nacio Herb Brown Inc. Thereafter, Nacio Herb Brown delivered to the defendants the melody, together with lyrics written by Arthur Freed, then in the employ of M-G-M.

This composition, the plaintiff charged, was entitled "A New Moon Is Over My Shoulder" and was used by the defendants in "Student Tour." The plaintiff states that it has been damaged to the extent of $100,000. Defendant entered a general denial and further set forth that Nacio Herb Brown, Inc., assigned rights to the composition to the Robbins Music Corp. and to the defendant.

Equity Favors Vote On Any League Pact

A recommendation to the council of Actors Equity Ass'n. was voted at the organization's quarterly membership meeting at the Astor yesterday, asking that if and when a basic agreement establishing theatre working conditions for a definite period of time is negotiated with the League of N. Y. Theatres that it be submitted to the Equity membership before final ratification.

No date has been set yet for a meeting between Equity representatives and theatre managers to open negotiations on the basic agreement.

Reports were read to approximately 450 Equity members at the meeting on new policies adopted since the annual meeting last June, including the recent Sunday show and rehearsal pay actions.

Informal meetings for the discussion of Equity policies and problems which are not considered at formal meetings because of lack of time will be held from time to time beginning next month, the meeting was advised. Reports on the recent successful strike of burlesque performers were given to the meeting by Thomas J. Phillips, president of the Burlesque Artists Ass'n., and unanimous approval of the conduct of the strike was voted.

Allan Corelli, executive secretary of the Theatre Authority, reported on the collection and disposal for theatrical relief of $15,000 from benefits.

"Top Hat" Is Boston Smash; Gets $33,000

Boston, Sept. 9.—"Top Hat" was a sensation at Keith's Memorial. Standouts were the rule all week and the take piled up to $33,000, over normal by $21,000.

The return of stage shows to the RKO Boston, with an introductory bill made up of "Folies Bergere" and "Hot Tip" (film) clicked heavily at $35,000, but the straight picture standout of the week was "Top Hat."

"Anna Karenina," playing day and date at Loew's Orpheum and Loew's State, was strong in both spots. It took $15,000 in the former and $13,000 at the latter. "Annapolis Farewell," with a stage show, held up to $23,000 at the Metropolitan in spite of the competition.

Kelly Sees Gain in Deal

A. foreign sales chief, as a potential means of improving product from both centers by dividing the total output over the two points.

Mrs. Beery Goes Home

Baltimore, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Wallace Beery, who was a patient of Dr. Louis P. Hamburger at Johns Hopkins Hospital here, has gone on her way to Beverly Hills. Beery is to leave London to rejoin his wife in California about Sept. 15.

Bergen Threatens to Quarantine Children

RUTHERFORD, Sept. 9.—Latest move of Bergen health authorities, despite the slackening of the infantile paralysis epidemic, is an announcement that all children under 14 years found attending theatres will be quarantined for 14 days.

School openings have been delayed at Hackensack, Englewood, Hasbrouck Heights, Rutherford, Paramus, Fort Lee, Closter, East Rutherford, Cliffside Park, Alpine, Maywood, Lyndhurst and Woodridge.

Calgary Bans Children

TORONTO, Sept. 9.—The scattered appearance of infantile paralysis in Canada became more than a scare on Sept. 7 when the decision was reached by the Board of Public Health at Calgary to place a ban on the admission of children under 16 years of age to all local theatres.

The action was considered premature, however, because only three cases had been reported in that city and there was no evidence of an epidemic. There is nothing in the way of widespread nature in the occurrence of the disease in any section of the Dominion and no intimation has been made by any other municipality that Calgary's example will be followed. The Calgary move has been widely reported and it may have a deterrent effect upon theatre patronage everywhere.

Pittsburgh's Pool Hits Fulton Plans

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—Chiefly because of the recent pooling agreement between Warners and Loew's, the future of Mort Shea's Fulton remains in doubt. The house, closed for the last two months, was originally scheduled to reopen several weeks ago, but so far there has been no announcement as to when it will resume.

The problem is chiefly a matter of product. In the past, the Shea house has filled in its Fox and Universal splits with M-G-M and United Artists sloughs that the Penn didn't use as well as most of the G. B. output.

Under the Warner-Loew pool, however, the Warner, a double feature house, will get all of the M-G-M and U.A. product the Penn and Stanley do not use, while the Harris-Alvin has already signed with G. B. That leaves the Fulton with only a third of Fox and one-half of Universal.

Whether this will be enough remains to be determined by Shea.

Films on Air at K. C.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 9.—A radio movie column dubbed Paul Henning's "Parade of Stars" goes on the air Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week over KMBC beginning today.

A supplementary idea is to interview stars when they come through Kansas City, and for this purpose the station will use its "Newscaster" car equipped with short wave apparatus. Henning is now in Hollywood arranging material.

"King Solomon of Broadway"

(Universal)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9.—Edmund Lowe, gambler, losing his night club to some pals in a card game, gets involved with a dancer, Dorothy Page, an heiress; Louise Henry and his partner, Edward Pawley, who is just out of Sing Sing. The story is rather well known, but is diversified by the singing of Pinky Tomlin and Dorothy Page.

The original story and screenplay by Albert J. Cohen and Robert T. Shannon in the atmosphere of gangster, night club and society is more or less formula with the loose ends untied. The dialogue by Henry Clork and Doris Malloy is a redeeming feature.

The picture starts well, holding interest until a masked marvel dance. Then the plot goes off on a tangent. The picture has laughs and mild entertaining quality.

Besides Edmund Lowe, Dorothy Page, Pinky Tomlin, Louise Henry and Edward Pawley the cast includes Charles Grapewin, Bradley Page, Arthur Vinton and Clyde Dilson. Four songs were especially written for the production with "Moaning in the Moonlight" a popular possibility.

On duals and in B houses this should be acceptable.

No production code seal. Running time 70 minutes. "G"

"Fighting Youth"

(Universal)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9.—Attempting a new angle for football stories, this picture frequently reflects confusing tendencies in the story.

Charles Farrell, football star, quarrels with his sweetheart, June Martel and becomes a follower of Ann Sheridan who is the leader of the campus radicals. The student society led by Miss Sheridan is attempting to destroy the varsity although the motive is not clearly defined. Farrell slips badly as the football player who is accused of sabotage, is fired from the team and restored only in the last five minutes of the big game after school authorities have probed radical activities.

Scoring two touchdowns to win the game, Farrell is reunited with Miss Martel. The story is played against a college background with Andy Devine furnishing most of the comedy with the assistance of Phyllis Frazer and Herman Bing. The balance of the cast, which includes All-American football stars, play capably.

The production by Fred Meyer and the direction by Hamilton MacFadden get the most from the screenplay by Henry Johnson, Florabel Muir and MacFadden.

Production Code Seal No. 1,313. Running time 76 minutes. "G"

VENICE, Sept. 9.—Italian awards at the Third Biennial Motion Picture Exhibit went largely to American productions. The Mussolini Cup was awarded "Anna Karenina," an official communique commenting on Greta Garbo's interpretation of the Tolstoy character. A gold medal went to Walt Disney's "Band Concert." For his direction of "The Wedding Night," King Vidor was awarded the government bureau's cup. An award for the best color film went to "Becky Sharp."

California's Chain Store Tax on Skids

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—California's new chain store tax which, it has been feared, might apply to theatres, now seems to be destined for a long period of non-enforcement or repeal.

A petition for a referendum, now being tabulated, has 250,000 signatures and it is predicted from 170,000 to 175,000 will prove legal. This would automatically stay enforcement. Attacks on the constitutionality of the act also are in the offing.

Para. Quarter Receipts Hit $1,582,500

Earnings After Charges Put at $796,000

Substantial improvements in Paramount earnings are shown in the first report issued by Paramount Pictures, Inc., for its wholly-owned or substantially owned subsidiaries since the reorganization. The report covers the second quarter of 1935 and before the reorganization and shows total receipts of $1,582,500, with estimated earnings after various deductions of $796,000.

During the nine-month period which covered the last quarter of 1933 and the first two quarters of 1934 the company's total receipts were $2,244,747, according to the trustees' reports. The report discloses, therefore, that the second quarter earnings for this year are within $662,247 of the total for a nine-month period which included the first half of last year.

Of the total receipts of $1,582,500 for April, May and June, $1,289,500 was credited to operating earnings of Warners headed the list in the feature category with eight shooting, one preparing and slated for cameras within two weeks and seven in the cutting room. Paramount had six, three and 11; Fox, five, two and five; Universal, four, two and two; Radio,

The report indicates the Mexican

The first discussions on the merger were scheduled to begin late yesterday with Harry Brandt, I. T. O. A. president, representing Allied; Joseph D. Basson, president of Local 306, and Frank Tichenor, labor representative for Mayor LaGuardia, participating. Pending the outcome of the negotiations a truce was agreed upon late Monday night by the two unions which brought picketing of both 306

Loew's Not to Rule In Hurry on Games

Loew's will make no immediate decision on reinstating chance games in their local houses despite recent decisions in municipal courts here holding various forms of games not to be in violation of the lottery laws, a spokesman for the company said yesterday.

It was intimated that, while appeals on these favorable decisions on the games were still pending in the courts and orders from district attorneys of all five boroughs to discontinue the games still stood, Loew's would take no hasty action in resuming the policy. Eight Loew theatres were playing Screeno when the police orders were issued about three weeks ago.

Consolidated Amusements, which discontinued Lucky at eight theatres at the same time, is reported ready to resume the feature as a result of the recent favorable court decisions.

Masquers—Wampas To Vote on Merger

Hollywood, Sept. 10.—Within the next few days, members of The Masquers and Wampas will vote on a proposal to have members of the latter organization absorbed into the former. The Wampas, once a powerful organization in Hollywood, famous for its nominations of "Baby Stars," has lost much ground during the last few years.

One Way

Boston, Sept. 10.—Here's a theatreman who has found a way to increase his take because of pari-mutuel dog races, bane of many exhibitors. He is Al Worrell, Massachusetts chain operator. A new track on Cape Cod does not bother Worrell at all.

His formula is simple. He has acquired the concessions franchise at the track.

San Antonio Not Planning Scale Boosts

This is the ninth installment in a national survey on the trend of admission prices.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 10.—Admission prices are not likely to be raised in the San Antonio territory for the time being. The impression among theatre managers is that they are as high as the traffic will bear.

In this city, the Interstate circuit controls all downtown houses. In the ace houses—Majestic and Aztec—top prices are 50 cents. Occasionally the

Dallas Men Divided On Federal Queries

Dallas, Sept. 10.—Exchange managers are divided in their reactions toward the questionnaire put out by Dwight L. Savage, special assistant to the attorney general.

Some of the offices state that they will answer all the questions; others that the clerical labor involved is too great and that the matter has been referred to home offices; others that action will depend on instructions. George Wright, film companies' attorney, declined to divulge his advice.

As a general thing the independent exchanges will answer.

Savage is expected to conclude his preliminary work here this week and to depart. Prior to his return to Washington, it is likely that he will visit other Texas towns for personal contacts.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

"THERE are two necessaries in this business," reflected Irving Thalberg yesterday as he looked thoughtfully out of the broad windows of his office on the sixth floor of the Loew's State Building. "There is the man with ideals and the man who knows how to make money. The first alone is no good. The second alone is a menace because he is apt to place a premium on mediocrity. But the combination of the two is something this industry needs and needs sorely, for there must be idealism and there must be profit." . . .

This producer, still young in appearance and in years, is in New York on his first visit in about two years. He has budged not a bit from the base line on which rises his theory that the fundamental on which the entire business rests, solidly or otherwise dependent upon the outcome, is product. When Thalberg was in charge of the Metro plant, there was the occasional bending of his will to the pleas and exhortations of the sales department in New York that release dates must be met. The arguments, of course, were the usual ones and included (1) a substantial cash loss because theatres spot booked other and available product and (2) theatres faced ultimate shutdown because of an interrupted flow of pictures.

"Concessions? Naturally, there were concessions," Thalberg reminded himself on this score. "But did you know that in the eight years I was in charge of production, the Loew company showed a profit of $57,000,000?" . . .

The stride maintained by important pictures will continue without abatement. Indeed, it will gain in impetus, he thinks. Looking about the country and checking into box-office performance, Thalberg's conclusion is concise and definite. Here it is: "The public is responding to good attractions. You see evidences of it on all sides. Pictures don't have to be masterpieces to draw heavy grosses, but they do have to be made well. The thirty and thirty-five hour week is giving the workingman more leisure than he has ever known before. With that leisure is a desire for amusement and this industry is proportionately benefiting. Now tell me what you know?"

We sketched briefly the general recovery in grosses and the returning confidence it has brought, citing at the same time our hope that the final and lingering comparisons with abnormal 1929 would go into the discard. "I think you are wrong," came Thalberg's rejoinder. "I believe those grosses are on the way back. You may be interested in learning that 'Dancing Lady' is computed here as a 100 per cent draw; that 'Tugboat Annie' did 126 per cent and 'China Seas' so far rates 121." . . .

The rapid growth of double features which is a source of worry to many observers bothers Thalberg not at all. He is quite certain Hollywood, with its usual lack of interest in events on the far side of its walls, will amble on its serene way unconscious of what is transpiring. Insofar as his own plans are concerned, he plots no change in his production principles, confident in his belief that, doubles or triples or singles, product that rates will find its level, get its proper percentage split and, by very force of merit, relegate the second feature to the spot where it belongs. Thalberg's sincerity is not to be questioned. What he said, he believes although it does not eliminate the possibility of error. One certainty, however, prevails with him. He may be expected to continue his standard so successfully maintained over the years. . . .

About the reports linking his name with flirtations on other pastures and the exact reason for his trip at this time, Thalberg as usual, is completely reticent. He has been conferring with Nick Schenck, in whom it is timely to remind there is a pronounced pride of organization and a constantly present glow of satisfaction over the manner in which the Loew and Metro family have stuck it out together almost since their beginnings. Bruited about and wholly apart from any conversations held with Thalberg yesterday is the inside report that current difficulties, studio-wise, will be straightened away to the general happiness of those principally concerned. . . .

Harry Cohn is going to miss his Sam Briskin. The former bookkeeper who rose to his shortly to end post as general studio manager for Columbia by dint of hard, back-breaking labor has been one of that plant's chief assets as sundry, if not all, in Hollywood quite well know. The informed on the coast, likewise, are very well familiar with the truth of the matter which is that Cohn has been taking many bows for jobs which Briskin has accomplished. The split, it is pretty well established, revolves around stock. The most reliable story insists Cohn had pledged a block to Briskin verbally; that Briskin contends the pledge covered certain commitments to which Cohn is not now willing to subscribe. The loss which, therefore, confronts Columbia, as those matters go, will, of course, be another studio's gain. Briskin will have no difficulty landing elsewhere. . . .

Charlie Chaplin, the success of "City Lights" at the Cohan still lingering in his memory, is reported standing pat on a similar New York handling for "Modern Times" which, if and when ready, will be his first feature since '31. The plan, as it reaches this space: Strictly a grind policy, starting early and running late on an as-many-turnovers-a-day-as-possible idea at one buck top. This against a tonier run at a theatre like the Center. . . .

Campbell Is Guest Of Movietone Crew

THE Hollywood REPORTER

'BROADWAY MELODY' A SMASH

Perfect Musical, Perfect Cast, Fine Direction-Production

“BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936”

(MGM)

“Broadway Melody of 1936” . . when you’ve said that, you’ve said the last word, the best word and TOPS in musicals. Headed by the sensational Eleanor Powell, there is a display and array of talent the like of which has never been seen on the screen before. It’s a revusical that combines only the best features of that kind of entertainment, which results in high-powered comedy, gorgeous production, a musical score that will be played for months and months, and a picture that will be played and replayed to keep audiences happy and make the box office positively smirk with satisfaction.

In writing the screen play and dialogue for this production, Jack McGowan, Sid Silvers and Harry Conn haven’t missed a trick for injecting bright, quick sketches creating legitimate comedy and romantic characters and making use of the specialty acts that dot the picture with exclamation points. It’s the best job of musical picture writing that has come out of Hollywood. And it’s also the best job of musical picture direction that has come out of the whole picture world, with Roy Del Ruth surpassing himself at that particular job. Del Ruth has an uncanny sense of tempo for this kind of thing. A tempo that never lets down, that spots numbers so correctly it’s astonishing, that gets laughs with the greatest of ease and never stops to milk a situation dry

And then, first, last and always, there is Eleanor Powell. To bill her as the world’s greatest tap dancer is to tell only part of the story. That girl is literally a screen sensation who makes history with this picture. She has no peer in dancing. She does an imitation of Katharine Hepburn that is chilling in its accuracy and caricature. She can act and she has beauty of face that has freshness and charm and personality. In fact she’s a star so bright that others pale in comparison.

But that’s not all. Jack Benny and Sid Silvers as colyumist and stooge, respectively, are something pictures cannot afford to be without. Benny with his slow takums, and, Silvers with his silly pan and nonsense delivery, make a team to talk about. Also there are Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, eccentric tap dancers par excellence, with grand comedy personalities that will be in great demand with the fans. There is Robert Wildhack, the “snorer,” beautifully placed throughout the picture, and, with a routine and way of giving out with it, that is another huge rave for the picture.

Frances Langford sings elegantly, and, Robert Taylor, is not only the best musical comedy hero, but comes out with a most pleasing voice. June Knight scores as the heavy and also scores with her dancing, which is of the ballroom variety. Una Merkel crashes through with another of her excellent comedy roles and Nick Long Jr. is swell as Taylor’s man Friday, and for his dance with June Knight, he deserves a big hand . . . the lad is darned good.

But you haven’t heard everything yet. There’s the music by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed. A one hundred per cent score with grand lyrics. A hit in every number and a knockout in “Broadway Rhythm,” which is the closest thing to Gershwin that Gershwin has done in years. That’s meant in an entirely complimentary manner. No comparisons but a tribute to the boys and to Edward B. Powell who did the orchestrations, (take a lesson from him sometime,) and the magnificent musical direction by Alfred Newman.

Wait, that’s not all. This picture is so good that every department is fully responsible for its contribution. Dave Gould’s dance routines are well nigh perfect. “Sing Before Breakfast,” “I’ve A Feelin’ You’re Foolin’,” (that title doesn’t sound right,) “Sunday Afternoon” and “Broadway Rhythm” give you the idea of how such things should really be done in pictures. Miss Rasch’s ballet to “You Are My Lucky Star” is beautifully staged. And the magnificence that goes into the art direction of Gibbons and Pye is breathtaking, with the costumes by Adrian carrying out the perfection of background for a musical.

There remains the photography by Charles Rosher, which fills the eye to overflowing with the loveliness in the picture, and, all in all, John Considine has to his credit the finest musical production with the most goodies, that audiences have ever bought. HURRAH!!!

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Broadway Melody of 1936"

(M-G-M)

Hollywood, Aug. 26.—Entertainment grand and glorious, comedy joyful and boisterous, songs tuneful and melodious, dancing, world-beating, taps, terpsichore, choreography and rhythms plenty hotcha meld in this musical melody that propels a new personality, Eleanor Powell, to the mazdas and gives Jack Benny, the funny man; Robert Taylor, the lover; Frances Langford, the torch singer, Una Merkel and Sid Silvers, the laughateers, with Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, two eccentrics, and June Knight full and free outlet for their ace-high talents.

Here is a show with heart interest from a yarn based on a story by Moss Hart with the screen play by Jack McGowan and Silvers. It's all about a columnist, Benny, who can't keep his nose out of other people's romances until his beezer is poked a few times. He creates a fictitious personality, and Miss Powell, small town girl, is forced to impersonate his creation, she makes good in the big show and gets her man, Taylor. The story is designed with the heartache and victory of the Main Stem.

The song, "You Are My Lucky Star," sung by Miss Langford and also by Miss Powell, sticks in your whistle. Other tunes, "I've Got a Feeling You're Fooling," "Broadway Rhythm," "Sing Before Breakfast" and "On a Sunday Afternoon," all by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, the original "Broadway Melody" writers, are tuneful treats. Miss Powell, in her first film reveals star talents and is tops in taps, singing, beauty, imitations and trouping. Robert Wildhack's snoring specialties are belly laughs. Henry Stockwell sings the original "Broadway Melody" number.

Beautiful in movement and setting is Albertina Rasch's ballet. Distinctive is the musical direction of Albert Newman and the dances created by Dave Gould. The art direction, photography, gowns and sound are in M-G-M's best craftsman's manner.

John Considine produced under Sam Katz's aegis.

Benny's national popularity, the discovery of Miss Powell, fresh songs, laughs, dances, girls and romance make this a crackerjack musical show of big money and for big money.

Production Code Seal No. 1294. Running time, 110 minutes. "G."

Film Previews!

Broadway Melody of 1936

Metro release of John Considine, Jr., production. Starring Jack Benny and Eleanor Powell. Directed by Roy Del Ruth. Original story by Moss Hart. Screen play by Jack McGowan, Sid Silvers and Harry Conn. Music and lyrics by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed. Settings by Cedric Gibbons. Photography by Charles Rosher. Film editor, Blanche Sewell. Dances by Dave Gould and Albertina Rasch. Supporting cast: Robert Taylor, June Knight, Sid Silvers, Una Merkel, Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, Frances Langford, Carl Randall, Harry Stockwell, Nick Long, Jr., Robert Wildhack. Previewed Aug. 9, at Warners theatre, Santa Barbara. Running time, 110 mins.

Nothing can stop 'Broadway Melody of 1936' from being sock box office. It's terrific entertainment. Crammed with laughs and dancing, but what dancing! It had the Santa Barbara preview audience on the edge of their seats. Eleanor Powell is undoubtedly a film name to conjure with. Has personality, looks and ability. In addition to this she trots out a brand of tap-dancing and ballet work the like of which has not been seen on the screen heretofore.

Jack Benny does an excellent job as a Broadway columnist. He's a new Benny, wisely kept apart from the love interest. Up near the front is Sid Silvers, who in addition to his contribution as one of the writers, makes it tough going for Benny. Silvers displayed a dead-pan brand of comedy acting that pictures can use.

John Considine has given the picture class production throughout.

Story is one of those backstage affairs. However, it is so well written by the McGowan, Silvers, Conn trio that the familiarity is not noticed. Their dialog job is a near perfect bit of comedy writing. Eleanor Powell comes to New York to try to get into Bob Taylor's show. Benny, a Broadway columnist, gums up her chances through his hatred for Taylor. In attempt to burn Taylor, Benny concocts a phoney French star, whom he plugs in his column. Benny's plan is kicked over by Una Merkel, Taylor's stenographer, who substitutes Miss Powell for the mythical star. Miss Powell gets the starring spot in Taylor's show which forces out June Knight, who has financed the show. Ending is the usual compromise, with everybody getting together and everything coming out as expected.

There are a dozen dance routines, all class. June Knight does two routines, one with Nick Long, Jr., and one solo. Vilma and Buddy Ebsen contributes two of their standard routines. Eleanor Powell does three, one unaccompanied that is tops. Brown and Freed have contributed five musical numbers: 'On a Sunday Afternoon,' 'Sing Before Breakfast,' 'I've a Feeling You're Fooling,' 'Broadway Rhythm,' and 'You Are My Lucky Star.' All are good tunes with the last one standing best chance of getting into hit class.

There isn't a bad performance in the picture. Bob Taylor gives a nice sustained performance as the young producer. June Knight is a good selection as the heavy. The Ebsens look like nice comedy bets for pictures. Frances Langford's work is confined to singing one number, which she does in good style. Una Merkel is excellent as the stenographer. Harry Stockwell makes a convincing editor, and Robert Wildhack's snoring bit is one of the outstanding spots in the picture.

Roy Del Ruth's direction keeps picture going at a fast pace and is responsible for a great portion of the entertainment values. He deserves particular credit for his excellent handling of Miss Powell on her screen debut.

Dance routines by Dave Gould are all novel and original, with his staging of the numbers always in keeping with the story. Albertina Rasch stages one ballet number, the choreography of which should be a push-over even for those not too friendly towards ballet dancing. Artistic are the settings by Cedric Gibbons and the photography by Charles Rosher.

BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936

MGM Musical Comedy 102 mins.

CREAM OF THE MUSICALS; IT'S A SURE-FIRE B.O. FILM; POWELL MADE A NEW STAR

Cast: Jack Benny, Robert Taylor, Eleanor Powell, Una Merkel, June Knight, Sid Silvers, Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, Nick Long, Jr., Robert Wildhack, Frances Langford and Harry Stockwell. Screenplay by Jack McGowan and Sid Silvers from an original by Moss Hart. Director, Roy Del Ruth.

Plot: Benny, a columnist, gets a punch in the nose from Taylor when he comments on the financial backing Taylor received from June, a wealthy widow, to produce his revue. Eleanor, Taylor's high school sweetheart, comes to the big city hoping he will help her get a start dancing in a show. He fails to recognize her and she leaves broken hearted. Benny starts a publicity gag about a mythical actress but Taylor cannot locate her to play the lead in his show. His secretary, Una, arranges for Eleanor to pose as the actress and she gets the job. Getting cold feet and afraid of trouble, Benny wants to call off the deal. He takes Eleanor to a party and she dances her dance. Taylor recognizes her and she not only lands the part but wins the lad.

SUMMARY: Once upon a time a certain film concern coined the phrase "Makers of Stars," now MGM can lay claim to that title along with "Producers of the greatest musicals." Not only has Metro, through the superb direction of Roy Del Ruth, given the industry one of its greatest musicals but with "Broadway Melody of 1936," they have uncovered at least three big potential box-office stars. Eleanor Powell, following this picture, will be just as sensational as Fred Astaire. She is an artist of many accomplishments. Her dancing is a revelation; her singing excellent and there's no limit to her charm. Jack Benny rises to his top-notch fame ladder with an unquestionably fine performance while Robert Taylor is one of the surprises of the picture. How far that boy will go can only be answered by the equal comparison to Clark Gable's early rise. No picture in recent years has contained better acting and direction. Una Merkel, Sid Silvers, Vilma and Buddy Ebsen and many others contribute their share to this perfect musical. That it will be a box-office draw sensation of the season, is giving it faint praise. It should do colossal business at first showings and clean up on repeat bookings. Benny is best marquee name. Title is big draw. Play up Eleanor Powell as another Fred Astaire type dance sensation. Go strong on music, dance and song plugging tie-ups. Dress marquee and lobby in sensational musical atmosphere, using plenty of girl art. Stage specialty dance act and contests, tieing in with halls and teachers. Radio stations for lobby hook-up and amateur contest. Radio editors for plugs on personalities. Arrange Mickey Mouse sweater giveaway or prize. Stage 10 most beautiful girls contest, pet superstitions, fashion shows, movie star imitations and pie or spinach eating contest for kids. Advertise 1936th person admitted free each day. Use catchline "So New It's a Year Ahead," working out street stunts, co-op ads etc., Commercial tie-ups, florists, fashions, Royal typewriters, dancing shoes, portable phonographs, music stores, and office equipment.

Put Over Case In St. Louis To October 1

journment of 10 days to two weeks, due to the absence of former Senator James A. Reed, Warner attorney, who left for Portland, Ore., yesterday following the death of his sister, Mary E. Reed. Jeffries explained to the court that Reed had been working on the case for some time and was thoroughly familiar with it while he had been on it only two weeks.

Hardy objected to the delay, declaring the Government had gone to an expense of $4,000 or $5,000 in bringing witnesses from all parts of the country. He added that adjournment would mean a waste of time "due to the fact that the victims of a conspiracy are being destroyed, that immediate action is required and the Government is entitled to an early hearing."

He emphasized that "the victims are being crushed out of business." Hardy pointed out that Warners was represented by counsel and that neither RKO nor Paramount had asked for a continuance. He said the application for continuance was "simply on the personal request of one man."

Jeffries countered by saying that he never heard of an instance where the bar or court did not recognize death in a family and put over cases, adding "the so-called victims are not being put out of business and the Government is trying to crucify innocent companies." When it became apparent Judge Moore would delay the hearing Hardy asked for the earliest date possible, declaring hearings would last only five days, to which Jeffries replied that the sessions would take from four to six weeks inasmuch as each witness must be examined.

Hardy Objects

When Moore heard Jeffries' remark he said if the trial was going to last several weeks, it will start now, pointing out that the criminal indictment case is on the calendar for Sept. 30. Hardy then took the floor and said that if the hearing had to be delayed the defendants should pay the cost of bringing witnesses here, to which the judge agreed. Moore then agreed to set Sept. 30 as the date for the injunction proceedings, but Jacob Lashly, local RKO attorney, intervened and informed the judge that the criminal action set for the same date may not go on because Hardy had not submitted a bill of particulars due Sept. 9. Judge Moore said RKO will get them either Wednesday or Thursday.

The Federal judge then set the preliminary injunction hearing for Sept. 30 to follow the criminal case but Lashly said this wasn't good as RKO attorneys would not know which case to concentrate upon.

A 10-minute recess was granted for the attorneys to get together but when they failed to agree Moore set Oct. 1 as the injunction hearing date leaving Sept. 30 stand as the criminal action date. Jeffries told the court Abel Carey Thomas, general counsel and secretary of Warners, had recently suffered a stroke and although improving rapidly he did not know if Thomas would be available at the end of the month for the indictment session. Paramount's local attorney, William R. Gentry, asked that the two dates be set for Sept. 30. Hardy objected to moving up the indictment hearing. All witnesses were excused and ordered to return Oct. 1. The defendants will pay the cost of bringing witnesses for this hearing.

Most out-of-towners left this afternoon by plane and train for New York, among them Ned E. Depinet, Neil F. Agnew, Louis Phillips, Irving Lesser, I. Levinson and Gordon Youngman. Jules Levy left for a short trip to Chicago. Representing RKO were Youngman, R. R. Irvine, George Leisure, William Mallard, Russell Dorr and John Howley from New York, and Lashly from here. For Paramount were Phillips and Sam W. Fordyce from New York and Gentry from here. Warners were represented by Levinson and Robert W. Perkins of New York and Jeffries, Fred Wood and Simpson Plummer locally.

Fanchon and Marco were represented by Ernest L. Wilkinson, of Washington and John S. Leahy locally. In addition to Hardy and the local district attorney, Harry C. Blanton, the Government was represented by John F. Claggert, William R. Denham and Harold L. Schilz from Washington. J. W. Fulbright and Robert M. Cooper, Government attorneys who had been working with Hardy, were unable to attend.

Milton Arthur of California flew to the coast tonight.

William Gehring and William Sussman, who arrived here last night, left for Oklahoma City by plane today after conferring with Benjamin Reingold, local Fox branch manager in connection with the third Kent drive. Lesser and Partington left for New York by air. Hardy and Denham leave for Washington Wednesday and Claggett and Schilz leave Thursday.

Matrimony

St. Louis, Sept. 10. — The Government action nearly interfered with matrimony. As soon as Clayton T. Lynch, M-G-M manager, who was subpoenaed in the case, learned of the postponement today, he dashed to marry Cletus Utterbach, the couple leaving immediately on a honeymoon.

Harris P. Wolfberg, district manager, is coming from Kansas City next week temporarily to run the exchange.

Libeau to Des Moines

St. Louis, Sept. 10.—R. C. Libeau, Paramount district manager with headquarters in Kansas City, attended the court session and then left for Des Moines after seeing Agnew.

Report Grosses Hold Up

St. Louis, Sept. 10.—Jules Levy, before leaving for New York, declared "Top Hat" grossed $71,000 in the first four days of the second week at the Music Hall in New York, compared to $74,500 in the same period of the first week.

Irving Lesser said "Diamond Jim" would probably end its third week at the Roxy at $30,000, with $22,000 for the first four days.

Moves Begun For Merging 306-Allied

and Allied-manned houses to an immediate end. The meeting and truce were arranged at the instance of Tichenor, who is reported to be acting upon insistence from Mayor LaGuardia that the theatre picketing "nuisance" be terminated.

As a result of the truce, Broadway and other theatre fronts throughout the city were free of pickets yesterday for the first time in many months. According to reliable reports the only Local 306 pickets not called in were those assigned to the seven Harry Harris houses, the Bluebird, Columbia, Gotham, Sunset, Washington, Bronx and Central. Under the truce Local 306 agrees to refrain from efforts to make employment contracts with theatres manned by Allied members and the latter organization makes the same agreement with respect to theatres manned by Local 306 men.

The strife between the two unions has been spirited from its very beginning. During the past few weeks an unprecedented outbreak of violence, marked by the bombing of houses owned or operated by Brandt and the beating of Allied pickets on duty at Local 306-manned houses, was ascribed by police to the warfare between the unions. Theatre operators, particularly those in the Times Square area, have chafed for months over the picketing of their houses by one or the other of the rival unions.

Meanwhile, Local 306 is continuing its negotiations on a new basic wage scale with circuit representatives. No conclusive progress in the negotiations up to a late hour yesterday was reported by either side. A membership meeting of Local 306 is scheduled for today to hear reports on the status of the negotiations and the local's recent petition to I.A.T.S.E. headquarters at Washington for a revocation of the latter's order against a strike by Local 306. According to reliable reports, the petition was denied.

Acting on the suggestion of circuit representatives, a request is expected to be made of today's meeting to grant authority to the local's negotiators to act on their own initiative without being required to submit recurring proposals to the membership for approval. Local 306 representatives predicted that the request, if made, would be refused.

wholly owned or substantially wholly owned subsidiaries; $76,800 was received as dividends from non-consolidated subsidiaries, and $216,200 from a foreign exchange adjustment.

Deductions were as follows: Interest on bank settlement (non-recurring after June 29, 1935), $55,000; Federal income taxes (estimated), $195,500; interest for second quarter on new debentures of Paramount Pictures, Inc., from Jan. 1, 1935, in accordance with the reorganization plan, $400,000; reserve for losses of Paramount Broadway Corp. and companies which are inactive, or the future status of which is uncertain, $136,000. This left an estimated net earnings total of $796,000.

A statement issued by the company read:

"The above results have been prepared by the company's accountants from the books and reports of subsidiaries, and are subject to annual audit by public accountants. They exclude expenses incident to the bankruptcy and reorganization of the parent company. They do not include the results of operations of Olympia Theatres, Inc., and the Minnesota Amusement Co. and certain indirectly owned subsidiaries which were in receivership or bankruptcy throughout the period, and whose operations, therefore, do not affect the current earnings of Paramount Pictures, Inc.

"Net capital losses for which new reserves were created on the balance sheet of Sept. 29, 1934, are also excluded. Operations of companies which are not wholly owned or substantially wholly owned are included only to the extent that dividend income has been received therefrom.

"The second quarter's earnings reflect seasonal factors, and to some extent the adverse effect of the temporary slowing down of production resulting from the reorganization of the studio management undertaken early in the year and still in progress. Studio production is increasing, but the effect of the lower production rate during the spring and early summer will continue to be reflected in operating figures for some time."

San Antonio Is Not Planning Scale Raise

Majestic adds a stage show at which times the prices are upped to 65 cents.

The Texas, a first run, has a top price of 40 cents. The top price of the Empire, second run, is 25 cents.

As elsewhere, all San Antonio houses have their bargain matinees to 6 P.M. when top prices go into effect.

K. C. House Ups Price

Kansas City, Sept. 10.—One of the bright signs pointing toward good fall business is the announcement by Barney Joffee and Bill Reinke of the downtown first run Tower that that house will increase admissions on Sept. 20.

The new schedule will be 25 cents in the afternoon and 35 cents in the evening.

"We believe general conditions warrant such an increase, and we think we can get it," commented Joffee.

The Tower originally opened as a straight 25-cent first run-stage show house. Last fall, beginning Sept. 14, and for about two months, Joffee and Reinke tried a 25-35-cent schedule, but it was at a time that the Midland and Mainstreet went to 15 cents afternoons and 25 cents evenings for balconies. The Tower returned to the straight 25-cent price. Later the Mainstreet abandoned its cheaper balcony prices.

As the first instance of a price increase here, the Tower's move is being watched closely.

Mexican Producers To Raise Budgets

industry has made substantial progress in recent years, the output rising from four features in 1932 to 27 in 1934, with an estimate of 50 features for 1935. The total investment in Mexican studios is estimated at 500,000 pesos. Seven regular companies are engaged in production, and several others are making single pictures. Greater variety in film themes has replaced a concentration on Mexican life, customs and historical events.

Quip of the Day

Editor Motion Picture Daily:

Ali Gaga sounds like Amateur Night. From hooks he knows.

And "piscatorial pastime," he schmoozes. Poor fish! Pastime, my calendar! Esoteric pleasure, is what it used to be called.

Who is he? What is he? Why is he abstruse? Did he ever work for Rosenblatt?

Me, I'm an open book—an exhibitor's profit and loss statement. He hides behind a nom-de-pinochle and dances behind a Turkish bubble. Let him stop his fan dance—come out in the open.

I should fence in the dark with Ga-ga. I'll stick with salesmen for fencing, unless Ali's a sales manager. Then, of course, "I'll double."

Through his thick head, he don't understand I'm for exhibitors first, last, and some time. He's against ALL exhibitors, ALL times—a communist!

With dark-colored glasses Ali sees tapioca—and thinks it's caviar. I'll bet he's a sprocket-hole manufacturer.

With me, I admit, it's serious—but NOT hopeless. But with him it's hopeless—but not serious, nebbich.

Murphy Loses Post In Pittsburgh Pool

Pittsburgh, Sept. 10.—With the shifting of all publicity for Loew's and United Artists' Penn to the Warner press office under the new pooling arrangement between Warners and Loew's, Gene Murphy, for the last several months press agent for the Penn, has returned to New York for another assignment with Oscar Doob. All of the Penn's newspaper advertising and display work is now being handled by Joe Feldman of the Warner office, subject to final approval by Mike Cullen, Loew's manager here.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Big Broadcast of 1936"

(Paramount)

Hollywood, Sept. 10.—Big laughs, show values, names, varied entertainment, hokum and heart, all directed with imagination and pace by Norman Taurog make this something for box-offices to rave about.

Being a potpourri of assorted nuttiness from burlesque on melodrama to vaudeville, mocking romance and parading talent it bounces along on all amusement cylinders.

The story, contrived to bring in name acts, reveals Jack Oakie as a great lover of the air with Burns and Allen interesting him in a radio eye invention which sees, shows and speaks all. Lyda Roberti, a millionairess, heartsick on learning that her air Lothario writes warmly to other girls, comes to the studio to kill him, but discovers that her lover is two people, Oakie the talker and Henry Wadsworth, a crooner. Undecided as to which to marry, she takes both aboard her yacht to an island. There C. Henry Gordon, her secret lover, plans his dirty work, but the radio eye seeing all, saves all in a final chase that is tops for excitement.

Intercut between the plot, headline stars stud the show with Bing Crosby, Amos and Andy, Burns and Allen, Ethel Merman, Ray Noble and his band, Bill Robinson, Willie West and McGinty, The Vienna Boys Choir, Ina Ray Hutton and her Melodears and the dancing Nicholas Brothers, all good.

A girlie-girlie flash number interposes with elephants in contrasting steps with the chorines. The house building act of Willie West and McGinty is spotted between the acts for belly laughs.

The production has dress and sparkle for the eye. Tunes for the ear are by Ralph Rainger, Richard Whiting, Leo Robin, Dorothy Parker, Ray Noble and Gordon and Revel. Taurog's direction is distinctive and speedy. The screen play is by Walter Deleon, Francis Martin and Ralph Spence. Benjamin Glazer produced. As a merry, mad melange of grand gaiety propelled by star personalities, this should be a big bang in any showshop.

Production Code Seal No. 1020. Running time, 105 minutes. "G."

"Freckles"

(Radio)

Hollywood, Sept. 10.—Gene Stratton-Porter's beloved book, given a human and believable production, is sure-fire for family audiences.

Eight-year-old Virginia Weidler tops the cast, winning laugh after laugh with a quiet, natural comedy as a quaint chatterbox lending confusion to lovers and gangsters alike. Carol Stone does a competent job as a quiet young school teacher, loved by the waif, Freckles, who drifts into the Limberlost to become a timber guard. Tom Brown as Freckles is sincere if rather boyish for the romantic lead. Lumsden Hare, James Bush, Dorothy Peterson, Addison Richards, Richard Alexander, George Lloyd, Louis Natheaux and Wade Butler give good accounts under the direction of Edward Kelly and William Hamilton which gives a telling emphasis to characterizations.

Pandro Berman produced and William Sistrom supervised. The screen play by Dorothy Yost gets the full value of the background and down-to-earth characters. Miss Weidler scores heavily in a scene with a pet bear and in a climaxing fight when, held as a hostage by bandits in a lumber camp, she instructs the crooks in table manners. Action, romance and comedy in this afford large appeal for a general audience.

Production Code Seal No. 1267. Running time, 65 minutes. "G."

A REAL FIND

LITERALLY, the news about Eastman Super X spread like wildfire. Never has a film "caught on" faster, or been more widely adopted in so short a time. The reason: Super X is a real find for the cinema world. Introducing new standards of speed and photographic quality, coupled with rare versatility, it represents a major advance in raw-film research . . . a true contribution to the art of the motion picture. 306 Men Get Power to Act On Wage Pact

Move Due to Ultimatum Of Circuit Group

Members of Local 306 yesterday gave the negotiation committee power to conclude negotiations and sign a contract with the circuits. Last Friday circuit representatives refused to deal further with the committee unless it obtained the power necessary to close a deal.

The circuits claimed that negotiations in the past have been of little value. Every time the theatre men made a proposal, the operators' committee took it to the membership for action. Annoyed by the procedure, the circuits declined to meet again with the union men until official power to act had been granted.

With the membership approving such a move, the union delegates met yesterday afternoon with the circuit representatives. It is not likely that an agreement will be set this week.

A report from the committee which

Fox Met Allowances Authorized by Court

Attorneys, creditors' committees, trustees and others who participated in the reorganization of Fox Metropolitan Playhouses were authorized by Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe yesterday to file applications for allowances for their services on or before Sept. 30. A hearing on the applications will be held on Oct. 2.

The maximum amount allowed for reorganization expenses in the Fox Met plan is $500,000, which has already been set aside for that purpose.

Irving Trust Co., as trustee for Fox Met, yesterday filed objections

New Block Booking Drive Next Year, Says Pettengill

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Block booking legislation will be pressed at the next session of Congress, and hearings on the subject will be sought by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee in January, says Congressman Pettengill of Indiana in the final issue of the Congressional Record for the session just ended, which was published today.

No effort, however, will be made to enact censorship legislation, the Congressman said, expressing the belief that Congress is not ready for so radical a measure.

His bill, he declared, does not involve censorship, but prohibits block booking and blind selling.

Admitting that the measure was actually written by the M. P. Research Council, "aided by suggestions from many other sources," Pettengill declared it "one of the very important measures that will come before Con-

"Without Reason"

St. Louis, Sept. 11.—Fred Wehrenberg has a peeve against Columbia and, as yet, hasn't bought the distributor's output for his four theatres.

Wehrenberg's reason, he told Motion Picture Daily, is "the company is without reason."

Scales Stable In Omaha for About a Year

This is the tenth instalment in a national survey on the trend of admission prices.

OMAHA, Sept. 11.—There has been no price change locally in almost a year and that goes for downtown first runs and second runs and suburban second and third runs.

In the territory, likewise, there has been very little price variation. In Grand Island, Neb., third largest city in the state and overcrowded with theatres, there has been a slight fluctuation, the Island dropping its Sunday admission from 15 to 10 cents.

Nebraska City, at the present time, is furnishing a little fireworks which

Five-cent Increases Discussed in Akron

AKRON, Sept. 11.—A five-cent boost in admissions in all local subsequent runs is the aim of the local exhibitor association. Preliminary meetings on the subject have resulted in an expression favorable to the boost. A final meeting will be called some time this week, according to Robert Menches, president.

The movement aims to raise 20-cent scales to 25 cents and to raise 15-cent scales to 20 cents, tax included. These are evening adult prices. Downtown first run adult evening admission is 40 cents.

British Argue Over Cost of Big Pictures

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Statements by John Maxwell at the annual meeting of Associated British Pictures that money was being unwisely spent in British production, and that much City money recently invested would be lost, have led to interesting comment by other prominent members of the industry.

Mark Ostrer of Gaumont British pointed out that negative cost was less important than cost in relation to entertainment value obtained and that it was necessary to spend "considerable sums" in production for the international market.

On the other hand Julius Hagen of Twickenham Studios, one of the leading British independent units, goes on record in an interview with the Cinema with the opinion that £40,000 ($200,000) is a maximum which can

Report Atlas Again Eying RKO's Issues

Decision Expected When Sarnoff Returns

The Atlas Corp., large investment organization, is renewing its study of RKO's financial position with a view to arriving at an early decision on acquiring a large block of the company's outstanding securities, it was learned yesterday.

Indications are that definite action, one way or another, may be taken by Atlas shortly after Oct. 1. David Sarnoff, RCA head, is due back from a European trip about that time and conferences to be resumed between him and Atlas officials are expected to settle the deciding issues. RCA holds approximately $10,000,000 of RKO's $11,600,000 debenture issue outstanding. According to reports

Bank Night Row in Ohio Appeal Court

CLEVELAND, Sept. 11.—That Bank Night is a lottery under the Ohio statutes even though no money consideration is involved and that it is also unfair competition was the contention of former Appellate Judge John A. Cline, who represented the Fountain today before the Court of Appeals.

The court's decision will settle the status of Bank Night in this state and may have an effect elsewhere.

The case reached the appeals court on an appeal from the Common Pleas Court decision denying the Fountain's petition to stop Bank Night at the Haltnorth.

MPTOA Board to Set Convention Shortly

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 11.—Directors of the M.P.T.O.A. are expected to be called into session shortly at Chicago by Ed Kuykendall, president, Fred Wehrenberg stated today.

The principal topic for discussion will be the annual convention which Wehrenberg feels sure will be held in this city. The local M.P.T.O. head declares the natural get-together should take place here as it has been more than 20 years since the last conclave was held in St. Louis. That was when Marcus Loew presided at the Hotel Statler session.

New Block Booking Bill Drive Predicted

gress at the next session" and warned that "the members of the House will probably be subjected to the fiercest as well as the most subtle kind of pressure on the part of the big producers, a group which has unlimited resources and great powers of publicity at its disposal."

Block booking is a menace both to exhibitor and producer, he said, contending that it results in the suppression of legitimate enterprise and an inferior product to the consumer, while at the same time restricting the development of the art.

This, with blind selling, "virtually rob the local theatre man of any discretion," he charged, "and he has to show pictures which he knows his community does not want to see. The practice of blind selling destroys the normal selective process of good taste in any community.

"If enacted, this bill will release the normal selective process of good taste all over the country. Above all, it will do so in harmony with American traditions which call for local control over neighborhood conditions affecting customs, morals and conduct, and a fair chance for small independent enterprise which abhors Federal censorship of news or entertainment."

visited George E. Browne, president of the I. A. T. S. E., in Washington, in the hope of getting Browne to rescind the strike ban order was made. The five men reported that the I. A. T. S. E. head would not budge from his previous stand.

First of a series of meetings to discuss a merger between Local 306 and Allied M. P. Operators was held Tuesday night with Harry Brandt, head of the I. T. O. A.; Joseph D. Basson, president of Local 306, and Frank Tichenor, labor intermediary recently appointed by Mayor LaGuardia to look into the union situation. Another session was held last night and others are scheduled until an agreement is reached.

Efforts are being continued by Local 306 to cooperate with Empire State, which cannot merge with another union because of a court order obtained some time ago by Springer & Cocalis prohibiting an amalgamation.

Supreme Court Justice McCooey in Brooklyn yesterday signed an order returnable Sept. 16 requiring Estate Operators Co., Inc., which operates the Avon, Garfield and 16th Street in Brooklyn, to show cause why a temporary injunction should not be granted pending trial to restrain it from employing projectionists other than Allied. The three theatres are members of the I. T. O. A., which was authorized on Aug. 21, 1933, to sign for Allied operators. Despite this agreement, booths in the three houses are being manned by projectionists other than Allied and efforts to arbitrate the matter have been unavailing on the part of the union.

St. Louis Dispute Ends

St. Louis, Sept. 11.—The dispute over whether negro or white operators should be used at the Star, Criterion and Grand theatres has been settled by admittance of 21 negroes to Local 143, a newly chartered auxiliary union.

the exchanges are trying to unravel with hardly any success. The Overland, operated by Tom Sidles, and the Paramount and Booth, managed by Wes Booth, are warring over prices.

Both managers have cut prices to the extent both "A" houses are playing at 15 cents top, which is murder in that city, regarded as one of the best small business cities in the state.

Admissions throughout the Omaha territory may be regarded as generally stable with little fluctuation either way. Many small towns are getting 30 cents top, others 25 cents. Of course, there are isolated instances of small towns skipping the price up and down, but they are isolated.

Report Atlas Is Eying RKO's Issue

Atlas is interested only in the acquisition of securities of this issue, and whether or not it becomes a financial factor in the impending reorganization of RKO would depend to a large extent on its getting together with RCA on a transaction in these securities.

Atlas, which is an important financial factor in Paramount Pictures, first displayed an interest in RKO securities last spring. After some study of the company's financial position, Atlas officials let it be known that they would take no immediate action on an RKO investment. The company has maintained this position throughout the summer. Reports had it that Atlas was offering approximately 50 per cent of the price asked by RCA for a large block of its RKO holdings, with RCA displaying no interest in bargaining.

Bank Night Row in Ohio Appeal Court

Haltnorth, cited all the definitions of a lottery and claimed they include the element of consideration as a major factor. He charged, in addition, that the plaintiff came into court with unclean hands, as the signer of a petition for an injunction, John Kalafat, is interested in the Knickerbocker, now using a similar plan.

Judge Virgil Terrell questioned the right of the appeals court to hear the case on the ground that if it is a lottery it belongs in a criminal court. Both sides anticipate that the appeals court will hear the case and render an early decision.

The judges sitting were P. L. A. Leighley, Terrell and Manuel Levine.

to the claim of the Emblem Holding Corp. for $885,000 on the lease of the Stratford, Brooklyn. The claim is based on a 19-year lease at $45,000 a year, dating from July 31, 1935. The trustee argued that under Section 77-B of the bankruptcy laws claims for rent shall be "limited to an amount not to exceed the rent, without acceleration," for three years following surrender of the lease. The trustee asked that the claim be disallowed.

be spent in production for the British market and that for a film designed for international release he would not O.K. "a penny more than £60,000."

Hagen declares that foreign markets, including the U. S., are not worth more than £20,000 ($100,000) and that the only cases in which America has yielded really large results have been "two pictures made by Korda."

Paul Soskin, managing director of Transatlantic Films, Ltd., has floated Soskin Prod., Ltd., with a capital of £200,000 for the purpose of producing five large scale pictures in the next 18 months.

The new company will absorb Transatlantic, which produced "Ten Minute Alibi" for British Lion and "While Parents Sleep" for United Artists.

Major C. H. Bell, who was the original chief of production for Paramount in London, and who has been consulting engineer to the Paramount Theatres and many other enterprises, is a member of the Soskin board.

Reprinting as a pamphlet his paper on "The Future of the Films Act," read to the C.E.A. Conference at Cardiff, Simon Rowson adds a suggestion that the Board of Trade be approached to permit the advisory committee under the Films Act to function as a "tribunal of reference" to adjudicate problems dividing sections of the trade.

The advisory committee was constituted for the sole purpose of advising the Board of Trade on matters arising out of the Films Act. It consists of four exhibitors, two producers, two distributors and five non-trade members, one of whom must be a woman. The proposal that it should deal with such matters as rentals, overbuilding, etc., is certain to be adversely criticized.

Looking 'Em Over

"Condemned to Live"

(Invincible)

Built around the time-honored vampire bat theme, with a sequence in the nature of a prologue indicating the origin of the tendency in this case, this independently-produced picture from Maury Cohen emerges as under average entertainment. The cast contains no good selling names other than that of Ralph Morgan, who as the revered professor of the small foreign town, turns out to be the "vampire bat."

The picture may be of use as the second phase of a double bill program, but seems to lack finish in performance sufficient to permit it to stand on its own feet as the chief attraction.

Following the prologue sequence in the African jungle, a small town in Europe is visited by a series of frightful tragedies, attributed to a vampire bat. Early in the film it is apparent to the audience that Morgan, whose help the villagers seek, is in reality the "bat." His faithful servant, played by Mischa Auer, aware of his malady, tries to help him.

When Morgan realizes the truth, he commits suicide, his servant with him, while the girl and her sweetheart are reconciled.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Thunder Mountain"

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

Hollywood, Sept. 11.—Zane Grey's gold rush story has been turned into exciting fare with George O'Brien adding definitely to his prestige.

O'Brien and his partner, Dean Benton, backed by Edward Le Saint, discover a new mother lode. Benton goes to file the claim and O'Brien fetches Le Saint and his daughter, Barbara Fritchie. Arriving back at the mine, O'Brien finds Morgan Wallace, the heavy, has jumped the claim and Benton has met with foul play. With difficulty O'Brien organizes the miners to defeat Wallace at the miners' court. Benton, returning just before the court session, is murdered by Wallace, who then fights with William Bailey, his partner, the latter making a full confession of his wrongs before dying from wounds inflicted by Wallace. In a hard-riding chase and a fight O'Brien finishes Wallace.

The romantic plot has Miss Fritchie swinging her affection from O'Brien to Wallace, while Frances Grant, a dance hall entertainer, proves a real friend at the finish.

Sol Lesser's production is above the average for an outdoor picture and the direction by David Howard is uniformly smooth. Dan Jarrett and Don Swift have done a commendable script job and Frank Good's photography is excellent. The picture seems certain to please.

No production code seal. Running time, 65 minutes. "G."

Short Subjects

"Rhythm in Light"

(Tapernoux)

This is the result of an experiment of Mary Ellen Butte, an artist, who uses films to express the reaction of the mind to music, in this case Grieg's "Anitra's Dance." The film consists of the movement of geometric forms to portray tonal changes and variations as they are conjured up by the imagination. It is not a short of general appeal, but suitable for "little theatres" that cater to intellectual attendance. No production code seal. Running time, 8 mins.

Midwest Grosses on Way Up, Says LiBeau

St. Louis, Sept. 11.—Theatre grosses in Kansas City, St. Louis, Des Moines and Omaha are better than last year, Ralph C. LiBeau, Paramount district manager, stated here prior to his departure last night for Des Moines, where he will spend several days.

The local Yale and Plymouth which have been closed for 10 years have recently been reopened and in smaller towns in LiBeau's territory he finds that many theatres are reopening. In some spots houses which have been dormant since 1930 are now blooming forth with brilliant electric lights again. There are about 25 such situations, LiBeau said.

The Avalon, a neighborhood house, was recently reopened here and the Varsity will become active again starting Nov. 1.

Following refusal by License Commissioner Paul Moss to renew the license of the Third Ave. Peerless on the grounds that he personally found what he claimed to be a violation, Bernard Barr, representing the theatre, was successful yesterday in mandamus proceedings brought before Judge McLaughlin to compel renewal.

The judge's decision, in effect, according to Barr, was "that where an application is made for renewal of a license and the Building and Fire Departments, the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity and Department of Health have inspected the premises and found no violations, the Commissioner of Licenses must renew the license, even though in his own opinion a condition exists which he claims to be a violation."

ROXY THEATRES CORPORATION

OFFICE OF
HOWARD S CULLMAN
TRUSTEE

Mr. James Grainger,
Universal Pictures Corporation
1250 - 6th Avenue
New York, N. Y.

My dear James Grainger,

I would indeed be an ungrateful exhibitor if I did not tell you how thoroughly we appreciated the unusual co-operation given the Roxy Theatre during the three weeks' run of "Diamond Jim." When a picture shows to over three hundred and fifty thousand satisfied customers, it must have unusual merit and I hope we may have the privilege of playing many more outstanding Universal pictures during the coming season, with equal satisfaction.

"Diamond Jim" certainly opened our new season with a bang. Without doubt, it was a real big shot!

Cordially yours,

Howard S. Cullman.

Basson Sees Wage Pact in "Day or Two"

Local 306 expects to wind up negotiations with the circuits on a basic wage scale "in a day or two," Joseph D. Basson, president, stated yesterday in a speech at the Ampa.

"It appears likely negotiations will be satisfactorily concluded in a day or two," he said. Discussing union experiences with theatres, Basson declared:

"Every time we begin negotiating with theatre men they bring in their books and show us that every house is operating at a loss," he asserted. "Yet they build new theatres!"

Previous to discussing the current circuit conferences, Basson delved into the history of his organization, stating it is 25 years old. The local has de-

Washington, Sept. 12.—Television will be introduced to English audiences through film theatres, one of which already is installing equipment in anticipation of the inauguration of programs this fall, according to a report to the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Skouras Sues Fox, RKO on N. Y. Zoning

81st Street and Riverside Are Involved

George Skouras, representing Skouras Theatres Corp., yesterday filed injunction proceedings, returnable today in the Supreme Court, against Fox Film and the RKO circuit seeking to restrain the RKO 81st St. from playing Twentieth Century-Fox product day and date with the Skouras Riverside.

The issue involved is one of clearance and poses the general question: Is the 81st St. in the same protection area as the Riverside and the Nemo, both of the latter houses Skouras operations?

RKO maintains the 81st St. is not in the same zone and, under its recently closed deal with Twentieth Century-Fox is privileged to play that

Distributors Again Talk 2,000 Ft. Reel

Further discussion of factors involved in the proposed adoption of a standard 2,000-foot reel occupied a meeting of representatives of all national distributors and of S. M. P. E. branches at M. P. P. D. A. headquarters yesterday.

Gordon S. Mitchell, chairman of the technical branch of the Academy of M. P. Arts & Sciences, which is recommending the changeover, submitted figures on costs and savings involved in the adoption of the 2,000-foot reel. These will be checked by managers of exchange operations for national distributors between now and the calling of the next meeting, which will probably be held about the end of the month.

Arthur Dickinson of the M. P. P. D. A. presided at the meeting which was attended by more than 35 distribution representatives and technicians.

ITOA Letting Down Chance Games Bars

Convinced that chance games do not infringe the penal code and lottery laws in the state, the I.T.O.A. is advising its members to proceed with them in their theatres despite previous warnings from the police.

In the event of arrests, the members are assured representation in court by Milton C. Weisman, attorney for the organization. Within the last few

Insiders' Outlook

THE tally is in. And what a tally! From the North, the South, the East and the West, the twenty-nine cities from which Motion Picture Daily publishes box-office reports flash the word that grosses are up. It is Labor Day weekend business and that's always up, but it's business, nevertheless.

The detail, well worth scrutinizing, comes later, but interesting is the bulk for these twenty-nine situations where the average of $1,194,800 gave way to $1,533,400 for the theatre week ending variously from September 3 to 7.

There is Boston, for instance, where the seven-day period returned a first run aggregate of $133,550 as compared with an average $80,500. Buffalo went from $36,100 to $52,250, a handsome increase, and Charlotte from $12,000 to $23,750, which is little short of phenomenal for that city and its size. In Los Angeles, the gain was a cool $30,000; in Pittsburgh, ditto; in St. Louis, $16,900; in Washington, $16,100. These are a couple of the highlights plucked quickly from the rest.

Here's the encouraging compilation. To read it is to rejoice:

Expenses Are Denied In Vocafilm Action

Judge T. Blake Kennedy in U. S. District Court yesterday denied a motion made by counsel of Vocafilm Corp. of America for traveling expenses, counsel fees and other expenses for the purpose of cross examining Roy J. Pomeroy and Louis E. Swartz in Los Angeles.

Vocafilm has brought suit against A. T. & T., Western Electric and Erpi for $65,000,000 for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws. Judge Kennedy set Sept. 19 for taking depositions of Pomeroy and Swartz in Los Angeles.

"Spectator" Makes Bow

Los Angeles, Sept. 12.—The Los Angeles Spectator, embracing music, art and club news of this city, has made its first appearance with Welford Beaton, former publisher of The Hollywood Spectator, and Mary Holland Kinkaid as editors. C. A. Hughes is the publisher and manager of the new weekly.

Settlement Reached On One Para. Claim

Paramount yesterday settled one of two cases scheduled for arbitration before the New York arbitration board tomorrow. The second case has been postponed until Sept. 20.

The exchange settled its claim against the Maple, Jeffersonville, N. Y., and put over its case against Consolidated Amusements. Both claims were for alleged damaging of prints by exhibitors. The adjourned case may also be settled.

Pathe Declares Dividend

The board of directors of Pathe Film Corp. yesterday declared an initial dividend on the $7 cumulative convertible preferred stock of 87½ cents per share, payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 15. The dividend covers the period from the incorporation of the company, Aug. 15, to Oct. 1, and is on the basis of a dividend figure of $7 per share per year.

Gordon White Gets Ampa Season Going

Gordon White got a new Ampa administration and a new fall season under way yesterday at Jack Dempsey's restaurant with a varied array of talent. The turnout caught Dempsey's waiters and kitchen crew by surprise and there was some delay about food, but when it arrived it was good.

Elsie May Gordon, radio entertainer, did some impersonations; Walter Cassel, baritone, sang; "Miss New York" was introduced by Vincent Trotta at considerable length, and with interruptions.

Past presidents were introduced en masse, beginning with Ed Finney, but he had trouble getting started. Bruce Gallup, Walter Eberhardt, George Harvey, Paul Lazarus, Bill Ferguson, Arthur James and John C. Flinn were allowed to talk.

Joseph B. Basson, president of Local 306, was making fine progress with a speech, until interrupted by Monroe Greenthal, but he remained calm and finished amid applause.

Joe Cook stirred plenty of laughs as one of the closing features of the program. Along about 2:45 Nina Tarasova sang. Those still there enjoyed it and gave her a big hand.

In one instance, chance games has been referred to Special Sessions. It is planned by the organization to test every type of game in an effort to determine the legal status.

Circuit Action Delayed

Because of a crowded schedule, no action was taken Wednesdav by the I.T.O.A. and local exhibitors on the new Independent Theatre Circuit. The subject is slated to come up at the next session Sept. 18.

Max Schubach Passes

Denver, Sept. 12.—Max Schubach, 67, veteran of the film and theatre business, died at his home here of heart disease. Schubach was born in Germany and came to the United States when he was 13. He organized a film exchange in Seattle in 1904. Coming to Denver, he operated the Midwest Greater Features exchanges, and later became an exhibitor. He operated Midwest theatres until 1929 when Fox bought him out, Schubach retiring. He is survived by his widow, Mabel, and five brothers and six sisters. Funeral services were in Denver.

change. The three are the principal F.W.C. houses here.

The Golden Gate, RKO first run, has been 40 cents top for a little more than two years. Before then it was 65 cents.

The biggest drop has been at the 4,600 seat Fox. Under the F.W.C. regime 90 cents was top. The house was dark for many months. Reopened by Henry Goldenberg, some two years ago, it charged 35 cents top with two pictures and six acts of vaudeville. Today the vaudeville has been cut down and the house has been double billing with occasional outstanding attractions such as Eddie Cantor and the Fanchonettes girl revue. Twenty-five cents is general admission with best seats 35 cents.

Neighborhoods, however, have all increased slightly. The 15 centers are now charging 20 cents, while 25 cents is the usual amount in the established major neighborhood stands.

No Shift in Virginia

RICHMOND, Sept. 12.—Inquiries as to whether there is a trend toward increased admissions in Virginia theatres elicited assertions that there are no indications as yet that they will be changed this fall. The summer season has been an unusually backward one in the state owing to the prevalence of infantile paralysis. The outbreak of the malady is subsiding and it is predicated that as cooler weather arrives amusement conditions in Virginia will begin to improve.

Then, too, there are indications that better trade conditions will prevail, as more than $13,000,000 is to be expended in highway work and many projects costing many more millions of dollars are to be constructed within the next 12 months.

Independents Get No Action in K.C.

which has sold Fox Midwest in zones, first, second and third runs, distributors approached indicated that deals with the circuit are not completed.

Edwin S. Young of the Roanoke and Central is chairman of the committee that waited on managers.

It is considered probable that independents will take no further action until distributors start contacting them on new season product, which should be fairly soon, since the season is getting well advanced and pictures shortly will be available for independent runs.

Young feels that the position of a majority of independents is presented adequately in the clearance petition. This document, submitted several weeks ago, had as signatories most independent exhibitors. Only J. W. Cotter and Jay Means refused to sign it, the latter because of the penalty it imposed on premiums. Elmer C. Rhoden, head of Fox Midwest, was not approached. Clarence A. Schultz, Commonwealth Theatres, replied in the form of a letter.

lineup day and date with the Riverside. Skouras asserts the RKO house is in the same zone as the Riverside and that, under his Fox franchise, therefore, the product goes to him seven days ahead of the 81st St.

In the 1934-35 season, the 81st St. did not play Fox and, as a result, no conflict in clearance had asserted itself. This season, however, Twentieth Century-Fox is scheduled to play the entire RKO city circuit under a 10-year franchise which has six more years to run.

The conflict centers around "Dante's Inferno," first Twentieth Century-Fox release to go to the 81st St. under the new deal. It is slated to open in that house tomorrow.

In addition to RKO and Twentieth Century-Fox, other defendants in the Skouras action are Leslie E. Thompson, president of K-A-O and RKO Proctor Corp.; Leon Goldberg, treasurer, and I. E. Lambert, vice-president and general counsel of the same corporations.

pend to a considerable extent upon the film industry for programs.

Equipment developed by the Baird Television Co. at the Dominion is designed to permit projection upon a full-sized screen of pictures of current events. The film programs which will be offered by television are designed more for home reception, and it is probable that only live-talent features will be offered in theatres. The Baird company claims the ability to show full scenes instead of merely head and shoulder views.

While television officials in England continue to discuss their plans as coming to fruition this fall there is the growing expectation that public service will not get started before next March.

tional information on the charges against RKO and its president.

The bills of particulars shed little additional light on the operation of the alleged conspiracy. They contain copies of RKO's agreement to furnish films to Warners' Shubert-Rialto and Orpheum here, and repeat the charge that the defendants participated in the alleged conspiracy as charged in the indictment.

It is probable that when the case comes to trial on Sept. 30 defense counsel will seek a postponement on the ground that the bills of particulars have failed to furnish sufficient information on which to prepare a proper defense.

Bijou Claim Approved

Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe yesterday approved a report of Special Master John E. Joyce settling the claim of the Bijou Amusement Co. against Paramount Pictures, Inc., for $5,000. The Bijou Amusement Co. originally filed a claim for $40,265 allegedly due on a lease on the Kettler, West Palm Beach, Fla. The settlement was approved by the court.

Solo Convention

N. L. Manheim, foreign sales manager for Universal, is probably the industry's champion exponent of the one-man convention.

Instead of traveling abroad, Manheim brings his men to him. It was so with Norman Westwood, Shanghai manager, and it is so again with John Taylor, manager for India, who has completed his conferencing and left last night for his post. Monroe Isen, in charge in the Argentine, arrives today on the Pan-America on a similar mission.

relevant to the issues involved in a third action brought against him by the Chicago Title & Trust Co., in which the plaintiff seeks to recover from Fox $1,000,000 as a result of alleged defaults in the guaranteed redemption of Roxy Theatre stock. Fox contended in his application that the plaintiffs, in seeking the examination which was authorized by the court last Jan. 21, were trying to get information to use against him in one or the other of the pending cases. He asked that, in any event, he be excused from testifying until after the trial of the Chicago Title & Trust case. Testimony in that case is now nearing its end at closed hearings before Referee Sol Stroock here. Hearings were adjourned until Monday after a brief session yesterday.

Justice Steinbrink denied all of Fox's applications. The examination to which he objects was begun at Mineola in closed sessions several months ago and adjourned to Atlantic City when Fox went there for his health. The actions involve efforts to obtain an accounting from Fox of large sums disbursed during his regime as head of the Fox company.

Sets Aside Fox Subpoena

U. S. District Judge Robert Patterson yesterday set aside a subpoena which had been served on William Fox at Atlantic City in connection with supplementary proceedings brought against him by the Capital Co. of California.

"It is clear," the court ruled, "that the distance from the courthouse in New York to Atlantic City where service of the subpoena was attempted exceeds 100 miles by any ordinary and usual route of public travel. The fact that by air the distance is only 97 miles and that an airplane could be hired to make a special trip cannot be considered."

Basson Sees Wage Pact in "Day or Two"

veloped a communistic reputation in the last few years, he said, and it is a hard task to live it down. He admitted that there has been some internal strife within the local, which is being ironed out. He said the I. A. T. S. E. last year tried to clean house, but was unsuccessful. "Now we are doing it ourselves."

The operators' head criticized the circuits for their round-about action in ordering a 41 per cent cut. He said if this had been granted, reductions would have been made throughout the industry.

Monroe Greenthal, U. A. advertising head, objected to Basson's remarks about circuit men building new theatres while clamoring for reductions. Greenthal interrupted Basson and stated the speech was not in keeping with the Ampa policy of giving the other side an opportunity for rebuttal.

However, Basson admitted that there may be an answer from the other side, but suggested if Greenthal had the courtesy to wait and not interrupt he would have furnished that answer. The union head then recalled that Gordon White, who presided at the first meeting following the resignation of Bruce Gallup, said guest speakers were giving their personal views in line with an open forum idea.

Basson continued with his speech declaring he was a firm believer in collective bargaining, "because we can get the best deal." After the union head's talk, White reminded the members that the platform was an open forum and that, before the Local 306 president was listed to speak, he had been approved unanimously by the board of directors.

Circuits Enter Denial

Although J. D. Basson did not mention the circuits at the Ampa, it is assumed he referred to them when he talked about theatre men showing losses despite new building because current negotiations on wages are being conducted only with the circuits. Circuit heads yesterday denied they had built a single theatre in the local area during the past five years.

Little hope was also expressed by circuit men that they would conclude contract and wage conferences with the union this week. It is known that no definite conclusion has been reached on the term of the pact or the rate per hour for various types of houses.

Union Merger Up Today

Harry Brandt, president of the I. T. O. A., and Joseph D. Basson, head of Local 306, will confer this morning on plans to merge Allied M. P. Operators with Basson's organization. Two previous meetings have been held and others are planned.

Meanwhile, Supreme Court Justice Brennan in Brooklyn yesterday reserved decision on an application by three Local 306 pickets for a certificate of reasonable doubt in connection with recent convictions on disorderly conduct charges. The men were sentenced to 30 days and fined $15 each.

Arthur Moves Office

St. Louis, Sept. 12.—Harry C. Arthur officially moves his home here from New York on Monday. He plans to spend the next year making his headquarters in St. Louis, supervising the five Fanchon & Marco houses.

Arthur does not intend to sell his home in Peekskill, N. Y. He plans to make trips to the east every other week. Jack Partington will be in charge of the east when Arthur moves.

Sennett to Be Opened

Randforce will reopen the Sennett, Brooklyn, which has been closed for more than five years, the first week in October. This will make 48 for the circuit. Frisch and Rinzler own the property, but have kept it closed since sound made its debut. The house is now being remodeled and sound equipment installed.

Looking 'Em Over

"The Bishop Misbehaves"

(M-G-M)

Adapted for the screen from the popular Broadway stage play of the same title, which starred Walter Connolly, this film emerges as highly engaging entertainment, featured by a delightful characterization by Edmund Gwen as the bishop. With good support, and a story with an almost continuously amusing motif, despite its serious moments, the picture should be found wholly enjoyable for almost any type of audience.

In support, and all highly capable, are Maureen O'Sullivan, Norman Foster, Dudley Digges, Reginald Owen and Lucile Watson. The title in itself offers an opportunity for smart exhibitor exploitation, which at the same time need not offend in any sense.

The story finds the genial bishop, an avid reader of detective fiction, suddenly head over heels in a real adventure, which he carries through to a successful conclusion in sequences which have action and comedy and romance. Foster, young American on a walking tour in England, meets and falls in love with Miss O'Sullivan. She, in trouble, asks his aid, planning to rob Owen, who had swindled her ill father, an inventor. The holdup, in which Digges, saloon bartender, is a partner, is upset when the bishop walks into the pub with his sister. Finding no one there, he exercises his long latent passion for the work of a detective. From that point things move rapidly, until, when all seems hopeless, he rescues the young couple from Limehouse, and forces Owen to make retribution.

Kansas-Missouri Exhibitors to Meet

Kansas City, Sept. 12.—A. J. Simmons, Lamar, Mo., exhibitor and member of the K.M.T.A., says plans are being formulated to hold a regional meeting for exhibitors of southwestern Missouri and southeastern Kansas sometime in October to discuss current problems.

Simmons said there are about 30 exhibitors in that area who would attend such a meeting. It probably will be held at Lamar, Cathage or Joplin. The plan is to get small town exhibitors together to discuss contracts, the sales tax and other current issues. It is hoped in this way to increase interest in the K.M.T.A. by convincing smaller exhibitors that it is important for them to function through the organization.

Vaudeville Pooled In Pittsburgh Deal

Pittsburgh, Sept. 12.—Despite the individual operation arrangement in the Loew-Warner pool here, both circuits are jointly booking vaudeville for the Stanley, Warners' theatre. The Penn, Loew house, is on a straight film policy.

Current is "Hollywood on Parade" and next week Molly Picon and Xavier Cugat and his Waldorf-Astoria orchestra will headline the stage show.

The bookings are handled out of New York.

Wayburn a Bankrupt

Ned Wayburn yesterday filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Federal Court. He listed liabilities of $567,579. A similar petition was filed for his wife, Marguerite Wayburn. No assets were given.

Bentley Is Dead

London, Sept. 12.—Walter Bentley, well-known British exhibitor, is dead.

Temple Favorite in England—Jarratt

Shirley Temple is the most popular star in England today, according to Arthur Jarratt, chief film buyer for G. B.'s more than 400 theatres in Great Britain, who arrived in New York on Tuesday. Jarratt believes that there have been nearly enough costume pictures, that clean films are still the best bet, and that the story is of the greatest importance in a picture. Greta Garbo's appeal is limited, while George Arliss maintains a very high position among English audiences, he said.

Jarratt will spend about a week in New York and then will go to Hollywood for another week or 10 days. He is combining business and a vacation.

Film Attorney Gets Penn. Finance Post

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—Joseph Sloane, of the law firm of Wolf, Bloch and Shore, who has represented Warners here on code cases and other legal matters, has been appointed senior counsel of the Dept. of Revenue of Pennsylvania, with jurisdiction over the amusement tax division. The appointment aroused considerable excitement among independent exhibitors here because of his circuit contacts, since Sloane will have power to investigate all theatre business. He forestalled any protest by resigning from the law firm.

Because certain papers which have to do with the stock interest in First International Pictures were not ready yesterday, the board of directors of First Division postponed the scheduled meeting until next Thursday. Harry Thomas, president of First Division, returned yesterday from New Haven, the last lap of a tour of company branches.

"You ought to take it up. Day in the country, marvelous air and great exercise," replied the inveterate pill swatter. "Just imagine the thrill," he added, as his enthusiasm began to mount. "You plant yourself before the ball, go into your stance, think of Harry Cohn and before you know it you've given the ball one helluva wallop."

Tax Prevents Any Rises in Canada Scales

Ontario Forced 20-25% Jump; Quebec Quiet

This is the twelfth installment in a survey on the trend of admission prices.

Toronto, Sept. 13.—There is no upward revision in sight for admission prices in Canada. Particularly in Ontario it simply cannot be done, for the time being at least, because of the amusements tax scale which went into effect last June.

The new levy imposed by Premier Hepburn virtually meant an increase in admissions of 20 to 25 per cent because of the added impost and the result has been disastrous to exhibitors throughout the province. Many theatres are back in the red after having climbed into azure blue during the past winter for perhaps the first time in two or three years. The tax has put them right back where they were and the general opinion is that it would be impossible to raise regular admissions on top of the increased provincial tax.

In Montreal, there has been a distinct summer slump and recently there was a record low in aggregate grosses for first runs for the week. Theatres

Skouras-RKO Suit Comes Up Tuesday

Injunction proceedings filed by George Skouras of Skouras Theatres Corp. against Fox and RKO to restrain the 81st St. theatre from playing Fox product day-and-date with the Riverside and Nemo yesterday were put over until next Tuesday by Supreme Court Justice Hofstadter.

I. E. Lambert, vice-president and general counsel for KAO and RKO Proctor Corp. asked for additional time because of the short notice in

Bank Night Moving To Protect Patent

Chicago, Sept. 13.—The legal firm of Jacobson, Merrick, Niernan & Silbert has been retained by the Bank Night company here to protect it against violations of patents and copyrights.

Three Illinois circuits now using Cash Night will be the object of suits by the Bank Night outfit, it is reported. They will be charged with infringement.

The legal firm is also looking into

Cincinnati Contemplates No Price Shift; State Tax Deters

Cincinnati, Sept. 13.—No price change is contemplated at first runs here, at least not in the immediate future. Prices now in effect include the three per cent sales levy, which is passed to the public since the state law forbids the purveyor in any line from absorbing it.

Last year when the 10 per cent admission tax law became effective, the inclusion of this impost with the admissions constituted an advance in the scale. This had a tendency to slow up attendance until patrons became reconciled to the change. When the sales tax was substituted on Jan. 1, it was, in effect, a reduction, equivalent to the percentage differential. Subsequently, however, an actual reduction has been made, and this still is in force. Business is holding up well, everything considered, and to increase prices now, plus the sales impost, would, it is believed, again have a reactionary effect, at least temporarily.

Prices at the Strand, independent first and second run, are 15 and 25 cents for matinee and night, respectively. There is a possibility of these figures being revised upward, although this is indefinite.

The RKO low is 15 and 25 cents. This is at the Family. Price range at the other circuit spots is from 25 cents minimum to 42 cents top.

The subsequent runs are unable to inaugurate an increase in that they are charging the maximum compared with the first run stands.

Republic Budget Set On Next 8 Features

Hollywood, Sept. 13. — Republic has set a budget of $1,250,000 for the next seven pictures. Nat Levine will produce three of these, and Trem Carr and M. H. Hoffman two each. Levine's trio are, "The Leathernecks Have Landed," "A Thousand Dollars a Minute" and "Hitchhike Lady." Carr's are: "Legion of the Lost" and "Sailors Forget." Hoffman will produce "Forced Landing" and "Dancing Feet."

Local 306-Allied Merger Progresses

Negotiations for the merging of Local 306 and Allied M. P. Operators progressed another step further, it was stated yesterday by one of the interested parties following a meeting of both factions. No date has been set for the next session. It is understood a definite agreement will be reached within the next week or so. Meetings among representatives of the two unions have been carried on intermittently for several weeks.

Frels Starts Anti-Trust Action, Asking $504,024

Dallas, Sept. 13.—Rubin Frels, Victoria, has filed suit in Judge William H. Atwell's U. S. District Court against Jefferson Amusement Co., et al, under the Sherman anti-trust act alleging a conspiracy and asking for triple damages and attorney's fees aggregating $504,024.

Included in the complaint are: Jefferson Amusement Co., East Texas Theatres, Inc., Paramount, Fox, Universal, Columbia, Vitagraph, and M-G-M, and Sol Gordon, J. C. Clemmons and J. G. Long.

Frels alleges that after Jefferson entered Victoria, each of these defendants entered into an agreement to divide 1931-32 product, only part of which arrangement was observed.

Allegation is made that during 1931-32, 1933-34, inclusive, Frels operated two theatres in Victoria and Jefferson one theatre, until May, 1934, and that there were a total of 1247 pictures for this period, 733 of which were kept away from Frels, and 514 made available to him; further that Jefferson used 508 pictures in one house, and that the remainder were not used and not available to him.

Beginning in May, 1934, it is alleged, Jefferson changed its exhibition policy. By this time it had erected an additional house, and the Queen made six changes per week, four first and two subsequent runs, and for the new Rita five first run changes were made per week.

Frels alleges the changes were too

Operator Pact Now Predicted In Two Weeks

Grading of Theatres Is Taking Much Time

With four weeks of negotiations behind them, Local 306 and circuit representatives are looking forward to another two weeks of deliberations before a basic wage contract is agreed upon for the local area.

Primarily holding up consummation are the grading of theatres and wages per hour for the various classifications. Now being discussed are five classifications in which all houses except the Astor will fall. Because of the two-a-day performances at the Astor, this theatre will be put in a class by itself.

Grouping of theatres will be made according to location, seating capacity and run. Every theatre in New York City will be placed in its particular category. This process alone is expected to take more than a week.

During the time of the code, Charles L. O'Reilly, Local 306 and Harry Brandt each promulgated formulas along these lines, but the NRA fact-finding committee was outlawed before an agreement had been reached.

Both the union and circuit men

Operators' Strike Closes the Freeman

Leff & Meyers were forced to shut down the Freeman at 10 P.M. Thursday night when Local 306 operators walked out in sympathy with a maintenance man, a member of Local 1 of the I.A.T.S.E. The stagehand, who works on a part-time basis, struck when he was unable to settle a dispute involving $32 in wages. About 1,800 patrons in the theatre at the time were refunded admissions.

The Bronx house was kept dark until late yesterday afternoon when the circuit owners signed a new agreement with Local 1 and Local 306.

Toledo Houses Sign New Union Pacts

Toledo, Sept. 13.—Exhibitors have signed a two-year agreement with the operators' local, and have made a one-year pact with stagehands.

Although terms of the new contract were not made public, it is understood that they were substantially the same as previously, with no dispute over any of the conditions.

Neighborhood houses have a separate agreement.

Indie Producers To Meet on Monday

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13.—I. E. Chadwick has invited all coast independent producers to a meeting at the Hotel Roosevelt here on Monday night. Indications point to the possible formation of a new independent producers' association. Trem Carr, former president of the Independent Producers' Ass'n., stated he knew the meeting had been called, but that Republic is no longer a member of the organization and would not be represented. Also, he is no longer president.

Chadwick, currently vice-president of the Independent Ass'n., explained the meeting is for the purpose of getting acquainted. He intimated the possibility that ideas to strengthen the position of the independents might be expressed and acted upon. Nat Levine naturally will be absent due to his Republic affiliation.

Hess Quitting Mascot

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13.—Jack Hess today resigned as Mascot publicity director, but will remain until Sept. 21 to train his successor, who has not yet been appointed.

No Boston Action On 'Top Hat' Plea

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—Ross Cropper, RKO manager here, told MOTION PICTURE DAILY today he expects no local action on the demand of New England Allied for the inclusion of "Top Hat" in 1934-35 product. Cropper is forwarding all communications to the New York office. The Allied unit had said RKO is "legally and morally obliged" to deliver "Top Hat," since they "promised to deliver three Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers pictures when selling the 1934-35 product."

"I see no basis for this stand," said Cropper. Arthur Howard, Allied business manager here, told MOTION PICTURE DAILY that "independent exhibitors are convinced that a distributor of RKO's reputation will not attempt to put anything over on the exhibitors, and therefore will admit the fairness of our stand. We intend to follow it through."

Skouras-RKO Suit Comes Up Tuesday

serving the voluminous papers. Meanwhile RKO's 81st St. today will open with "Dante's Inferno," the first Fox film in dispute. RKO attorneys worked until 2. A. M. yesterday on the Skouras papers. Nathan Burkan is counsel for Skouras.

Felix A. Jenkins, general counsel for Twentieth Century-Fox, yesterday stated there is no hard feeling between the parties concerned. It is just a matter of who gets the pictures first, he said.

"For $60,000 a year they (Fox and RKO) would put me out of business," George Skouras complains in his affidavit filed in support of the application for the temporary injunction.

Skouras states that E. C. Grainger of Twentieth Century-Fox admitted to him that by permitting RKO to day and date his company's product with the Skouras houses Twentieth Century-Fox could profit by $1,100 additionally per picture, or a total of about $60,000 from the 81st St. for this season's 50 pictures.

"Vague About Excuses"

The Skouras affidavit states that Grainger was "vague about his excuses" for making the deal with RKO "and had no plausible or reasonable explanation for it." The alleged breaching of his franchise with Fox, Skouras contends, means "millions in losses" to his Riverside, Nemo, Japanese Gardens and Riviera. It also means that his "rights will be destroyed, patronage lost and our theatres relegated to the scrap heap, and our entire franchise agreement will be worthless" as a result of the elimination of the Riverside and Nemo's seven-day protection over the 81st St.

Named as defendants in the Skouras complaint in addition to Twentieth Century-Fox are L. E. Thompson, RKO theatre head; I. E. Lambert, K-A-O legal aide; the 81st St. Theatre Corp., Leon Goldberg, Keith-Albee-Orpheum Corp., Proctor Corp. and RKO Booking Corp.

Cites Interference

Skouras states in his affidavit that "it recently came to my knowledge that the defendants herein, other than Fox, had gotten together among themselves and had schemed and conspired to deprive the plaintiffs of the fruits and benefits of their franchise agreement. This conspiracy took overt form when the defendants (other than Fox) entered into negotiations with Fox and made certain unwarranted and fraudulent misrepresentations to it with respect to the plaintiffs' rights under the franchise." These were, in effect, Skouras claims, that Fox was not obligated to grant Skouras the seven-day protection.

"It is manifest," Skouras continues, "that these defendants (other than Fox) had no hesitation in maliciously interfering with our valuable contract and with using pressure and inducement upon the defendant Fox to cause it to break the agreement."

Delineating the value of the Fox franchise to Skouras, the latter's papers state that "Twentieth Century-Fox is one of the foremost producers of pictures in the world. Its pictures enjoy a great vogue and celebrity. The theatres vie with each other for the right to exhibit the pictures. People who want to see Fox pictures, with Fox stars, are not satisfied if shown Metro, Warner or Paramount films."

in the province of Quebec are doing so-so business.

The west finds itself with a bumper harvest, but farmers have not yet started to cash in on the year's crops. There won't be any stiffening of theatre prices because the people haven't caught up with themselves financially.

The general situation in the Dominion is down to the dog's level because the country is in the throes of a Federal election dated for Oct. 14. What with platform speakers declaring the other political party is steering the nation to ruin, there isn't any too much confidence and the people aren't spending. The tide will probably turn, however, after the elections.

Tampa Trend Downward

TAMPA, Sept. 13.—The trend in admissions has been slightly downward for the past two years in Tampa. It was about that far back that the Garden established a five-10-cent scale for four days each week, with 10-20 cents on the other three. The Seminole (Sparks) had been charging 10-25 cents, but dropped to 10-20 cents to meet the Garden scale. The Royal, in West Tampa, also dropped to the 10-20-cent rate. These three houses cater to the residents of the north neighborhood section of Tampa. After the Sparks company bought the Garden it allowed the 10-20-cent scale to stand, but discontinued the five-10-cent level and the scale still stands in the three houses mentioned.

At Sulphur Springs, suburban house, the Roxy plays at 10-15 cents for the entire week, as does the Orpheum, a small house in the business section. The Tampa, ace house here, has held to the 10-35-cent matinee rate and 10-40 cents at night. The Victory makes a like charge, but this house has been closed for the summer. Across the river the Park has a 10-30-cent matinee scale and 10-35 cents at night. The Franklin, which is the only house here that opens at 10 A.M., all others opening at 1 P.M., grinds along at 10-25 cents for all shows on all days.

Over in Ybor City, the Latin section, the Columbus recently reopened after having been dark for better than six months and cut prices to five-10 cents for five days, with a tilt to 10-15 cents for Sunday and Monday. The other houses in Ybor continue the same scale they have been charging for the past two years: the Ritz, 10-20 cents, and the Casino 10-25 cents. In the surrounding territory there has been no change in scale for the past year.

Moskowitz to Start House in Santiago

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 13.—Harry Moskowitz, in charge of Loew theatre construction, leaves here today for Santiago, Chile, to supervise building there of one of the four new projects planned by the circuit in South America.

Work has already begun on the new 1,300-seat Loew unit in this city.

If the Walgreen plan proves successful, there are many other types of businesses which plan some sort of a giveaway game which for the past six months has been a strong factor in promoting theatre business in this territory.

Chinaware Gifts Fall

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Since the inception of Bank Night, Screeno and similar games free chinaware to patrons has fallen off sharply. More than 60 per cent of the houses using the plan have abandoned it for the cash chance games and there have been few if any renewals of deals for chinaware giveaways. One local theatre executive stated that by Nov. 1 he expected that not five of the original 175 theatres using the chinaware giveaways would be doing it then.

Premium Display Set

More than 100 manufacturers are scheduled to have displays at the Atlantic Coast Premium Buyers' Exposition to be held at the Pennsylvania Hotel Sept. 23-27. Premiums have been on the increase, says A. B. Coffman, exposition manager, since the removal of code restrictions.

Among the speakers will be: Oliver Cabana, Jr., president of the Liquid Veneer Corp.; A. E. Tatham, advertising manager of Bauer & Black, Inc.; Howard S. Cook, advertising manager of John T. Stanley Co.; Kenneth Plumb, Federal Advertising Agency, and J. K. Mason, NBC.

Lynch Sues Warners Over "Sailor" Story

Edward A. Lynch, a writer, of Philadelphia, filed a suit for $100,000 damages in Federal Court yesterday against Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., First National Pictures, Inc., and Joe E. Brown, actor. The complaint which was filed by Martin Conboy, former U. S. attorney, charged the defendants with purloining the plot idea from a story written by Lynch entitled "When Homer Comes Marching Home."

Lynch charges that the defendants used the plot in "Son of a Sailor," in which Joe E. Brown was starred. The plaintiff also asks for an accounting and an injunction forbidding the defendants from further exhibiting "Son of a Sailor" and for the appointment of a receiver for this picture.

Suit for $50,000 damages alleging unlawful use of his photograph was filed in the Manhattan Supreme Court today by Siegfried Steinwall against Movietone News and M-G-M Distributing Co. The plaintiff, who is known as the great Siegfried, professional ski jumper, charged that the defendants took and distributed his picture without his written consent.

are virtually agreed on a 10-year contract which will provide for arbitration every two years. One arbiter will be named by the local, a second by the circuits and an impartial man by agreement between the two parties.

Under a temporary arrangement reached Sept. 6, all Broadway houses are paying $1.80 an hour while first runs in neighborhood situations are paying $1.60. Skouras theatres are giving the operators $1.28 an hour while Randforce is continuing to hold to the prices in its long-term contract. In the event the scale agreed upon finally is above the current salaries, the differences will be paid by the circuits, retroactive to the date instituted.

No session was held Thursday. One was scheduled for yesterday, but it could not be learned late last night whether it was held. Negotiations resume Monday and will continue at the convenience of the theatre men.

frequent and were made to destroy his business.

Other charges include a series of attempts to trade with Frels, including a proposition to merge the Victoria operations, and the payment by Frels of cash to Jefferson for which it would remove its equipment from the town.

It is also charged that threats were made to invade other towns in which Frels operated; that one of these towns was Bellville, where Frels had a partner, B. F. Fordtran, and that Fordtran was offered the lease Jefferson has secured in Bellville if he would disassociate himself from Frels without compensation to Frels; that Fordtran applied in state courts for a receiver, and secured the appointment of a receiver; that prior to this suit Frels had not been able to contract any pictures for the town, but that following the receivership, a supply was freely available to it. Other towns listed in which Jefferson built include El Campo and Yorktown, each stated to be too small for more than one house.

The allegation further states that as fast as Jefferson entered one of these towns, the supply of film for Frels ceased.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Affair of Susan"

(Universal)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13.—Wandering through Coney Island in search of romance, Zasu Pitts is the main source of laughs in a comedy of two lonesome souls.

Hugh O'Connell puts tail lights on cars all week. Miss Pitts fits tails to chocolate dogs. Saturday afternoon finds both neglected but pretending to have big dates to their fellow workers. Both take off sadly for Coney Island, where love strikes them all in a heap in spite of the interference of that hilarious pest, Walter Catlett. An accident on the chute-the-chutes separates Miss Pitts and O'Connell, who search desperately through deserted concessions only to discover that they both live in the same boarding house. The slight plot, embroidered with running gags, should be well received.

Irene Franklin scores heavily in a small bit. Others featured are Tom Dugan, Inez Courtney, James Burke, Mae Busch, Buster Phelps, William Pawley, Paul Tead and Dorothy Granger. The screen play is by Clarence Marks, H. M. Walker and Andrew Bennison from a story by Manny Page under the direction of Kurt Neumann. David Diamond produced.

The film should please Miss Pitts' fans.

Production Code Seal No. 1,206. Running time, 62 minutes. "G."

Gertrude Michael Gains

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13. — Gertrude Michael, Paramount actress, who was injured in an automobile accident at San Bernardino late Tuesday night, is resting in the San Bernardino Hospital, and X-rays show she is not hurt as seriously as was at first supposed. Though her head was badly lacerated, it is believed that she suffered no fractures.

Miss Michael was alone in her car at the time of the accident, and ran into a tree after swerving to avoid a pedestrian.

Predicts Sonotone Gain

Dr. Hugo Lieber, president of Sonotone Corp., has written stockholders that the company is on the "threshold of greater scientific achievements, of greater sales and of greater profits." "Steamboat" Sets Up New Denver Mark

DENVER, Sept. 13.—Every house record for the Denver under Harry Huffman's ownership was broken by "Steamboat 'Round the Bend." The picture opened strong and built toward the end of the week. It reached $11,000, over par by $6,000, and was moved to the Broadway.

In the face of this remarkable showing "Top Hat" went 100 per cent over normal with $10,000 at the Orpheum, following three days on the previous week. It was held for a full two weeks.

Other houses held up remarkably well. "Diamond Jim" was a smash hit at $2,000, 100 per cent over normal, in the Broadway; "The 39 Steps" was up by $1,000 on a take of $3,000 at the Aladdin.

District Attorney Geoghan brought a charge of violation of the state lottery laws against the circuit and Manager David Teir. Evelyn Woods, cashier; Arthur Neuman, in charge of the awards, and R. S. Trettler, master of ceremonies, were witnesses for Century. Mitchell Klupt represented the circuit.

In dismissing the complaint, Magistrate Malbin held there was no consideration demanded or taken from patrons in connection with the game.

B. & K. Moves On Clearance Worry Chicago

Circuits Are Expected To Reach Agreement

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Local theatre men are concerned over the efforts of Balaban & Katz to change the present system of booking.

At present there is not much clearance between the "C" week houses and the "first run" houses. B. & K. want to change the schedule so that there will be at least seven days clearance between the two because at present if a "C" theatre plays a picture on Friday and Saturday, for example, the "first run" house can play it starting Sunday, which is in another week.

Probable windup of the matter will be the rearranging of either the "A" or "B" week schedules, which now have three weeks clearance each, to have but two weeks. This will let the extra week come between the "C" week and "first run" dates and will simplify matters.

However, not until the local circuits such as B. & K., Essaness, Schoenstadt, and Warner Bros., get together and decide what will work out best will the matter be settled completely. If no conference is held, there is a possibility that the whole schedule may be thrown into a turmoil and the system now in use discarded.

Production Rises; 40 Features Going

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15.—Production gained last week, showing an uplift in both the feature and short subject classifications. Forty features and eight shorts were in work as compared to 37 features and five shorts for the week before.

Warners continued to hold the top spot with nine features in work, two being prepared for cameras within the next two weeks and 10 in the cutting

Skouras and Century Delay Pooling Move

Skouras and Century circuits have again put off the date for final closing of the Long Island pool. The new date is Sept. 30. Contracts were to have been signed Sept. 14.

The two independent circuits got together about a year ago and agreed to pool 15 theatres, but never settled the question of interchangeability of management in the houses affected by the deal. Skouras has eight theatres involved while Century has seven. The specific houses to be turned over to each other will be determined on the postponed date.

Century's houses affected are the Merrick, Jamaica; Fantasy, Rockville Center; Grove and Freeport, Freeport; Huntington, Huntington; Beacon, Port Washington; Franklin, Franklin Square. Skouras theatres are the Jamaica, Jamaica; Valley Stream, Valley Stream; Lynbrook, Lynbrook; Rivoli and Hempstead, Hempstead; Glen and Cove, Glen Cove; Playhouse, Great Neck.

Warners Turn Over Two Newark Houses

Warners on Sept. 21 will drop the American and Cameo, Newark. M. Eskin, who operates the Stamford, Stamford, Conn., will take the duo. He closed a deal for the houses Saturday.

About a week ago, the major circuit turned back the Mosque, Newark, to Prudential Insurance Co. The house has been dark for some time due to inability to obtain first run product. The American and Cameo were leased by Warners on a year's trial basis. The one-year deal with Jerome Kirdel for the Mayfair, South Orange, N. J., has been continued for a similar term.

Briskin Quits Post Sooner Than Planned

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15.—Samuel J. Briskin, general manager of Columbia studio, left the studio Friday instead of on Oct. 15 as he had planned at the time he tendered his resignation. The earlier date was agreed upon in order to give Briskin an extended vacation before making an affiliation with another studio.

"Reports of a disagreement are unfounded," Briskin said. "I am leaving

Vogel Denies Loew, Essaness Troubles

Reports from Chicago that Loew's and Essaness were having trouble over the New Oak Park, construction on which will be started shortly, were denied Saturday by Joseph Vogel.

"Any reports of that nature are all wrong," Vogel stated. He added that,

Prices as Is

Baltimore, Sept. 15.—There is no tendency here to raise admission prices. Many neighborhood houses have a "10 cents always" scale for children, but night prices generally are 10 and 20 or 25 cents.

The Century and Hippodrome have an evening top of 65 cents; the Stanley, 55; the New, 50, and Keith's 40.

Delaware Holding To Present Scales

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 15.—No price cutting or boosting in admissions in Delaware. Just over the line in Maryland two independent houses at Hurlock and Ridgely have cut prices. Adult admissions were cut from 35 to 25 cents and children from 15 to 10 cents. These two theatres are open in evenings only except Saturday.

The cut in admissions by the two houses brought about protests by members of the Independent M. P. T. O. A. of Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland. The Hurlock and Ridgely are members of this association.

A meeting was scheduled at Har-

"Dark Angel" at the Rivoli ended its first week in the neighborhood of $28,600. The second week of "Two for Tonight'" wound up with $17,000 at the Paramount. "Alice Adams" at the Palace got around $8,000, while the second week of "Page Miss Glory" at the Strand ended with $15,731. The third week of "The Crusades" at the Astor found the Cecil B. DeMille picture holding up nicely with a gross of $9,500.

Bank Night Appeal Lost in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 15.—Bert Nathan, operator of the Hollywood, north side neighborhood house, lost an appeal to the municipal court here in his Bank Night case when a jury returned a verdict of guilty.

Nathan was fined $15.01 in the District Court early in August, charged with operating a gambling device in staging Bank Night at his theatre. He appealed.

Para. Theatre Partnerships Will Be Kept

Renewals Are Scheduled After Sept. 28

Paramount will not discontinue its present policy of decentralized theatre operation, MOTION PICTURE DAILY was advised on Saturday in an official statement on theatre policy by a high official of the company.

The basis for renewal of partnership and management agreements covering the operation of more than 700 of Paramount's 1,000 theatres will be defined by John E. Otterson, Paramount president, in advance of his departure for Hollywood at the end of this week, it was stated. The operating agreements expire Sept. 28 and the policy embracing their renewal will not bring about any radical changes in operation. With the policy once having been set by Otterson, the negotiations for the drafting of the new pacts with part-

Amusement Census Details to Begin

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Preparations for the new census of amusement services will begin tomorrow at Philadelphia, which will be the headquarters for the $8,000,000 survey of business financed by Public Works funds, it was stated tonight by Secretary of Commerce Roper.

The actual canvass of places of amusement and business will begin Jan. 2, and will require from three to four months. Basic information will be gathered relating to the number of operating units, employment, payrolls, receipts and other pertinent data.

Three months will be required to whip the project into shape, it being planned to prevent repetition of the errors which marked the survey made in 1933.

Ask British Quota Cut to 10 Per Cent

LONDON, Sept. 4. — The London Branch of the C. E. A. voted today, asking the General Council of the association to approach the Board of Trade requesting a reduction in the exhibitors' quota from 20 to 10 per cent.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

REPORTS that Adolph Zukor, following the reorganization of Paramount last July 1, was being handed an inactive and more or less honorary post with his election to the chairmanship of the board of the new company, were freely heard on all sides at that time and during the summer. Zukor had a title, but there was little that went with it. So went the solemn pronouncement of those who professed to be in the know. It has been less than three months since Zukor was given that title. Now listen to what one official, a personage of unquestioned importance in Paramount, who asks that his name be withheld, has to say on the subject. . . .

"Reports and impressions of Zukor's position in Paramount notwithstanding," says this official, "he is an active and valuable officer of the company and will continue to be as long as he wishes. His judgment in all important company affairs is respected and valued. He has not ceased to be consulted by old or new authorities within the company and many circumstances, now obtaining within Paramount, have tended to increase rather than to diminish his value to the company." . . .

This official pointed out, by way of elaborating on the last, that Zukor's intimate knowledge of Paramount operations, together with the frequent necessity for John E. Otterson to make first-hand studies of knotty company problems which have and will continue to take the latter away from the home office for prolonged periods of time, make Zukor an essential point of contact at the home office for company directors and officers at such times. Otterson's presence at the studio for lengthy periods, and, later in the year, in Europe, are certainties at this time. . . .

"Even if this were not so," the speaker observed, "Zukor's abilities and his rare knowledge of the company and the industry would make him a genuine, not an 'honorary' asset to the new management." . . .

Merit in overdoses has to be inherent in any picture which braves a showing starting at midnight and winding up a few minutes before two in the morning even for radio song pluggers and crooning duos and trios who have time only when your ordinary individual is in bed or thinking seriously about it. M-G-M, essaying nothing in courage as events proved themselves, did this with "Broadway Melody of 1936" early Friday morning at the Ziegfeld to the very apparent delight of the hundreds of night owls who assembled to be shown. . . .

This is a gorgeous entertainment, eye, ear and laugh-filling with

A new star equipped profusely with a rare ability to do ballet and tap dancing, to sing and to charm by her wholesomeness. Eleanor Powell is the name of this female Fred Astaire and familiarity with it is this department's suggestion now and at the outset, for it is usually regarded as smart to be in the know.

Jack Benny and his dry brand of humor.

Sid Silvers and his comic lunacies.

Trigger-toed Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, but more particularly Buddy, who might be described quickly as a hill-billy in evening clothes.

Frances Langford warbling torch songs, and well.

Una Merkel as Una Merkel, which is enough.

Robert Taylor doing a juvenile conventionally, but competently withal.

June Knight as blonde menace, who added little, but, at at least, manages to detract less.

Lavish production values.

Swinging and lilting tunes by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed.

And not the least because it happens to get mention almost last the very, very funny snoring comicalities of dead-pan Robert Wildhack.

From Nick Schenck to Louis Mayer to Sam Katz to John Considine to Roy Del Ruth and all others, mentioned or otherwise, and not at all overlooking the lucky theatres who get the attraction, this is a happiest of occasions, for "Broadway Melody of 1936," by prodigious merit apparent, is gilt-edged, all wool, fourteen karat, of and in the money. . . .

Further excitement quivers up, down and around the Loew and Metro offices, this having to do with the screening of a rough print, so rough it was sans music, of "A Night at the Opera" the other day. Irving Thalberg had the Marx Brothers comedy hurried east to display what it might display. The result, unearthed by the usual high type of reporting on which theory dictates this column is to deport itself, was a heart-warming, albeit undignified, spectacle of reserved and dignified executives doing everything but rolling in the narrow aisles of the projection room atop the Loew State Building. . . .

Myrna Loy, who smiles at the lion while Leo now returns the courtesy in his pleasantest roar, will make no picture for H-M Pictures, contract—phantom or actual—as the case may have been. "It was up to Myrna," says Ben Hecht, or the "H" in the incident. "Was there a contract in the first place?" he was asked. "Yes, there was," was the answer. "Was that contract contingent upon her signing peace pacts with Metro?" ran the next query which rated this answer, "Something like that." Which leads to some wonderment, Hecht and MacArthur being the clownsters they are, if the entire incident, which cracked much publicity around the town, was not another of their gags. . . .

Century Drops Plan For Singles, Raises

Original plans to single feature Warner-First National product and simultaneously increase admissions in 10 Long Island and Brooklyn houses have been abandoned by Century circuit. The decision follows the recent adoption of duals generally by Loew's and RKO with the exception of the State and Palace on Broadway.

On Oct. 4, "Page Miss Glory" will be shown in 10 Century houses first run with an accompanying feature, yet to be set. The prior run houses are Patio, Marine, Kingsway, Albemarle and Surf, Brooklyn; Fantasy, Rockville Center; Grove, Freeport; Oceana, Brighton Beach; Merrick, Jamaica; Huntington, Huntington. The Kingsway and Huntington have been first runs while the others have been second, third and fourth.

In addition to the houses listed, 14 others in the circuit will continue double features.

W. M. James Improved

COLUMBUS, Sept. 15.—Condition of William M. James, although improved, is still regarded as serious, three blood transfusions having been made so far.

James, president of the old M. P. T. O. of Ohio for 10 consecutive years, and a prominent exhibitor before retiring several years ago, was stricken with an internal hemorrhage early this month.

Zanuck Signs Winninger

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15.—Darryl F. Zanuck has signed Charles Winninger to a long term contract for Twentieth Century-Fox. Winninger will report to the studio soon. No assignment has been set for him.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 15.—Olsen and Johnson, appearing at the RKO Shubert, were made Kentucky colonels while guests of the Cuvier Press Club last week. They also were made honorary members of the club.

'Red Salute' Wins Pre-View Acclaim From Audience At Triboro Theater; Barbara Stanwyck Gains New Luster

By LUCILLE SHEARWOOD.

Continuing that commendable preview habit at the Loew's Triboro in Astoria, United Artists released a picture last night for a single advance showing that had the theater alternately cheering and laughing for the greater part of eighty minutes.

There was no secret about the "audience reaction" to "Red Salute," a comedy epic blessed with Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Young.

Three cheers for "Red Salute," a rollicking comedy that points a forcible lesson in patriotism, without once slacking the tempo. It's a grand red, white and blue picture, never verging on the "preachy." As an unidentified member of the audience commented on the voting cards furnished last night:

"If we had more pictures like 'Red Salute,' our boys would be better Americans."

No proverbial grain of salt need be taken with this review of the forthcoming feature, "Red Salute," for praise can be unstinted and unqualified. Even publicity men in attendance last night who see pictures, pictures and then more pictures enthused, "It's a honey."

Sprinkled With Gags.

The story itself is connected and consistent, and sprinkled with gags, many of which bring on full-length laughter. "Red" has a double meaning in the picture, for it is the nickname of the General's headstrong, high-spirited, runaway daughter, (Miss Stanwyck, of course), and it also refers to the young radical with whom she becomes infatuated.

The rapid action builds logically to a fever-pitch at the May Day gathering of the "Liberty League of International Students." The crafty soldier is on hand, makes some cracks about the flag, and some of the campus agitators rise to the bait by turning the meeting into a free-for-all riot.

Has Novel Twists.

Flashing conflict, novel twists and sparkling comedy are in this laugh-loaded film, which is certain to be compared in excellence and construction with "It Happened One Night."

Rumor has it that the world premiere of "Red Salute" is set for St. Louis next month, coinciding with the national convention of the American Legion.

Astoria already has roared its salute to the noblest pre-view of them all, "Red Salute."

We blush with pride in reproducing this review by Lucille Shearwood, of the Long Island Daily Star, who seems to think that superlatives are necessary judging from her reaction. She attended a sneak preview of "RED SALUTE" and witnessed one of the most enthusiastic audience demonstrations that ever took place in a motion picture theatre. But let her review speak for itself!

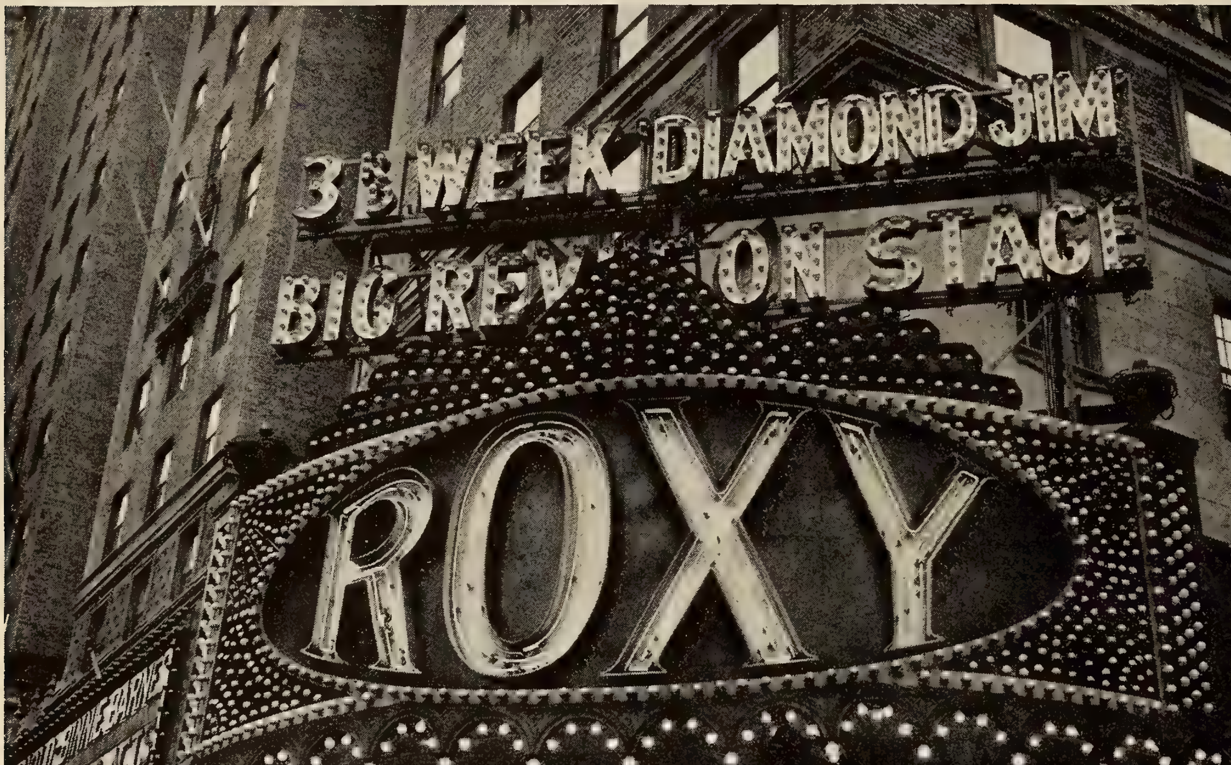
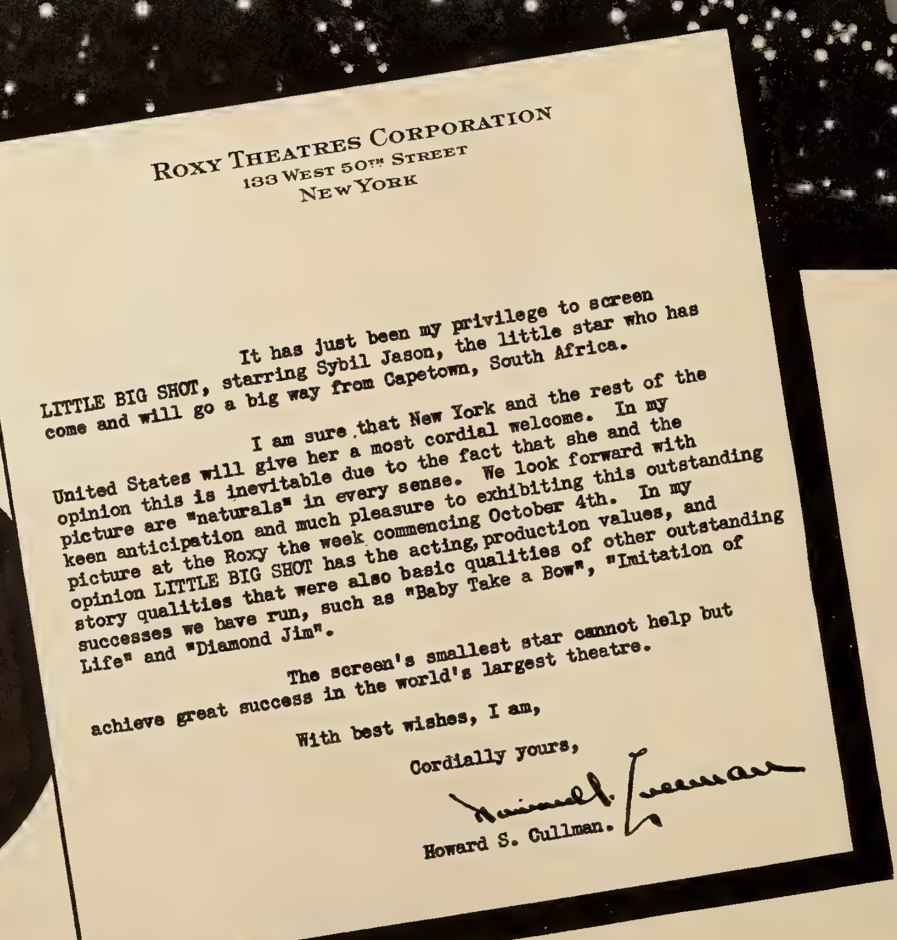
ANOTHER "GEM"

Littlest Star to Make N. Y. Debut





Roxy Theatres Corporation
133 West 50th Street
New York

It has just been my privilege to screen LITTLE BIG SHOT, starring Sybil Jason, the little star who has come and will go a big way from Capetown, South Africa.

I am sure that New York and the rest of the United States will give her a most cordial welcome. In my opinion this is inevitable due to the fact that she and the picture are "naturals" in every sense. We look forward with keen anticipation and much pleasure to exhibiting this outstanding picture at the Roxy the week commencing October 4th. In my opinion LITTLE BIG SHOT has the acting, production values, and story qualities that were also basic qualities of other outstanding successes we have run, such as "Baby Take a Bow", "Imitation of Life" and "Diamond Jim".

The screen's smallest star cannot help but achieve great success in the world's largest theatre.

With best wishes, I am,

Cordially yours,

Howard S. Cullman.

No New Haven Shift

New Haven, Sept. 15.—For the summer there was no sign that admissions in Connecticut theatres are on the increase. Premium-giving and other inducements which tend to lower prices have been more and more widespread in the state with many subsequent runs offering "bargain nites" once or twice a week in addition.

The Bijou, 1500-seat downtown second run, recently reduced its prices to 25 cents orchestra and 15 cents balcony, the 25 cent admission being the average for better neighborhood houses in and around New Haven, also. The College, a first run, offers Amateur Nite once a week at no increase in its 35 cent top while the Paramount, one of the three leading houses in the city, has offered stage shows several times during the past season with no increase in its 50 cent top.

Agreement Aimed at On Beecroft Houses

Madison, Wis., Sept. 15.—An agreement for administration of the Beecroft theatre properties is to be sought by attorneys for interested groups at a conference within a week.

Further testimony on reorganization plans of the Beecroft Bldg. Co., owner of the Orpheum, Strand and Parkway, is to be presented and steps considered necessary to give the houses an earning capacity sufficient to take care of outstanding bonds will be discussed.

It has been intimated that a demand may be made for a change in management of the theatres, which are operated by the Ashley Theatre Co. Testimony at earlier hearings disclosed that the company and its officers received $50,967 in profits and salaries in 1934, while auditors' reports showed the Ashley firm to have received a net profit of $33,912 during the same year.

Total value of the three houses is placed at $765,000, while the sum due bondholders of the Beecroft Co. totals $1,191,673, or $426,673 above the appraisal figures.

although contracts have been let, actual work cannot be started until the forms are rewritten according to the state of Illinois requirements. This is now being done, he said.

Vogel asserted that actual building will take four and a half months. The house will seat 1,400 instead of 1,600. The Loew executive was in Chicago last week and signed the contracts with builders.

Schorr Gets New Play

William Schorr, formerly a Paramount director, who directed the stage play, "The Milky Way," has been engaged to put on another stage production, "The Body Beautiful." Polly Walters will have the lead.

ners and operators will be left to the heads of the Paramount theatre department.

Otterson returns to the coast for an indefinite stay to complete the studio reorganization which has been in progress for several months past. Shortly after his return to New York he will leave for Europe to make a complete survey of Paramount operations abroad, and during this trip the company's foreign policies will be decided. Policy on eastern production by Paramount will also be resolved at a later date.

The impression gained from the official statements is that major policy—at the studio, in Europe and here—may involve no radical changes. Particularly does this appear to be true of operations which are showing satisfactory results. Changes of policy on other operations, it is indicated, may be made only after careful study by Otterson.

Official denial was made by this source that Paramount had discussed any deal which would bring Sam Briskin, whose resignation from Columbia became effective Friday, into the company. Likewise, denial was made that negotiations of any kind had been opened with Winfield Sheehan, even for release by Paramount of any product that the former Fox production chief might make independently.

Denial that any new duties in Paramount had been designated to S. A. Lynch was also made. It was stated that for the time being Lynch is continuing with the same work he did for the trustees of Paramount, which was to advise them on theatre reorganizations and to chart their reorganization course.

Fred Niblo to Resume

Hollywood, Sept. 15.—Fred Niblo, who has been in retirement on his northern California ranch for the last few years, will return to direct "The Holy Lie" for Twentieth Century-Fox. Sol Wurtzel will produce. The picture will be a translation from the play, "Die Heilige Luege," by Karin Michaelis Stangeland.

Albright Succeeds Rowe

Pittsburgh, Sept. 15.—Zone manager Harry Kalmine of Warners has named H. A. Albright as city manager in nearby Washington, Pa. Albright, formerly with the Schine circuit in New York state, succeeds Roy Rowe, who has returned to his home at Burgaw, N. C., to become an independent exhibitor.

Change Syndicate Name

Hollywood, Sept. 15.—The American Radio Features Syndicate has changed its name to American Radio Features to avoid conflict with a newly established firm of a similar name.

Puckett Is Promoted

Cleveland, Sept. 15.—Nat Holt, RKO division manager, has promoted H. A. Puckett from doorman at the RKO Palace here to assistant manager at the RKO Palace in Columbus.

Two Setting Records

Columbus, Sept. 15. — For the first time in local theatre history, all-time records are being established simultaneously at two theatres. No dollars and cents figures are immediately available, but "Top Hat," at the RKO Palace, has broken the week-end attendance record set by "I'm No Angel" two years ago.

At Loew's Broad, "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" has established a new high for the same period. The previous record was made with "Doubting Thomas."

Both pictures are continuing to play to capacity. The two houses are located directly opposite each other.

abroad by making certain that pictures they export are real in authentic Mexican atmosphere, history, customs and the like.

Another thing the censor will watch for is to keep Mexican pictures as purely Mexican as possible; to permit but a faint foreign flavor and influence and to make these productions individual.

Mexican interests have started building a 1,500-seat de luxe neighborhood house. Construction of a luxury downtown first run house is scheduled to start after the national holidays this month. Efforts are being made to have both houses ready for the winter tourist trade which starts soon after New Year's Day.

Big Turnout Opens Rome, Ga., Theatre

Rome, Ga., Sept. 15.—Opening of the new $74,000 Gordon theatre here was celebrated with an outing and festival at the Coosa Country Club. More than 500 persons took part. Roy Petty, vice-president of the Whittaker Paper Co. of Atlanta won the blind bogey golf tournament. He was awarded a silver trophy presented by O. C. Lam, president and general manager of the Lam Amusement Co., operator of the Gordon.

First Div. Shifts Titles

Hollywood, Sept. 15.—First Division has changed the titles of two pictures. "Drake, the Pirate" is the new name for "Elizabeth, the Virgin Queen," and "False Pretenses" has been picked for the picture started as "Queen of Hell."

Open at Demopolis

Demopolis, Ga., Sept. 15.—Latest addition to the Wilby & Kincey circuit is the Marengo, a new 740-seat house, with L. J. Pepper as manager. Jean Harlow spoke over a long distance phone hookup at the opening, with a reply by Mayor N. C. Floyd.

Cleveland House Bombed

Cleveland, Sept. 15.—The Family theatre, neighborhood house, was completely destroyed by a bomb, thrown by unknowns the other night. Damage is estimated at about $7,000.

William Perlberg, casting director, has been made assistant to Harry Cohn, and will take over a part of Briskin's former duties, including the physical handling of the studio. Robert North, associate producer, will take over the production supervision of the program pictures and the B product.

Perlberg probably will continue to supervise the casting department, though some of his former duties will be handled by Robert Mayo, assistant casting director.

It is understood that Cohn plans further changes to fill the gap left by Briskin.

Robert Kalloch, Columbia costume designer, has resigned.

Mary Pickford East Soon

Hollywood, Sept. 15.—Mary Pickford expects to leave soon for New York. She will stay for about 10 days, for conferences in connection with the final organization of the new Pickford-Lasky Prod. Miss Pickford has cancelled her plans to meet Lasky in London.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Girl With the Lucky Legs"

(Warners)

Hollywood, Sept. 15.—Smart dialogue supersedes the mystery in this murder yarn to make surefire entertainment. Warren William, in his familiar Perry Mason role, romps through the story treating all the others with clever impertinence.

Craig Reynolds, a crooked promoter, stages a series of leg contests, then clears out with all the cash, including the prize money of the winners. Patricia Ellis and Peggy Shannon, two of the winners, pursue him, as does Lyle Talbot, Miss Ellis' fiance, and Porter Hall, a store owner. William, engaged by Hall to find Reynolds, discovers his murdered body after Allen Jenkins locates his address. Keeping all suspects from the police, William eventually pins the crime on Hall after many exciting chases.

The direction of Archie Mayo, pointed for comedy, scores repeated laughs from the situations and lines.

The supporting cast, including Genevieve Tobin, Barton MacLane, Olin Howard and Henry O'Neill, play the piece lightly with Talbot the only character giving a straight performance.

Brown Holmes' and Ben Markson's screenplay from Jerry Chodorov's adaptation of Earle Stanley Gardner's story occasionally compares favorably with "The Thin Man."

The picture should be exploited for comedy value.

Production Code Seal No. 1,153. Running time, 75 minutes. "G."

"The Virginia Judge"

(Paramount)

Hollywood, Sept. 15.—A vaudeville headliner for 20 years and star with the Theatre Guild, Walter C. Kelly excels in this film of southern life with a definite appeal to the home circle.

In his familiar role of the Virginia Judge, Kelly metes out humor, kindliness and justice. The town admires him, but he and his stepson are miles apart. The boy, Robert Cummings, out of step with family and friends, appropriates a car, takes Marsha Hunt for a spin and hits a tree. Charged $50 for repairs, he steals a gun and sells it to his love rival, Johnny Downs. Confronted with this theft by Johnny, in a scuffle Robert shoots Johnny. Judge Kelly, forced to bring his stepson to justice and forced to smack the boy on the chin to do so, opens the path for mutual understanding.

Comedy dominates, with tears in the undercurrent. Kelly's characterization stands out, with Stepin Fetchit runner-up for laughs. The negro bits in court are all good. The romance is between Marsha Hunt and Downs and Cummings.

Edward Sedgwick directed from an original by Octavus Roy Cohen and Walter Kelly, with the screen play by Henry Johnson and adaptation by Frank Adams and Inez Lopez. Charles R. Rogers produced with an eye for mass reactions.

As a slice of homespun Americana, this will register nicely with the family trade. Previewed without production code seal. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"Beauty's Daughter"

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

Hollywood, Sept. 15.—Situations of unusual appeal for women, combined with characters and background with striking interest for men unite to give "Beauty's Daughter" plenty of exploitation angles.

Claire Trevor is a navy nurse whose parents were divorced in her childhood. She tries to make her job fill her life, regarding marriage with serious distrust until she falls head over heels in love with Ralph Bellamy, a navy doctor. Bellamy offers Miss Trevor marriage based on mutual respect. Miss Trevor accepts him hoping to supplant his dead wife in his affections. Miss Trevor takes Bellamy's little daughter away for an infantile paralysis treatment. While she is gone, Bellamy becomes involved with an international spy, Kathleen Burke, who does her best to wreck their marriage.

Naval life at North Island and Pearl Harbor is full of color and navy hospital life gives a new exploitation angle.

The direction by Allan Dwan deserves special credit, as does the screenplay by Sonya Levien from the book by Kathleen Norris, with additional dialogue by Edward T. Lowe. The music score by David Buttolph and photography by John Seitz and Rudolph Mate are of note.

Sol Wurtzel produced for box-office emphasis.

Production Code Seal No. 1299. Running time, 70 minutes. "G."

Little Interest Shown in New NRA Moves

See Support Lacking for "Self Government"

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Reactions to proposals that legislation continuing the NRA be enacted at the next session of Congress have been disappointing to those behind the move, it was learned today.

Any such legislation developed, it is indicated, will have little or no support, even from the trades which benefited most under their codes, and much opposition, particularly if the present improvement in industrial conditions continues.

Lack of interest in "self government" by industry is demonstrated by the few applications received by the Federal Trade Commission for voluntary agreements and is increasing daily as that body delays action upon such applications as are before it.

Reports reaching Washington indicate that industrial leaders in all lines are skeptical of Congress' ability to draft a bill which will effectively regulate competition, in view of the Schechter decision. Interest in the decision is also minimized by the realization that in all probability the new legislation would not provide the exemption from anti-trust laws which was the major bait held out for the development of the recovery codes.

Korda's Film Plans Still at Six to Eight

Alexander Korda has not changed his production plans since being made a fifth producer-partner in U. A., he stated yesterday. The London Films' producer plans to make six to eight for the 1935-36 season which will be designed for the world market.

Asked whether he will bring to London any American stars, Korda said he had not yet decided on this matter. He will sail Thursday night on the Berengaria and expects to return some time in January.

Set New Fee System On Production Code

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16.—Every individual picture carrying the Breen seal must pay a proportionate share of maintaining the Breen organization under a new system inaugurated this month. Independent producers such as Republic, Chesterfield, Invincible and smaller state right operators, will

Resume Wage Talks

Grading of theatres in the local area was continued last night by Local 306 and circuit representatives after a week-end lull. The classification of theatres is preliminary to setting a basic wage scale for circuit and independent theatres. It will take about two weeks before a deal is finally set.

Allied Union Loses Move on Injunction

Supreme Court Justice John H. McCooey in Brooklyn yesterday denied a motion by Benjamin F. De Agostina, president of Allied Operators' Union, for a temporary injunction before trial against Terminal Associates, operating the Terminal at 4th Ave. and Dean St., Brooklyn. The suit seeks to restrain Terminal from employing any other than Allied members as operators.

Decision on a similar motion against Estates Operators Co., Inc., operating the Avon, Garfield and 16th St., Brooklyn, was postponed until tomorrow.

IATSE to Campaign On "Unfair" Spots

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 16.—While in Oklahoma last week to attend the organization's annual convention at Muskogee, George E. Browne, I. A. T. S. E. president; John P. Nick, vice-president, and Felix Snow, divisional representative, who presided at the convention, decided on a campaign to clear up "unfair" situations throughout the state, including the Griffith circuit, which is largely non-union.

No Scale Advances Seen in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 16.—No change in admissions will be made in this territory, say the majority of theatre men here. Top price is 40 cents at night, with a one cent state sales tax added. 25 cents at matinees and 10 cents for children at all times. Sales tax is added to both children and adult admissions. Twenty-cents is top price for practically all suburban houses. with children a straight 10 cents at all times.

The only change in the local situation has been inaugurated by National. vaudefilm, with a straight 25 cents admission at all times. This policy has had no apparent effect on other houses. admissions remaining as is with no indication of changing prices.

Neighborhoods are contemplating no change, having to resort to cash and other prizes to get their customers in.

MAJOR POOLS SET FOR NEW SEASON

Fox-Skouras Briefs To Be Filed Today

Attorneys for Fox and RKO today will file briefs with Supreme Court Justice Hoffstadter in connection with Skouras Theatres' injunction proceedings to prevent RKO's 81st St. from playing Fox product day-and-date with the Riverside and Nemo.

Skouras alleges he has seven days' protection over RKO under a Fox franchise. The suit was filed last Thursday and at the first hearing before Judge Hoffstadter on Friday briefs were ordered filed today.

Kuykendall to Date Sessions While Here

A date for the M. P. T. O. A.'s next annual convention as well as one for the next meeting of its board of directors is included among organization matters expected to be determined by Ed Kuykendall, president, during a three or four-day stay in New York. He arrived last night.

Kuykendall had little to say for publication pending conferences here. He said a number of ideas had accumulated from the field relative to a voluntary industry code for the exhibition industry, but nothing had been done by way of analysis of them.

Ohio's Legislators Called to Talk Tax

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16.—Governor Davey has issued a call for a special session of the Legislature starting Wednesday to consider tax and other financial programs. This will be followed by another special session in November, it is understood. It is considered likely that the question of restoring the 10 per cent admission tax may be brought up at one of the sessions, although nothing definite has so far been announced.

Several Operating Deals Ended — Fox Theatres Lead New Pacts

Unless unforeseen developments occur, major and independent circuits have concluded all pooling deals for the 1935-36 season, it was stated yesterday by various theatre executives. Negotiations for joint theatre operations usually begin at the end of the season and generally go into effect Sept. 1, which officially marks the debut of the new theatre year.

At the same time a number of interests have called off operating deals which have been on for a year or more.

Fox theatre units, including Skouras Theatres Corp., took the lead in the number of deals closed recently. The largest pool was between Evergreen States and John Hamrick in Portland and Seattle. The parent company is Cascade Theatres Corp. of which Frank L. Newman, Sr., is president; John Hamrick, vice-president; John P. Garvin, Clarence Innis, Alfred Shermanski, Hamrick and Newman, directors. Hamrick is gen-

Para.-FWC Deal Set To Be Signed Today

Paramount and Fox West Coast are scheduled to affix signatures today to contracts for the 1935-36 output of the former in all F. W. C. units. Neil Agnew, general sales manager of Paramount, and Jack J. Sullivan and Edward L. Alperson of the circuit, are working on the deal.

Due to delay in signing the pact, F. W. C. houses around Los Angeles have been withholding dates on Paramount product. However, both parties are understood to have reached an accord on new terms with definite signing slated for this afternoon.

B. & K. to Pay $1.75 On Preferred Stock

B. & K. has declared a $1.75 dividend on the preferred stock, payable Oct. 1. Directors held a quarterly meeting in Chicago last Friday which was attended by Y. Frank Freeman, who returned to New York yesterday.

B. & K. is catching up on its back dividends, Freeman reported, and now has only three preferred dividends payable. Business in the Windy City is fairly good, Freeman stated, and theatre men are looking forward to a good season.

Mrs. Fox to Change Merger Fight Papers

Attorneys for Eva Fox and All Continent Corp., in their action against the Twentieth Century-Fox merger and reorganization, plan a change in the complaint, intended to bring in the Chase National Bank and its officers, it was stated yesterday. The complaint change will be based on what has already been accomplished in the reorganization, and which, it is contended, is in violation of court order. They intend, also, to seek the right to examine Twentieth Century-Fox officers before trial. Application for that right will not be made to the court for at least a week, it was said.

ing statistics from several other official sources.

The findings show an improved financial condition for the farmer, increasing retail sales, rising bank deposits, growing building activity, improved demand for business and resident property and a steady increase in advertising lineage.

The state's farm income will show an increase of 12 per cent this year as compared with last, placing it at $259,500,000, as compared with $215,250,000 in 1934, $208,000,000 in 1933 and $186,400,000 in 1932, estimated by E. O. Logan, senior statistician of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

AAA payments will reach $25,000,000 for the year, compared with $29,250,000 in 1934 and $4,000,000 in 1933.

The application was made in connection with the $25,000 suit for damages brought against M-G-M by Supremetone Recording Studio.

The complaint charges that M-G-M and the M-G-M Distributing Corp. wrongfully appropriated the title "Inflation" and the subject matter which were originally created by the plaintiff. The hearing is to take place this morning before Justice Carew.

eral manager of the Seattle group of seven houses, while Al Finkelstein is director of nine theatres in Portland.

George Skouras on Sept. 6 began a pooling arrangement with Warners in New Jersey. Involved in the deal are three Skouras houses and four of Warners. Hackensack, Elizabeth and Jersey City theatres of both circuits were included.

On Oct. 1, Fox Midwest will resume individual operation of the Granada, Kansas City, while Grubel Bros. will take back the Electra. Both circuits operated the two houses on a joint basis.

Mort Shea of Feiber & Shea recently combined bookings for the Midland, Auditorium and Grand in Newark, O. The new operating company for the trio is Newark Amusement Co.

RKO in Three-Way Deal

RKO, which on Sept. 1 withdrew its Hillstreet, Los Angeles, from a Warner pool and then made a deal with Alexander Pantages for the latter's Pantages, some time ago effected a three-way operating pact for the Keith's, Paramount and Eckles in Syracuse. RKO has Keith's and the Paramount while Meyer Schine has the Eckles. Both circuits will jointly operate. A deal has been on for the Warners' Strand which was pooled with RKO last year.

Loew's and Wilmer & Vincent last month ended an eight-year joint working tieup in Norfolk and Richmond, Va. Loew now operates the theatres in each town bearing the circuit name while W. & V. have the Norva and Grandy in Norfolk and Strand in Richmond. Negotiations between RKO and Loew's to combine operations in Union City and North Bergen, N. J., fell through after Loew stockholders had turned down the proposition.

There were several other independent pooling deals effected during the past few months. Likewise there have been discussions centering about booking combines, some of which have materialized and some of which remain to be settled one way or another. The I.E.P.A. of Philadelphia has a combine still in the air with definite action scheduled shortly.

Skouras-Century Unsettled

Although preliminary details were set about a year ago, Skouras and Century circuits have yet to settle interchangeability of management of 15 theatres affected in a Long Island pool. This is scheduled for Sept. 30 after several postponements.

At Paramount, Loew and RKO headquarters executives state no further pooling deals are planned.

Meanwhile, Milton C. Weisman continues his efforts to line up local independents for a new circuit. About 60 of 87 theatres pledged to join Independent Theatre Circuit, Inc., have sent in checks, but elections have been put off until Harry Brandt, president of the I.T.O.A., joins with his 43 units. A meeting is scheduled for tomorrow at the Astor, but a heavy calendar of the exhibitor organization may again result in delaying the elections.

Censors Can't Knit

Portland, Sept. 16.—Women censors must not take their knitting when they are passing on pictures, and furthermore they must be on the job on time.

This is but part of the instructions given to Portland viewers.

According to Robert M. H. Mount, chairman of the board, vigilance and knitting do not go together.

Also, after viewing a picture these same viewers should discuss it together and pass on it together, and not allow a single member of the group to depart until final decision is made.

Nathanson Finds His Prairie Houses Gain

Winnepeg, Sept. 16.—N. L. Nathanson, president of Famous Players Canadian Corp., and J. J. Fitzgibbons, director of theatre operations, addressed a midwest convention of managers here today. The company's business is showing a definite increase over box-office receipts last year because of better crop conditions and returning confidence, it was said.

The officials will proceed to Calgary, Alberta, for a similar session on Sept. 19, then plan to go from there to Vancouver for a Pacific coast meeting.

Rush St. Louis Work

St. Louis, Sept. 16.—Decorators are in a rush to get the Grand Opera house finished in time for the American Legion convention scheduled to start Sept. 23.

Sam Ward, Chicago agent, is also assembling a girl show which he intends to start at the New Grand Central on Sept. 21.

Admits Deal Is On

William Morris, Jr., yesterday acknowledged that a deal was under way between the agency he heads and that of Frank Orsatti in Hollywood, but added the move was so far only in the conversational stage. The arrangement would cover picture bookings only.

Rogers Will Probated

Los Angeles, Sept. 16.—The will of the late Will Rogers was admitted to probate in the Superior Court here today. Unofficial estimates place Rogers' wealth at $2,500,000. His entire estate was left to his widow, Mrs. Betty Blake Rogers.

Also to be discussed at a meeting of the M.P.P.D.A. this week, will be a plan to admit independents who release through member companies to associate membership in the organization. Eligible for membership in this class, if it is favorably voted upon, are Edward Small, Sol Lesser, David Selznick, Pickford-Lasky, and Pioneer.

"Every Night" And Show Big In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16.—While the other three first run houses were settling down to average business, or slightly better, following the sensational holiday takings, the Stanley was continuing its dizzy pace, running up still another fine gross. With "Every Night at Eight" and a stage unit featuring a number of screen names, the figure was around $21,000, over normal by $6,000.

At the Alvin, "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" did fairly well in its second week, getting around $4,750 in five days on top of a sizzling $14,000 during the opening session. Although "Call of the Wild" has been doing great all around the surrounding territory, its first run here at the Penn was something of a disappointment, the picture doing only around $9,700.

The Warner, too, slipped a bit, winding up at $4,400 with "Murder Man" and "Paris In Spring," a double feature without any particular marque strength.

Total first run grosses were $39,850. Average is $35,500.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Pay Off"

(Warners)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16.—With a newspaper and sporting background, this picture moves swiftly and has appeal for most types of audience.

James Dunn, sportswriter, has popularized his column by attacks on Alan Dinehart, crooked promoter. Dinehart's attempts to buy Dunn off are unsuccessful until he gets Claire Dodd, Dunn's wife, in his power by winning several thousand dollars from her at roulette. Forced to "play ball" with Dinehart, Dunn's column soon hits skids and he loses his job. Miss Dodd, meanwhile, has left him for Dinehart.

Through the efforts of Patricia Ellis, his former teammate on the paper, Dunn gets a job with a race bookie. Then Frankie Darro, a jockey, brings him an inside tip on a race Dinehart is trying to fix. Scoring an exclusive beat with the story, Dunn is restored as Miss Dodd shoots Dinehart, then kills herself, leaving Dunn free for Miss Ellis.

The direction by Robert Florey finely shades the difference in character between Miss Dodd and Miss Ellis and works in splendidly the atmosphere of the background in which sportswriters work. The story by George Bricker and Joel Sayre, while aimed at male audiences, nevertheless has feminine appeal because of the care used in developing the female characters.

Baffled most people, and one man, calling a newspaper, asked:

"Is that a new WPA project?"

British Study KRS Delay on Booking Deals

Expect Refusal to Deal With H. & G. Group

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, Sept. 9.—Postponement by the council of the Kinematograph Renters' Society of a final ruling on the arrangement between Gaumont British and H. & G. Kinemas is being read in Wardour Street as foreshadowing an ultimate refusal to trade with the H. & G. houses as part of the G. B. booking circuit.

Officially, the matter has been adjourned in order that G. B. may produce further evidence to the K. R. S. proving that a majority control of H. & G. has been acquired by Gaumont British Super Cinemas, Ltd., the subsidiary floated to take them over.

Unofficially, it is thought significant that during the adjournment of the G. B. case the K. R. S. should have issued the statement of its attitude to-

Shift of Operators Irks Circuit Heads

Rotation of operators in circuit booths somewhat annoyed theatre executives yesterday, despite claims of Local 306 that this move had been taken in an effort to relieve the unemployment situation.

While no protest was lodged with the union, circuit heads were inclined to believe that the shifting of operators to booths unfamiliar to them was purposely done to inconvenience theatre managers, who were somewhat put out by the relief men.

Meanwhile, negotiations between the two parties continue amicably with indications that nothing definite will materialize for two weeks or more.

Korda Party Lunch Guests of Quigley

A luncheon in compliment to Alexander Korda and his British associates, Sir Connop Guthrie and Etienne Pallos, was tendered by Martin Quigley at the Rockefeller Center Luncheon Club yesterday.

Those present were Korda, Sir Connop, Pallos, Will H. Hays, Nicholas M. Schenck, Dr. A. H. Giannini, Robert H. Cochrane, W. G. Van Schmus, Ned E. Depinet, Al Lichtman, Arthur W. Kelly, Harry D. Buckley, Maurice Silverstone, Carl E. Milliken, Colvin Brown and Mr. Quigley.

English Houses Booming, States Feist Upon Return

"All cinemas in England are doing a terrific business and those in London are very prosperous," Felix F. Feist, general sales manager of M-G-M, stated yesterday upon his arrival on the Ile de France from a five-week "holiday" in England and France.

Feist said he couldn't make an observation about business in France inasmuch as he attended only one film house. He said he spent most of his time at legitimate theatres.

Questioned about reports from Chicago that M-G-M and Essaness were having trouble, Feist said that before he sailed for England he had set his deal with the Windy City circuit and had not heard of any dissatisfaction since.

Wallace Beery, who has 14 months to go on his M-G-M pact, stated he will leave for the coast on Oct. 1. He plans to attend the Baer-Louis fight, but is undecided on whom to

Louisianians Seek Censor Law Repeal

New Orleans, Sept. 17.—With the death of Senator Long, it is believed the censorship board's lease of life will be short. A movement is on foot for a special session of the legislature to repeal many laws.

It is said that exhibitors and exchange men will bring the matter up at the proposed extra session, giving as a reason that the existence of the board is not necessary for the public welfare. The extra taxes placed on the exchanges will also be stressed.

RKO and Fox File Replies to Skouras

RKO and Fox yesterday filed affidavits in the Supreme Court in answer to an injunction suit filed last week by Skouras Theatres Corp., which claims it has seven days' protection on Fox product over RKO's 81st St. The Skouras theatres involved are the Nemo and Riverside.

Skouras yesterday filed counter affidavits and today RKO and Fox attorneys will file briefs with Justice Hofstadter. A decision is expected in a few days.

Ohio Gets Admiral

Columbus, Sept. 17.—Ohio film men who may hereafter seek titular recognition may not need to look to Kentucky.

Governor Davey has commissioned Sidney Frohman, a friend, at Sandusky, as an admiral in the Ohio navy. It was done because the Governor and his family were entertained on Frohman's yacht recently.

The commission has but one precedent in Ohio, and that was many years ago.

Reopenings Spurt In N. Y. Territory

Theatre activity in the local territory took a sudden spurt during the last week with a number of reopenings and changes in management taking the spotlight. Dick Edelson and Harold Blumenthal have closed for the Strand, Hackettstown; Palace, Flemington, and Strand, Lambertsville, N. J., while M. Eskin of New Haven has taken the Cameo and American, Newark.

Having reopened the Imperial,

No New Pact, All Is Fine, Says Thalberg

Old Contract Has Years To Run, He Asserts

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Irving Thalberg today denied experiencing difficulties with M-G-M, adding "everything is fine." He was caught by a Motion Picture Daily reporter in between trains and tonight was aboard The Chief Hollywood-bound from New York.

"Reports that I have signed a new contract are untrue," he said. "My old contract has several years to run and I have made no new agreement. I have had no difficulties with Metro, everything is fine and I had a grand time in New York on what was my first visit there in two years.

"I am anxious to get back to Hollywood and start work on 'Romeo and Juliet,' 'The Good Earth' and other pictures and have no statement to make other than that I have a heavy

Independents Start New Group on Coast

Hollywood, Sept. 17.—As forecast exclusively in Motion Picture Daily, an independent producer group headed by I. E. Chadwick met at a dinner conference last night at the Hotel Roosevelt for the purpose of laying the foundation for a new independent producers' organization.

William Berke, Fred Futter and Charles C. Burr were named as a committee to get the new organization started. Its principal purposes will be to force state righters to maintain contractual obligations. Producers attending included Sig Neufeld, Ray Kirkwood, A. W. Hackle, William Smith, Maurice Conn and Lester Simmons.

One of the points brought out at the meeting centered on payment for code seals under the new regulations laid down by the Hays office.

Van Schmus to Run Center Film Policy

RKO will not book the Center when the house reopens the first week in October. W. G. Van Schmus, who supervises operation of the Music Hall, will also guide the Center.

Negotiations are understood under way to reopen the smaller of the two Radio City theatres with "The Last Days of Pompeii" either Oct. 1 or Oct. 8. Policy of the Center will be first run.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

PERSONAL preferences, or some results of a tour of neighborhood houses and projection rooms:

Spencer Tracy's natural, and so bang-up, performance as the lead in "The Murder Man," an interesting picture despite its fantastic handling of big city newspaper routine.

Peter Lorre's psychopathic and powerful characterization as the surgeon in "Mad Love," a film grotesque which may mean something abroad, but certainly not here.

Fred Stone's homely and thoroughly human role as Katharine Hepburn's screen father in "Alice Adams" which, incidentally, is the best part Hepburn has had in several pictures.

Eleanor Powell's miraculous dancing limbs in "The Broadway Melody of 1936" which opens at the Capitol tonight.

Robert Wildhack's snoring routine in the same picture and Director Roy Del Ruth's timing of the former's appearance and re-appearance when you expect him least.

June Knight's final shot in "Melody" to which might be added general regret that it didn't come along sooner. . . .

"The March of Time," sixth issue previewed yesterday, stops some of its bristling, but by turning less controversial this time, at least, loses none of its interest. There is no better conceived or edited subject of its kind on the market within the doddering span of this space's memory. On this occasion, the two-reeler, in its usual method of telling a pictorial story with beginning, middle and end, discusses the bootleg coal situation in the Eastern Pennsylvania coal belt, presents the salient facts, inclines toward the sympathetic where the miners are concerned but gives the companies a break by the same token and leaves the problem, viewed as a serious one industrially, to go on to its second chapter. . . .

The next episode deals with the C.C.C., explains its purpose and the difficulties encountered in the rush to put the unemployed young to work and one method by which the trouble was erased. In general and because "The March of Time" is inherently editorial and so opinionated in its outlook, the footage leans with favor toward the idea which brought the Civilian Conservation Corps into existence. For the treatment, however, it should be said that expression is given to the speculation in many minds, if here is not a waiting force, powerful and sweeping and ready to help propel America into Fascism, if and when. . . .

The third and most exciting yarn deals with Lake Tana, which feeds the Blue Nile which feeds the Sudan's cotton fields and helps keep Britain's spindles in Lancashire busy, Ethiopia, and Italy, Ricketts and oil and is a corking narration in clear and lucid form of the political and economic fundamentals beyond the ominous crisis looming on the East African horizon. Typical of "The March of Time's" editorial and photographic standards—cryptic, punch-laden although less pungent, and timely—is this latest release. . . .

When Bob Cochrane recently advertised on the page opposite "The Greatest Two-Reeler on Earth," the secretary who does yeoman's service for this department wrote a note few in words but great in skepticism. Some days elapsed to bring along yesterday and a peek at "Camera Thrills," a two-reeler edited by Charles E. Ford who ordinarily gets out Universal Newsreel. The special is a compilation of choice newsreel clips, decorated very effectively by camera "wipes" and grinding newsreel cameramen showing them on duty in well and little known corners of the globe catching for the record thrills that make your average audience catch its breath. There are plenty of gasps drawn from air crashes, motor collisions on speedways, riots and steeplechases, collapsing bridges and fires. The assortment is varied; many are horrible, but all are undeniably skin-raising. It's excitement galore caught neatly in the camera box for projection now on screens that belong to alert and progressive showmen. . . .

The cables reported what her statement had to say, but perhaps it was not quite the reason. For Diana Wynyard, unforgettable in "Cavalcade," to publicly declare she was through with Hollywood because she did not screen well is to attribute to her intelligence a triteness which her work on the coast has persistently and constantly denied. While the League at Geneva is finding Mussolini unreasonably pugnacious, intervention on behalf of film incurables at large, not excepting this one, might find Miss Wynyard more tractable

AFA Starts Move to Restore Vaudeville

A campaign to restore vaudeville by stirring up nationwide sentiment has been launched by the American Federation of Actors. Prominent figures in the theatrical, political and newspaper fields have been enlisted in the effort.

The "Save Vaudeville Campaign" begins on Sept. 25 at the St. James, contributed by Eddie Dowling. At a meeting presided over by Ralph Whitehead and attended by Heywood Broun, Alfred Lunt, Senator Robert H. Wagner and Postmaster General James Farley and Jack Dempsey among others will start the move.

The circulation in key cities of petitions to marshal public opinion and enlist the aid of business organizations has already been started. From Bridgeport a petition with over 3,500 names signed to it has been turned over to Marvin H. Schenck of the Loew theatre operating department.

Finish Revamping Of First Division

Reorganization plans for First Division were completed last night. It is understood Harry H. Thomas, president, will continue in that capacity with Willis Bright as vice-president and treasurer. Al Friedlander also will be continued as a vice-president, it is said. Robert Atkins, president of First International, may succeed Frank Kolbe as chairman of the First Division board.

Under reorganization plans, First International has agreed to finance First Division for $225,000 with additional funds promised after the first of the year. Pathe Film Corp. is backing First International. The boards of all three companies are expected to meet later in the week to elect officers.

F.W.C. Executives Get New Contracts

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17.—Fox West Coast has given J. J. Sullivan, chief film buyer, and Charles Buckley, legal department head, new five-year contracts as vice-presidents. Contracts for a similar period are being prepared for Arch Bowles, San Francisco; Elmer Rhoden, Kansas City; H. J. Fitzgerald, Milwaukee; Rick Ricketson, Denver. The new deals are in fulfillment of a promise made to F.W.C. executives when the company faced bankruptcy a couple of years ago, and executives took wage cuts. Charles Skouras said district manager bonuses will be continued with increases.

schedule and plan to make some good pictures."

Norma Shearer, Thalberg's wife, is traveling west with him.

Nicholas M. Schenck declared yesterday Irving Thalberg had left New York for Hollywood as "happy as he was when he came here."

The trip, added the head of Loew's and M-G-M, was for the purpose of discussing production problems. Schenck made this added comment in flatly denying reports circulating in New York yesterday that M-G-M had voted Thalberg a substantial cash bonus.

The latter, according to persistent reports, has been dissatisfied with his status as a producer on the M-G-M lot and presumably had come to New York to straighten out the alleged difficulties with Schenck.

"I have done no such thing and would not have the authority to vote the bonus reported," said Schenck.

Rumors that Thalberg had signed a new contract were published earlier in the week in the chatter column of a local tabloid.

and Bert Walsh are the two leading factors in charge, Carewe said.

Explaining his instructional entertainment program, Carewe asserted the company will install sound equipment in schools and churches throughout the country for the handling of the features and shorts which comprise a program. All subjects are being made in color and black and white on both 35mm and 16mm films. The British company will set up a similar system.

Each program consists of an eight-reel feature, one two-reeler, two one-reelers and two split-reelers. The first feature will be "The Life of Christ," which is expected to be ready for release Christmas Week. The two-reeler will deal with how other nations live. The two single-reel subjects will be divided into one entertainment and one scientific subject. The entertainment part will comprise a cartoon while the other will devote its footage to picturing modern scientific developments.

Five Subjects Completed

The two split-reelers will consist of one Biblical subject and a color film. The color subjects will picture the highlights of America. Five subjects already have been completed in the "See America First," including "Zion National Park and Bryce Canyon," "Crater Lake and Mt. Rassen," "Yellowstone National Park," "Catalina Island" and "Trail of the Mission." Other subjects to be made will include Hudson Bay, the Mississippi, Niagara Falls, the Grand Canyon and the Rockies.

Carewe, who expects to leave for Hollywood today, stated there are 11 members of the church and educational board who pass on every subject before it is made. Production headquarters are at General Service Studios in Hollywood.

He said he spent two weeks in Rome during which time he had an audience with the Pope.

British Study KRS Delay on Booking Deals

wards the general problem of booking combines, as published in MOTION PICTURE DAILY Sept. 6, which made it plain that an arrangement whereby a theatre booked by one exhibitor and managed by another might be classified as a combine.

This clause has every appearance of having been specially drafted to meet the case of the G. B. buy of the H. & G. houses, it being understood that the Hyams brothers would remain in control of the theatres with G. B. doing the booking. The directorate is also 50-50 as between the two interests.

Expect Official Appeal

Present indications are that the K. R. S. will indicate its final attitude to the G. B.-H. & G. deal about Sept. 20. In the meantime, the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n., through its general council, will debate the trade situation created by the K. R. S. statement of policy. Strictly applied, the latter would put out of operation a large number of booking arrangements of many years' standing and the possibility has created widespread alarm in theatre circles. An official appeal from C. E. A. to K. R. S. is expected.

John Maxwell, president of the K. R. S., has gone on record stating that a ban on booking combines is necessary to save the British producer from extinction. He admits that the K. R. S. policy is designed to maintain prices, but declares that it is also a protection for the independent exhibitor who might otherwise find his competitor linking up with a combine to secure a booking advantage.

See Attack on K.R.S.

The Maxwell statement is regarded as significant as an anticipation of attacks on the K. R. S. as a body with a majority American membership and a reply in advance to such assertions. "If rentals fell in this country, the American renter would lose only part of his profit," says Maxwell, "but the British producer-renter . . . is working on a very small margin of profit and, if his rentals are reduced, he is going to be put out of business."

Regarding the position of his own (A. B. C.) circuit, the closest competitor of G. B., Maxwell said:

"We do not take over any cinema today unless we have complete control of it."

A. B. C. had recently decided against taking a "substantial interest" in two theatres and booking them, he declared, in deference to the policy of the K. R. S.

bet. He said he visited England, France, Switzerland, Austria, Hungary and Holland during his vacation and when he returns to the coast he will make a picture for Twentieth Century-Fox after first appearing in an M-G-M vehicle.

Robert Ritchie, manager of Jeanette MacDonald, was on the same boat and will leave by plane today for Hollywood, returning next Tuesday to attend the Baer-Louis fisticuffs.

Miriam Jordan said her trip abroad was purely for a vacation. While in England she said she signed with C. M. Woolf to appear in one picture early next year. Miss Jordan, a former Fox player, plans to remain in New York and appear in a Sidney Kingsley play. Clare Booth Brokaw, former impartial member of Code Authority, also returned from a vacation abroad. Asked whether she was doing any writing for films, she said: "That's one thing I've kept away from."

Others arriving included Val Parnal, Harry Foster and Benita Gould.

with a view to statewide prohibition. Twin City exhibitors were meeting this week to decide the problem. Use of the mails in promotion has been denied by postal officials here.

Bank Night has been discontinued at five Tri-State houses in Des Moines, pending trial on a petition of the county attorney's office to stop them. Action against Blank houses at Clinton is pending.

Bank Night Outside U.S.

With approximately 3,000 theatres throughout the country now playing Bank Night, Claude Ezell plans to introduce the game in Canada and South America, he stated yesterday upon his arrival from Chicago. He was accompanied by Eugene Reed, Denver attorney.

Ezell and Reed contemplate leaving for Canada the end of the week to establish offices either in Montreal or Toronto.

"Every theatre in Chicago is playing Bank Night one day each week," Ezell said, "and there are about 200 houses in Greater New York using the game." Roy Heffner of Boston, handling New England for Bank Night, was in town yesterday conferring with Ezell.

Race Nights Due Here

Race Nights, which have been adopted in theatres of 19 states west of the Mississippi, will make their debut in New York around Oct. 1. Film Products, Inc., which is handling the game, has taken a lease in the Film Center Bldg., effective Oct. 1.

The game started in California about a year ago and created quite a debate among theatre owners. Andrew L. Stone, president of the company, is now on the coast closing for the eastern setup. Tom Walsh will be associated with him.

Following the New York office, others will be established on the eastern seaboard and middle west.

British Lion Will Raise Its Capital

London, Sept. 9.—Details of the expected reconstruction of British Lion Film Corp., Ltd., include an increase of capital from £210,000 to £750,000 and the addition to the board of N. L. Nathanson, of Famous Players Canadian and Regal, and Andrew P. Holt, once chairman of the Standard Film Co., Ltd., the holding company which sold control of P. C. T., Ltd. to Gaumont British.

The scheme involves the rearrangement of the capital into 1,250,000 preference shares of 10/ value and 2,500,000 ordinaries of 1/-. There is also provision for £300,000 convertible six per cent debenture stock.

Smith, Nathanson and Holt are to provide £150,000 in debentures and £25,000 in ordinaries. The offer to existing shareholders, which is expected to provide the further working capital needed, is that the present preferred ordinaries (value 12/6) will be converted into 7½ per cent non-cumulative participating preference shares of 10/- value, on the basis of five new shares for four old, with an option to subscribe for one ordinary share, at par, for each preference share held. The present deferred shares, market value 4d, will be exchanged into preference at the rate of 30 old shares for one new and will carry an option of buying new ordinaries at the rate of three to each preference held.

No dividend is to be paid for the current year. Accounts show a profit of £14,891 against £5,801, but all moneys are needed, say the directors, to finance new developments, of which the chief is the addition of a new stage at the Beaconsfield studio to enable three pictures to be produced at the same time, and the marketing of the Republic product fixed by S. W. Smith during his recent New York visit.

Two Holdovers Set Omaha Precedent

Omaha, Sept. 17.—For the first time in this town's history two pictures in competition played two-week holdovers simultaneously. "China Seas" stuck it out at the Omaha after breaking the house record, while "Top Hat," which smashed every record at the Brandeis, was held.

The Tri-States circuit, Evert Cummings, district manager says, will set a precedent for the Orpheum since that circuit took it over two years ago, by playing "Steamboat 'Round The Bend," a single feature for eight days.

Cummings is changing the policy of his Sioux City, Ia., houses for the Rogers picture by playing it simultaneously in the Capitol and Princess at 35 cents top in both.

"Shipmates Forever"

(Warners)

Hollywood, Sept. 17.—For the great mass of American youth, Cosmopolitan has here a colorful, tear-jerking, heart-appealing story. It is fine, upstanding Annapolis entertainment with names, plot, singing and dancing, all splashed with star-spangled hurrah.

Dick Powell, descended from a line of admirals, prefers crooning to seafaring as a career. Ruby Keeler, also of a naval family, is somewhat bitter because the service has taken the lives of her father and brother. Goaded by Lewis Stone, his admiral father and later superintendent of the Academy, Powell passes an entrance examination and leaves crooning for Annapolis. A top student, he refuses to join in the spirit of the place, choosing isolation and contempt for his classmates rather than friendship.

Miss Keeler, at first sympathetic, eventually succumbs to the traditional spirit of the Academy, and influences Powell. On the senior cruise he saves the ship from burning and is himself burned.

The depth of feeling injected by Frank Borzage, director, makes the story believable and clean cut in motivation, balancing pathos, laughter and romance with telling effect. Supporting performances reflect ace endeavors by John Arledge, Ross Alexander, Eddie Arcuff, Robert Light and Dick Foran. The story and screen play by Delmer Daves is creditable and three songs by Warren and Dubin are tuneful. The entire film has a spectacular flair and real action. It is charted for highs at the box-office.

Production Code Seal No. 1,177. Running time, 110 minutes. "G."

"Two Fisted"

(Paramount)

Hollywood, Sept. 17.—The adventures of a worn out fighter and worn down manager produce plenty of laughs in this talking version of "Is Zat So," hit play by James Gleason and Richard Taber.

Roscoe Karns is the fighter who misses trains, bouts and decisions with comic regularity. Lee Tracy plays the desperate manager. After forfeiting their last $50 and running up a taxi bill beyond the danger point, Tracy and Karns welcome the inebriated Kent Taylor as a financial angel. They take on jobs as butler and second man with hilarious results when their ring tactics are applied to the guests. Gordon Westcott makes a good heavy as the blackmailing husband of Gail Patrick.

The finale is fast and funny with Karns matched against the disguised middleweight champion, while Westcott is attempting to kidnap Billy Lee.

Tracy and Karns are up to standard. Akim Tamiroff scores as the enbittered taxi driver and Florence Lake is good as the chattering nitwit. Grace Bradley, Samuel Hinds, G. P. Huntly, Jr., are good in smaller parts. Director James Cruze kept the action smooth and fast. The screen play by Ralph Spence and E. Edwin Moran expertly introduces new lines and situations. William T. Lackey supervised and Harold Hurley produced. Fast comedy and laughs offset the lack of feminine appeal in this.

Production Code Seal No. 1,272. Running time, 62 minutes. "G."

Loew Unit to Pay $1.75

Marcus Loew's Theatres, Ltd., Canadian unit, has declared an accumulation dividend of $1.75 a share on the seven per cent preferred stock, payable Sept. 20 to holders of record on that date. After this dividend the balance of past due payments will total $43.75 per share.

"Anna Karenina" garnered $34,000 at the Capitol for the second week. The film is being replaced tonight by "Broadway Melody of 1936."

Para. Seeking Quins

Hollywood, Sept. 17.—Paramount has all but come to terms for the use of the Dionne quintuplets in the Harold Lloyd picture, "The Milky Way." Final word from the quins' guardians is expected soon. If they are permitted to appear, Lloyd and a camera crew will fly to Canada to film the sequence.

Kansas City All Agitated By "Top Hat"

Kansas City, Sept. 17.—"Top Hat" stirred plenty of excitement by hitting $15,000, practically double normal take of $8,000 for straight pictures at the Mainstreet. Lawrence Lehman, manager, inserted this line in the Saturday morning Times, eight days after the opening: "66,519 Kansas Citians can't be wrong." On the second day of the run the house instituted special early morning shoppers' matinee at 9:30 o'clock.

This was tough competition for all first runs, but at the Fox Uptown "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" took $4,700 in its second week, which is $1,200 over par. The picture was held for a third week.

The Newman grossed an average of $7,000 on "The Man on the Flying Trapeze." The Tower, with "$10 Raise," did $6,500, $500 below par.

Total first run business was $39,200. Average is $37,000.

"Top Hat" Is Philadelphia $25,000 Riot

Philadelphia, Sept. 17. — "Top Hat" was the week's standout at the Stanley, knocking off $25,000 to more than double the average take. Business was sensational all week, particularly at night, and the house grossed its best figure in two years. The picture will probably go three weeks.

The rest of the houses were pretty much on the skim-milk basis, though the $12,000 the Fox got for the second week of "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" represents plenty of profit, inasmuch as there is no stage show overhead. The musicians and managers are still at loggerheads with no immediate prospect of a settlement.

New Haven Puts Up SRO for "Top Hat"

New Haven, Sept. 17.—With ticket selling stopped at 8 o'clock and 2,000 persons turned away each of the first four nights of its run, "Top Hat" more than doubled par for the 3,000-seat Poli with $14,000, and was moved to the College for a second week.

"Call of the Wild," on a dual bill with "She Gets Her Man" at the Roger Sherman, was able to withstand this terrific competition to the tune of $5,900—about $1,400 over average. The Paramount dipped below par with "Annapaolis Farewell," a single feature offering which took only $4,000, under normal by $800.

Total first run business was $27,100. Average is $18,500.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 17. — "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" was tremendous at the Criterion. Oklahomans turned out to see their native son in such numbers that the gross went to $10,000. Normal is $5,000.

"Call of the Wild" was strong at $5,400 in the Midwest, going over par by $1,400. "Men Without Names" and "Welcome Home" failed to make an impression at the Liberty, the first for four days and the second for three.

Total first run business was $18,900. Average is $13,500.

Stage, Film Bills Pull in Charlotte

Charlotte, Sept. 17.—An experiment in combining stage presentations by the local Little Theatre group with films at the Carolina proved a heavy draw. For the first three days of the week "Accent on Youth" was presented with "The Wedding" on the stage. The $4,500 take was $2,000 above the weekly average of $2,500. For the remaining four days "Without Regret" was shown with "Hi Ho, Broadway" on the stage. The $3,500 gross topped normal for seven days by $1,000.

Total first run business was $19,000. Average is $12,000.

U. S. to Seek Speedy Trial In St. Louis

Special Circuit Bench To Be Requested

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Department of Justice officials today revealed that a new effort to speed the suit of the government in the St. Louis anti-trust action against distributors has been determined upon.

John Dickinson, chief of the Anti-Trust Division of the department, said the Government planned to request the appointment of a special bench of three U. S. Circuit Court judges. The judges would be asked to hear immediately the Government's request for an injunction to restrain the distributors from alleged anti-trust practices pending outcome of the criminal suit for violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. The suit was filed last January.

Government attorneys said appointment of the special court would become mandatory as soon as the Government filed a request for such action. The Government is planning to bring some action in the case before the 1935-36 film contracts have come into full effect. The criminal action is now set for trial Oct. 1, but further delay is feared.

Western Kansas Has Big Gain Due to Oil

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 18.—One reason there has been little complaint from central and western Kansas throughout the seasons of drought has been oil developments in a large part of that territory, with consequent regular checks for leases to owners.

In a strip approximately 100 miles wide and extending north and west from Hutchinson and McPherson, Kans., oil development has, in the past six months, received a tremendous impetus due to the strikes of wildcatters and established oil firms.

Geologists claim the oil-bearing strip extends to the Wyoming oil fields.

Two Detroit Scales Rise; More Coming

Downtown Spots Aim for 75c. Top Eventually

DETROIT, Sept. 18.—Although first runs have steadily denied any intention of raising prices this fall, the Fox and the Michigan last Sunday hiked their evening scale from 55 cents to 65 cents and MOTION PICTURE DAILY has learned that a plan is under way to make further increases until the Michigan, Fox and United Artists top admission will be 75 cents.

Included in the plan is a boost for the Adams and State from 40 cents top to 55 cents and a boost at the United Artists, which now charges 55 cents top without stage shows, to 65 cents.

In line with these boosts, will be corresponding ones in the second and key run theatres operated by the circuits.

With the putting into effect of these higher prices will also come a corresponding increase in opening to 1 P. M. and afternoon prices.

Subsequent runs are watching the situation closely and there is considerable agitation for a price increase throughout the metropolitan area.

State exhibitors for the most part feel that they cannot make any raises.

Hays Asserts Plans Challenge Best Work

"New entertainment plans challenge the best cooperative efforts of producers, distributors and exhibitors," Will H. Hays yesterday told the board of directors at the quarterly meeting of the M. P. P. D. A. Hays also advised that advertising budgets be made commensurate with the greater entertainment features of the 1935-36 season.

The president of the M. P. P. D. A. discussed some of the new pictures promised by the various distributors, adding that "A Midsummer Night's Dream" has started a Shakespearean "cycle," which will find "Romeo and Juliet" and other works of the bard

Another Talk to Be Held on Long Reels

Another meeting of managers of exchange operations is expected to be called in about 10 days at the M. P. P. D. A. headquarters to discuss developments in connection with the 2,000-foot reel as proposed by the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences.

Reactions from various persons in the industry on the proposal are now coming in at the M. P. P. D. A., and it is expected that all replies to inquiries sent out will be on hand in about 10 days, following which a meeting will be held.

Gordon Mitchell, manager of research of the Academy, is staying in New York until the next meeting.

Independents Delay Naming of Officers

Election of officers for Independent Theatre Circuit, Inc., slated for yesterday, has been put off indefinitely. About 90 theatres have pledged support to the new circuit, but exhibitors who operate about 50 of the signed up theatres have failed to send in the necessary checks.

One of the prime reasons for delaying the naming of officers and directors is that persons named by those who have paid may not meet with the approval of exhibitors who are slow in sending in their checks. Rather than have any dissatisfaction, it is felt that the elections should not be held until all the checks are in hand.

Circuits Are Chafing Over Wage Delays

Randforce and Skouras May Deal Separately

Apparent reluctance on the part of major circuits to close dealings with Local 306 on a new basic wage scale has independent circuits, notably Randforce and Skouras, nettled to the point where they may break away from the majors and negotiate their own scale.

Independent circuit operators contend that it is more than five weeks since the first conferences got under way with the union and both factions are no further along now than they were on Aug. 12, the first day of the meetings. Unaffiliated theatre men figure they can close a deal with Local 306 in less than a week and are considering a move to start talking scale terms on their own and leaving the majors to themselves.

The membership of Local 306 met yesterday morning at Palm Gardens and is understood to have made known its dissatisfaction with the slow progress the union was making.

One of the independent circuits was reported negotiating with Allied and Empire and breaking away from Local 306. This, however, could not be checked, since Joseph D. Basson, president of Local 306, has refused to talk to the press.

Allied Union Seeks Stay on the Eltinge

Injunction proceedings were filed in the Manhattan Supreme Court today by Benjamin F. DeAgostino as president of the Allied M. P. Operators' Union against the Edjomac Amusement Corp., operators of the Eltinge at 236 W. 42nd St.

The petition charges that the defendants are employing non-members of the plaintiff's union in violation of an agreement entered into between the plaintiff and the I. T. O. A. Aug. 21, 1933.

Again Delay Action On Union Injunction

Supreme Court Justice John H. McCooey in Brooklyn yesterday postponed until Monday morning a hearing on a motion by Benjamin F. De Agostino, president of Allied M. P. Operators, for a temporary injunction before trial against Estates Operating Co., operating the Avon, Garfield and 16th St., in Brooklyn. The motion seeks to restrain Estates from employing other than Allied operators.

Court Fines Dickinson

Kansas City, Sept. 18.—Carleton Dickinson, son of Glenn W. Dickinson, has been found guilty at Lawrence, Kan., by Police Judge Oscar Learnard of placing theatre posters and advertising on poles and property belonging to others without their consent. The judge assessed a fine of $25 and costs, but Dickinson's attorney announced he would appeal.

Similar charges against Glenn W. Dickinson were dismissed.

Donald Hults, Dickinson attorney, contended that friction between police and the Dickinsons was responsible for the charges, while the city attorney claimed the trial was the result of violation of a city ordinance.

Robert Abrams, 43 Claremont Ave., Bronx, was indicted yesterday for first degree manslaughter, as the result of the death of Henry Yoda, 17. Abrams, theatre manager, but not connected with the Fenway, Bronx, acted as volunteer "bouncer" when he saw a group of youths trying to "crash" the Fenway. In the ensuing fight, Yoda was fatally injured.

"THE BIG BROADCAST OF 1936"

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

THE Washington wire yesterday had Department of Justice officials considering a petition for the appointment of a special court to hear the anti-trust case in St. Louis. It also had them giving consideration to a plan to drop their plan if some satisfactory means of expediting the hearing can be reached. Exactly what it all means, exactly how much the political differences between ex-Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, special counsel for Warners, and Attorney General Homer S. Cummings enter into the situation can only be a matter for speculation. . . .

The Government now charges the defendant distributors, which are Paramount, RKO and Warners, with "back stage" tactics, whatever precisely that might mean, in defeating the Department's efforts to bring the disputed issues to early trial "through orderly means," another specious phrase which implies something or nothing at all dependent upon the point of view sneaking up on it. The official attitude along the Potomac also sets forth the Justice Department's opinion that it regards this case as one of the most important anti-trust actions in recent years, one that should not be permitted to lag, one that by its outcome, if successful, would mean the furtherance of the Department's intention of filing similar suits in other exchange centers. . . .

That stacks up as something sounding very official as an exposition of policy and with it there need necessarily be no argument. But the Department's officials, who ordinarily do not talk much for newspaper men, except when they consider it policy to do so, seek out this special tribunal, an unusual procedure adopted in few instances, on the one hand, while, on the other, they appear to be hazy, perhaps deliberately, on the amount of time such a step would save as compared with the injunction hearing already set in St. Louis for October 1. . . .

Whether the fuss, the purpose of which is anything but clear to this department which early in these ramblings concedes its obtuseness, is political, the Reed-Cummings circumstances being what they are, or is designed chiefly to center the public's attention on the perennially publicized ravages of the film industry, per se, or was conceived to force a satisfactory arrangement on the actual hearing of the case is speculation and that's admitted. It is also admitted that any one or all three, or any two in combination, might serve to furnish the answer and bring the inside into the light for all and sundry to inspect. . . .

Officials of the Department, the Washington wire has further to say, would discuss their move for a special tribunal only in the most general way. Assistant Attorney General John Dickinson, in charge of anti-trust cases, declares that "if the Government fails it will be the most tragic disaster that ever occurred to the small man in the motion picture business." That's a high-minded and public-spirited comment for Dickinson, who has been in the Justice Department only since late July, to make, but he is covering a lot of territory including dirty pictures, the depression and the late code. . . .

Now, as a matter of fact and without attempting to review step by step the course of the St. Louis matter, the delays which have developed to date have come about under the Federal laws. Step by step, each move was argued before the properly vested Federal judges and Federal district attorneys who, by technicality or by well-established point of law, granted this or that on argument prepared by various attorneys for the defense. The only human note, so far as research developed last night, was the postponement sought and obtained by ex-Senator Reed because in St. Louis on September 10 he asked delay to attend the funeral of his sister in Portland, Oregon. It was Federal Judge George Moore who set October 1 as the hearing date on the Government's move for an injunction ahead of trial. It was Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey of Des Moines, summoned from Des Moines to St. Louis, to hear the injunction pleadings who, on August 7, said he could see no emergency and so refused the August 19 date asked by the Department of Justice unless specifically ordered to so do by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. That higher court took no such action. The moves successively were determined by the Federal bench. . . .

If, therefore, the Department of Justice objects to the procedure so far, its displeasure might well be directed at the technical aspects of the very laws under which it proposes to seek convictions and not at the distributors under indictment. Certainly counsel for the defense are not to be expected to overlook any bets which will bulwark that defense. Likewise, it is silly to assume that the prosecution would. . . .

As a matter of record—Federal chambers in St. Louis is the place if exact detail is desired—it was Federal District Attorney Blanton who, upon inquiry from Judge Moore, told the bench the criminal calendar for the middle of September was overloaded and that to set a date in the film case earlier than the end of the month would be impossible. Thereupon, Judge Moore fixed the date for October 1. Furthermore, neither RKO nor Paramount had asked for a continuance on that day, its lawyers asserting they were ready to proceed. The application for a continuance centered solely around Reed because of the family death, an unforeseen circumstance, acknowledgment of and concession for which are ordinarily made. . . .

This is no dissertation on the merits of the case; the courtroom is the place for that. It is, however, a rapid review of the facts, pieced together in logical continuity, it is hoped, to the end that an accurate story might be told. . . .

Giveaways Hit By Court Fine In Australia

By CLIFF HOLT

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 28 (By Airmail via London).—Giveaways have received a setback in court at North Sydney which is expected to check the spread in a variety of forms.

As a test case Robert Girgona, proprietor of the Orpheum, was arrested on a charge of making a free gift to a patron. A magistrate fined him the nominal sum of £5, but issued a warning that further offenses will call for fines of £100.

Varied schemes for circumventing the decision have been discussed, but many exhibitors agree that giveaways have failed as box-office stimulants and the impression is gaining that they will be dropped.

Amateur nights are spreading rapidly among suburban houses here. The idea started in radio stations and there are enough applicants on hand to keep the stunt going at least nine months.

On his arrival from New York, Ralph E. Binns, Warner executive, painted a bright picture of film conditions in the United States. "General conditions in America are looking up," he said, "and box-office takings all over the country are increasing."

When the balance sheet of Hoyt's Theatres, Ltd., for the past year is put before shareholders, it is expected to disclose a net profit in excess of £50,000. This is considered most satisfactory by the board, which has decided to pay dividends of six per cent. on the "A" preferences, and five per cent on the "B" preferences.

The trade here received a surprise when the Brisbane City Council gave a lease on the old Town Hall to Developments Pty., Ltd. M-G-M's tender carried a bigger rental than that submitted by the successful bidder. The lease will run for 30 years at £3,000 for the first 10 years, £3,500 for the second five years, and £6,500 per year thereafter.

M-G-M, which operates the Cremorne in the outskirts of Brisbane, had been anxious to break into the city proper. It sought a lease for 10 years with options for two 10-year periods, and offered to pay for reconstruction at a cost of £35,000. In addition, £16,000 was to have been spent on equipment and furnishings, with a stipulation that these should become the council's property at the end of the lease.

Boston, Sept. 18.—J. C. Strock, new Metropolitan manager from Minnesota, is intrigued by New England hospitality. Scarcely had he and Mrs. Strock moved into a house on Kilsyth Road, Brookline, than a gracious charmer fingered the doorbell, then smiled her way inside with a "Welcome Basket" that contained full portions of milk, eggs, coffee, bread, candy, etc., and discreet advertising literature from local tradesfolk; the idea being, of course, that Strock and the missus would patronize these establishments.

Strock wonders if it would not be better to move once a week and keep the larder stocked . . . except that it's an unworthy thought.

Wilmington, Sept. 18.—Two downtown theatres were fleeced by a man who collected $3 from each for a one gallon can of what was represented to be insecticide but proved to be kerosene. Warning From Wehrenberg On a 10% Tax

St. Louis, Sept. 18.—Sounding a warning to all exhibitors to be on the alert because of renewed activity of local merchants to reinstate the 10 per cent amusement tax clause in the old age pension bill just passed, Fred Wehrenberg of the M.P.T.O. is advising theatre owners absorbing the one per cent sales tax to pass it on to the public.

Wehrenberg states that exhibitors adopting the practice of paying the "nuisance" tax are showing the merchants that the industry can be tapped for 10 per cent of the box-office tallies without much effort and inconvenience.

"The M.P.T.O. recently had the 10 per cent amusement tax in the old age pension bill killed," Wehrenberg said, "and merchants, noting the ease with which exhibitors manage the one per cent levy, are rallying forces in an attempt to relieve themselves of the 'nuisance' tax and have theatre grosses taxed 10 per cent," he concluded.

Olsen and Johnson, associate members, paid a visit to the suite of Col. Arthur Frudenfeld in the Hotel Gibson, while playing the RKO Shubert recently, and entertained him with a few intimate stories as only this duo can dispense them. Frudenfeld, who suffered a collapse in his office some weeks ago, now is able to be out of bed, and on the road to recovery.

Sam Kramer, United Artists salesman, has moved to the coast. Local barkers tendered him a farewell dinner and presented him a traveling kit.

Nelson G. Trowbridge, Bill Sachs and Joe Kolling were judges in a national open at WLW, local radio station, to select the person with the top voice for Eddie Duchin. Stan Jacques, however, was one of the judges in a bathing beauty contest at the Strand, which he contends was the better job.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"I Live My Life"

(M-G-M)

Hollywood, Sept. 18.—Joan Crawford in a new characterization is splendid in an attraction which is one of the new season's entertainment bets. Opposite her is Brian Aherne, a romantic Irishman. The direction by W. S. Van Dyke is distinctively smart and intensely human.

The plot is barbed with warm, rich humor, poking fun at society foibles in the modern mood and manner. The story is of the male and female, "I Love You, I Hate You" variety between Miss Crawford, a high-strung society girl, and Aherne, a working archaeologist. Meeting in Greece, they love. Parting, he follows her to Manhattan. Her useless society merry-go-round finds him out of place with her addle-pated hangers on.

For spite and because it helps her dad, Frank Morgan, out of a financial hole, she decides to marry Fred Keating, a wealthy nitwit. Discovering from Morgan that his finances are all right Miss Crawford phones Aherne, who hotfoots it to her, upsets Christmas Day and her frightened family but gets his approval from dictatorial grandma, Jessie Ralph.

Esconced as vice-president of an industrial empire, Aherne revolts and calls off the marriage. To offset being society's laughing stock, smart Joan, however, insists that she will not be jilted by him but will jilt him by not appearing at the church. At the altar Miss Crawford double-crosses and Aherne appears. A ticket to Greece changes Aherne's mind.

Miss Crawford, unfurling a new rainbow of emotions, stages a grand scene after the marriage breakup, a tempest with big laughs. Aherne makes a fine counterfoil for her. Morgan as the fumbling father is good, always. The entire cast is fine, including Aline MacMahon, Eric Blore, Arthur Treacher, Frank Conroy, Etienne Girardot and Fred Keating.

The story by Gottfried Reinhardt and Ethel Borden from a short story by Carter Godloe is well fashioned by Joseph Mankiewicz's screen play. Bernie Hyman produced with fine taste and sparkling showmanship. The eye elements and photography are good.

Miss Crawford's box-office name, with this title, in a yarn bound to create plenty of "word of mouth" should send this soaring among the highs.

No production code seal. Running time, 90 minutes. "G."

"Waterfront Lady"

(Mascot)

Hollywood, Sept. 18.—Good trouping by Frank Albertson, Charles Wilson, Grant Withers, J. Farrell MacDonald and Ann Rutherford, a newcomer, makes this acceptable and average screen fare.

Albertson, taking the blame for the accidental shooting of Jack LaRue on a gambling ship owned by his boss, Wilson, hides out in a fishing shack. He avoids pursuit among waterfront folk until he is discovered by Withers, his rival for Miss Rutherford's affection, and is exposed by Barbara Pepper, Wilson's girl, whose advances he has spurned. When the police finally close in on Albertson an exciting battle takes place on barges with the Albertson and Rutherford romance winning when he is cleared.

Director Joseph Santley has routined the story by Wellyn Totman to get the maximum suspense from the situations. The production by Colbert Clark is all right. Miss Rutherford shows promise, looking well and reading her lines with conviction.

The picture should prove satisfactory on duals.

Production Code Seal No. 1,421. Running time, 70 minutes. "G."

"Special Agent," yesterday's opener at the Strand, was previewed by wire from Hollywood on Aug. 16.

"Steamboat 'Round the Bend," reviewed by wire from Hollywood on July 23, opens this morning at the Radio City Music Hall.

Warners have continued the one-year deal with Harry A. Kridel for the Mayfair, Newark. The first year's arrangement expires Nov. 9 when the new deal becomes effective. It was erroneously reported that the Warner arrangement was with Jerome Kridel of the Mayfair, South Orange, N. J.

S. & C. Take Over Folly

Acquisition of the Folly, Brooklyn, marks the entrance of Springer & Cocalis into Frisch & Rinzler territory. S. & C. bought the property. Although the circuit has a number of other houses in Brooklyn, the purchase of the Folly is the first S. & C. unit competitive to Ranforce's Alba.

Short Subjects

"Surprise"

(Vitaphone)

One of the Broadway Brevity musical subjects, this has a good quota of entertainment, chiefly supplied by the Duncan Sisters, who are capable singers and amusing players. As girls home from school they are entertained at their southern plantation home with a song from a Negro group, an eccentric dancer, and then offer a few numbers of their own. In all, a lively and entertaining subject. Production Code Seal No. 0442. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

"Serves You Right"

(Vitaphone)

Shemp Howard, a really clever and amusing comedian, provides numerous really funny moments in this two-reeler. Office boy in a law office, he aspires to be a process server so that he may marry the stenographer. He gets his chance, but he must serve a big, two-fisted saloon keeper. What happens to him in the attempt, and until his final success, is good for laughs. Production Code Seal No. 0424. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

"Rural Mexico"

(FitzPatrick-M-G-M)

An instructive and entertaining panorama of some of the highlights in the rural sections of Mexico. Particularly interesting are the pyramids in this Latin country. Pictured in three-tone Technicolor, the scenes are intriguing.

A subject worth showing. James A. FitzPatrick himself narrates the features of this beautiful country. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Into Your Dance"

(Vitaphone)

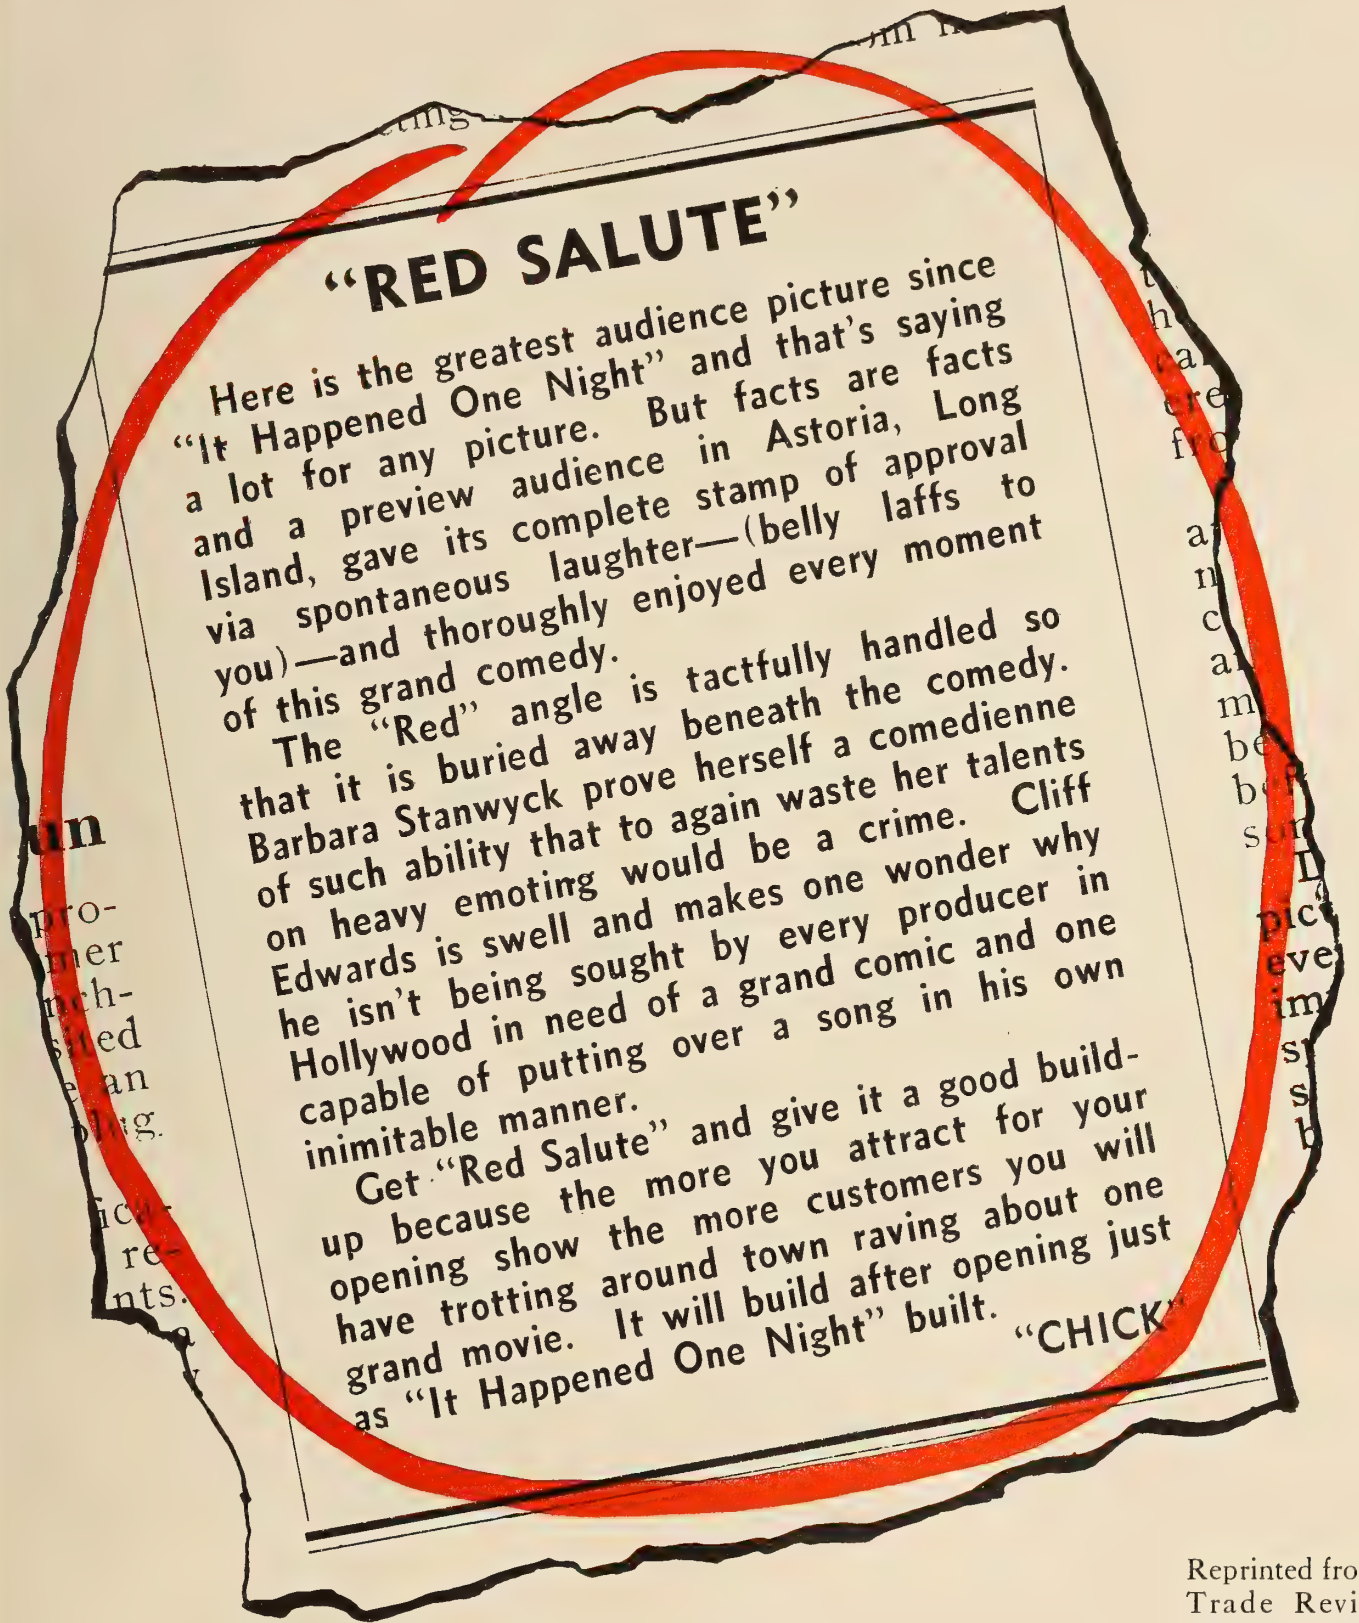
An entertaining Merrie Melody song cartoon in color, which is a takeoff on the popular Showboat of the radio and on radio amateur programs. The "Captain" starts his show, which goes along without difficulty until a stutterer steals the gong and succeeds in emptying all the seats. Rates as slightly better than average cartoon material. Production Code Seal No. 784. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Voice of Experience"

(Columbia)

Bookers will probably give this one a second thought before dating. It deals with the romance of a blind man and a deaf girl who are prevented from tying the knot by the groom's mother. After submitting the problem to Voice of Experience, who sanctions the wedding, the mother gives in.

While it is claimed to be a true story, it has a shade of O'Henry in the plot. This is the first subject in the series and apparently is a propaganda medium for the radio voice who, at the end of the short, says he will give advice on similar problems if patrons will write in. Somehow or other, it left a bad taste in the mouth of this reviewer and also left him open to question whether the story is true. Nothing is said of how the unemployed man will support his wife after the marriage. Reviewed without a code seal. Running time, 10 mins. 'G."



"RED SALUTE"

Here is the greatest audience picture since "It Happened One Night" and that's saying a lot for any picture. But facts are facts and a preview audience in Astoria, Long Island, gave its complete stamp of approval via spontaneous laughter—(belly laffs to you)—and thoroughly enjoyed every moment of this grand comedy.

The "Red" angle is tactfully handled so that it is buried away beneath the comedy. Barbara Stanwyck prove herself a comedienne of such ability that to again waste her talents on heavy emoting would be a crime. Cliff Edwards is swell and makes one wonder why he isn't being sought by every producer in Hollywood in need of a grand comic and one capable of putting over a song in his own inimitable manner.

Get "Red Salute" and give it a good build-up because the more you attract for your opening show the more customers you will have trotting around town raving about one grand movie. It will build after opening just as "It Happened One Night" built.

Rhode Island Gives Dowling Big Party

Providence, Sept. 18.—Eddie Dowling and his "Thumbs Up" company blew into town amid general fanfare which included attendance of state dignitaries at his opening night and a get-together party at the Biltmore which was attended by 500. Dowling took some good natured kidding anent the days when he was a warbling juvenile with the Scenic Stock Co. here.

Thomas J. Meehan was master of ceremonies and speeches were made by Edward M. Fay, Eddie Healey, formerly of Healey and Cross; Martin Toohey, once with Eddie at the old Scenic, and Judge James E. Dooley. Dowling introduced various members of his cast. Edward L. Reed, manager of the Strand, headed a committee of Rhode Island exhibitors in arranging the party.

No Friction: Sullivan

Denying there was any friction in negotiations between Paramount and Fox West Coast, Jack J. Sullivan, film buyer for the coast circuit, yesterday stated that he expected to sign a contract with the distributor this week, probably tomorrow. He said relations with the company were entirely harmonious, and that at no time had there been any indication that such was not the case.

A special meeting of holders of common stock and voting trust certificates is to be held Oct. 14 to ratify a proposed new issue of 75,000 shares of $2.75 cumulative convertible preferred stock, the proceeds of which will be used for retirement of outstanding $3 preference stock and for other purposes.

MARCH OF TIME

EVERY PERSON who comes into your theatre has read these headlines. Every daily paper that goes into his hands shouts that 1935 is an exciting, memorable year.

The world is living dangerously. Public feeling on vital issues has seldom run so high, been so sensitive. Constantly growing is the demand to know how this maelstrom of dramatic developments will affect the nation, business, every-day life.

MARCH OF TIME No. 6 photo-reports three such headline stories:—the tangle of Italy, Ethiopia and England; the Bootleg Coal crisis; and what 600,000 boys are doing in CCC camps. Ferreting out hidden beginnings and obscure developments on a hundred fronts, it brings to the screen twenty crisp minutes of factual, exciting entertainment that will make audiences think, feel and talk.

Based on subjects of which the public is most conscious, and stimulated by aggressive advertising and exploitation, the MARCH OF TIME is no longer a box-office prediction. It's a box office production.

Special Court Move Dropped In Trust Case

St. Louis Actions Stay In District Tribunal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Plans for the creation of a special court to hear the St. Louis anti-trust cases were abandoned today by the Dept. of Justice, which will take its chances in the Federal Court in which the suit now pends.

Officials of the department refuse to discuss the matter, but it was learned from an authoritative source that the scheme is dead.

In the absence of Attorney General Cummings, Stanley Reed, solicitor general of the department, conferred with his colleagues as to the desirability of following out a proposal that the Government seek to transfer the case from the Federal Court where it had met with repeated delays to a special court of one district and two circuit judges.

It was learned that in view of the London Films Plans Wider Use of Color

Following opening of the Technicolor laboratory at the new Denham Studio, London, which will be ready either in March or April, London Films will make most of its productions in color, Etienne Pallos, general studio manager, stated yesterday prior to his sailing on the Berengaria for London.

"While we were on the coast we saw one of the most wonderful travel films in Technicolor. It was a film made in Japan. We are sold on color," he said.

The new Denham studios will have five large stages, Pallos asserted.

"Hat" Gets $97,000 In Third M. H. Week

"Top Hat" finished its third week at the Music Hall Wednesday night with a $97,000 gross and made way for "Steamboat 'Round the Bend."

The Astaire-Rogers picture did $341,700 in its 21-day engagement. The first week's take was $131,200, the second week, $113,500.

CIRCUITS - UNION SET $1.86 SCALE

Cut of 26c Per Hour Is Taken by Local 306; Parleys Continue

Major circuit and union representatives early yesterday morning reached an accord on the first basic point in their negotiations on a wage scale for the local area when it was agreed to set $1.86 as the rate per hour for affiliated theatres. Overtime will be at double pay.

The rate does not include the nine Broadway houses. The hour rate for these theatres will be set later and will be higher than $1.86, it is understood. The term of the contract, as well as the starting date when the scale goes into effect, have not yet been determined, but it is said that the pact will be for 10 years with an arbitration committee to negotiate a wage change every two years.

Circuit houses have been paying $2.12 an hour. The new figure nets the affiliated theatres a saving of 26 cents an hour, or an 11 per cent cut from the former scale. Local 306, it is understood, offered the circuits a reduction of 10 per cent, which was turned down at the early sessions. The

Houses Save $200,000 on Operator Cuts

Computed roughly on the basis of a 12-hour day, RKO and Loew's will save approximately $200,000 annually as a result of a cut of 26 cents an hour in operators' pay. Loew's has 53 theatres in Manhattan, Bronx and Brooklyn, exclusive of its Broadway representation. RKO has 31 neighborhod theatres in the three boroughs. Local 306 does not operate in New Jersey, Staten Island, Long Island and Westchester and hence these units of both circuits are not included.

Loew's net savings will figure around $128,394.08. With the 53 houses operating on an average of 12 hours a day, the total of working hours a day is 636. Multiply this by seven days and the week's working hours tally 4,752, which, multiplied by 52 weeks a year, results in an annual total of 247,104 hours. With an average of two men in a booth, the saving per hour is doubled and amounts

Sharp Rise in Ticket Tax Indicates Grosses Are Up

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Reflecting a sharp improvement in theatre business are latest admission tax figures divulged today by the Bureau of Internal Revenue which reported revenue from this source, principally picture theatres, for July and August, first two months of the fiscal year, ran to $2,590,466. This is an increase of $550,587 over the $2,039,879 reported for the corresponding period in 1934. Receipts for August showed an increase of nearly 50 per cent over August, 1934, collections for the 1935 month being $1,313,552, as against $993,717 for the same month a year ago.

August receipts showed an increase of nearly $37,000 over the July collections of $1,276,914 which, in turn, were some $65,000 ahead of June.

FWC Bankruptcy Is Ended by the Court

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19. — Charles Skouras, John Trainor and W. H. Moore, Jr., received their discharges as trustees at a final hearing yesterday on the F.W.C. bankruptcy. Action by the U. S. District Court was upon recommendation of Referee Samuel McNabb.

Final confirmation and approval of the accounting of the trustees and sale of the properties to National Theatres Corp. was entered in the court discharge order. T. L. Tally and Lou Bard were the only protestants, with Tally the only one present to voice his sentiments. The court ignored the protests.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

THE reasons why are obvious, of course. Yet there is cause sufficient in the story of "Top Hat" and the Music Hall for wonderment. Here is a picture which did $131,200 in its first week, $113,500 in its second and $97,000 in its third to a grand total of $341,700 in twenty-one days. And yet, despite the amazing final week gate, it is pulled to make way for another which happens to be "Steamboat 'Round the Bend." This commentator does not look askance at the Rogers picture, because its attitude would be essentially, not completely, the same, regardless of what "Top Hat's" successor might have been. Rather does it ask, at the same time soliciting a reasonable answer, to the question: When will theatre operators in this lopsided business play real attractions for what they are worth regardless of length of run? . . .

The rebuttal will come from other distributors. Fox, no doubt, will argue it cannot be held up indefinitely with the Rogers film, which already has played practically all first runs aside from New York. In the instance of this particular attraction, it is true there is a case since the star in it is no more and no one can foretell whether his drawing power will diminish or not as his death grows older. Also, there is the matter of circuit and subsequent runs to ponder. However, let us assume Fox, or any other distributor aside from RKO, had owned "Top Hat." Then what? . . .

The incident reminds that, hardly susceptible to adding machine technique as it may be, there must be a frightening wastage of revenue up and down the land because pictures that click are not always permitted to run their pace. Universal had such an experience with its "Diamond Jim" at the RKO Palace, Chicago, where the picture did very fancy business and rated a holdover, but remained only one week because the national play-date campaign set for "Top Hat" was on its heels. It is poor reward for Hollywood jobs that register. . . .

Leo's tail is wagging furiously. The gala opening of "Broadway Melody of 1936" at the Capitol Wednesday evening was followed yesterday by the inevitable comparison of records, an old habit. It was discovered, on the basis of early performance, that the musical had (1) a bigger opening than that of "China Seas" and that (2) by 4 P. M. was neck to neck with its Harlow-Beery-Gable rival. The Broadway critics liked the picture, as who will not? Cutting through to pretty much the essence, this editorial scalpel finished with what follows. . . .

Regina Crewe in the American: "Creates a new star in Eleanor Powell."

Bland Johaneson in the Mirror: "Knockout, sure-fire, ticket-selling entertainment."

Kate Cameron in the Daily News: "A new star lights up Capitol screen."

Rose Pelswick in the Evening Journal: ". . . Add it all up and it spells gorgeous entertainment."

Dick Watts in the Herald-Tribune: "A lively and entertaining screen musical."

Thornton Delehanty in the Post: ". . . Has enough sure-fire ingredients to make its country-wide success a foregone conclusion."

Eileen Creelman in the Sun: ". . . A rousing good musical."

Andre Sennwald in the Times: ". . . Handsome, expert and dexterously routine photoplay."

William Boehnel in the World-Telegram: ". . . A grand, new entertainment." . . .

Now that M-G-M's advertising campaign is simplified, Si Seadler can resume his rhumba. . . .

Addenda: Walter Winchell liked the film so much he sent a box of orchids to Miss Powell who followed the premiere with a return to the Winter Garden for the dress rehearsal of "At Home Abroad" which bowed in last evening. Eleanor, before it is forgotten, does a wow of a Hepburn imitation in the picture, using a scene from "Morning Glory" as her script. And that's enough about "Broadway Melody" for quite a few days. . . .

Friendly straws in a pleasant wind: Federal admission taxes reflect an almost fifty per cent increase for August over the same thirty-day period in 1934. August, in turn, was almost $37,000 over July. And July was $65,000 in front of June. This is the Bureau of Internal Revenue, very official, reporting. More dollar detail is available by turning back one page.

United States Steel, depression or not a significant barometer of business in America, has budgeted $140,000,000 for plant alterations and improvements and proposes doing something about spending this sum, almost as large as the annual production budget of this industry, immediately.

Now figure, if it won't make you dizzy, what this means in employment, in more money circulation, in the impetus imparted steel's by-product enterprises and carry it along to ticket machines in theatres where some of it, inevitably, must end. . . .

The Washington wire was active again yesterday, clicking out among other matters the flash of the Department of Justice's decision to forget its petition for a special tribunal to hear the St. Louis anti-trust case. Someone there apparently discovered the injunction hearing is down for October 1 anyway and no time would be gained by the extraordinary procedure proposed. It developed also, but it had already been hinted at broadly — it is hoped—in this space that the idea stacked up as an effort to spotlight the suit, thereby demonstrating how jealously and how zealously the Government is safeguarding the interests of the as usual hopeless minority. . . .

This is house copy on MOTION PICTURE DAILY. Warned as you now are, the idea is to skip it if the calculations, carefully worked up, are of no interest. This tally does not include wired Hollywood previews, short subject reviews and a lengthy Insiders' Outlook column. By our own devices, we place that last. . . .

Circuits and Operators Set $1.86 Scale

circuits wanted to pay $1.60 an hour as against the union's $2.

Randforce, Skouras and other independents are not included in the wage rate just set. Individual deals will be negotiated by Local 306. It is said the smaller circuits will probably pay about $1.50 an hour, which is about 25 cents more than Allied M. P. Operators are getting.

Under the temporary agreement adopted Sept. 6, all Broadway houses are paying $1.80 every time the minute hand completes a circle, while circuit neighborhood runs are paying $1.60. Skouras theatres are on a basis of $1.28 while Randforce is continuing under the terms of its two-year pact. When the new scale is put into effect, the differences between the existing scale and the new one will be reimbursed to operators retroactive to Sept. 6.

Theatre Grading Continues

Following the agreement yesterday, Local 306 called off its plan of rotating relief men, a move which irked the circuits no end. Grading of theatres continues in addition to meetings with the two groups in settling other points at issue. The reclassification of houses does not embrace circuits, inasmuch as RKO and Loew's are set on the $1.86 figure, with the exception of Broadway. It will take several weeks to finish this task.

Negotiations for the merging of Allied and Empire unions with Local 306 continue. It will probably be several weeks before a deal is actually set. One of the present stumbling blocks is the $500 initiation fee demanded by the I. A. T. S. E. affiliate. However, optimism runs high at Local 306 that a deal will be effectuated shortly and that the city will be controlled by one union instead of three.

Commenting on the progress of the circuit-union scale and the three union consolidation, Harry Brandt, president of the I. T. O. A., yesterday stated:

"Insofar as I'm concerned, I'm glad that the circuits and union are getting together. I believe that the pending negotiations by Local 306, Allied and Empire are a step in the right direction to unionize the entire city. I am in favor of such a step."

Brandt for some time has been the brunt for a mass picketing attack by Local 306 on West 42d St. and Columbus Circle. All of his 44 theatres employ Allied operators. Despite this, Brandt is said to have been instrumental in bringing the three unions together.

fact that the suit is scheduled to be heard within two weeks and the general reaction was that the proposal was merely an effort to "spotlight" the case and show the Government as highly aggressive in its fight for the "little fellow," a decision was reached not to go through with the plan.

Considerable furore was caused by the disclosure earlier this week that the department was considering this unusual procedure of organizing a special court. More recent developments indicate that the revelation of the plan served adequately to center attention on the suit which the department considers one of the most important anti-trust cases brought in a decade.

Hearing Is Set for RKO

St. Louis, Sept. 19.—Hearing on a recent motion by Jacob M. Lashly, local attorney for RKO, asking for additional data in connection with the bill of particulars filed by the Dept. of Justice was today set for Saturday by Federal Judge George H. Moore.

Lashly seeks to have the Department of Justice supply his clients with an additional bill of particulars as to when, where and through whom RKO and Ned Depinet had participated in an alleged conspiracy to violate the Sherman Act as charged in an indictment returned by the Federal grand jury last January.

Hardy to Attend

The hearing was set today after District Attorney Blanton had appeared before Judge Moore, stating he had been in touch with the Attorney General and had been directed by him to ask for the hearing on Sept. 21. Russell Hardy, special assistant attorney general, who has been handling the criminal and equity cases against Warners, Paramount and RKO in connection with alleged refusal to sell first runs to F. & M.'s Ambassador, Grand Central and Missouri, will attend the hearing Saturday and oppose Lashly's motion.

Bruce Bromley, Robert W. Perkins and Frederick H. Wood, and I. Levinson, Warner counsel: William J. Donovan, representing RKO, and Louis Phillips of Paramount are expected here from New York over the week-end to confer with local attorneys on both the preliminary injunction and indictment proceedings.

Government witnesses are not expected from various parts of the country until the last day of the month and the first of October.

London Films Plans Wider Use of Colors

There are 300 acres of land available for outdoor scenes. For the 1935-36 season, six features are planned. Next year this schedule may be increased by two, the studio head said.

Negotiations are under way to bring over four or five American director-producers, Pallos declared without revealing names. He said that as soon as contracts have been signed announcements will be made.

Alexandria Korda, who sailed on the same liner last night, was busy most of the day taking photographs and winding up last minute business. Sir Connop Guthrie and Maurice D. Silverstone accompanied Korda.

Pallos, prior to sailing for London last night, was host to the United Artists publicity and advertising staff at a luncheon at Sardi's. Among those present were: Monroe Greenthal, Morris Helprin, Jack Goldstein, Sammy Cohen, Herbert Jeadiker, Gregory Dickson, Albert Margolies, Florence Ross, Meyer Beck, Len Daly, Tess Michaels and Herb Berg.

which, he said, was arranging a show of radio stars, headed by Kate Smith and Jack Miller's orchestra, to be staged in large auditoriums such as Madison Square Garden, New York, and Symphony Hall, Boston, without admission charge.

"Unless theatre owners protest and discourage such unfair competition," he said, "it will ultimately mean a continuous series of free shows using professional entertainers, the same as the theatre must sell to the public if it stays in business, every night in the week, subsidized by advertisers and putting the theatre out of business."

to 52 cents, which, multiplied by 247,104 hours gives $128,394.08.

RKO's 31 houses, working at 12 hours a day, seven days a week for every week in the year, brings the total working hours to 135,408. This, multiplied by 52 cents, the saving on two projectionists every hour, amounts to $70,412.16.

Adding both Loew's and RKO totals, the circuits will save $198,706.24. This is conservative, inasmuch as this does not take in overtime and extra men who are brought in from time to time.

who is counsel for the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The brief asks that the board approve the original deficiency of $28,498 assessed against the 1929 return and order the imposition of a fraud penalty of $14,249 and interest to date of $13,680, a total of $56,427, and, on the 1930 return, approve the original deficiency of $1,601,644, find an additional deficiency of $250,000 and impose a fraud penalty of $928,822 and interest of $732,690, a total of $3,510,156.

The petition for review of the action of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue was filed in August, 1932, and was one of the matters discussed at length during the Congressional investigation of Wall St. activities the following year.

The tax deficiencies in controversy arise from Fox's transactions in Fox Theatres and Fox Film Corp. stock and in payments made to A. S. Kempner, Lee De Forest and Courtland Smith as salaries, for which Fox later was reimbursed.

Clarke Deal Cited

In his 1929 return, it is alleged, Fox "knowingly and wilfully failed" to report the net profits of $2,369,125 resulting from transactions with Harley L. Clarke involving General Theatres Equipment stock and Grandeur stock, and also claimed deductions amounting to $4,749,850 as representing losses from sales of various stocks, whereas in fact, it is claimed, he sustained a loss of only $3,265,492.

In his 1930 return, the bureau alleges, Fox claimed deductions of $8,047,854 as losses in stock sales for cash, while in fact, it is charged he "exchanged the said shares of capital stock of various corporations with the All Continent Corp., a corporation organized in 1930, the stock of which at all times in 1930 was owned by the petitioner, for capital stock of All Continent Corp., the transactions being such that for tax purposes neither loss nor gain could result." Other large deductions also were made on the same basis, it is alleged.

A further charge alleges that the 1930 return made a claim of $5,010,100 as a basis for determining taxable gain from the sale of 50.101 shares of Fox Film B common sold by the petitioner, while the actual amount was not in excess of $501,010, and "an excessive claim was knowingly and wilfuly made with the intent to evade tax due from William Fox of at least $4,509,090" on the stock.

A further claim of $8,125,000 was made as a basis for determining taxable gain from the sale of 100,000 shares of Fox Theatres B common, whereas the Government holds the actual amount was substantially less than $3,897,123, resulting in an excessive claim of at least $4,227,876.

No Fox Statement

Daniel G. Rosenblatt, of the law firm of Hirsh, Newman, Reass and Becker, attorneys for William Fox, said yesterday he had no statement to make on the tax action instituted against Fox.

Sees Theatre Gains In Argentine Field

The 20 to 25 per cent loss in theatre business this season will largely be regained, in his opinion, with crops moving, farmers getting cash and more money in circulation. Isen will be in New York until Oct. 12. Manheim expects no more visits from foreign managers for some time.

Catches 'em By Surprise

Hollywood, Sept. 19.—Publicity men and magazine writers here are always concocting yarns about the finger of Fate being pointed at somebody or other, with what happens thereafter given in detail. Sometimes they believe them, and sometimes they don't. Usually they don't.

That's why two young men here are a bit breathless at present. The old finger was leveled in their direction.

Thomas Lennon has been a sports writer, attorney, desk man on Daily Variety, and for the last year feature writer and news editor in the Radio publicity department. In between times he has written a novel, "The Laughing Journey," which last week won him a five-year writing contract.

Filled with content by the new job, Lennon strolled onto the set of "Sylvia Scarlett" to discuss his last publicity story with Katharine Hepburn.

George Cukor, the director, examined him from first one angle and then another. Lennon does not fall easily for gags. When Cukor said: "You are just the man I want for this picture," Lennon gave a loud Irish roar of laughter and went on his way. But he did not get far. The assistant director hurried after, and now Lennon is acting in the Hepburn film and writing a script for Wheeler and Woolsey between takes.

Finton Jones, in the chair as King, suggested that instead of kings going to the trouble of getting talent each week that the club hold drawings. This suggestion was not acted upon, but probably will be followed for a time at least.

F. E. Ritter spoke briefly on the carnival, for the committee of which he is a member. Frank Hensler, Ed Shanberg and Homer Blackwell said they did not think the committee ought to leave the matter of erecting booths for the carnival to each exchange because of the danger of the final result being a "honky tonk."

Harry Taylor, Clarence Schultz and Tommy Thompson will be kings for a day Sept. 23.

Washington

Washington, Sept. 19.—More than 100 barkers inaugurated the 1935-36 bi-weekly luncheons. The opening event was sponsored by Frank M. Boucher and W. Vincent Dougherty as kings for a day.

Principal speaker was the No. 1 G Man, J. Edgar Hoover. He was introduced by Charles Pettijohn, counsel for the M. P. P. D. A. Other guests were Bryan McMann, assistant Attorney General; L. W. Robert, assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and Charles Pettijohn, Jr.

Hoover, during the course of his remarks on the functions and activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, paid tribute to the change in attitude of producers in turning the spotlight away from gangsters. While he did not commend or refer to any particular picture, the idea back of "G-Men" was manifestly one close to the Hoover heart.

In a plea for greater cooperation on the part of the public with the activities of the F. B. I., Mr. Hoover linked the cinema with the press and the radio as the three most potent molders of public opinion, and charged all three with the joint responsibility of begetting sympathy and cooperation from the public at large for the advancement of the Bureau's important work.

As entertainers for the day, the kings presented Russ Cullen, Jimmie Bright, and Sammy Marx, of Moe Baer's Club Habana orchestra; Little Jackie Heller, with Pianist Dave Rose, of radio fame, and Bert Granoff, Earle Theatre tenor.

New Orleans, Sept. 19.—Station WWL has rented the Strand for the purpose of giving a vaudeville show that will be broadcast. It will be the first of this kind in the South.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Melody Trail"

(Republic)

Hollywood, Sept. 19.—This second Gene Autry musical-western shows a marked advance over the first and has something for everyone, including cowgirls, cattle rustlers, Gypsies, songs, dancing, kidnapping and stunt riding, not to mention a dog star.

Autry and his pal, Smiley Burnette, pull wild riding stunts at a rodeo, where Autry is romantically smitten by Ann Rutherford. Autry and Burnette claim to be crooks and get jobs with Miss Rutherford's father, who has hired a gang of singing cowgirls to catch cattle rustlers. Miss Rutherford has a dog which steals everything from Autry's cookbook to a gypsy baby.

Besides pursuing the girl, Autry does plenty of exciting trick riding interspersed with cowboy ballads. The cast includes Wade Boteler, Willy Castello and the dog, Buck, featured in "Call of the Wild." Joseph Kane directed under the supervision of Armand Schaefer from a story by Sherman Lowe and Elizabeth Burbridge. The screen play was by Lowe. Nat Levine produced for Republic release. The comedy, sound, pace and Autry's singing all offer more than the first of the series.

No production code seal. Running time, 60 minutes "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Car of Dreams"

(G. B.)

London, Sept. 8.—Half a musical and half a straight comedy, this British effort gains rather than loses by its mixture of methods. The story values are distinctly good, a light touch is maintained in the acting, and there is the additional attraction of a series of Sigler, Goodhart and Hoffman song numbers. Without being spectacular in scope or ambitious in method, it is bright entertainment.

Grete Mosheim, once understudy to Bergner, is a factory employe with the dangerous hobby of visiting luxury stores and inspecting goods in the character of a possible buyer. The habit lands her with an unexpected Rolls Royce and a lover, son of her employer, who poses as a chauffeur. Scandal and humor both arise from the unusual situation but it ends neatly.

John Mills is the boy, and there is good comedy work from J. Robertson Hare and others.

Running time, 72 minutes. "G."

Chesbrough Takes House

Columbus, Sept. 19.—William C. Chesbrough has purchased the Northern, neighborhood, from Mrs. Ione Wright, who has operated it several years, and will take immediate possession. Programs will be changed twice weekly, and double features will be played part of each week.

Chesbrough also operates the Garden, Grandview, Alhambra, Empress and Hudson here, and three houses in Dayton, all neighborhoods.

He recently bid on the four local houses of J. Real Neth which were sold by the court, and which reverted to Neth's control.

Delay Columbus Opening

Columbus, Sept. 19.—Formal opening of the RKO Grand, which the circuit recently leased, and which was scheduled for Sept. 20, has been set back one week, to permit completion of the remodeling, according to C. Harry Schreiber, city manager.

Penn. MPTO Sets Date

Pittsburgh, Sept. 19.—The M. P. T. O. of Western Pennsylvania will hold its 15th annual convention at the Schenley Oct. 28 and 29.

Take Davidge Business

Hollywood, Sept. 19.—International Cinema, Inc., has taken over the major portion of the business of the closed Roy Davidge Laboratories. International is headed by George P. Regan, former San Francisco industrialist, and is in charge of H. T. James, A. J. Guerin, A. C. Snyder and Bonar Russell, all of whom are known in the laboratory business.

Radio in Italian Deal

Harry W. Leasim, sales manager for Radio Pictures International, has closed a deal with Mosco & Cuppini, Rome, for distribution of the 1934-35 product in Italy, according to a cable from Phil Reisman. The deal was made in Rome, the dubbing to be done by the Italian firm.

Agree on St. Louis Ads

St. Louis, Sept. 19.—Suburban theatres have settled their argument with the Star-Times over advertising costs, part of which are paid by using the newspaper's ads on the screen. The St. Louis Amusement's 19 houses and 50 other suburbans have resumed the use of space.

Short Subjects

"Going on Two"

(Radio)

Much has been read and seen in newspapers and other periodicals on the Dionne quintuplets, but here is an intimate treat for followers of the internationally publicized quins. The subject opens with scenes of the village of Collander, Ont., showing the home of the parents of the five babies and then the hospital. How the children's food is prepared and how the five enjoy their daily bath are pictured in detail. The subject holds a carload of interest for all types of audiences. Production Code Seal No. 0580. Running time, 17 mins. "G."

"Judge for a Day"

(Paramount)

An amusing and highly entertaining cartoon featuring Betty Boop. As secretary for a judge, the doll-faced heroine assumes the role of a judge as a lark and gives her ideas on what she would do to autoists who recklessly splash water on pedestrians, read newspapers over her shoulder in a bus and make life uncomfortable for her. It's up to the high standard of Max Fleischer's animations and won a round of laughs and applause at the Paramount. Production Code Seal No. 0624. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"Mickey's Fire Brigade"

(Disney-U. A.)

A swell subject, all in Technicolor. Caught at the Music Hall and the Rivoli, audiences in both theatres gave Mickey Mouse a rousing reception as he went through his antics as fire chief. The accompanying music is tuneful. This is one number of exhibitors cannot afford to pass up. The kids will love it—and so will adults. Production code seal No. 864. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"Pardon My Scotch"

(Columbia)

Moe Howard, Jerry Howard and Larry Fine in another of their lowbrow comedies which becomes boresome after a few minutes. It's the same old stuff they pull on the stage without a new idea injected. The whole affair of trusting three carpenters behind a drug store counter and having them mix the various formulas is stupid even if the net result of their concoctions is supposed to be a scotch drink. Reviewed without a code seal. Running time, 21 mins. "G."

"Stars of Tomorrow"

(Columbia)

Pretty bad collation of amateur numbers with Ted Claire, master of ceremonies, doing an amateurish show himself. There is an obvious attempt to make these non-professionals act before a camera when, as a matter of fact, they can do very little before a real audience. There's not a redeeming number. Reviewed without a code seal. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

Boxers in Radio Short

Hollywood, Sept. 19.—Radio has started a short entitled "Uppercutlets" which will feature Frank Moran, Phil Bloom, Mike Barco and other fighters. The story is by Al Boasberg, who will also direct, Lew Kelly and Kitty McHugh will have the leads.

by H.E.N.

BUTTE, MONT.—Things are looking up around this once thriving community. Exchange Row looks like a forgotten ghost town, as all one sees is silent empty desks and office equipment. These exchanges are merely shipping points and outside of a few shipping clerks and inspectors, they are as silent as tombs There is one exception, however, and that is what is probably the smallest complete national exchange in the country—Republic Pictures, managed by James H. Sheffield, boasting 74 accounts with Jimmie office manager, salesman, booker, biller and what have you. He tried to coax us down into the deepest copper mine in the world, but we were afraid our trailer couldn't negotiate the turns. So we passed up this interesting experience. Ed Kennedy, popular manager of Republic's Salt Lake branch, was a visitor. Harry W. Landstrom makes his headquarters here for RKO, together with C. M. Van Horn of Universal. James R. French is doing the shipping for Universal. Bucky Harris and Bill Woolfall are doing very nicely at the Park Theatre, one of Butte's popular houses. Bucky and Bill are great believers in the selling of entertainment and very much against premium gags. The Park will be completely remodeled this summer and new seating installed. Only about 15 per cent shifts are operating in the copper mines. Jack A. Garvan is now operating the Broadway; he is a former exhibitor from Wisconsin. R. A. Pritchard is opening a new house at Wheeler, Mont., which is adjacent to Fort Peck.

IDAHO FALLS, IDA.—Joe George, the real pioneer of this section in show business, has leased his Rio to Drennen and DeMordaunt, who are rapidly expanding their holdings. Al Hager, owner of the Rex here and formerly of Baker, Ore., is running a fine, high-class theatre. Frank Larson, manager of the Fox Paramount, is chairman of the Government's Better Housing program which gave away a modern five-room house, valued at $4,800, recently. The selection was made in the Paramount, was hooked up by remote control and available to any patron attending any of the theatres in Idaho Falls. Frank is a former Turner and Dahnken manager out of Salt Lake and Boise and does a neat job of promoting show business in this community.

We now journey up the valley toward St. Anthony and stop over at Rigby to call on Helmer George at his fine Royal Theatre. Helmer tells us that the crop outlook is the best in years for this section and that he is planning to redecorate and overhaul the theatre. H. D. Jorgenson, who is operating the Gem here, also plans to remodel and install a stage.

The next town we visited in this thriving and prosperous valley was Rexburg, where Hugh Drennen and DeMordaunt are building a modern theatre of 700 seats to open soon. They will install the No. 22 type Wide Range sound, and a Neon-lighted marquee. This theatre will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000. They will continue to operate their old Elk as a B house.

A little further on, we come to the head of the valley and stop over at St. Anthony, Ida., where we meet A. F. ("Jack") Johnson who is operating the Rex here. Jack hails from Huntington Park in Southern California and knows his show business. He has just purchased a dandy 50 foot frontage in the main business section of this thriving community and will build a new theatre this fall. Mrs. Kate Harrison, who operates the Rialto, may sell this house in the near future. If not, she will completely remodel and enlarge the Rialto.

We made a little side trip up into Custer and Lemhi Counties in the Salmon River country where we called on W. L. Stratton, who operates the Lyric at Challis, Ida. They get an admission price of 15 and 40 cents up here. Stratton has fixed up his house and is enjoying a good play. F. W. Hanmer is operating the State, Salmon City, and is also running one night every two weeks at May, Ida. Steve Murgic plans to dispose of his American Theatre at Mackay, Ida. The possibility is that Stratton at Challis will take this house over.

Tom Morris, popular deputy game warden, has just purchased the building which houses his Iris at American Falls, Ida. Extensive alterations are planned. Business good.

I. H. Harris and C. C. Voeller have taken over the Rialto, at Jerome, Ida., and will rebuild the entire theatre. This popular firm has its head office in the Burley Theatre at Burley, Ida. Also remodeling the lobby of the Wilson at Rupert. Extensive alterations have just ben completed at their Strand, Evanston, Wyo., and a new Neon sign installed on the Romona, Buhl, Ida. C. C. is confined to his home with a serious heart attack. Ted Nelson, formerly manager of the Isis, Green River, Wyo., is now managing the Rialto, at Jerome, Ida.

The Rex, at Shoshone, Ida., was all torn up when we called. The owner, D. W. Wilson, left his hotel long enough to don overhauls and supervise the reseating of the Rex with cushion chairs. This house is being entirely redecorated, both lobby and interior, and getting ready for what looks like a prosperous fall in Southern Idaho.

BOISE, IDA.—B. F. Shearer Co. did a swell job in draping and redecorating the Rialto here. This popular first-run house is operated and owned by A. C. Gordon and his son, Stanley, who is press representative, and Harry Gordon who is in charge of the projection booth. This theatre has installed 16 sets of Western Electric ear phones for deaf customers. This has proven a very popular and profitable investment, according to Gordon. A Supreme heating and air-cooling plant has just been installed.

W. A. Mendenhall, city manager of the Dent theatre operation here, has built a cottage up at Payette Lakes. Roger Mendenhall is managing the Fox.

Film Outlook Is Excellent, States Writer

Foundation Firmest in 10 Years—Alexander

Fundamental conditions are better in the film industry than at any time in the past 10 years, declares Conrad Alexander in the first of two articles appearing yesterday in the New York Daily Investment News. This is due, he writes, to financial reorganizations, increasing earnings, and reduction of funded debt to a normal position in relation to total capitalization.

"More conservative practices with respect to amortization of film costs have been adopted, there is not the reckless expenditure of money that was general a few years ago, producers are saddled with fewer theatres and the 'cleaning up' of pictures in response to public demand has aided rather than hurt attendance," Alexander goes on.

He sees a tendency toward increased

Plunkett Replaces Astor's 306 Staff

Unable to get together with Local 306 on a deal for operators, at the Astor, Joseph Plunkett yesterday switched to other operators, starting with the matinee show. Local 306 was considering late last night whether to picket the theatre. The house had been picketed by Allied men several days before the opening of "The Crusades."

Local 306 claims that the Astor management put up a notice on the board to the effect that no more than $1.80 an hour would be paid the union

Lin Bonner Passes; Pneumonia Is Fatal

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—Lin Bonner, veteran newspaperman and well known in publicity, died here Wednesday evening of pneumonia.

Fifty-one years old at his death, he was news editor of Daily Variety, but his experience over a considerable number of years included posts on the New York World-Telegram and the New York American. Bonner was with First National in 1920-22 as editor of Contract, that company's house organ, and was one time director of advertising and publicity of Preferred Pictures.

His widow, Mrs. Nan Olsen Bonner, and three sisters survive.

Palace, Vaudeville Goal, Going to All-Film Policy

The Palace, goal of all vaudeville actors everywhere for a generation, still a magnet for old time hoofers with dim memories of their last engagements, is about to give up the struggle with red ink and go entirely to films.

For two weeks at least, beginning Sept. 27, it will run a single feature policy with "Top Hat." After that there may be double features. Profits will decide the policy.

This will mark the first time that the entire RKO circuit in the metropolitan area has been without vaudeville.

Some comfort is left for the stage performers, however. Boris Morros will reinstate stage shows at the Paramount after a summer all-film policy on Oct. 4. And the Center, tentatively scheduled to open either Oct. 1 or Oct. 8, with "The Last Days of Pompeii," probably will have a stage show.

Bay State Tax Ideas Disturb Exhibitors

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Not even the adjournment of the Legislature can relieve exhibitors from apprehension on the tax situation. Sales taxes that if framed would probably include levies on theatre admissions were urged at the State House at the first public hearing of the Special Recess Commission on Taxation.

Similar legislation, that would have put a five cent tax on all admissions with an additional 10 per cent on all tickets selling for more than 50 cents, was defeated during the recent legislative session.

Ohio Again Worries Over Admission Tax

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—Although a bill to finance old-age pensions for the remainder of this year from funds derived from state liquor store profits, passed immediately when the Legislature convened in special session precludes immediate levying of additional taxes for this purpose, Governor Davey, in his message, indicated that It's now Lieut. Col. Bowes—and not the Kentucky variety.

Skouras Gets Stay Against RKO 81st St.

Supreme Court Justice Hofstadter has granted Skouras Theatres a temporary injunction restraining Fox from dating further any of its pictures into the RKO 81st St. theatre. Date for trial has been set for Sept. 30.

Skouras, which operates the Nemo and Riverside on upper Broadway, filed injunction proceedings when the 81st dated "Dante's Inferno" on Sept. 14. Skouras claims to have seven days' protection over the RKO house. Affidavits and briefs were filed Tuesday and Wednesday.

In his decision, Justice Hofstadter stated:

Justice Dept. Scans Single Feature Pacts

Anti-Trust Angles Get General Scrutiny

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—That the Department of Justice is studying single bill contract requirements was indirectly admitted today when it was stated that the department is interested in everything going on in the industry that might have a bearing on anti-trust prosecutions.

Single bill agreements being made by the majors are stirring protests of independent exhibitors, it was said.

The department, it was indicated, is thoroughly conversant with every move in the industry through exhibitors and others. There is a steady flow of complaints, all of which are studied.

It was intimated that if the majors are making any agreements which might violate the anti-trust laws they will be thoroughly studied. It is indicated that if the Government is successful in its St. Louis prosecution, other suits will be filed almost immediately.

Selznick Acquires Joyce Agency Share

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—Myron Selznick has acquired entire control of the Myron Selznick-Frank Joyce, Ltd., agency by purchasing the 50 per cent interest held by the Frank Joyce estate from Mrs. Dora Joyce, Joyce's widow. Selznick also acquired full control of the Frank Joyce, Ltd., agency, which had heretofore been the sole property of Joyce, in the deal. The combined concerns will hereafter be known as Myron Selznick, Inc. It is said that Mrs. Joyce will receive $250,000 for the properties.

Loop Bookings Are Given Big Shakeup

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—"Anna Karenina" set for the Roosevelt following "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" has been held up until after "Dark Angel" completes its run at the United Artists. B. & K. did not like the idea of having two Fredric March pictures in the Loop at once. "Annapolis Farewell" was hastily shoved into the Roosevelt to fill the gap. It will be followed by "Big Broadcast of 1936."

And for a cash box use a sieve
Then he whines and complains
That distributors' share
Leaves him no gains.

Yet Ol' Mox Shabbus
He has to be livin' long.

Mexico, U. S. Firms Deadlocked on Taxes

By JAMES LOCKHART

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 20.—A Mexico without films appears nearer here as a result of a deadlock between the Government and eight major American distributors over the insistence of the Minister of Finance that he will not reduce the film impost which involves posting a deposit of 75 pesos per kilogram to assure that each company's annual import quota will not be passed.

The distributors are refusing to retract their recent ultimatum that they will withdraw from Mexico on Sept. 30 unless the Government yields. The Government, it is learned, resents the ultimatum and is standing pat. It is not anticipated that the Americans will quit the country as warned, but drastic developments are expected early next month. The theatres are booking as many Mexican pictures as possible, but it is generally agreed here that if the Americans drop out, the country will be without pictures, because the domestic firms cannot supply the 520 films Mexico needs yearly. European films are practically shut out because of import duties.

IATSE Files New Complaint on Coast

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—The I. A. T. S. E. yesterday filed a supplementary complaint with the National Labor Relations Board, requesting that I. B. E. W. contracts for soundmen with all studios be declared illegal. The initial complaint, filed earlier this week, pertained only to major studios.

Simultaneously, the N. A. C. C. filed a petition with the National Labor Relations Board asking that a vote be taken among the studios' soundmen to prove which organization is entitled to bargain collectively with the studios, under the Wagner Bill, through majority membership. The action taken by both labor organizations followed an informal meeting yesterday of the I. A. T. S. E., I. B. E. W. and N. A. C. C., at the request of Dr. Towne Nylander, local head of the National Labor Relations Board.

admissions and reduction of giveaways. Color, he writes, has not caused a stampede and "Becky Sharp" has removed the fear of heavy expenditures. Its perfection in the less expensive shorts, he states, will result. Night sports have hurt films in small towns, he says, but to what extent cannot be judged accurately, because there is no way of knowing what proportion of film-goers go only to selected films.

"When it is said that the motion picture industry appears to be on the firmest foundation in the past 10 years," the article goes on, "this simply means that the position seems to be the soundest since the public began to participate in providing capital for the industry.

"In the days when private capital and earnings footed the bills, funded debt accounted for perhaps 15 per cent of the total capitalizations of the larger units of the industry. After motion picture securities had been sold to the public, the aggregate funded debt jumped to about 45 per cent of the capitalization. It is little wonder that motion picture stocks have not been in recent years what might be called favorites with the investing public. There are indications, however, that they are coming back into favor.

"The long term outlook for motion picture producers and exhibitors may be said to be promising, capitalizations are less topheavy with funded debt, reckless waste of money apparently has been curbed and there has been constant improvement in pictures from the artistic viewpoint. The motion picture successfully met the challenge of the radio and appears to have a secure place in community life.

"The short term outlook is excellent. Attendance this fall and winter confidently is expected to be the best since 1930-31."

men. This move is said to have been precipitated by an agreement reached between major circuits and Local 306 on a scale of $1.86 an hour, exclusive of Broadway houses and the Astor. These deals are to be worked out within the next week.

The Astor has been paying about $9 a show for operators, it was stated at Local 306. The union also said that non-union projectionists had been taken on, but this is denied by Plunkett, who said a contract had been signed with Allied. This, however, is denied by Local 306 and Allied. A meeting between Joseph D. Basson, president of Local 306, and Plunkett was scheduled for last night in an effort to settle the dispute.

Plunkett asserted that he had been trying to work out a deal with the I.A.T.S.E. affiliate and could not reach an agreement. He added that the Local 306 men congregated in front of the theatre until 2:50 p. m., and when they told him they had received orders not to return to the booth, he immediately installed Allied men.

davits submitted by respective parties appears to preponderate heavily in favor of the contention that the defendants have and are continuing to violate and nullify the rights obtained by the plaintiff Skouras Theatres Corp. under its contract with Fox.

"As serious and irreparable injury to the said plaintiff is inevitable if the acts complained of are permitted to continue, a temporary injunction should be granted. On the other hand, in view of the issues presented, no definitive determination of rights of the parties should be made prior to the trial of the action. Justice to the defendants requires that the granting of a restraining order be conditioned upon plaintiffs' consenting to an early trial. The motion is granted upon condition that the plaintiffs, upon the settlement of the order, file their written consents to an early trial, in which event the cause will be set down for trial on Sept. 30."

Garrick will offer "The Goose and the Gander" and "Redheads on Parade," respectively. These two houses usually get the second or third week on pictures which click at the Chicago, United Artists or Roosevelt.

The Oriental, Loop deluxer, continues to offer a heavy stage show and class B pictures or second runs following the other houses. Last week "Man on the Flying Trapeze" played the house after having been two weeks in the Garrick a month ago. Business, despite a good name draw on the stage, was off considerably.

additional imposts were in the offing. This is generally construed as meaning that an attempt will be made to include reinstatement of the 10 per cent admission tax, suspended Jan. 1 in favor of the current three per cent sales tax.

"Unfortunately, there are some uninformed persons who think that huge sums for old-age pensions and many other things can be taken from the general revenue fund," the Governor said. "This cannot be done. We might as well prepare ourselves frankly to levy the necessary taxes to take care of new, extraordinary requirements."

Meanwhile, four special committees have been reestablished in the Senate to deal with taxation programs, including the three per cent sales tax which expires Dec. 31.

but there are plenty of indications that Ontario will easily outstrip Quebec in the next annual reports because of the greatly increased levy.

Quebec, noted for its severe taxation, has collected no less than $6,426,246 on the amusement impost during the past five years and the returns for the last 12-month period are well up to the average. The record year was 1931-32 when the province gained $1,467,205. The previous year saw a collection of $1,311,504. This goes to hospitals and orphanages.

part time basis to overcome unemployment. The theatres have steadfastly refused to agree to this demand.

For the present, the theatres are in a strategic position. The first week of the battle, the Fox had "Steamboat 'Round the Bend" and the Earle had Joe Brown's "Bright Lights." Strong bookings, plus the rainy Labor Day, gave both houses topnotch grosses. The last two weeks, the figures have been under the average for a stage and film show production, but the straight picture policy has reduced overhead enough to bring in a profit.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Last Days of Pompeii"

(RKO)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—Without sacrificing theme or story action for spectacle and pageantry, this film embodies a stirring combination of all production values blended for definite box-office reaction. The performances, direction and photography are of the highest order. The story deftly handles the moral influence of Christ, which forms the basis of the theme, in a manner to please and inspire all religious groups.

Briefly, the picture sketches the career of a poor blacksmith, Preston Foster, who is satisfied with life's meager bequests until death takes his wife, Dorothy Wilson, and their baby. Blaming the tragedy on their poverty, Foster is fired with ambition for riches and becomes a gladiator. He adopts David Holt, son of a man he kills in the arena, who is later divinely healed by Christ following an accident. Foster blindly forces the moral influence of the cure into the background, continuing his struggle for riches, aided by Basil Rathbone, governor of Jerusalem, who is ultimately responsible for Christ's crucifixion.

Foster becomes rich and famous but his grown son, John Wood, fails to appreciate Foster's underhanded activities in obtaining riches and defies his father by aiding slaves to escape a cruel fate in his father's arena. The climax is the dramatic destruction of Pompeii by volcano with Foster ironically saving his son's life through belief in Christ.

Ernest B. Shoedsack's direction is intelligent, smooth and vital. The performances of Foster, Rathbone, Holt, Wood and the balance of the cast are excellent.

Ruth Rose wrote the screen play in collaboration with Boris Ingster, from an original story by James Ashmore Creelman and Melville Baker. Merian Cooper deserves plaudits for the production. J. Roy Hunt's photography is topnotch and constructive. The picture has real box-office potentialities.

Production Code Seal No. 1,263. Running time, 92 minutes. "G."

"Barbary Coast"

(Goldwyn-U. A.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—Picturing the lusty and vigorous days of '49 in booming San Francisco, Samuel Goldwyn, a producer of the finer things, has given his latest film flavor as well as taste in all departments, keeping his eagle eye ever on the box-office.

The subject matter is timely, the drama is muscular and the romance different. Penned by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, "Barbary Coast" reveals a Manhattan socialist, Miriam Hopkins, arriving at Gold Port and, finding her fiance dead, apparently killed by Edward G. Robinson, gangster-gambler. Miss Hopkins becomes croupier at Robinson's roulette table and later meets Joel McCrea. To prove to Robinson that she does not love McCrea, she wins all his gold at roulette. After Robinson's henchman, Brian Donlevy, commits murder and Frank Craven, editor, is threatened, the Vigilantes, headed by Harry Carey, start to clean up the town.

Anxious to get away from Robinson, Miss Hopkins permits McCrea to retrieve his winnings and in their flight McCrea is shot. Going back with Robinson, the Vigilantes overtake them, capture Robinson and Miss Hopkins gets away in McCrea's boat.

The performances of the leads are talented and sincere. Stealing the honors are Dunlevy, Walter Brennan and Craven. All may be expected to be in demand. Howard Hawks' direction is virile, but humor is underemphasized, with the exception of Brennan's byplay.

Ray June's photography is especially good, with costumes, musical background and technical details all harmonious with the Goldwyn standard. The exploitation possibilities of the title, name players, subject matter and class of production should account for good results at the box-office.

Production Code Seal No. 1,416. Running time, 97 minutes. "G."

Clearance in Dark for K.C. Independents

Details Are Lacking on Fox Midwest Buys

Kansas City, Sept. 22.—Clearance and zoning for this town remains in the dark so far as independents are concerned. Deals have been made with Fox Midwest by practically every distributor, but exchange managers outside of Fox will not, or cannot because they don't know, divulge the details of clearance. Fox has sold the circuit in zones—first, second and third runs.

Only Paramount, apparently, is not booking the circuit, and so far as local executives of the company are concerned, they did not know up to Sept. 20 of any deal having been completed with Fox Midwest.

E. T. Gomersall, Western divisional salesmanager for Universal, was here last week and closed Universal's deal with Fox, but the exchange did not comment on details. United Artists has sold the circuit, but the deal was completed in New York, and local officials didn't know what clearance was. Max Roth, divisional manager for Columbia, is now in New York working on a deal with the circuit. M-G-M

All Brooklyn Spots Ending Stage Shows

Paramount Is Following Downtown Shifts

All five of Brooklyn's downtown theatres will be operating on all-film policies starting Friday when the Fox, last of the quintet, will drop vaudeville for dual features.

Si Fabian, who operates the Paramount and Strand in Brooklyn, as well, has decided to discontinue stage entertainment because Loew's Metropolitan and RKO's Albee are exhibiting twin bills at lower admissions. The Paramount will continue single feature programs, while the Strand's dual schedule will not be disturbed.

RKO will eliminate vaudeville from the Palace on Broadway Friday, which will give the circuit of 42 theatres an all-picture policy. The Paramount may reinstate stage shows Friday, contingent on a change of show. If "The Big Broadcast of 1936" is held a third week, the stage lineup will be deferred a week. Meanwhile, W. G. Van Schmus is considering a stage

KAO Board Meeting Is Set on Thursday

KAO directors will hold their quarterly meeting Thursday to discuss and pass on among other things the four-year Warner contract, which was signed at midnight Sept. 18. The contract was signed subsequent to approval of the KAO board. Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the board, will preside.

The Warner contract will give RKO houses nationally first run on all product after next season. Because of deals signed with Century and Springer & Cocalis circuits, about five situations in the local area this season will play Warner product ahead of RKO houses in Long Island, Brooklyn and Manhattan.

Special Register to Feature Ampa Lunch

One of the features of the special meeting of Ampa on Wednesday at which Martin Quigley will be the principal guest in honor of his 20th anniversary as a publisher in the industry will be a special register.

All persons attending the luncheon who have been in the business for 20 years or more will be invited to sign the register, and each person signing will be given a button. The register is the work of Hap Hadley.

Ohio Cuts Only 7

Columbus, Sept 22.—The Ohio censor board reviewed a total of 244 reels during a recent two-week period. Eliminations were made in but seven reels.

Chance Games' Status Before Court Oct. 17

Validity of chance games in local theatres will be argued in Special Sessions on Oct. 17.

Milton C. Weisman, attorney for the I. T. O. A., will defend the Winthrop, Brooklyn, respondent in the case, while the Kings County district attorney will plead for discontinuance on the ground the games infringe on the state lottery laws.

Several other cases are set for hearing in various magistrate courts from now until the Special Sessions hearing. I. T. O. A. members are defendants in these complaints. It is understood postponements will be sought until after Oct. 17.

The Special Sessions hearing will definitely determine whether exhibitors can continue the practice. The police have relented somewhat in their activities against theatres playing games in the past few weeks and exhibitors continue to feature the contests.

Loew's, which is planning to reinstate Screeno, will not take definite action until a decision is handed down

Kansas Bank Night Pact Is Held Legal

Kansas City, Sept. 22.—A jury in the district court of Riley County (Manhattan), Kansas has returned a verdict in favor of Affiliated Enterprises, Inc., Bank Night patentees, in the case of Sam Sosna, owner and operator of the Varsity and New City.

Affiliated Enterprises, which is represented in the area by R. W. McEwan, sued Sosna for breach of contract licensing him to use Bank Night at Manhattan and Junction City, Kan.

Judge Bennett ruled that Bank Night was legal in the state, and further held that the provisions of the contract providing for liquidated damages, or penalty for use of Bank Night after cancellation of contract by Affiliated Enterprises was legal and binding on the exhibitor.

Sosna contended that the plan he operated after cancellation, though

Film Board's Work Heavier Without Code

Handle 25 Cases Here In Three Months

Twenty-five claims, totaling approximately $4,500, have been filed with the New York Film Board for arbitration since July 2, indicating a willingness on part of the exchanges since the code expired June 15 to settle disputes within the industry rather than take such matters to the courts. In one instance, an independent circuit filed a claim against an exchange, which was settled after a board failed to agree unanimously.

Nine different dockets have been scheduled since July 2, but only three hearings have been held. Another is slated for Sept. 26 when three cases are down for disposal.

Of the cases recorded, Fox filed 15; Paramount, four; U. A., two; RKO, four. Fox won five by default, agreed to postponements on seven, settled one and was awarded decisions on two after trial. Paramount had three put over from time to time and settled one. RKO's four cases, which were set on the Aug. 30 calendar, have not

"Karenina" $109,000 Grosser at Capitol

"Anna Karenina" garnered a total of $109,000 at the Capitol during its 19½-day tenancy. The last five and a half days wound up with a gross of $18,000. The first week's take was $57,000 and the second week, $34,000.

The initial week of "The Big Broadcast of 1936" was good for $44,000 at the Paramount and the holdover week indicates a tally of about $35,000. "Dark Angel," in its second week at the Rivoli, took $22,500, while "Goose and the Gander" at the Strand figured at about $15,000. "Jalna" ended with about $9,000 at the Palace.

"Steamboat 'Round the Bend" will probably gross in the neighborhood of $75,000 at the Music Hall.

Jay Means Resigns As Head of the ITO

Kansas City, Sept. 22.—Jay Means, operator of the Oak Park and Bagdad, and president of the I.T.O., called that organization together a few days ago to act on his resignation.

Dissatisfaction within the organization, Means said, was the cause of his action. Not enough members turned

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

EXACTLY where should radio plugging of song hits begin and end? The ether lanes, you have this assurance at the beginning, are vital in getting through to and in enthusing the public in that which is in store for them. The process has helped and it will continue to help, provided the lily is not gilded too often. But the ambition of the distributor carries with it the danger which is inherent in overdoing anything and makes advisable the sounding of a note of warning to exercise care. . . .

By way of demonstrating how a good thing can go sour is the more or less classic instance of "The Singin' Fool." In the first flush of those exciting days over sound, the Jolson picture played the Winter Garden here in New York for twenty-nine and a half weeks, enjoyed a $52,000 opening seven days, not including a $10 premiere, and grossed $959,000 by the time its tenancy in that theatre had run out. The Warners, during this period, spent only $59,000 in advertising the seventeen shows at $3 top which prevailed weekly and "Sonny Boy" was sung and chanted and warbled on every street corner.

The persistence placed behind the theme song, however, proved a hindrance rather than a help because, if you remember it at all, "Sonny Boy" became one of the town's gags. When the attraction finally reached the rank and file of theatres in the greater city, its performance turned out to be a sharp disappointment, the extent of the first run, naturally, having had a good deal to do with and about it and the repetition of the theme number as well. . . .

The Lesbianic motivation of "The Children's Hour," of course, is being routed out of "The Children's Hour" by Lillian Hellman, its author who is also doing the script for Sam Goldwyn. The scandal will be of another variety and the relationship of several of the principal characters is being shunted about to place the revamped vehicle and the Production Code Administration on speaking terms. This is another instance of a producer spending considerable money to acquire a theatrical property which he cannot produce as its playwright originally turned it out. Why, then, the purchase? A kindly and well-meaning soul to lead us into the light is herewith being paged. . . .

On one of his transcontinental hops, Moss Hart, whose scrivening for the stage has developed into an extremely profitable venture for him, decided to knock out a yarn pointedly written for the talents of Joan Crawford and Bob Montgomery; it dealt with the horsy set on Long Island, yachts, high-powered motors, furs and the rest of the tinsel. Metro bought it. Later and while "The Broadway Melody of 1936" was in production, Hart happened to be on the coast. Invited to see the job in the making, he walked on the set to discover "Miss Pamela Thorndyke" had become "Broadway Melody," Joan Crawford's role had gone to Eleanor Powell and Montgomery's to Jack Benny. This proves, if it proves anything, that there is no limit to the cleverness which is Hollywood's. . . .

George Skouras, currently court arguing with Fox over protection as it applies or not to his Riverside and RKO's 81st Street, wrote into the affidavit necessarily filed with the papers a perfectly swell advertisement when he said:

> "Twentieth Century-Fox is one of the foremost producers of pictures in the world. Its pictures enjoy a great vogue and celebrity. The theatres vie with each other for the right to exhibit the pictures. People who want to see Fox pictures with Fox stars are not satisfied if shown Metro, Warner or Paramount films."

Skouras' next product discussion with Eddie Grainger should be very interesting. . . .

Politely bouncing around in a circle limited by its exclusiveness is the report Irving Thalberg, recently here and credited by rumor with a desire to amicably adjust the approximate unexpired three years of his M-G-M contract, failed to get very far for an arresting cause. The legend, for various reasons perhaps not so far removed from the facts, insists it was Thalberg himself who virtually wrote the clauses in the pact with which he was presumably dissatisfied as of the time he came to New York. . . .

There continue to be a number of ways of skinning a cat. That reminds of RKO's experience, less than a week old, when Local 306, for the alleged purpose of needling the circuits, began to rotate relief operators more violently on the general claim it was moving to lighten unemployment among its men. In one theatre, the projectionists started to project the images on the ceiling and into the audience to the complete discomfiture of the screen. In another house, a tally of seventeen breaks was counted during the life of one complete show. . . .

New Beecroft Plan Will Be Presented

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 22.—A new reorganization and refinancing plan for the Beecroft Building Co., "radically different from others submitted," will be proposed when the hearing in Federal court on the bondholders' petition for reorganization is resumed Oct. 8, counsel for the first bondholders' committee says.

The plan will be the second one offered before Paul Grubb, special master. The previous proposal met strong objections from the second bondholders' committee.

In an attempt to show inefficiency in management and waste in a $24,000 annual film booking fee by the Ashley Theatre Co., lessee of the Orpheum, Parkway and Strand, owned by the Beecroft Building Co., Arthur P. Desormeaux, operator of the Majestic here and former operator of the Strand, was called to testify for the second bondholders' committee.

During previous testimony it was pointed out that bondholders had received no returns on their equity in the show houses for the past five years.

Group Aims to Aid Exceptional Films

Development of interest in outstanding pictures is the aim of a group which has organized under the name of the Committee for the Advancement of the Screen. "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was its first selection.

The group includes Deems Taylor, Mme. Lucrezia Bori, Giovanni Martinelli, Mrs. James Leeds Laidlaw, Lotte Lehmann, Richard Watts, Jr., and others.

The committee intends to work with the assistance of the Hays office.

Reliance Joins MPPDA

Reliance Pictures has been admitted to membership in the M. P. P. D. A. The application was submitted by Harry M. Goetz, president, and was acted upon at the quarterly meeting of the Hays organization here.

yet been heard. U. A. has two cases pending.

Broken contracts seemed to be the chief complaint. In a survey of the reasons listed, there were 20 different cases alleging breach of agreements. One had to do with an unpaid balance, two for bad checks and two for alleged damaged film. On the calendar for Friday, the specifications show two more broken contract grievances and one balance due complaint.

While no definite summary of figures can be made because an RKO complaint against the Broadway, Haverstraw, for alleged unfulfilled contract does not specify the amount sought, Fox's 15 claims aggregate $2,685.22, of which there remain to be decided cases involving $1,594. Paramount claims total $157.26. Settlement has been reached on a $23.91 case, leaving $134.35 to be accounted for. U. A. had a sum of $225 at stake in its two complaints. Both have yet to be heard and decided. RKO is second to Fox on the money angle with more than $1,105.50 to be adjudicated in four cases, each of which has been carried over indefinitely. The total claims of the combined companies which will be disposed of in the near future are $3,058.85.

Sign Special Clauses

The one instance where an exhibitor sought voluntary arbitration to settle his differences was that of Belle Theatres against Paramount. The plaintiff charged infraction of a contract when the distributor dated a picture at the St. Marx, competitive to Belle's Orpheum. When the arbiters failed to reach an accord on a decision, Paramount decided to continue under the original contract terms with the Orpheum.

According to local procedure, exchanges request exhibitors to sign special clauses, distinct from the others in the contract, although contained therein, providing for voluntary arbitration. This clause was inserted following the 5-5-5 conferences which began after Federal Judge Thacher invalidated compulsory arbitration. Exchanges desiring to settle grievances in this matter notify the local film board which sends a notice to respondents requesting that two arbitrators be named. At the same time, the exchange names its two representatives on the board. Respondents are given eight days within which to designate their representatives. They do not necessarily have to be exhibitors. In some instances exhibitors have named branch managers and a board of four distributor representatives has thrashed out disputes. In the event the four men sitting are deadlocked, an outsider is called in.

File Decisions with Court

Of late all decisions by the local arbitration body have been unanimous. Each is filed with the Supreme Court where it is entered on the record.

Voluntary arbitration in Greater New York has proved a great saving to both distributor and exhibitor. Court expenses and in many cases legal fees are saved by this medium. A recent instance where special arbitration proved costly was the M. & S. case against RKO involving a lease on the Apollo and Hollywood. A special tribunal was set up comprising three men, each of whom was paid $30 an hour. Add to this the counsel fees for Bruce Bromley, representing RKO, and Max Steuer, for M. & S.

Defendant theatres since July 2 have been: Alben, Boro Hall, Parascourt, New United, Manhattan, New Echo, Garfield and Avon in Brooklyn; Strand, Clifton; Plaza, Linden; Palace, Passaic; Plaza, Paterson, N. J.; Bridge, Eagle, Monroe, Plaza, Manhattan; Jerome, Bronx; Broadway, Haverstraw; Maple, Jeffersonville; Howard, Howard Beach; Garden and Casino, Richmond Hill; Arion, Middle Village. In many cases managements have changed and present operators are not directly concerned with the cases.

The Sept. 26 docket has the following three complaints scheduled: M-G-M against the Casino, Richmond Hill, for balance due, amounting to $27.09; U.A. against New United, Brooklyn, for $280, for alleged breach of contract; U.A. against the Park, Stapleton, S.I., for $50, alleging broken contract. Last Friday Paramount postponed a hearing against Consolidated's Jerome, Bronx, for two weeks so that negotiations for settlement of its claim for $20.85 can be worked out. The distributor claims that the theatre damaged a print.

out to make a quorum. However, Means told exhibitors that they could consider his resignation effective anyway.

When some of the members protested, he said he recognized that he had some friends in the organization, but that he felt for the good of the I.T.O. he should resign, and therefore would not reconsider his decision.

Means assured independents that he wasn't resigning from the association. He said he would call another meeting when they requested it, but would not attend that or any other meeting for some time because of the feeling of some exhibitors towards him.

Emanuel Rolsky, vice-president; Ed Hartman, secretary, and Charles Potter, treasurer, resigned several weeks ago as a protest against the lack of activity on the part of the association. However, there wasn't a quorum then, so their resignations are hanging in mid air.

To Organize Legal Group

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—Attorney Philips G. Phillips, legal head for the National Labor Relations Board, arrives here Monday from Washington to organize a legal battery for work on complaints from labor organizations. It was learned today at Board headquarters that no action on complaints will be taken until organization of the legal staff. The newest complaint is against Columbia studios by the N. A. C. C. for alleged dismissal of four members of the electrical department, for affiliation with the N. A. C. C.

Howard S. Cullman on Saturday denied reports published elsewhere he had made an application in Federal Court for an interval allowance of $20,000.

Clearance in Dark for K.C. Independents

is serving Fox, but it is understood the deal hasn't been signed. Warners have sold Fox, but the protection for Kansas City isn't set. G.B. has sold Fox Midwest, but there is no information as to how.

Exhibitors are beginning to chafe over the delay. The season is getting well advanced, and subsequent runs will shortly have new season product to play. Even for independents, whose admissions range downward from 20 cents, new season pictures will soon be available without having been offered for purchase or without any plan of clearance except last season's, which, it is generally accepted, will not obtain this year.

One answer to the question of why distributors have not approached independents on new major product is that they are waiting until Fox Midwest, the key to the situation, has bought from all of them, when they all will have the same story to tell independents—at the same time.

While distributors avoid "getting together," if only a few of them sell in zones, independents feel that they can get enough film elsewhere. On the other hand, if they all sell in zones, some say they will go into court on charges of restraint of trade, etc.

The independents' schedule, submitted recently, seems less and less a solution. Not all independents have signed it. Jay Means, J. W. Cotter, Clarence A. Schultz and Fox Midwest are not parties to it. Besides, the situation is pretty well past the point at which the schedule might have been taken into consideration with respect to clearance here this season. Reluctance of independents to get together with Elmer C. Rhoden, probably because they feel it puts them in the position of asking favors, is a factor that contributes to this view.

similar in nature, was not a violation of the contract forbidding use of Bank Night or any modification thereof. The court instructed the jury that his plan was similar in nature and that it was a question of fact as to whether or not his plan violated the terms of his agreement.

Affiliated Enterprises was awarded $312.50 damages, which included what the royalties under Bank Night would have been during the time he used the modified plan. The company had asked for $2,000 damages.

Form Own Distribution

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—Chesterfield and Invincible announced today formation of their own distributing organization with Louis Hyman as West Coast representative. Far West Exchanges, headed by Sam Berkowitz, who has been handling the output in this section, will be in charge of physical aspects of the deal. First Division will represent Chesterfield and Invincible generally in the East and Ben Judell in the Midwest out of Chicago.

Judge Croak in the Stapleton Magistrate's Court tomorrow will hear complaints filed by the Staten Island district attorney against Harry Shiffman's four theatres, including the Paramount, St. George and Ritz, and Leon Rosenblatt's Star, New Brighton. Shiffman has been playing Sweepstakes while Rosenblatt has been featuring Country Store. Weisman will represent the Star.

The various games have become so popular in theatres that many exhibitors are now featuring them several times a week. This contrasts with once a week when games first bowed into the local territory.

day or tomorrow to start work on ironing out the remaining factors.

According to well informed circles, it is stated there will not be a 10-year contract. An agreement will most likely be reached on a two-year covenant, it was said.

Reason for Local 306 insisting on the short term pact is that if a 10-year deal is granted, such an agreement may be construed as placing the I.A.T.S.E. unit in the light of a company union. It is understood that when a contract is finally signed, it will be retroactive to Sept. 6 when the circuits and Skouras were given reductions from the $2.12½ an hour rate.

Local 306 declares that stories to the effect Allied men are working in the Astor booth are not true, since, it was stated, both unions have a working arrangement and Allied would not put its men into a theatre having difficulty with Local 306. However, Plunkett and Krellberg insist Allied men are now being employed in the theatre, regardless of what Local 306 says.

Alpine on Dyckman Street Has Opening

Springer & Cocalis Friday opened the Alpine, Dyckman St., and Murray Ginsburg, a partner with S. & C. in Beacon, N. Y., reopened the Shubert, Newark, N. J.

George Luce has leased the Palm, Bayard, Neb., from L. T. Flower and will open soon. The Black Hills, Hot Springs, S. D., has been taken over by Guy M. King. The house has been dark for five years.

Twin Cities Contented

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 22. — Twin City prices have held up fairly well throughout the depression period. They continue at about the same level with an occasional minor adjustment in small or neighborhood houses.

A few grind houses are operating at a 15-cent top with subsequent run films. Minor first runs are getting a 25-cent top and the better first runs have been operating on a 40-cent top for more than a year.

Al Steffes gets 55 cents for loge seats in his small World Theatre.

Firemen successfully fought the flames in the theatre. The house was vacant at the time.

No Theatre Building Is Underway in N. E.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Renovations and conversions are common in this territory, but new construction is at a standstill in spite of the fact that other forms of building show marked gains. In Massachusetts general building is up 26 per cent over July and 32 per cent over August a year ago.

The only new house put up since the first of the year is the Pastime at Bristol, R. I., a 750-seat house, for Lon Vail. Work was started on a drive-in theatre at Hingham, but was stopped later. A number of exhibitors are trying to get a permit to build a house in Winchester, but have failed so far.

Relighting After 3 Years

DENVER, Sept. 22.—The Englewood, in Englewood, a suburb, is being redecorated and reseated. The house, which was recently purchased by Civic Theatres, has been closed for three years and mud and water from floods two months ago were still in the basement. It will reopen this fall.

The Star, Estonia, N. M., has been purchased by Matt Freilinger from L. L. Law.

The Princess, Keystone, S. D., and the Pastime, Springer, N. M., have closed.

Reopen at Middletown

MIDDLETOWN, O., Sept. 22. — The Sorg Opera House, remodeled after being damaged by fire several months ago, has been reopened by the Gordon Theatre Co., new lessees, with vaudeville and pictures. The lessees also operate the Gordon here, of which Roy Patterson is manager. Patterson will act as city manager.

RKO Grand Opens Soon

COLUMBUS, Sept. 22.—The 1,200-seat RKO Grand, recently leased by the circuit, opened last week, according to C. Harry Schreiber, city manager. "Annapolis Farewell" was the initial offering.

The house is being remodeled under supervision of Gustav Wandelmaier, architect. It is rated as the oldest theatre in Ohio, having been erected 80 years ago and originally opened Sept. 12, 1855, with dramatic stock, when it was known as the Dramatic Temple.

Hanson Gets Fifth House

TORONTO, Sept. 22.—The new Hanson circuit, in process of development by O. R. Hanson, president of Empire Films, Ltd., has already reached the five-unit mark. More are to be announced in the next few weeks.

Thomas Sullivan that he "worked here as a booking clerk 23 years ago," and that when he left, he put a manila envelope containing some papers in the safe. He wanted to know "if the envelope was still there."

Sullivan doubted it, but went to look. He found it.

"That's it," Foster said smiling. The envelope contained army discharge papers issued in the Philippines and some other papers, including his appointment to the police department here.

Demand Rebate on Tax

MONTREAL, Sept. 22.—Theatre owners have placed a demand before the civic administration for a commission of five per cent on the sale of amusements tax tickets. This assessment is a Provincial levy, but the city eventually obtains the local proceeds for the benefit of hospitals and orphanages. Exhibitors are asking for the same discount to cover handling expenses which local merchants receive in the sales tax.

The amusements tax revenue from Montreal theatres during the past fiscal year totaled $335,000 and the desired commission, based on last year's impost, would amount to $16,750. The civic authorities have declared that the request is one for the consideration of the Province of Quebec.

"Steamboat," "Hat" End Louisville Run

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 22.—"Steamboat 'Round the Bend" at the Strand and "Top Hat" at the Brown completed three-week runs to phenomenal business, with "Top Hat" getting a nice $3,400 and "Steamboat" garnering $3,100 on the final stanza. Both pictures proved consistent draws, and have set an attendance mark.

"Annapolis Farewell" at the Rialto brought a slight pickup at the box-office, showing a fair $4,200, which is $700 over par, while Loew's State with a dual bill, "Here Comes the Band" and a revival of "The Thin Man," was $200 over, average being $4,500.

Other houses offered plenty of opposition and held up remarkably well. "Special Agent" did a fairly good $2,800 at the Mary Anderson, and "The Runaway Queen" with Radio City Revels, stage revue, boosted the take at the National to $3,500, which is $500 over normal for that house.

Another change finds Stanley Meyer, son of Fred S. Meyer as supervisor of the circuit's neighborhood houses here. Meyer has been managing Fox's Oriental, and is succeeded there by W. J. Reilly, formerly of Memphis.

The circuit plans to feature amateur shows at its Wisconsin on Thursday nights and on other nights at several of its state houses under the guidance of Dave Miller, for several years orchestra director at E. J. Weisfeldt's Riverside. Miller and his band will also appear at the Wisconsin Roof, atop the Wisconsin, on Saturdays and Sundays, according to H. J. Fitzgerald, general manager.

"Hat" Top in Philadelphia In 2nd Week

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—For the second week, "Top Hat" led the town, getting $16,000 at the Stanley. It was strong enough to rate a third week, but, evidently pressed by bookings, Warners decided to swing it into a second run downtown spot at the Karlton and then shoot it into the subsequents for a cleanup.

Both the stage show houses—still without their stage shows owing to the protracted dispute with the musicians—fell under their average takes. But with $11,000 each for the Earle and Fox, the former with "Two for Tonight" and the latter with "Gay Deception," the figure means money because of the lessened operating cost of a straight picture policy.

"Call of the Wild" dwindled in its third week, getting $3,800 for four days. It was replaced by "Dark Angel," which got a strong start.

Total first run business was $63,100. Average is $67,090.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"O'Shaugnessy's Boy"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—United again in a father and son tear-jerker, Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper go to town beribboned for the new season's box office sweepstakes.

Not since "Viva Villa" has Beery had such a meaty role as the wild animal trainer who, after his son is taken from him, loses his nerve and his arm in a vivid cat battle. Jackie, too, recaptures his emotional appeal as the priggish lad inspired by his strait-laced aunt, Sarah Haden. Reared in a military school, first he hates, later discovering the real heart of his dad.

Admirably directed by Richard Boleslawski, acting or production never goes mawkish as the sentiment between father and son springs naturally and climactically.

Beery, who prior to entering films was an animal trainer, gives reality to the thrills that are at times breathtaking as he masters elephants and tigers in hair-raising stunts. Sarah Haden creates a fine study as the contemptible aunt, and Spanky MacFarland as Baby Cooper is great. Clarence Muse, Willard Robertson and Henry Stephenson support well. James Wong Howe's fine photography rates special mention.

The film's excellent calibre in all divisions elevates Phil Goldstone, its producer, to the big time ranks.

Based on a story by Harvey Gates and Malcolm Stuart Boylan, the screenplay by Leonard Proskins, Wanda Tuchock and Otis Garrett is well-knit, playing powerfully on the heartstrings in a class with "The Champ," "The Big House" and "The Bowery.

No production code seal. Runnning time, 97 minutes. "G."

"Ball of Fire"

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—Skillful handling by director George Marshall turns a familiar story of a dancing girl who replaces the star in the picture into lively entertainment. Marshall demonstrates perfect control and maintains such a light pace that the situations all seem new.

Opening with Bebe Daniels as a Hollywood celebrity whose popularity has waned personally appearing on a bill in which Alice Faye dances with Mitchell and Durant, while Ray Walker acts as master of ceremonies, the picture moves rapidly forward. When the unit finishes all return to Hollywood, Miss Daniels to argue with Andrew Tombes, producer, against playing mother roles, others to crash studio gates. Tombes is unable to handle the situation until Walker walks in uninvited, takes charge of rehearsal, pulling Miss Faye out of the line to lead a number and sending Miss Daniels back to her dressing room. Bebe is forced to admit defeat when an accident discloses that Rosina Lawrence, who has posed as her sister, is really her daughter.

There is splendid trouping by the entire cast with Miss Daniels crowding Miss Faye for top acting honors throughout and Mitchell and Durant going into a clown routine.

The production by John Stone is intimate with dance numbers by Jack Donohue more effective because only 12 girls are used. Lou Breslow and Edward Eliscu's screenplay from the play by Gladys Unger and Jesse Lasky, Jr., will please as wholesome family entertainment.

Production Code Seal No. 1,423. Running time, 67 minutes. "G."

His primary duty was to induce the financial institutions to cooperate on loans and he accomplished this to such a degree and success of the effort was so pronounced that the state office in Fort Worth has asked him to visit adjacent territory and assist in other counties.

Statistics of the effort show that building in Graham for 1935 is 1,100 per cent ahead of 1934 and that the construction for January and February alone for 1935 was greater than the whole of 1934.

Business is reflected at the theatre in measurable volume. This year all of the craftsmen and artisans in the territory have had practically uninterrupted employment. Larmour is known as the factor that is locally responsible for the activity and the payroll has responded with appreciation at the box-office.

Use 2,000-Foot Reels

Boston, Sept. 22.—At least two first runs are using 2,000-foot reels while at least three others are splicing reels, in violation of an order of the operators' union.

Union Asks Native Films And European Imports

By JAMES LOCKHART

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 23.—Threats of American distributors to withdraw from this market by the end of the month unless the Government does something about a reduction of taxation have been met by a counter move on the part of the Union of Cinematographic Industry Employes.

They are drawing up a petition to be submitted to the Government asking for the stimulation of native production and encouragement of importation of European features.

At the same time the Politeama and Universal, large neighborhood houses, are asking the Government to do something immediately to prevent the threatened withdrawal on the ground

Independents Still Talk Hub First Run

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—The possibility that a new first run theatre may be established here for the spotting of independent features, as first revealed in the MOTION PICTURE DAILY, appears even stronger at present as the result of the active interest of Herman Rifkin, New England's largest unaffiliated distributor.

Rifkin, who heads the Republic exchanges here and in New Haven, stated that the situation here is now such a theatre is not only close to a necessity, but would be a moneymaker.

"I am negotiating for a first run theatre for independents," Rifkin said.

Three circuits operate the Hub's regular seven first runs. The two Loew houses went on a day and date

An attendance ranging between 200 and 250 last night seemed assured for tomorrow's Ampa luncheon in observance of Martin Quigley's 20th anniversary as a publisher. Al Lichtman will be master of ceremonies and the scene of the function will be Jack Dempsey's Restaurant.

Acceptances began to take on considerable volume yesterday, those already signifying their intention of being present including Will H. Hays, M. H. Aylesworth, Ned E. Depinet, Harry M. Warner, J. Robert Rubin, R. H. and P. D. Cochrane, James R. Grainger, Dr. A. H. Giannini, Gradwell L. Sears, J. J. McCarthy, John Boettiger, Si Seadler, Arthur W. Kelly, C. C. RKO, Depinet Lose a Move In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—Federal Judge George H. Moore has overruled the motion of Jacob M. Lashly, attorney for RKO Distributing Corp. and Ned E. Depinet, president, asking the court to direct the Department of Justice to furnish them with additional bills of particulars on anti-trust charges against them.

This means that the defendants must be satisfied with the information already given by Russell Hardy, special assistant attorney general, on Sept. 11.

Trial of the criminal anti-trust charges against RKO, Warners, Paramount and others will go on Sept. 30. On Oct. 1 the court will hear argument on an application for an injunction to prevent distributors from carrying out an alleged agreement not to serve the Ambassador, Missouri and New Grand Central theatres. This latter is an equity proceeding.

Theatres Hit New Stride in Frisco Areas

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—This city and environs is seeing a burst of new theatre activity such as it has not experienced in a long time. With the exception of the reopening two weeks ago of the United Artists, practically all the activity concerns subsequent runs. Legitimates, too, have shown signs of renewed life, especially with burlesque. The Capitol was reopened by S. S. Millard some six weeks ago with a policy of burlesque and picture at 75 cents top, and has done so well that the Minsky interests have reopened the Columbia, which has been dark for many months, with a similar policy.

Recently Phil Frease, who operates theatres in Redwood City and Vacaville, entered the suburbs of Albany, near Berkeley, and built the Albany, second run, which clicked right from the start. The firm of Borg and Peters, which operates several the-

Unrestrained Competition Held Ruinous

MPTOA Finds Standards Are Succumbing

Business standards and self-regulation of fair trade practices in the industry are steadily crumbling under an onslaught of unrestricted competition, the M.P.T.O.A. stated in a bulletin issued to its membership yesterday.

The general tenor of the bulletin was sharp and critical.

"In the four months since NRA was destroyed," its opening paragraph read, "with one exception no definite or practical steps have been taken to curb or control unfair competition and unfair trade practices in exhibition and distribution. The exception was the M.P.T.O.A. suggestion for a contract rider, which, while very limited in scope, has proved quietly effective wherever leading exhibitors have had the courage and initiative to use it.

"NRA attempted to bolster wages and to regulate unfair trade practices. Fortunately, a sustained improvement in business in general, particularly agriculture, reflected in theatre grosses, has made any general decline in wages or increase in unemployment unnecessary and improbable for the time being. This is felt in related industries as well, restaurants, cafes, hotels, resorts, all are doing well.

"While this may subdue and con-

Unrestrained Competition Held Ruinous

ceal the distress and alarm over unfair competition, the undermining of all that was patiently built up over a period of years in the way of any sort of business standards and the self-regulation of fair trade practices, is going on steadily. Under cover of good current business conditions unrestrained competition is spreading rapidly, entrenching unfair trade practices that will do us untold damage when business lets down."

The fear was expressed, further, that failure of the industry to control its own practices is "an open invitation for political regulation by the government as well as economic disaster."

Lists Trade Practices

The bulletin then lists trade practices which the organization views as objectionable, including premiums, giveaways and gift nights; lotteries, pseudo-contests and prizes; double and triple features for one admission charge; two-for-ones, coupons, merchants' tickets and indiscriminate use of "advertising" passes; bargain matinees, cheap balcony prices and unreasonably low admission scales; unreasonable clearance, either in time and area, not based on any actual competition; overbuying to deprive a competing exhibitor of needed pictures; lack of a reasonable rejection privilege on all contracts of 10 or more features bought at the same time; non-theatrical showings of professional entertainment product to prevent unfair competition with an established theatre; score charges; music tax; designated playdates.

Cites ASCAP

The bulletin again stressed the M. P.T.O.A.'s lack of faith in what is described as "the legislative cure-all." On the Ascap situation, the organization hit at "the cry . . . that the theatres would deprive composers of music of all compensation for their work." In this connection, the bulletin continued:

"What we want, and what we would have if Ascap was destroyed, is to buy the entire exhibition rights for the motion pictures we use, including the recorded music, for what they are worth. When we pay the license fee or film rental for a picture, we want it to include the public performing rights for the whole picture, including recorded music, as they are actually inseparable anyway. We want no extras levied separately for what we have already paid a good price, such as music tax, score charge, etc."

As a "beau geste" in the direction of Fred S. Meyer, former national secretary and now executive studio manager for Universal, the bulletin concludes by urging exhibitors to give "Fighting Youth," which Meyer produced, "special consideration and early playing time."

"Chiselers" New Title

Hollywood, Sept. 23.—Final title for M-G-M's "Let Freedom Ring" will be "Chiselling Chisellers." Jack Benny plays the lead.

Union Parleys May Delay Para. Shows

concluded favorably, Boris Morros is planning what he terms "socko" shows that will be greater, he says, than anything than has been put on at the Paramount. If a deal is struck this week, the shows will be booked starting Oct. 4.

Operator Raise in Cleveland

Cleveland, Sept. 23.—Local operators have settled with the Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors' Ass'n. for a new scale on the basis of a seven and one-half per cent increase. The new scale is for two years, covering the period from Sept. 15, 1935, to August 31, 1937.

Exhibitors retain the present policy of getting one and a half hours gratis overtime and one gratis service hour for the first year of the agreement. The second year operators concede one hour overtime gratis instead of an hour and a half. Operators also conceded that stand-by men, testing apparatus, shall receive no pay. Almost all subsequent run theatres are members of the association.

Reach Richmond Agreement

Richmond, Sept. 23.—Local major circuit and independent theatres have signed a new one-year contract with stagehands and operators. Under terms of the deal operators will work 39 hours a week while maintenance men will be employed 48 hours weekly.

Dan Anderson, James Evans and William Walsh represented the stagehands, while Fred Dempsey and J. J. Brennan of the I. A. T. S. E. also attended the various conferences.

Few changes were made, including provisions for time and a half for Sunday charity shows and one man to man booths during screenings of two-hour length.

Theatres Hit New Stride in Frisco Areas

atres in the bay region, built a new house shortly after in Salinas, not far from San Francisco.

The Coliseum, which several months ago suffered a $30,000 fire, has been remodelled and reopened by the Sam Levin interests. Al Levin, who was managing the theatre, has resigned to devote his time to build a new theatre in Alameda, in association with George Oppen. Levin and Oppen will have new opposition in Alameda because the Nasser Brothers, who operate the Alameda, have decided to take over a house now dark, the Strand, as opposition to the invaders.

Outside the city, too, but still close in, Dan Tocchini has opened his Empire in Santa Rosa, while right on the very edge of the San Francisco county line, adjacent to San Mateo county, Harry Levin has reopened the Bay Shore.

In the meantime things are happening fast in San Francisco proper. Aaron Goldberg, who operates five little houses on Market St., is negotiating with Dan and Abe Markowitz for the purchase of the Pompeii, next to the United Artists, which, if the deal is consummated, will give Goldberg six houses, second and third runs, on Market St.

Schwartz Remodeling

Herman Lionel Schwartz is remodeling the old Princess which he has purchased from a San Francisco bank. While the house is a 1,400-seater, it is perhaps the oldest here. J. Leslie Jacobs handled the realty transaction. Schwartz plans to spend some $25,000 fixing it up and will reopen it as a second run. He will call it the Ellis.

Reports are current that both United Artists and the Golden Gate (RKO) are looking for "continuation" houses, like F. W. C. has in the St. Francis. The Embassy is mentioned as the RKO house, and the Strand is reported to be under study by United Artists. Norman Cohen, who operates the U. A., has leases on both houses.

Across the bay in Vallejo another highly competitive situation has developed with F. W. C. dominating. F. W. C. runs the Vallejo and Fox Virginia, with Lou Traeger operating the Varmar, built by Traeger and Frease three years ago; J. M. Gould is building a new 900-seater in Vallejo, but this move has been answered by F. W. C. with plans for the reopening of their dark "protection" house, the Strand, which has been kept on the shelf as a sort of an ace in the hole.

Al Steffes, Minneapolis; A. F. Myers, Washington; Fred Harrington, Pittsburgh; Aaron Saperstein, Chicago; H. M. Ritchey, Detroit, Allied directors all, likewise will attend, at the same time tying in their visit with a meeting on official organization business.

Hal Roach is giving a cocktail party and dinner for Loew and M-G-M executives at the Astor and then will convey his guests to the stadium in a special bus, slated to leave from Loew's State Bldg. at 7:30 P. Sidney, Marvin Schenck, Howard Dietz, Si Seadler, Oscar Doob and Morty Spring.

Irving Berlin, Leo Morrison, Robert Woolsey and Bert Wheeler checked into the Warwick from Hollywood yesterday. Chester Morris is expected. George Raft arrived this morning by train. Pat O'Brien is another expectancy. Roscoe Karns and William Frawley arrived today. Edward G. Robinson is still another.

Among the innumerable parties to attend the bout is a United Artist group composed of Al Lichtman, Harry D. Buckley, Harry Gold, Harry Goetz, Paul Lazarus, Charles Stern, James Mulvey and Monroe Greenthal.

Mack Gordon and Harry Revel are on the way by plane. Somewhere between the two coasts are Buster Keaton, Walter Catlett, Marjorie Booth, Jay Paley, Joe E. Brown, Ketti Gallian, George Stevens and others.

Martin Quigley will be host to a group at a New York Athletic Club dinner prior to the main event.

Independents Still Talk Hub First Run

policy a few weeks ago. Two of M. & P.-Publix's trio are also day and date. Because of this, together with the fact that single features predominate, the seven spots use an average of only six different features a week at present. The RKO Boston, which has been taking some independents, practically became a closed book for indies when it quit double-features Aug. 29 in favor of stage shows and singles. Holdovers further decrease the independents' chances.

The Majestic, where the roadshow engagement of "The Crusades" will open soon, is being considered for the independent stronghold.

Chicago Deal Near

Emil Stern and Eddie Silverman of Essaness Theatres and M-G-M have reached final agreement on a product deal for the Chicago circuit, but no signatures have as yet been affixed to contracts. That procedure is now slated to be closed today.

Essaness, under the deal which includes an M-G-M franchise, will take over operation of the 1,600-seat theatre in Oak Park which the distributor will build.

that their patrons prefer American films.

Official estimates are that approximately 600 American made films are imported into this country each year. These pictures constitute about 95 per cent of Mexico's total. If the Americans withdraw, it is almost a foregone conclusion that most theatres here must close, for home productions and those of Britain, Germany, France and Russia are insufficient to keep all houses open in the larger towns every day in the week.

Mexican producers are surprised that the Government has done nothing up to now. They freely admit their industry is not yet ready to supply all the pictures that Mexicans must see.

Exhibition Thriving In Mexico Capital

Mexico City, Sept. 23.—Exhibition is thriving in the Federal District, which includes the national capital, has a population of 1,300,000 and is this country's largest community, according to the national statistics department, which asserts that the number of theatres has increased from 56 in 1932 to 62 last year, and that the approximate monthly gross of these houses was, 1932, 463,600 pesos; 1933, 463,500; 1934, 596,400. The value of pesos ranged from 3.25 in 1932 to 3.60 per American dollar in 1934.

Local theatres have done much better this year, the department finds. It announces the average gross income per month for the first quarter of 1935 as:

January, 665,700 pesos; February, 580,500; March, 656,800.

Minnesota to Have Sales Tax Session

A special session of the legislature has been called for next month by Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota for the purpose of passing a special sales tax, Al Steffes, Allied leader in Minneapolis, stated yesterday upon his arrival. He was accompanied by Harry Dryer and Max Torodor, independent exhibitors from Minneapolis.

"There is a probability that theatres will be taxed three per cent, the same as the general sales tax," Steffes stated. Last year, "a sales tax of 10 per cent on theatre admissions and three per cent on general sales was almost passed, but was killed the last day in the Senate," Steffes asserted.

Discussing business in his territory, the Allied leader held that things were not good despite the fact that all theatres are open.

"The new deal hasn't made money for us yet," he concluded.

Steffes, Dryer and Torodor plan to leave tonight after the Baer-Louis fight. They intend traveling by air.

Hearing in M-G-M Action Is Postponed

By agreement between attorneys, the hearing scheduled for yesterday before Judge Dore in the Supreme Court on a motion by the Gotham against M-G-M and the Dorset to restrain the distributor from serving the Dorset "China Seas" ahead of the Gotham was postponed until tomorrow.

Melvin Albert, representing the plaintiff, agreed to the delay when an M-G-M attorney stated he had to go to Syracuse on other business. Meanwhile, the Garbo picture will not be released to the Dorset.

Hearing Postponed On Ohio Playdates

Columbus, Sept. 23.—Hearing on the court test of the constitutionality of Ohio's law banning designated playdates has been postponed indefinitely. The test is in the form of a suit by RKO against Attorney General John W. Bricker.

Texas Allied to Meet

B. & K.-U. A. Fail to Agree Upon Product

Chicago, Sept. 23.—United Artists to date has not closed with B. & K., the distributor insisting upon 18 pictures while the circuit is understood to have been willing to sign for only 12.

Operation of the United Artists Theatre by B. & K., however, will not be affected by failure to close the film deal.

Charles Bickford Injured

Hollywood, Sept. 23.—Charles Bickford was seriously bitten by a lion here today during filming of Universal's "East of Java." With only two days to go, the production has been halted pending Bickford's recovery.

First Run Product About Set in K.C.

Kansas City, Sept. 23.—Kansas City first run buying of new season product has been pretty well completed, distributors here indicate. Aside from some possibilities yet in the air, only a few changes will occur in first run showing of major product.

Warner releases will play the Newman, and First National the RKO Mainstreet, as last year. The Newman will have Paramount, and the Mainstreet Radio product.

Loew's Midland will again play M-G-M and U. A. product. It also has some Twentieth Century to play, it is understood, but will play only what was set before the merger.

Columbia product will be first run at the Tower, as last year. Warner and First National eliminations, also, it is said, are scheduled for Kansas City's single independent first run house.

Universal pictures, at the Tower last season, will go to the Uptown for the most part. Some will go to the Fox Plaza for first run showing.

G. B. has not announced what first run affiliation it has, if it is set.

Rumor has it that RKO and Republic are talking about the possibility of setting Republic product in the former's houses. Under such circumstances, Republic pictures would probably first run at the Mainstreet.

Fees Allowed in Action in St. Louis

St. Louis, Sept. 23.—Circuit Judge O'Malley today allowed fees totaling $147,000 in the receivership suit involving the Theatre Realty Co., owner of the Fox theatre building and adjoining property. Thompson, $23,500 each; St. Louis Union Trust Co., plaintiff in the suit and trustee for the bond against the property, $2,000, and its attorneys, Bryan, Williams, Cabe and McPheeters, $10,000.

This is the first allowance of fees to the receivers and attorneys since the realty company went into receivership in January, 1932. A petition for reorganization of the company is now pending in the Federal Court.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23.—Confederate veterans, in an unusual procedure, joined in parade with Veterans of Foreign Wars for the premiere of "The Perfect Tribute" at Loew's State Sunday. Even the Louisiana State Museum arranged an exhibit of Confederate battle flags on which a value of more than $1,000,000 is placed.

Hamrick Shifts Policies

SEATTLE, Sept. 23.—John Hamrick switched policies for two of the first run houses in the recently-merged Hamrick-Evergreen setup. Hamrick's Orpheum becomes the second de luxe house, sharing the top single feature attractions with the Fifth Avenue. The Paramount, originally scheduled for the de luxe policy, will operate with dual features formerly planned for the Orpheum.

Herb Sobottka and Robert Williams, manager and assistant manager, respectively, of the Paramount move to the Orpheum to inaugurate the new policy. Don Geddes and Bill Hamrick, formerly at the Orpheum, will take the Paramount. A 40-cent top will prevail at both houses.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Personal Maid's Secret"

(Warners)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Bright comedy and telling characterization in both writing and acting provide this film with positive appeal for all types of houses.

Ruth Donnelly, after long service in wealthy homes, takes a job in the modest apartment of Margaret Lindsay and Warren Hull. The attempts of the couple to live up to the new maid result in a series of moves ending on a Long Island estate. A visitor is Anita Louise, Miss Donnelly's daughter, adopted by a wealthy family. Miss Donnelly reveals the relationship to save Miss Louise from an affair with a married man. Miss Louise handles her change from a giddy snob to a genuine admirer of her mother with telling understanding.

Miss Donnelly does fine work as the maid. Arthur Treacher as the butler, and the child, Ronnie Crosby, walk away with the comedy honors. Frank Albertson, Lillian Kemble Cooper and Henry O'Neill are good in smaller parts.

F. Hugh Herbert and Lillie Hayward handled the screen play smoothly from a story by Lillian Day. Arthur Greville directed for steady dramatic and comedy climaxes, under the supervision of Bryan Foy. Without big names, there is, nevertheless, real charm in the film. True comedy and drama should appeal to a large audience.

Production Code Seal No. 1,154. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"The New Frontier"

(Republic)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13.—Plenty of gun play, trick riding and the spectacular burning of a frontier saloon provide action to please western audiences.

John Wayne and father Sam Flint are reliable guides across Indian-infested plains of early days. A wagon train in charge of Wayne is attacked by bad man Alfred Bridge with heart of gold, who apologizes when he discovers Wayne in charge because Wayne had befriended Bridge in the past. Wayne takes the train in safely to discover his father killed by Warner Richmond, bad man with a black heart. Wayne becomes sheriff, promises to clean up the town and swears in the Bridge gang as deputies.

Richmond arranges an ambush in the hills for Wayne, who single-handed disarms some 20 men and trips horses into a river in an exciting spill. A battle in a burning saloon is slowed by shots of a preacher praying for law and order, but otherwise the finale is tense.

Allan Cavan, Murdock MacQuarrie, Mary McClaren, Glen Strange and Earl Dwire are featured under the direction of Carl Pierson from a story and screenplay by Robert Emmett. Paul Malvern produced.

No production code seal. Running time, 62 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"The Crime of Dr. Crespi"

(Republic)

John H. Auer produced, wrote and directed this adaptation of Edgar Allan Poe's rather gruesome story, "The Premature Burial," the result being strong dramatic meat of the buried alive variety, featured by the performance of Eric Von Stroheim as Dr. Crespi. It is unlikely that the film may be considered acceptable material for the juvenile, but the adults who like their films with a weird twist, and with a "shock" tendency, should find it acceptable entertainment.

Beside Von Stroheim, there are no outstanding cast names, the support including Dwight Frye, Paul Guilfoyle and Harriet Russell in particular.

Dr. Crespi, noted surgeon and clinic head, agrees to operate on the husband of the girl he had himself loved. The operation is a success, but the patient "dies" later. Suspicious that he has been poisoned, Frye, young doctor, taxes Crespi with the crime, and is bound and gagged. Crespi, in the morgue that night, gloats over the victim, who has been drugged, and will recover after he has been buried. Frye, with the help of another doctor, exhumes the victim, who recovers and confronts Crespi. The criminal commits suicide. Slight romantic aspects are taken care of in incidental manner.

Production Code Seal No. 789. Running time, 63 minutes. "A."

Waterbury Theatres Await School Start

WATERBURY, Sept. 23.—Schools are scheduled to reopen Sept. 30. The delay has been due to an infantile paralysis epidemic. Theatres will admit children under 14 as soon as schools resume.

Hearings slated for yesterday on Universal and United Artists protests against levying a sales tax on business of the New York exchanges were put over until Oct. 1 by a special commission set up by Frank J. Taylor, comptroller for New York City.

TAMPA, Sept. 23.—When the new license year starts Oct. 1, theatres, among other businesses, are going to find their occupational licenses tilted.

The present city license is $150 a year, irrespective of size, seating capacity or location. Of course there is an additional $50, if advertising is shown on the screen. Under the new schedule theatres will be graded by seating capacity. Smaller houses will be given a license for $150, and for larger ones the rates go as high as $450. In addition to the city license there is a state and county fee, which is $300 for every house.

Closes Clinton Capitol

CLINTON, Ind., Sept. 23.—Robert Scherer has closed the Capitol. Bank Night Ruled A Lottery in Iowa

DES MOINES, Sept. 23.—Bank Night was ruled a lottery here today by District Judge Russell Jordan in issuing to the state a permanent injunction against the Des Moines Theatre Co., and A. H. Blank, president. The injunction suit had been brought by the county attorney as a test case.

On the theatre's contention that Bank Night was not a lottery as one might win a prize without purchasing a ticket, the judge said, "The fact that one might win without paying consideration would not deprive the scheme of its character as a lottery. The fact that some may buy a ticket and attend the drawing and receive a chance to win the prize is greatly increased on Bank Night." Counsel for the theatre firm said the case probably will be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

More K. C. Bank Night

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23.—Fox Midwest will introduce Bank Night in the Plaza, its de luxe first suburban run, and the Uptown, its first run house here. This makes use of Bank Night 100 per cent in its Kansas City, Mo., houses, and gives Kansas City its second first run using the promotion. The Newman instituted the plan during the summer.

"Crusades" Holding Up

Ickes' Demands May Halt Use of Parks

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

Operator Wage Pacts Stir Up Some Friction

Some Groups Talk Split From Circuit Deals

Dissension within exhibitor ranks over the new basic operator wage scale broke out at a meeting of major and independent circuit heads on Monday, indicating that some of the unaffiliated theatre heads may forsake the circuits in their negotiations and start discussing a scale for their own theatres with Local 306.

The disruption is said to have taken place when a Skouras representative objected to the secrecy in negotiations carried on by the circuits. He is also

Hearing on Pickets Is Postponed Again

Hearing on charges of disorderly conduct against 40 pickets of Local 306 was postponed yesterday by Magistrate McGee in the Jefferson Market Court until Oct. 18. An attorney for Local 306 asked for dismissal of the cases on the ground that a truce between the unions is now in effect. Melvin Albert of Weisman, Quinn, Allen & Spett, attorneys for the I.T.O.A., argued that there had previously been two truces which have never amounted to anything.

The judge deferred action until Oct. 18 in order to see what develops between the unions in the interim.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—A. B. McCollum, Hoopeston circuit operator, is remodeling his Lorraine in Hoopeston in an unusual manner. McCollum is rebuilding and keeping the theatre open at the same time.

Half of the house has been torn up for repairs and the seats in the other half left for use. When one side is completed in the new style the other side will be revamped. Seating capacity under the change is about half but the house remains open and "the show goes on."

RKO Deals Set for 189 Features Here

RKO has completed product deals for 189 pictures for its metropolitan circuit. Another deal is pending with G. B. for 20 films. Contracts closed by the circuit are for 48 from RKO, 52 from Warners-First National, 56 from Twentieth Century-Fox, 18 from Universal and 16 from Republic.

Commenting on business, Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the KAO board, yesterday declared that in 1934-35 the circuit "made a splendid showing all along the line. Business is better—getting better all the time."

RKO Gains Helping RCA Profit Outlook

RCA may pay $5 on its B stock as a result of improved earnings this year, according to the Wall Street Journal, and there is a possibility of reducing the accumulated deficit in dividends on this stock.

Contributing to the bright outlook, according to this writer, are the improved earnings of RKO, now in process of reorganization. RCA holds 84 per cent, or $9,786,000 worth of RKO debentures, and these are now earning interest. The company also has 1,259,468 shares of RKO, a total investment of about $15,000,000, upon which it has not been getting return.

Grosses Hit $1,595,351, Topping Last Year's High

Grosses in the 22 key cities for which weekly totals are compiled by Motion Picture Daily have leaped back beyond the levels prevailing a year ago. The $1,595,351 recorded for the week ending Sept. 5-6 was $175,536 above the high point reached a year ago for the week ending Sept. 27-28.

For the week ending Sept. 12-13 this year there was a slight recession to $1,386,711, but this figure has been exceeded only nine times in the last 12 months.

Fall reopenings have increased the number of theatres in operation in these cities to 135, an increase of 13 from the low of 122 reached during the week ending Aug. 1-2.

Para. to Sign Partnerships For 90 Days

Extension from Sept. 28 To Be Decided Today

Paramount partnership agreements which expire on Sept. 28 will be extended today for a period of 90 days, it was stated officially yesterday. A meeting is scheduled to take place today when such a decision will be ratified.

The reason cited for the extensions is that it will take about three months to work out permanent deals with the various partners who operate about 1,000 theatres throughout the country. Reports current yesterday that George Trendle's deal would be set for signatures on Friday were denied yesterday by a high Paramount official.

Abe Blank, Ralph Branton, Louis Dent, Robert J. O'Donnell, John Balaban and Trendle are in New York, having arrived from their territories to attend the Louis-Baer fracas.

John E. Otterson, president of Paramount, arrived on the coast yesterday. It is understood that he will personally confer with the partners when the long term agreements are to be signed.

Warners Place Two In Wisconsin Pool

Warners have pooled two theatres in Appleton and Milwaukee, Wis., and have deals under way in two other situations which will be closed shortly.

One of the joint operating arrangements is with Jack Sillaman of the Rio, Appleton. Warners has the Appleton in this town and both houses have been pooled for the last week. The second deal is with the Sax Brothers in Milwaukee. Warners has the Granada, while the Saxes have the Majestic. This agreement goes into effect Oct. 1.

Schenck to Make Bid For Half of Fox Met

Joseph M. Schenck, acting for United Artists Theatres Corp., is expected to make a bid for the 50 per cent interest in Metropolitan Playhouses, it was learned yesterday.

Schenck is due from the coast around Oct. 1, when it is said he will confer with Milton C. Weisman, receiver for Fox Theatres and also vice-president and secretary of Metropolitan Playhouses, on the purchase of the outstanding interest.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

VISITING theatremen from this sector and that, here principally for last night's fight, report business is perking up. When exhibitors, with one eye, at least, and perhaps two, cast in the general direction of exchangemen and higher rentals, tell you that, it's apt to be something.

Not content with the encouraging nature of these various verbal assurances, we turned to the trusty adding machine for further evidences of what goes on in key cities and discovered the period following the whopping Labor Day week was no slouch either.

Twenty-eight cities which make up MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S box-office index rolled up $1,348,990 for the theatre week ending variously from September 11-18. Comparing with a normal $1,172,200, the gain was exactly $176,790. . .

Indicating how the total first run business in these twenty-eight keys went is the following tabulation:

City	Week Ending	Gross	Average
Boston	Sept. 13	$ 99,500	$ 80,500
Buffalo	Sept. 13	40,400	36,100

In this period, demonstrating as it does the contributing power of real drawing cards, "Top Hat" about which you should know plenty at this late date, drew top honors in Boston ($27,000 gross, or over par by $15,000), Chicago ($32,500, comparing with an average $19,000), Cincinnati ($24,000, average $12,000), Detroit ($15,600, or $5,600 ahead of the norm), Kansas City ($15,000, or $7,000 to the good), Lincoln ($4,800 and over average by $1,700), Los Angeles ($9,100 in its third week at one house and $9,000 in its third at another), Louisville ($3,500 in its third week), New Haven ($14,000, or double par), Omaha ($9,500 when average is $4,750), Philadelphia ($25,000, or double average), Portland ($9,000, or $4,000 ahead), San Francisco ($26,000, comparing with a $13,000 average). . .

Then there was "Diamond Jim" which may prove to be Carl Laemmle's mortgage lifter. It went to $13,500, or $500 ahead in one St. Louis house, and $10,500, or $1,500 ahead, in another in the same city. In Indianapolis, it left normal behind by $1,500 to a take of $4,500 in the face of stern competition and in Seattle the gross was $7,400 which was $1,400 ahead of parity.

The Rogers picture, "Steamboat 'Round the Bend," has been going places as well. Take a look: Cleveland ($17,350, which was $9,350 ahead of usual business), Denver (a record breaker at $11,000, or $6,000 over par), Louisville ($3,200 which, for

Protests Continue Over Ontario's Tax

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—Protests against the amusement tax in Ontario continue to develop and Premier Hepburn is being pressed with demands for a repeal of the levy.

The latest to take action against the impost are the City Council of Windsor, Ont., and the Local Council of Women which adopted a resolution of protest at its annual meeting in Kingston. Both of these bodies stressed the inequity of the tax which went into effect June 1 and through which the province will reap $3,000,000 in 12 months, it is estimated. Under the old scale in which all tickets of 25 cents and under were tax-free, the largest annual revenue was registered in the prosperous year of 1927 when the Provincial Treasury earned $1,567,630. For the current year the tax total will reach double that amount while the theatres will probably gross half of the 1927 receipts.

Premier Hepburn of Ontario announced when the tax increases went into effect that the revenue would be devoted to unemployment relief. Recently, however, he tossed the relief problem to the cities and towns so that the province does not require the money for that purpose. The argument is also advanced that, according to Government statistics, the number of employed persons is now equal to the aggregate payroll total of the normal year of 1926.

Flint Men Threaten To Return to Duals

FLINT, Mich., Sept. 24.—A number of local exhibitors, dissatisfied with the results of the agreement entered into about a year ago to do away with double bills except on one change a week and disgruntled because of the recent opening of the new Rialto by Schreiber, Smilay & London of Detroit, which is playing double bills two changes a week and vaudeville on the third, will kick over the agreement at its expiration, which takes place within the next few weeks.

A spokesman for this group of exhibitors said that they had failed to get increased profits predicted by adherents of the single bill plan and in addition charge that one or two theatres are over-buying and asking unfair protection.

He said that they would not re-sign the agreement at its expiration, but would return to the continuous use of duals. This, of course, will result in all Flint theatres returning to doubles.

Operator Wage Pacts Stir Up Some Friction

said to have taken exception to the move made by Joseph Plunkett on a deal for Allied operators at the Astor.

Various circuit heads contacted state that the meeting was "harmonious." Another session was called for yesterday, but it will not be held until today instead.

William Powers, who is said to be the Skouras representative, is understood to have been upset about certain remarks passed by Boris Morros and both nearly clashed during the sessions, which at that time had not been attended by Joseph D. Basson, head of Local 306, and Frank Tichenor, appointee of Mayor LaGuardia, who is sitting in on the sessions.

After 10-Year Deal

Powers was accused of taking Basson out to lunch and making a deal for the Skouras houses, which he is said to have denied. Powers then threatened to break away and enter negotiations with Local 306, stating he could get a better deal by dickering on his own than with the major circuits. Louis Frisch and Sam Rinzler and Si Fabian were considering joining Powers, who is reported to have left the meeting in a huff.

Broadway houses are understood to be paying the union men $2.55 an hour, exclusive of overtime. The scale for the nine houses was discussed, but it is stated that the union held out for the same figure it is now getting.

The circuits are still trying to get a 10-year deal with a clause for arbitration on a new scale every two years.

Four Classifications

Grading of the houses is not expected to be completed this week, as anticipated. The circuit neighborhood theatres are definitely set on a $1.86 an hour rate. It is said that the independents are expecting to get around $1.35 to $1.45 an hour for first run neighborhood houses. At present there are four classifications. In the first group is the theatre seating up to 600. In the second list are the houses of the Randforce and Skouras type. The third category has the RKO and Loew circuit houses. The fourth and last is limited to the Broadway first runs.

Basson yesterday met Jack Springer and A. H. Schwartz, both of whom employ Empire State operators, indicating that a merger of the three unions is nearing the closing point.

Cooper at Pioneer As Vice-President

Hollywood, Sept. 24.—Merian C. Cooper today assumed the post of executive vice-president of Pioneer, taking offices at United Artists. With him went John Speaks, who, as Cooper's assistant, becomes general manager of Pioneer. Announcements of titles on the eight-picture program will be made with the arrival of John Hay Whitney. Cooper and his wife will leave for Europe on a combined vacation and story search, following the conferences with Whitney.

At M-G-M, where as in other directions, the course of the box-office is of obvious concern and interest, interesting comparisons which bear out all that has preceded have come to light. Currently there, the field force has been given figures to show how grosses were heading on the Fourth of July this year as compared with its predecessor in 1934. This was the result:

Boston	519%	better
St. Louis	316%	better
Indianapolis	274%	better
Wilmington	262%	better
Philadelphia	249%	better
Rochester	244%	better
Kansas City	244%	better
Harrisburg	218%	better
Reading	212%	better
Louisville	131%	better

The East	133%	better
The West	124%	better
The South	90%	better
Nationally	132%	better

Hollywood dispatch reads: "Paramount has definitely decided on 'Desire' as the title for the new Marlene Dietrich-Gary Cooper film which goes into work shortly under Frank Borzage's direction."

That suggests future marquees reading:

DESIRE WITH MARLENE DIETRICH

It also suggests, for the common good, that something about to be done about it before release date rolls around. . . .

H. M. Doherty Named Warner Clubs' Head

H. M. Doherty, who has been associated with Warners for the past 12 years, has been elected president of the national Warner Club. He succeeds Max Blackman, who held the post for one year.

J. T. Holmes has been named to replace Tom Martin as treasurer. These have been the only two changes in last year's setup. Louis Aldrich continues as secretary. Ruth Weisberg stays as vice-president in charge of welfare, Steve Trilling as vice-president in charge of entertainment and Jules Levey as vice-president handling membership.

About 80 delegates from all clubs throughout the country attended the annual get-together held at the Warner office. The session was followed by a night at the French Casino.

Ottawa to Vote on Daylight Time Law

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—A revival of the daylight saving issue has popped up once more with the City Council of Ottawa deciding to submit a plebiscite to the people before tying up the situation for 1936. The vote will take place at the time of the civic elections on Dec. 2.

During the past few years "summer time" has been effective for five months from May 1 to Sept 30 and the people have become restless under this long stretch of artificial clocking. If daylight saving is approved by vote, it will probably be restricted to the two vacation months of July and August.

The head of the Ottawa City Council is Mayor P. J. Nolan who is the proprietor of three local theatres.

Puritan Closes a Deal

Hollywood, Sept. 24.—Puritan Pictures has completed arrangements with Joseph Simmonds and Sig Neufeld to produce Tim McCoy westerns for the Puritan lineup. McCoy is now touring with the Barnum & Bailey circus and will begin picture work in October. Two of the features of the 10 scheduled are "The Outlaw Deputy" and "The Man From Guntown."

Ickes' Demands May Halt Use of Parks

Park Trust Fund. This is said to be sufficient to cover the damage and to leave a balance.

It was learned today that two studios plan to make pictures in the parks, one in Yellowstone and the other in Yosemite. They have been told they can do so only if they make a "voluntary" contribution of $3,000 each to the trust fund, which would work as a rental at the rate of $1,500 per week. As this would be in addition to heavy expenditures for transportation of horses, food and other needs of the troupe, the companies have refused to make the contribution.

National park officials are said not to be in sympathy with Secretary Ickes' idea of collecting for the use of the parks, having always felt that the advertising which resulted from the showing of films was highly valuable. The major complaint, however, is understood to come from the railroads, concessionaires and others who benefited by the visits of the film makers.

Canada Theatre Gain Shown in New Report

Toronto, Sept. 24.—An indication of the manner in which theatre corporations of Canada are effecting improvement in their financial position despite decreased revenue is found in the annual statement of Confederation Amusements, Ltd., just issued.

Gross revenue for the past fiscal year was $427,603, as compared with $49,086 for the previous 12 months, while the net loss was $3,311, as against $3,645. During the year mortgages were cut $19,600 to $159,500 and, in the last three years, mortgage obligations have been lowered by $53,000. Current liabilities have been cut from $96,788 to $60,393 during the last fiscal 12 months with current assets slightly lower at $38,989, compared with $40,333 one year ago.

It is interesting to note that the company was able to sell $25,500 worth of first bonds which had originally been issued in 1931 primarily for the erection of the Chateau Theatre in Montreal, but were not disposed of at that time because of the unfavorable market conditions. Confederation Amusement operates six theatres with an aggregate capacity of 7,000.

Sirovich Committee Calls for Film Men

Al Lichtman, United Artists president; Jack Cohn, Columbia vice-president and Capt. George McL. Baynes, Eastern Service Studios, were subpoenaed yesterday by the House committee investigating patent pools. The subpoenaes are returnable Sept. 30 when the committee opens its inquiry at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Representative William I. Sirovich heads the committee. Will H. Havs, John E. Otterson, Adolph Zukor, R. H. Cochrane of Universal and George Quigley of Vitaphone were subpoenaed earlier.

The committee's accountants have completed their compilation of statistical data at Columbia and Warners and are now working at Fox. The investigation, in connection with House Bill No. 4523, is designed to ascertain whether patent pools are in the public interest. David Harrison Berger is counsel to the committee.

Denver Men Protest Star Review System

Denver, Sept. 24.—Members of the Denver Theatre Managers' Ass'n. recently held a meeting here for a round robin on the four-star reviewing system in the Rocky Mountain News, a Scripps Howard paper. Attending were Charles B. McCabe, publisher, and Alberta Pike, dramatic critic.

About 30 exhibitors voiced a protest on the system. McCabe told the men that "it is not the intention of the newspaper to foster a system not constructive to the theatres." He said a survey will be made in a door-to-door canvass of readers for opinions.

McCabe promised to turn over the questionnaire to the managers' association and indicated that if the matter warranted the system would be modified. The managers expect to hold another meeting in a few months to discuss the reactions of the public.

Marcus to Do Three Features, 36 Shorts

Lee Marcus, associate producer, will make three features and 36 shorts on the current RKO program, he stated yesterday. The first feature, "The Rainmaker," has just been completed with Wheeler & Woolsey. The comedians will appear in a second picture Marcus will make while Gene Raymond has been cast for the third.

Greenberg Charges Warner Negligence

Charges of mismanagement and negligence in their official duties were made in the Supreme Court yesterday against the directors of Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., by Adolph Greenberg, a stockholder. The suit, which is for an accounting, also names as defendants executives of the estate of Moe Mark, Goldman, Sachs & Co., McClure, Jones & Co., and Renraw, Inc.

In a 25-page complaint the petitioner sets forth that he is the owner of 40 shares of common stock of Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc. He charges that individual defendants, among whom are Harry M., Albert and Jack L. Warner, failed to perform their duties in that "they did not give their care or oversight to the business and affairs of the defendant corporation, but utterly neglected same; that they did not administer the affairs of the defendant corporation in an honest, careful and prudent manner, but on the contrary they deliberately and negligently permitted the money, property and effects of the defendant corporation to be wasted and squandered."

Cites 1928 Deal

Greenberg cited a transaction in November, 1928, whereby he charged that Warners improvidently purchased 90 per cent of the voting stock of Skouras Brothers Enterprises, Inc., at a price far in excess of its true value. He also attacked a deal with the Stanley Co. of America on Oct. 2, 1928, whereby in exchange of stock Warner Brothers acquired an interest in First National Pictures, Inc., by paying to the Fox Film Corp. a profit of $6,000,000 which, he charges, was excessive. The plaintiff also attacked the purchase of four music publishing houses in 1929. These were M. Witmark & Sons, Inc., The Music Publishing Holding Corp., Harms, Inc., and Remick Music Corp. He further attacked the purchase and creation of 200 subsidiary companies in 1929 and 1930.

Charges Nepotism

The complaint also contains charges of nepotism and pool manipulations and declares the defendants engaged in an extravagant program of theatre construction. The petition seeks the removal of directors and asks that the court take jurisdiction over the company's affairs and any other remedies which the court may deem fit.

The defendants have entered denials to the charges and explanations of the transactions. Greenberg has applied for an order to strike out the defense entered by Renraw, Inc.

Hearing is set for Friday, Sept. 27.

Comment on the suit was refused by Warners' legal department.

Allied Leaders Talk Historic Film Plan

Al Steffes of Minneapolis, Aaron Saperstein, Chicago; A. K. Howard, Boston; Fred Herrington, Pittsburgh; Abram F. Myers, Washington, and H. M. Richey, Detroit, held an informal session yesterday to discuss a tieup with American Edugraphic on historic photos for Allied theatre members.

Due to absence of Sidney Samuelson, president, who was in Camden where he presided over the regular meeting of Allied of New Jersey, no action was taken. A meeting has been called for this morning to act on the plan. Most of the men will clear out tonight.

Richey, who has been actively engaged in promoting the plan, yesterday stated that the original idea has been revamped, and, instead of being offered to theatres on a national basis, it is now being closed with individual exhibitors.

Original plans called for adoption of the idea nationally on Sept. 15. Richey asserted that because of the change in the plan it did not go into effect on that date, but will immediately after the meeting today.

Speaker Sees Ohio Nearing 1929 Level

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24.—J. S. Merrill, Springfield, O., president of the Associated Credit Bureau of Ohio, in an address before the fall conference here, said that his city was leading the road back to recovery in Ohio.

"Springfield's sales have increased 26 per cent, and her collections have gained 28 per cent over those of last year. Business has reached 86 per cent of the 1929 level," he asserted. "At the present rate, we will reach the 1929 level in eight to 12 months."

A national credit survey, he said, showed both sales and collections to have increased from 10 to 15 per cent in most cities, with sales a shade above collections.

Academy Sets New Contract For Writers

director members, the Academy announced it would fight this issue if the Writers' Guild offered opposition, which is contrary to the previous policy of ignoring the Guild's negotiations with producers. The Academy also stated it would try to bring independent studios under the proposed pact and prepared a proposal that writers now employed be permitted to secure changes in present written or verbal contracts. A summary of the revised pact as worked out by the Producers' Committee, consisting of Irving Thalberg, Sam Briskin, Henry Herzbrun, Hal Wallis, Sol Wurtzel, B. B. Kahane, and the Writers' Committee, consisting of Howard J. Green, John Balderston, Howard Estabrook, Joseph Moncure March, Carey Wilson, Waldemar Young, follows:

Pact Summarized

(1) Producing companies be uniformly committed for at least a two-year period to the comprehensive basic agreement guaranteeing favorable terms on general conditions important to the work and professional standing of screen writers.

(2) Week-to-week employment be on basis written in contract.

(3) A simplified plagiarism warranty be adopted in standard form in all signatory studios clearly establishing that the writer assumes responsibility only for originality of own work.

(4) Free option within 30-day limit be extended to all employed writers, including those under term contract, for revision of existing contracts to secure the benefit of the new Academy agreement.

(5) Broad authority be granted the Academy committee consisting solely of writers for administration and enforcement of agreement.

(6) When studios have layoff options in term contracts the writer be entitled to advance notice and receive at least one week's consecutive time in such layoff.

(7) Contingent speculation or approval basis of payment will continue to be outlawed as in the original Academy code, and the principle of payment on delivery for freelance work done for specified aggregate compensation be reaffirmed and strengthened.

(8) Guarantee in present code of week's notice to freelance writers after 10 weeks' work at less than $500 per week be continued under the new pact.

(9) Writers are entitled to be informed what other writers are also working on same material.

(10) Wording "screen play by" be made standard practice as part of improved procedure for determining screen credits, based on the Academy's three-year administration of credit clauses in the original code.

(11) Credit for screen play not to be divided among more than three names on the screen.

(12) Producers and directors not permitted to take screen credit for collaboration on screen play. (This clause conditional on vote of branches.)

(13) Screen play achievement be given more emphasis in arrangement of title cards, credit for play being given on card containing no other credits except source material or on card alone, or with directors' credit or on main picture title.

(14) Principle of original code to be maintained, clarified as to right of contributing writers to designate screen credits by unanimous agreement.

(15) Percentage basis for guiding writers and producers in determining play credits has been included in new agreement with the purpose of making credits a more accurate index to the importance of creative work done by individual writer.

(16) Established Academy credits bulletin to be maintained under the new agreement, to provide a permanent record of writing achievements, including screen credits and credits for other valuable contributions to photoplay authorship.

(17) Specific procedure of notices to be given by studios, guaranteeing writers advance information regarding proposed credits, also to provide opportunity for protest or agreement.

(18) Specific clause in contracts preventing writers from claiming more than their share of the credit for share in collaboration.

(19) Committee to be composed entirely of writers and to have final authority to correct official records in the event of error or unfairness in assignment credits by producer.

The Academy expects producer approval on the pact prior to Oct. 15.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Last Outpost"

(Paramount)

Hollywood, Sept. 24.—Although the story is unconvincing, beautiful photography and breath-taking scenery lend this picture merit. Cary Grant, a British officer, is saved from death by Claude Rains of the intelligence service in the Mesopotamian sector during the war. Convalescing in a base hospital, Grant falls in love with Gertrude Michaels, a nurse, who had married Rains three years before and had not seen him since. When Grant is reassigned to duty Rains follows to kill him, but is desterred when natives attack, making duty the first consideration. In the ensuing battle Rains is killed and Grant is left free to reunite with Miss Michael.

Louis Gasnier and Charles Barton, who co-directed, have attempted to split the interest equally between the melodramatic incidents and the love story, succeeding best in the action sequences.

Producer E. Lloyd Sheldon has injected much stock footage, some of which inconsistently confuses the locale of the action. Philip MacDonald wrote the screen play from a story by F. Britten Austin.

The picture will please audiences that do not demand accuracy of detail

Production Code Seal No. 1,021. Running time, 72 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Rip Roaring Riley"

(Puritan Pictures)

Routine material of the action sort, this independently-produced picture features Lloyd Hughes, Marion Burns and Grant Withers, while Eddie Gribbon supplies what passes for incidental comedy. In the week-end spot, for the youngsters, and adults who like excitement in their film fare, this should be found fairly satisfactory as the second half of a dual feature program.

Hughes plays a Government agent of the rougher and tougher sort, who can handle any sort of assignment. He is told to "get" Withers, a former army officer who was thrown out of the service and who is working on a secret poison gas formula, with the aid of a professor, and posing as an army officer.

Hughes goes to work and the result is fast and real action until he cleans up the case, calling on an American battleship to save the day on the experimental island. His budding romance with Miss Burns, the professor's daughter, ends as expected.

"Hat" Garners $13,700, 3rd Capital Week

Washington, Sept. 24.—"Top Hat" at RKO-Keith's for its third consecutive week topped the first-week average by $2,900, taking $13,700 in the third stanza. Picture went into its fourth week.

"Steamboat 'Round the Bend" at Loew's Palace took $16,900, or $1,000 over average, and went into its second week. Gross, while good, was not up to expectations.

"The Man Who Knew Too Much" surprised by taking $6,400 at the Belasco, topping average by $4,200. The Belasco since its opening several weeks ago, has been gaining in popularity, so much so that the average here carried ($2,200) is probably below the true figure for the house.

Return engagements also held up well: "Annapolis Farewell" at the Metropolitan, took $5,700 against an average of $4,300, and "China Seas" at Loew's Columbia grossed $4,100 against an average of $3,600.

Other first run houses were below par. The Rialto closed Saturday night after a run of 13 days. A stage is to be built and the house reopened shortly.

Total first run business was $82,200. Average is $79,200.

Estimated takings, exclusive of tax:

Variety Club

Cincinnati

Cincinnati, Sept. 24.—Approximately 150 barkers and guests descended on the Hillcrest Country Club for the first annual golf tournament, and when it was over it looked as though they had been drilling for oil. Jim Grady, chairman of the golf committee, declared this was not the original intention.

Larry Benton and Joe Oulahan went around the 18 holes in 82, tied for the low gross. They will play off for the club trophy. Al Sugarman had a 163 to his credit at the windup, and apologized for not being in practice. Besides Grady, the committee consisted of Johnny Allen, Billy Bein, Maurice White, F. Wesley Huss, Jr., Alan Moritz, Joe Oulahan, Herman Bernstein, Paul Krieger and H. Bugie.

Al Bergren, a new recruit in the RKO art department, is the latest barker on the roster.

Work is expected to start shortly on remodeling quarters of Tent No. 3 to annex the adjoining room, making a total of three rooms.

Kansas City

Kansas City, Sept. 24.—Harry Taylor, C. A. Schultz and Tommy Thompson, kings for Sept. 23, presented Merle Gill, ballistics expert of the Kansas City police department, who talked on famous firearms from the Civil War down to the present, and illustrated from his own collection of more than 400. Included in the display were guns used by "Pretty Boy" Floyd, Wilbur Underhill, early day peace officers and bandits.

The largest crowd of the season attended.

Among the guests were two presented by Bev Miller—E. H. Scurlock and Al Marshall.

Fred Wolfson, Edgar Stern, Dr. Gillis and Frank Hensler will be royalty Sept. 30, and Frank Lambater, Jack Renfro and Miller, Oct. 7.

Looking 'Em Over

"Passing of the Third Floor Back"

(Gaumont British)

London, Sept. 12.—This is box-office material, subject only to the qualification that the dialogue has a rather pronounced London tang. Founded on the stage play from which Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson made a fortune, it has the sob appeal and the semi-mystical atmosphere which, right back to the days of "The Miracle Man," has fetched the masses.

The theme is the appearance of a mysterious stranger at a London apartment house where all the meaner vices, typified by a queer assortment of boarders of both sexes, flourish rankly. His influence, pitted against that of the most evil of the boarders, is seen at work in the case of a couple who wish to sell their daughter to a rich husband, of a middleaged female snob, an embittered spinster, and of the maidservant, hard-driven by a greedy mistress. Eventually it triumphs.

Jerome's play went over big because it succeeded in presenting, without infringing British censor rules, a direct conflict between sacred and diabolic forces, and the film has the same appeal. Frank Cellier acts magnificently as the human-devil and Conrad Veidt is also impressive as the Christ-man; all told, it is a good cast. Plot values are good, apart from the strong theme appeal and there is good humorous relief.

Where the difficulty of accent is not a bar, this might be played to good business.

Running time, 90 minutes. "G."

"The Private Secretary"

(Twickenham-British)

London, Sept 13.—Selling values here are Edward Everett Horton and the fact that, in his first British picture, he is seen in a stage farce which, in its day, was almost in the "Charley's Aunt" class as a box-office draw.

The material "dates," its appeal resting on the predicaments of an innocent young clergyman who is persuaded to pose as the nephew of a rich Anglo-Indian while the young man takes the clergyman's post of private secretary to a rich man with a country house and a pretty daughter.

The real nephew wants to disguise from his relative that he is up to his eyes in debt, but, in fact, the gentleman from India likes a young man of spirit and is disgusted with the spineless clergyman.

The adventures of the latter, punctured by the phrase "I don't like London," are marked by rather obvious humor, giving Horton little chance for his usual subtlety, but there is a good travesty of a spiritualistic seance at the end.

It is a case of talking Horton and the famous Hawtrey farce and on these lines it can be sold to audiences which like broad comedy.

Running time, 75 minutes. "G." ALLAN

"Iceland Fishermen"

(DuWorld)

Done wholly in French, an adaptation of the novel by Pierre Loti, "Pecheur D'Islande," this picture is drama in its entirety, picturing, with little relief, the simple, hard life of the hardy fishermen of France who engage in their activity off the bleak coast of Iceland in the north.

Numerous superimposed translations of important bits of dialogue make for ready understanding of the story by one not familiar with the language employed. The exhibitor might well use the film in a tieup with schools from the French language standpoint. As entertainment, although of interest, it is a bit too stark, a bit too drab for general audience enjoyment, despite something of action aboard the fishing boat.

The story has a silent and reserved fisherman falling in love with a girl, just returned from Paris, but refusing her because he thinks himself not good enough for her. Eventually they are married, but he fails to return from his first cruise after their honeymoon.

The film was produced and directed by Pierre Guerlais. Yvette Guilbert, Thomy Bourdelle and Marguerite Weintenberger are featured.

No production code seal. Running time, 67 minutes. "G."

Lennon Signs as Writer

Hollywood, Sept. 24.—Tom Lennon, formerly of the RKO publicity department, has been signed to a term writing contract at that studio, and has moved over to the writers' building. Lennon's first assignment will be on "The Wild West."

Film Row to Dance

Hollywood, Sept. 24.—Film Row will give a dance at the Breakfast Club on Oct. 19. About 400 are expected by Guy Gunderson, head of the entertainment committee. Plans are being laid for about four such dances a year.

Short Subjects

"Circus Days"

(Educational)

Clever animation and a typical circus plot go to make this Terry-Toon an amusing addition to a program. In the cartoon manner, it begins with a parade and with clever invention continues with trained seals, a flying trapeze act in quantity, a trick wrestling match and winds up with a ballet of lions in Hawaiian style. Recommended. Production Code Seal No. 0601. Running time 8 minutes. "G."

"Rodeo Day"

(Educational)

Opening with a newsreel shot of rodeo activity, this short continues on in a slight story vein that is interwoven with cowboy songs of dubious merit. The winner of the bronco busting, a braggart, is thwarted by an impersonation of a "bad man" in marrying the songbird of the piece. The "bad man" forces his pal to marry the girl and on being unmasked winds up the offering with a wise crack. Production Code Seal No. 0519. Running time 11 minutes. "G."

"Morocco Mirage"

(Fox)

The city of Marrakech in Morocco with its semi-civilized inhabitants is the interesting theme of this Magic Carpet. Arresting scenes of Berber life and some fine architectural photography appeal to the eye. Shots of horsemanship and a horserace make a contrast. It concludes with interior scenes in a harem. Recommended. Production Code Seal No. 0449. Running time 10 minutes. "G."

"Penny Wise"

(Educational)

Joe Cook's eccentric lunacies that can be depended on to go over with audiences are here devoted to the operation of a department store. With the store left in his care he reacts to every suggestion and goes it one better. It winds up with a hilarious chase about the store with much "Cookiana" in evidence. Highly recommended. Production Code Seal No. 0569. Running time 17 minutes. "G."

"Night Life in Europe"

(Fox)

Night life activities on the continent are arranged in this short to build up to a climax in Paris. London, Copenhagen, Hamburg, Berlin, San Remo and Madrid are shown with their offerings in various places of entertainment. Mostly consisting of national dancing, the climax takes place in the real Folies Bergere in Paris with the dancing of the "can-can." Production Code Seal No. 0434. Running time 10 minutes. "G."

"Kiss the Bride"

(Educational)

Expelled from college and out on their own, Tom Patricola and Buster West set up housekeeping to fool West's father into supporting them. For a while the ruse works, then West's sister uncovers Patricola's impersonation but all ends well. The effort is played in the farce manner and should be pleasing where there is a Patricola and West following. Production Code Seal No. 0490. Running time 17 minutes. "G."

President to Ask Views on New NRA Rule

Will Begin Upon Return From Western Trip

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Opinions as to the desirabilty of new NRA legislation will be sought of business leaders by President Roosevelt upon his return from the western trip on which he starts tomorrow, it was indicated at the White House today.

Reluctant to abandon his plan for continuing the NRA, the President is still hopeful that industry will rally to the support of his suggestion, made just before the adjournment of Congress, that new legislation be written this winter to resuscitate the Government's control of wages and hours of labor.

The reaction to that suggestion, it

Amalgamated, New Producer, Formed

An independent producing company, Amalgamated Prod., Inc., is being formed, with a basic financing of $900,000 for the first six months, to be provided by a group of Wall St. bankers who are backing the enterprise, according to Alfred J. Krellberg, attorney for the sponsors.

The first year schedule calls for 36 features and four serials for distribution through state rights exchanges. Production is expected to start in Hollywood Oct. 15. Features are being budgeted at $50,000 to $60,000, with 12 westerns, six melodramas and six Northwest Mounted films included. Arrangements are being discussed for British distribution, probably through B. I. P. Krellberg said an official announcement will be made in a few days. Executives now connected with film companies will head production.

100 Houses, Aim of Butterfield Chain

The Butterfield circuit, Michigan's mightiest, has set an objective of 100 houses by the end of 1936. Now at a total of 88 in 33 cities and towns in that state, the plan is to rehabilitate some houses and construct new ones.

Colonel W. S. Butterfield yesterday detailed the program, preluding it with a statement that his circuit had been dormant for the last five years because of the depression, but now was ready to step out. New theatres will be built in East Grand Rapids, Midland and Mt. Pleasant.

Leaders of Industry Turn Out in Tribute to Quigley

By J. M. JERAULD

It was an industry turnout, that 20th anniversary Ampa tribute to Martin Quigley at Jack Dempsey's yesterday. Also it was an industry turnaway. After Dempsey's waiters had seated 268 men and women by bringing extra tables, approximately 63 were given places near the doorway to the supper room, and others who couldn't get within hearing distance sat where they could.

Al Lichtman, acting as master of ceremonies, said he would introduce presidents "as individuals, vice-presidents by battalions, and the others would just have to sit." He did, and they did.

Among the presidents he mentioned were: Philip L. Thomson of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, also acting in a "dual capacity as representatives of W. E. and Erpi," he said; Earle Hammons, Educational; H. M. Warner, Warners; Jules E. Brulatour, Ned E. Depinet, Dr. A. H. Giannini, Hal Roach, John Flinn, as second president of Ampa; Gene Buck, Ascap, and, representing presidents, R. H. Cochrane, Jack Cohn, David Bernstein.

Among the speakers were: Will H. Hays, Charles C. Pettijohn, J. Edgar Hoover, Terry Ramsaye, Howard Dietz, and Mr. Quigley. And seated on the dais, in addition to those named above, were: Herman Robbins, Robert H. Cochrane, Dr. A. H. Giannini, David Bernstein, J. Robert Rubin, Sam Dembow, Jr., Phil D. Cochrane, Gordon S. White, Ned E. Depinet, Earle W. Hammons, Jules E. Brulatour, Colvin W. Brown and Jack Connolly. At a second dais immediately below were J. J. McCarthy, S. Charles Einfeld, James R. Grainger, Charles E. McCarthy, William German, Louis Nizer, Arthur A. Lee, W. Ray Johnston, James FitzPatrick and Red Kann.

Responding to eulogies Quigley said that after the Louis-

Martin Quigley and Publications Praised in Sweeping Resolution

The industry, cross-sectioned in a record Ampa turnout of executives—big, little and in between—yesterday by a rising and unanimous vote, passed a resolution of tribute to Martin Quigley, his publications and his "own character and personality."

Prepared in pencil by Will H. Hays on a menu of Jack Dempsey's Restaurant and then read aloud by him, the resolution follows:

We delight in paying tribute to the guest of honor

Because* Martin Quigley and his publications have been, for two decades, a symbol of what is right and decent in all branches of the industry;

Because* during all that time he has devoted his life to aiding, as well as recording, the growth and development of the art and industry;

Because* he was among those first to realize the value of motion pictures and vision their influence;

ITOA Moves To Sue Over Film Delays

Say 1934-35 Features Are Being Held Up

Nettled somewhat over the number of pictures unreleased by distributors on the 1934-35 contracts, members of the I.T.O.A. yesterday empowered Milton C. Weisman, attorney for the organization, to prosecute individual cases against exchanges. The move to take legal action was adopted in the form of a resolution which was agreed to by 100 members attending the regular session of the unit at the Astor. Harry Brandt, president, acted as chairman.

The general complaint of exhibitors was that exchanges are releasing so-called sluff pictures and holding off the good films for distribution this season. One particular case cited is

Circuit-Union Meet May Be Held Today

A meeting scheduled between union and circuit representatives yesterday to continue grading of neighborhood houses and setting a scale for nine Broadway first runs was not held due to various committee members being tied up with other business.

It is possible a session will be called today. Circuit representatives commenting on the reported dissension with the ranks on Monday regarded the incident lightly, declaring "such incidents are bound to happen at meetings of this sort with the boys getting over it without serious consequences."

Randforce yesterday denied it had any intention of breaking away from the circuits to negotiate a scale independently. Representatives of the independent circuit have not attended any of the conferences, but are expected to be called in when a wage pact is ready for approval.

President to Ask Views on New NRA is admitted in Administration circles, has been far from reassuring, hence the President's decision to ask industry for its views.

Within the next day or two, it is indicated, the President will announce the part to be played by the NRA, Department of Labor and Department of Justice in the negotiation of voluntary trade agreements by the Federal Trade Commission. So far, the commission has been unable to consummate any of these agreements because of uncertainty as to the extent of its authority in those fields which are controlled by other Federal agencies.

So far, it was said today, no industries have actually abandoned the standards of their former codes, although, it was alleged, there has been much "chiseling" in the form of lower wages and longer hours.

the Gotham complaint against M-G-M. The theatre is alleged to have purchased "China Seas" on last year's contract, but the distributor is said to have made a deal this season for the Dorset. This case is before Supreme Court Justice Edward F. Dore.

At the Allied of New Jersey annual convention in Atlantic City last month a survey by member exhibitors showed that the eight major distributors would not release approximately 61 of the 1934-35 features.

The legal move by the I.T.O.A. will attempt to compel distributors to complete the contracts. All exhibitors having complaints of this nature have been asked to file them with the association for action.

Brooklyn Spots Ask First Run Changes

Rearrangement of a number of its second run theatres in Brooklyn to first run position is planned by Randforce, it is understood. Louis Frisch and Sam Rinzler are said to be contacting major circuits which hold seven days' protection over certain of their theatres in an effort to lift the clearance so a day-and-date policy can obtain in certain situations.

Following its product deal with Warners, Century this season reclassified a number of its Brooklyn and Long Island units to first run.

Epidemic Is False Alarm for Calgary

CALGARY, Sept. 25.—The infantile paralysis epidemic proved to be a false alarm with the result that the local health officials hastened to remove the ban which had been placed on attendance of juveniles at theatres. The restriction was lifted Sept. 21, three weeks after the order had been promulgated.

Calgary was the only community in the Dominion which scared itself into believing that the situation warranted drastic action.

Writers' Guild Hits The Academy's Code

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25.—Describing the revised Academy-writer-producer code as an obvious device to bolster up "an impotent organization created and controlled by the producers," the Writers' Guild today fired a verbal broadside at the proposed pact in a statement signed by President Ernest Pascal. In part, the statement described the pact as an effort to trick writers into accepting a few miserable crumbs instead of an honest loaf.

Leaders of Industry Turn Out in Tribute to Quigley

Baer fight the night before he had not been "properly sympathetic toward the recipient of many left jabs to the head," but declared that at the moment his mood had changed. He hoped, he said, that his audience would not feel that he was not duly appreciative and would forgive him if he seemed a "bit groggy."

Gordon White started the ceremonies by saying that if Ampa had any more guests as popular as Quigley the gathering would have to be held in Madison Square Garden. At that moment the waiters were still trying to figure out how to get around among the tightly packed tables without leaping over any of them.

"We are most happy," he said, "to pay a high tribute to a man who has contributed so much over so long a period to the industry. We, above all others, should appreciate what Martin Quigley has done."

Lichtman Draws Laughs

Lichtman drew a laugh by blinking in the direction of a spotlight and remarking:

"I cannot congratulate the association on its selection of a place to hold this gathering. To me it is a dark cellar. Maybe Dempsey wants to keep us in the dark, so we can't inspect the food. It reminds me of the fight last night. I couldn't see the ring, so I scrambled down to the press seats and convinced them that I should represent Racing Form, because I was its oldest subscriber. I sat in Baer's corner.

"Usually," he continued, "when we want to pay honor to someone within the industry, we bring along an outsider to testify as to his good character. I present Philip L. Thomson, president of the Audit Bureau of Circulations."

Thomson immediately cleared up the "outsider" reference by declaring that he was there in a "dual capacity as representative of the A.B.C. and of Western Electric and Erpi." He extended his own and the congratulations of 1,500 publishers to a man "who is not afraid to have everyone know the facts of his business."

"What did I tell you?" Lichtman questioned lightly when Thomson had finished. "Now I will introduce another speaker who also is a stooge. He was the first guest of honor of Ampa. He works for Quigley. We gave him a farewell dinner when we heard he was going to Chicago, so he would have to make good on his departure, but he came back in a short time. I present Terry Ramsaye."

Dietz Pays Respects

"Lichtman has been waiting for 20 years to take that crack at me," Ramsaye asserted.

"There has been considerable talk about work that has been done," he went on; "I did most of it. The history of the industry has been dotted with luncheons, dating back to the time when Edison finished his first 30 years in it." Ramsaye finished so suddenly Lichtman was caught by surprise.

"He fooled me," he said ruefully, as he arose to introduce the next speaker.

"The next speaker," he went on, "is of the customer type. Between writing plays and paying visits to the M-G-M offices he is quite busy. I don't need to go any further—Howard Dietz."

"I have very little to say," Dietz began, "but that shouldn't prevent any of the other speakers from proceeding at length.

"Al told you about the fight, but he didn't tell you about his dream afterwards. He dreamt that he was Louis and that Sam Goldwyn was Baer."

Turning to the long record of Quigley's connection with the industry, he said:

"He started back in the days when Louella Parsons was trying to win a spelling bee on the Morning Telegraph. It seems ages ago, but seriously, I am delighted to pay my respects to Mr. Quigley. A man who can go through this madhouse for 20 years, can still keep the friendship of every man in the industry, can still keep a smile, has done something. I consider it a real achievement."

Scroll Presented

Pettijohn complained, when presented, that Dietz had stolen what he had intended to say about the man "who could still smile." After congratulating Quigley on his record he said he would like to "introduce the man who had made it possible for Warners to have a hit." The man proved to be J. Edgar Hoover, head of the U. S. Secret Service.

Hoover said he was one of Quigley's admirers, even though he had met him only a few moments before "because I had faith in what Pettijohn had told me about him."

Hoover became serious in congratulating the industry upon creating a "greater public respect for law enforcement officers through its cycle of G-Men pictures."

Lichtman at this point presented a scroll to Quigley signed by all the men present who had been in the industry 20 years or more. He added he had signed it "with real love and admiration" and knew that the others had done so as well. He then introduced Will H. Hays.

"Very seriously, but very inadequately," he began, "I want to pay my tribute to a man who has done a great service to this industry.

"We cannot cover a period of 20 years in 20 minutes. Twenty years in the life of this business is an epoch. There has been no single individual in this industry whose personal contribution to it has been so valuable. His work represents 20 years of heart beats, 20 years of right mental processes. I know of none who has given so much unselfish service.

Hays Reads Resolution

"The industry is engaged in a challenge to make its exploitation reach a plane befitting its product. It has reached a plane not hitherto believed possible, and Quigley has been an important aid in bringing this about."

With some display of emotion, Hays read a resolution expressing the sentiments of the gathering. He asked that it be adopted by rising vote.

Quigley was the last speaker.

"I will not attempt to give you a real expression of my appreciation," he said. "For 20 years I have been giving expression to what I have believed were the responsibilities of the business and what I have felt were its opportunities, and I know you are familiar with my views.

"An industry gets the kind of trade press it deserves. When I entered this industry I believed that the mass character of its entertainment imposed upon it certain responsibilities. I did not believe it was just another form of entertainment, or a carnival show brought under a permanent roof. I believed then, and I know now, that the motion picture is one of the greatest influences of modern life.

"Everything that I have been able to do for the advancement of these ideas and these ideals has been possible because the industry was willing to have it that way.

"There is a constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press, as you know, but with the trade press this guarantee is theoretical, rather than practical. Its freedom is due to the willingness of the leading factors in the industry to have it that way. At no time during the 20 years that I have been a publisher has any factor in the industry undertaken to bring pressure to turn me along lines intended to serve a selfish purpose.

"I hope for continuing opportunities to give expression to the kind of service I wish to perform."

M. H. AYLESWORTH, president of RKO— "I am greatly disappointed that urgent business keeps me from attending the luncheon tribute to my friend Martin Quigley. His constructive influence and untiring efforts in behalf and in support of the motion picture industry not only . . . in the United States but throughout the world leaves no doubt . . . as to his fine position as a great leader in our industry. . . . Martin Quigley is fearless, constructive and at all times a leader and never a 'yes' man. . . ."

Dismiss Lucky Case In Brooklyn Court

Another court complaint against Lucky has been dismissed in Magistrate's Court, Brooklyn. This time it is the Rivoli, Brooklyn, operated by Dave Weinstock.

The case was heard about two weeks ago when decision was reserved in order to give the district attorney and the legal bureau of the Police Department time to submit briefs. Bernard Barr, representing the Rivoli, also submitted papers. After a study of the briefs, the case was marked off the calendar in favor of the defendant.

Continue Rochester Game

Rochester, Sept. 25.—Pending filing of briefs, the Liberty, North Side Schine house, is free to operate its disputed Screeno game every Friday night under an injunction restraining police from interfering.

The stunt was dubbed a violation of the lottery laws by Deputy Corporation Counsel Charles B. Forsyth. Supreme Court Justice William F. Love issued a restraining order against police pending decision on the game's legality and Justice Floyd W. Annabel subsequently reserved decision pending filing of briefs.

Allied Union Loses On Injunction Plea

Allied M. P. Operators' Union yesterday was denied a preliminary injunction against Estate Operators, controlling the Garfield, Avon and 16th St., Brooklyn, by Supreme Court Justice Frank C. Adel. The union tried to stop employment of other operators until its action against the circuit comes to trial.

In denying the stay, Justice Adel said:

"This action does not appear necessarily to involve a labor dispute as contemplated by section 876 A of the Civil Practice Act, but it is an action for breach of contract between an unincorporated association and a corporation for which there might very properly be an adequate remedy at law in the way of money damages. Another compelling reason for the denial of the release asked for is that the contract sued under was not executed by the defendant, but by a third party under an alleged power of attorney."

Warners Plan 1,800 Seater in Paterson

Warners will build a new 1,800-seat theatre in Paterson, N. J. Negotiations for construction work have been closed and building will be started within the next week or so. The circuit now operates the Fabian, Garden, Regent and Rivoli in Paterson, but on June 1 next will drop the Garden from the list. Harry Brandt, president of the I.T.O.A., has made a deal with the owner of the Garden and will assume operation on June 1.

The new theatre will probably be ready by the time Warners cross off the Garden from its circuit list. The American and Cameo in Newark were recently turned back to Al Gottesman by Warners.

"Ship Cafe" New Title

Hollywood, Sept. 25—"Ship Cafe" has been definitely set by Paramount as the title for the Carl Brisson picture known as "The Bouncer."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Little America"

(Paramount)

Hollywood, Sept. 25.—Adventurous souls, exponents of courage and youth reaching for the unattainable will find a good deal of thrill and education in Byrd's second Antarctic expedition with sound.

As a pictorial record of one of the world's great feats of exploration, its newsreel quality and "March of Time" flavor, serve to maintain interest that assumes bigness by virtue of its modesty.

Well publicized via newspapers and pictures before, during and after the expedition, audiences should be ready for this film which so admirably depicts valor and guts in so simple a manner.

The film is complete from the start of the trip to the return from the Pole. It shows intimate human interest incidents revealing daring, danger and humor, bringing in men, airplanes, huskies, penguins, whales and seals. A marching song in torchlight against the snow of men going to the rescue of Byrd is a highlight of the film.

Admiral Byrd is a good screen personality, at moments resembling John Barrymore. His lonely vigil of seven months at the Pole brings patrons close to his immortal deed.

The narration written by Charles J. V. Murphy, radio man on the trip, is tense, factual and novel. The photography conveying peril with beauty is by John L. Herrmann and Carl O. Peterson. Gayne Whitman is the narrator. The production supervised by Dario Faralla and edited by Ewing Scott, who himself once filmed a North Pole production, "Igloo," is a noteworthy achievement. Properly publicized, the picture should be self-selling with foreign appeal particularly good.

Production Code Seal No. 1,270. Running time, 57 minutes. "G."

Theatres Nosedive On Fight Broadcast

Theatre business Tuesday night took a complete nosedive throughout the country, major and independent theatre heads stated yesterday after a checkup on box-office receipts.

Reason for the sudden drop in grosses is directly attributed to the Louis-Baer fight, which, it was said, kept theatre-goers home listening to the radio account of the fracas. One major circuit reported that last Tuesday night's receipts were the lowest in the last 52 Tuesdays.

However, business picked up yesterday, particularly at local theatres where the fight pictures were being screened.

Decision Reserved On Stay for Gotham

Supreme Court Justice Edward F. Dore yesterday reserved decision on a motion made by Weisman, Quinn, Allen & Spett, representing the Gotham, for an injunction against M-G-M to restrain the distributor from releasing "China Seas" to the Dorset ahead of the Gotham.

Attorneys for both sides argued the case and submitted papers. A decision is expected today or tomorrow. The picture's date has been set at Sept. 28.

Offer "Time" Pamphlets

RKO Distributing Co. has prepared two pamphlets for distribution through theatres to teachers and students in connection with the "March of Time." One, the Teachers' Manual, contains suggestions for classroom discussion on the contents of each issue of the newsreel, and the other, Photo Reporter, for the students, contains background information on each issue of the reel.

"Dream" Opening Is Sold for a Benefit

The entire seating capacity of the Hollywood for the world premiere, Oct. 9, of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" has been purchased by the English Speaking Union of New York which will re-sell the tickets at $11 top for benefit purposes. Harry M. Warner commenting on the sale, said: "The fact that the English Speaking Union will sponsor the world premiere in New York of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is one of the greatest tributes that possibly could be paid to Max Reinhardt and his production of Shakespeare's comedy."

Shea Books Warner 100%

Warners have closed a deal with the M. A. Shea Circuit for 100% booking of the new lineup. Robert Mochrie closed the deal with A. J. Kearny of the Shea circuit.

Chicago Is Proud of Its Singles—Coston

Chicago exhibitors are proud of the fact that the town is still on a single feature basis, James Coston, Warner operating head in the Windy City, stated yesterday while here to attend the Louis-Baer fight. He added the public does not want duals and theatre owners have educated patrons along single feature lines.

Theatre business in Chicago is the best since 1929 and theatres play to more people than since the stock market crash. Admissions are not as high now as they were then, he said.

"U" Signs Tilden

Hollywood, Sept. 25.—Universal has signed William ("Big Bill") Tilden, tennis ace, for a featured role in "The Amateur Racquet." Other tennis stars may be added to the cast later.

Short Subjects

"Baer-Louis Fight"

(Super Sports Attractions)

Well photographed and edited in an expert manner this picture in its recording of the fight leaves nothing to be desired. Slow motion shots and highlights from ringside angles give it plenty of realism. There is no accompanying dialogue to divert audiences and actual sound recording maintains the excitement. No production code seal. Running time, 20 mins.

Allied Leaders Fail To Confer on Photos

A meeting of Allied leaders scheduled for yesterday to discuss the American Edugraphic plan for distribution of historic photos failed to materialize, due to departure of most of the men before the session was called. Al Steffes left by plane for Minneapolis after the fight on Tuesday night, while Aaron Saperstein left yesterday for Chicago by the same route. H. M. Richey departed for Detroit by plane in the afternoon and Fred Herrington got away early for Pittsburgh by train. A. K. Howard of Boston cleared out in the afternoon, leaving Abram F. Myers, general counsel, to confer with Sidney Samuelson the greater part of the afternoon. Samuelson would not discuss his session with Myers, who left last night for Washington.

Richey plans to return in about a month. Samuelson, Myers, Saperstein and Richey attended the 20th Anniversary luncheon for Martin Quigley yesterday at Dempsey's.

Joan Lowell to Scan Van Beuren Accounts

Justice Charles B. McLaughlin in the Manhattan Supreme Court granted an order yesterday to Joan Lowell for a partial examination before trial of the officers of Van Beuren Corp. in connection with her suit for an accounting of the profits of "Adventure Girl."

Justice McLaughlin ruled as follows: "The examination is limited to finding out whether the Van Beuren Corp. kept a record of income and outgo, as to this contract; whether that record shows a profit, the quantum of profit is not to be ascertained on this examination, that is for the accounting. Ascertain the facts of a profit and then stop."

The defendants have filed a counter suit against Miss Lowell for $300,000.

Mickey Mouse on Air

Mickey Mouse's seventh birthday will be marked over the radio by the broadcasting of two programs in his honor.

Bide Dudley will devote his entire period on Saturday to the rodent comedian over WOR. On the Cheerio program of the NBC network on that day, a dramatic resume of Mickey's career and a discussion of his outstanding films will be aired.

Para. Shows Set Oct. 4

The Paramount is definitely set to adopt a stage show policy Oct. 4, it was decided yesterday. The picture and acts to participate in the stage entertainment will be set today.

RED KANN HAS A WORD FOR IT:

You have heard of pictures which gave you goose pimples — pictures which made you gasp — pictures which thrilled you to the very marrow of your bones. But never before in your life have you ever heard any picture described as Red Kann describes Universal's outrageously sensational two-reeler called "CAMERA THRILLS".

HE SAYS IT IS A "SKIN-RAISER"

A "skin-raiser" is a thing you can cash in on. Any time you can show your hard-boiled patrons something to raise their skins, you've got something! If Universal has made a picture which can raise Red Kann's skin one-millionth of an inch, Universal has done the impossible.

ITOA Decides On Suit Over Short Forcing

Weisman Is Authorized To Start Actions

Suit against local exchanges for alleged forcing of shorts will be filed by Milton C. Weisman of Weisman Quinn, Allen & Spett, attorneys for the I.T.O.A., within the next two weeks, it is learned.

Several members of the organization have registered complaints with the unit's executive committee during the past few months. At the last meeting of the association at the Astor, it was brought out that Weisman is now preparing the papers and that definite legal action will be brought in a fortnight.

Complaints were also made at this session in connection with RKO, which is said to have sold "Top Hat" on last season's program and is reported to be selling it again on the 1935-36 releases. A case against M-G-M involving "China Seas" is before the New York Supreme Court for decision, which is expected today or tomorrow. The Gotham, which bought the picture last year, is not getting the picture, which has already

Circuits and Union Resume Talks Today

Circuit and union representatives negotiating the local wage scale did not meet yesterday, as expected, the session being put over until 11:30 o'clock this morning. Today's conclave will be the first since last Monday and another will not be held until sometime next week, due to the Jewish New Year, which starts tonight.

Efforts to merge Local 306 with Allied M. P. Operators and Empire State are proceeding at a slow pace. Century and Springer & Cocalis, the two independent circuits which have 10-year contracts with Empire, are mulling over the merger plans, but are reluctant to approve the amalgamation

No Decision Yet by K. R. S. On Booking

London, Sept. 26.—No statement on what its decision is likely to be will be made by the K. R. S. on the Gaumont-Hyams deal as well as further activities of the Odeon circuit until the adjourned meeting is held in two weeks. The question to be determined is whether or not these situations violate the distributors' stand on booking combines.

Two Para. Partnerships Signed For Nine Months; Expect Others

Paramount partnership arrangements with the Wilby & Kincey and Lucas & Jenkins circuits yesterday were extended from Sept. 28 to July 1, 1936, a period of nine months instead of 90 days, which was the original plan.

Several other joint operating deals will be set today, probably for the same nine-month extension.

Wilby & Kincey operate a number of theatres in Tennessee, South Carolina and Alabama, while the Lucas & Jenkins circuit confines its operations to Georgia.

Expected to be set today are temporary contracts with Louis Dent of Salt Lake City, George W. Trendle of Detroit and Robert J. O'Donnell of Dallas.

Vaudeville Circuit Is Federation's Aim

Use of a circuit of vaudeville shows to operate in competition with film theatres, as a means of virtually forcing the use of vaudeville in film houses, is the plan of the American Federation of Actors, according to Ralph Whitehead, executive secretary. The A. F. A. Wednesday night at the St. James Theatre adopted a resolution requesting a conference with President Roosevelt to set before him a plan to restore vaudeville to the theatre. The resolution will go forward to the President in a few days.

Government aid is necessary at the moment for the establishment of the vaudeville circuit the A. F. A. has in

Delay on 2,000-ft. Reels Agreed Upon

Delay in the adoption of 2,000-foot reels was decided upon at a meeting of distributors' representatives and others yesterday at the Hays office.

The committee voted to ask the Academy Research Council to postpone the industry-wide date originally set for Jan. 1 to April 1, 1936.

J. S. MacLeod of M-G-M represented distributors, and others present were Homer Tasker, president of the S.M.P.E.; Gordon S. Mitchell, member of the Academy Research Council, and Arthur S. Dickinson of the M.P.P.D.A.

Mexican Inquiry to Delay American Move to Quit

Mexico City, Sept. 26.—An agreement has been reached between the Finance Ministry and American distributors to postpone their threatened withdrawal from this market from Sept. 30 to Oct. 15, pending an investigation of the entire tax situation by a mixed committee of nine, three representing the Ministry and one each from the six groups in the industry. These groups are small exhibitors, American distributors, independents, and Mexican and foreign producers. A probe will be made of all phases of the Americans' complaints against high import duties, and Finance Minister Eduardo Suarez is optimistic over the possible outcome.

Seven Groups Are Reported Seeking Roxy

Five Already Have Plans Before Bondholders

Seven different groups are reported after the Roxy, five of which already have submitted reorganization plans to the bondholders' committee. The other two have served notice on the committee that they intend to file plans as soon as the Federal Court is ready to consider proposals for taking the theatre out of bankruptcy.

Included in the five which are said to have submitted rehabilitation proposals are Herbert Lubin and S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel, A. C. Blumenthal, Sydney Cohen and Howard S. Cullman, Haring & Blumenthal and Si Fabian. The two groups planning to file plans are Fanchon & Marco and the Brandt Brothers.

F. & M. have been operating the Roxy for the past two and a half years under a management agreement with Cullman, trustee for the theatre. This group took over the house when it was grossing around $5,800 a week. Now, the house averages $40,000 a week.

Writers' Guild to Map Course on Pact

Hollywood, Sept. 26.—The executive board of the Screen Writers' Guild will go into session momentarily to map a course of action precipitated by the proposed Academy-writer-producer code.

"What writers want and intend getting is a Guild shop, not a bunch of empty promises, pacts contributed by producers and destined to be abrogated at their slightest inconvenience. No writer who has any respect for himself or hope for his own future in the industry will condone this effort on the part of a mere handful of producer-minded writers to stifle the efforts of 800 Guild members," says Ernest Pascal.

Although the Academy failed to comment on the Pascal statement in the absence of any definite criticism of various terms of the proposed pact, its heads pointed out many of the Guild's membership are unemployed while their writer members are all working.

Warners Sued Over Scenes in "Dance"

A suit for $1,000,000 damages was filed in Manhattan Supreme Court yesterday by Edward Hutchison against Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., and Vitagraph, Inc. Hutchison charges that he was libeled by the defendants in a picture entitled "Go Into Your Dance."

In the complaint, in which Hutchison seeks $500,000 from each defendant, he states that he is a producer, and that in July, 1933, he originated the Casino De Paree. Hutchison next sets forth that scenes in "Go Into Your Dance" "by the similarity and identity of names and appearances of characters and location the public is led to believe that the production portrays the individuals who produced Casino de Paree." Hutchison further alleges that "Go Into Your Dance" refers to him as a "big shot in rackets and a man who, maliciously, wantonly and feloniously employs gunmen who shoot down in cold blood and murder those who violate business agreements with him." The plaintiff also cites various scenes in which the character is portrayed and in which he alleges Hutchison is defamed.

Seven Groups Are Reported Seeking Roxy

moters of the Roxy and Rothafel was the first operator and resigned shortly before the corporation went into receivership. He joined RKO when the Music Hall was planned for Radio City.

Blumenthal has been instrumental in the reorganization of Fox Metropolitan. He is said to have been interested in bringing Joseph M. Schenck into the circuit. Schenck is president of Metropolitan Playhouses, which has replaced Fox Met.

Cohen is an adviser on the bondholders' committee of the Roxy while Cullman has been both receiver and trustee for the theatre during the last two years.

Haring & Blumenthal, real estate concern, at one time operated a large circuit in Greater New York. This company recently leased a number of its New Jersey theatres to Warners and now operates the French Casino on Broadway. The Utica, Brooklyn, and the Crescent, Bronx, are two of its local theatres leased to independents.

Fabian "Further Away"

Fabian operates the Strand, Paramount and Fox in Brooklyn in addition to a number of theatres upstate. His father was the original founder of the Fabian circuit, whose stronghold was in New Jersey. When queried about his interest in the Roxy, Fabian said he had been negotiating on and off for the past two years and he believed he was now "further away than when he started with the bondholders."

Brandt Brothers have a circuit of about 45 theatres in Greater New York. Harry Brandt is president of the I.T.O.A. and at one time had a bid in to reorganize Fox Met.

Consummation of a deal with any one of the seven groups is seen as distant, it is stated. Bondholders are said to be insisting on 100 cents on the dollar and none of the reported plans submitted provides for such an arrangement, it is said.

On Dec. 15, the second semi-annual auditors' report on the Roxy is due to be filed with Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey. It is possible that at that time a suggestion to consider one of the reorganization proposals may be broached.

Paramount Names Studio Executives

the new reorganization setup Mel Shauer will assume special duties formerly assigned to Irvin Talbot in the music department, probably only temporarily. Rasdall will have supervision of all studio employment except talent, reporting directly to Keith Glennan, in charge of studio maintenance. John E. Otterson will return to New York in two weeks, accompanied by Herbert Wilcox, who has been conducting a studio survey.

Trans-Lux Board Meets

Trans-Lux board of directors yesterday held a routine monthly meeting, it was stated after the session.

Schwartz Sues NSS And Display on Pact

Suit for $500,000 was filed yesterday in Manhattan Supreme Court by Saul Rogers in behalf of Master Arts Products, Inc., and Isadore Schwartz against National Screen Service and the American Display Corp. A preliminary injunction is sought to prevent competition of these two firms with Master Arts.

Summonses in the suit were served yesterday on Herman Robbins and Sam Dembow, Jr., of N. S. S. and on Charles L. Casanave, head of American Display.

Schwartz alleges that several years ago he sold Advance Trailer Corp., then engaged in the trailer and general advertising and accessories business, to National Screen, and that National Screen took over the trailer end of the business and organized Master Arts to continue the advertising branch of the enterprise. He was engaged as general manager under a five-year contract at $600 per week, he alleges, and agreed to stay out of the advertising and accessories business himself.

Two years later, he says, he bought Master Arts for $30,000 and gave up his contract, at the same time signing a contract to prevent National Screen from engaging in the advertising and accessories business. Since then, he asserts, National Screen has financed American Display.

Herman Robbins declined to comment on the suit yesterday, pending study of the papers and conferences with his lawyers. Casanave likewise declined to comment until he familiarizes himself with the action.

Vaudeville Circuit Is Federation's Aim

mind, Whitehead declared. If that aid is not forthcoming, effort will be made to proceed with the plan without assistance, relying on help now being solicited from the outside.

"We have no intention of burning down any motion picture theatres," said Whitehead, "but desire to accomplish our aim in a constructive fashion." Competition is the method planned. Whitehead said there is hope that independent film theatre operators, many of whom have communicated with him, may assist the establishment of the circuit on a pooling arrangement. They have expressed a willingness to play vaudeville if they can get it at a reasonable price, he said.

Fox and Warners were also criticized for alleged non-deliveries. Members of the I.T.O.A. adopted a resolution empowering Weisman to file suits against the exchanges to force them to deliver pictures promised on last year's schedule. It is said by the exhibitors that exchanges are releasing the higher allocations in contracts and withholding the lower bracket films, in addition to taking certain pictures off the contracts and re-selling them in new pacts.

Conn. Group Wants Film

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 26.—Shortage of prints in the territory and inclusion of "Top Hat" in last year's contracts were the main topics of discussion at the first fall meeting of the Connecticut M. P. T. O.

Exhibitors complained that they had been forced at the eleventh hour to "bicycle" pictures because of the continued print shortage. Previous demands to increase prints have gone unheeded.

Claiming that only two of the three Astaires contracted for had been delivered in the past season, the exhibitor members resolved to take a firm stand that "Top Hat" be included or be delivered under last year's contracts.

In the absence of Dr. J. B. Fishman, Adolph G. Johnson, vice-president, presided.

Ohio ITO Seeks "Hat"

COLUMBUS, Sept. 26.—Members of the Ohio I.T.O., who bought the full block of RKO 1934-35 product, and who, through the medium of the sales book, were led to believe that three Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers features, "Roberta," "The Gay Divorcee" and "The World by the Tail," would be delivered, are being urged to notify their RKO exchange by registered letter that they expect to play "Top Hat."

Circuits and Unions Resume Talks Today

unless certain concessions are made, it is understood.

Springer & Cocalis some time ago were successful in obtaining a court order against Empire merging with another union. Century's contract, signed two years ago, has a clause which prohibits the union from linking with any other. While the two circuits have not turned deaf ears to a merger at this time, it is said no approval will be given unless satisfactory terms can be arranged with similar provisions in present pacts.

Theatre Groups Ask $45,000 from Steuer

An application on behalf of Knickerbocker Theatres, Inc., and the Clinton-Apollo Theatre Corp. for an order requiring attorney Max D. Steuer to turn over to them $45,000 was made in the Manhattan Supreme Court yesterday. The petition further explained that there are two checks for $25,000 and $20,000, respectively, in the possession of Steuer, and the attorneys for the theatre interests asked Justice Edward S. Dore to determine the amount of compensation to which Steuer is entitled for his services heretofore.

The application explains that on July 3, 1935, Steuer appeared before a board of arbitration which decided that the Clinton-Apollo Theatre Corp. was entitled to a $25,000 judgment and Knickerbocker Theatres, Inc., was entitled to a $20,000 judgment against the Greater New York Vaudeville Theatre Corp., RKO subsidiary. The awards were made as the result of a violation of agreements on leases. The petitioners further assert that Steuer has failed to turn over to them the two checks, claiming that he is entitled to a fee far in excess of the money held by him. Steuer has already been paid a $5,000 retainer, according to the petition.

In opposing the application Steuer averred that the agreed upon price of his services was $150,000 and that he is entitled to the entire $45,000 plus a balance of $105,000. Steuer says he appeared personally in 18 hearings in connection with matters turned over to him by the syndicate which operates nine theatres on the lower East Side. He requested that the court make the following persons parties to the proceedings: Benjamin Sherman, Charles Steiner, Louis Schneider, Bernard Fliashnick and Louis B. Appleton. Justice Dore reserved decision on the applications.

Universal has closed with the Warner circuit in Philadelphia for the complete lineup for 1935-36. It includes all theatres in the Philadelphia district, and completes the arrangements calling for Universal product in all Warner houses over the country. Ted Schlanger and Lester Kreiger represented Warners and Sig Wittman and Joe Engel represented Universal.

Seven Houses Again Are Playing Lucky

Seven theatres in the Consolidated Amusements circuit have reinstated Lucky games and two others will adopt the policy today after a lay-off of several weeks due to activities of the police in connection with the games.

The Jerome, Avalon and Fleetwood in the Bronx resumed Lucky this week. Wednesday the Oxford, Tuxedo, Mosholu and U. S. began to interest patrons in the number contest. Today the Ogden and Mt. Eden will resume the practice.

All the houses will play the games twice a week. In some houses Tuesday and Thursday will be the days and in others Wednesdays and Fridays.

Bank Night wll be tested legally in the Bronx soon when a case comes up in magistrate's court against Harman Yaffa's Majestic. Attorneys for Bank Night are defending the theatre.

Bank Night in Iowa Court

Des Moines, Sept. 26.—Bank night is expected to be argued orally before the Iowa Supreme Court the week of Oct. 15, following the filing of the case of G. P. Studios Move Anew to Stop Set Visitors

Sales Forces Asked to Help Reduce Letters

Due to delays in production caused by non-professionals on sets at various studios, distributors are again reminding their sales forces to urge exhibitors, friends and relatives to think twice before sending visitors to the studios.

Studios this summer reported the greatest number of visitors since sound was adopted, many of them traveling to the coast to visit the World's Fair in San Diego where a Hollywood exhibition is one of the sights. The producers estimate the time lost by professionals because of visitors is a costly favor which has reached a point where something must be done about it.

In the latest issue of The Distributor, an M-G-M house organ, seven reasons are given for the latest warning. They are:

1. The studios are work shops where the highest-paid artists and technicians in the world are engaged in

M-G-M-Twickenham Deal Is Called Off

Negotiations between M-G-M and Twickenham Studios whereby the former would release all of the latter's product in England have been called off, according to Arthur Loew, head of M-G-M's foreign activities. Loew said: "We couldn't agree on terms."

London, Sept. 27.—M-G-M has been negotiating with Twickenham Studios to release the latter's product in England. Under the deal Julius Hagen would close down Twickenham Distributors, Ltd.

Hagen is understood to have demanded that M-G-M guarantee him release of at least six pictures in the United States.

Kuykendall, KMTA Board Will Confer

Kansas City, Sept. 27.—Members of the board of directors of the K. M. T. A. will meet Oct. 11 with Ed Kuykendall to discuss general problems facing exhibitors.

The meeting will be open to all members of the association, although no formal notification will be sent them. Because Variety Club is having its Carnival Oct. 11 and 12, some out-of-town members are expected to be here.

Mexico Film Row Tangled By a Strike

Two-week Film Supply Reported on Hand

By JAMES LOCKHART

Mexico City, Sept. 27.—Troubles of American distributors are piling up. A little more than a day after they had reached an agreement with the Government to postpone withdrawal from this market until Oct. 15 to permit study of the tax situation by a mixed committee all the white collar workers have gone on strike.

The strike became effective at noon today after a long period of negotiations conducted with the assistance of the Federal Labor Dept. The workers demand pay increases of from 10 to 25 per cent from Columbia, M-G-M, Paramount, RKO, Twentieth Century-Fox, Universal and Warners.

Red and black union banners are being paraded and pickets are out.

Theatres, it is said, have about a two-week supply of American film with hardly enough native product to keep them going long.

NBC-Warners Set "Dream" Broadcast

NBC and Warners are to cooperate on a broadcast for "A Midsummer Night's Dream" next Saturday over a national hookup. The program will begin at midnight and run for an hour.

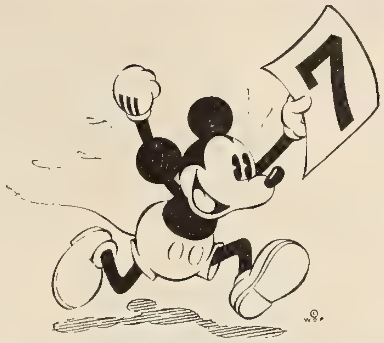
Off-stage incidents in the filming of the picture will be described. Max Reinhardt will speak from the New York studios of WEAF, and Jack L. Warner and most of the cast will talk from the coast.

The broadcast takes place five days before the opening of the picture on Oct. 9 in New York, London, Vienna, Amsterdam, Paris, Manila and Sydney.

Virginia Law Bars Baer-Louis Battle

Richmond, Sept. 27.—Baer-Louis fight pictures will be barred in this state under a state law prohibiting showings of bouts between white and colored men. Even private showings will be prohibited, according to R. C. L. Moncure, member of the censor board.

Considerable local feeling has already been stirred up by the celebration which negroes staged the night of the fight.



Walt Disney's best friend today celebrates his seventh anniversary. Theatres up and down the land, the occasion being what it is, will run lots of Mickeys and plenty of Sillies in the next seven days all for the purpose of keeping Mickey in cheese and Walt in ink.

Witnesses Called Again to St. Louis

A number of witnesses subpoenaed by the Government in its injunction proceedings against Paramount, Warners and RKO in St. Louis, several weeks ago, were summoned yesterday to appear in the Federal Court of the Missouri city to testify in connection with the criminal action scheduled for trial on Monday.

Harry C. Arthur, who operates the Ambassador, Missouri and Grand Central in St. Louis, left by plane yesterday for Missouri. His brother, Milton B., also took a plane from Los Angeles.

Guild to Put Pact Before Labor Board

Hollywood, Sept. 27.—The Screen Writers' Guild will appeal to the National Labor Relations Board against the Academy revised pact following action taken at a meeting of the guild's executive board last night.

The guild will mail a critical analysis of the pact's terms to members. Guild members charge the pact violates several sections of the Wagner Law.

General feeling at the Academy is that the Wagner Law has no bearing on the writer-producer agreement.

Hearing on Fox Met Stock Sale Delayed

Judge Martin T. Manton in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday postponed until Oct. 8 a preliminary hearing on arguments whether 50 per cent of the stock of Metropolitan Playhouses should be purchased by Fox Theatres for $275,000 or whether the stock should be sold to Joseph M. Schenck, president of Metropolitan Playhouses.

The postponement was necessary be-

Little Chance Seen Now for Industry Pact

The Collective Bargaining Order Held a Bar

By CLARENCE LINZ

Washington, Sept. 27.—Requirements that all voluntary trade agreements negotiated by the Federal Trade Commission must contain provisions similar to Section 7(A) of the Recovery Act, guaranteeing to employes the right to collective bargaining, are seen in Washington as further reducing the chances of adoption of such an agreement by the film industry.

This condition to the adoption of agreements was imposed last night in an executive order issued by President Roosevelt as he prepared to entrain for the West, in which it was also provided that trade pacts shall be surveyed by the NRA and given the approval of a new official to be known as Coordinator for Industrial Cooperation, to which position he appointed Major George L. Berry, former NRA

Para. Theatre Deals Held Until Today

No new Paramount management deals were either extended or signed yesterday, as expected. The Louis Dent pact in Salt Lake City will most likely be set today by Frank Freeman. S. A. Lynch will probably get together with A. H. Blank of Des Moines today as well.

John E. Otterson, president of Paramount, is personally handling the Hoblitzelle deal on the coast. E. V. Richards of the Saenger circuit also is on the coast to confer with Otterson.

Decision will be made today whether or not to drop the Hamm & Charles circuit in Minneapolis. Indications last night were that this group would be dropped.

Report Roach Will Make Only Features

Hollywood, Sept. 27. — Unconfirmed rumors here have it that Hal Roach will discontinue production of short subjects to concentrate on features. The producer is due from New York tomorrow.

Felix Feist, general sales manager of M-G-M, could not be reached yesterday for comment on the Hal Roach reports. Roach left for the coast Wednesday after seeing his daughter off for Europe.

Besides, I don't play Bank Night—I haven't got a bank. Besides, I don't give away cash. Reason ditto. Besides all this, Ali's 100% right as usual, nebbich.

Coast Pool Ties Up Big Pictures' Runs

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—The new pooling arrangement which RKO and Universal have made for the Pantages and Hillstreet is tying up their product because of the extended runs. "Top Hat," which inaugurated the arrangement, has played for four weeks.

Universal's "Fighting Youth," scheduled to follow, will probably play only one week, but it is believed that "Alice Adams," set to follow it, will have a longer engagement. This means that "Diamond Jim Brady" will not get started until mid-October, and will consequently be held up on subsequent runs until November.

"Fighting Youth" is being rushed in ahead of "Diamond Jim" so that it may play its subsequent run dates before the football season is over.

Company executives are now considering using the Orpheum as a slough house so that these pictures may be generally released at earlier dates.

Second Stockholder Starts Warner Suit

A second stockholders' action alleging mismanagement and squandering of funds was filed yesterday in the Manhattan Supreme Court by Joseph Weintraub against Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. Also named as defendants were the three Warner brothers, Harry, Albert and Jack; Harold Bareford, Waddill Catchings, Stanleigh Friedman, Sam E. Morris, Henry Rudkin, Abel Carey Thomas, Morris Wolf and Renraw, Inc.

The Weintraub petition asked for an accounting, the removal of the directors and for an appointment of receivers. In his petition he charges that the defendants as directors had under their control the total assets of Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., including the subsidiaries, of more than $225,000,000 in 1930 and more than $180,000,000 in 1932.

Charges Mismanagement

"The defendants committed willful acts of mismanagement and waste as a result of which the corporate defendant suffered great loss of money," according to Weintraub's complaint. He further charges that "Renraw Inc. was organized as a conduit through which the funds of the corporate defendant might be drawn into the pockets of the individual defendants. As a means of accomplishing this purpose another agreement was entered into with Renraw, on Sept. 1, 1928, by which the services of the Warners were engaged by the corporate defendant at an excessive salary and pursuant thereto a large block of stock of approximately a market value of $15,000,000 was delivered to the defendant Warners. All this was done without any real consideration whatever."

Weintraub also charged that the defendants made over $10,000,000 in pooling operations. He further attacked a number of transactions similar to those previously enumerated in a like action brought by Adolph Greenberg, another stockholder. Weintraub's petition also states that "by these improper acts the individual defendants converted an $18,000,000 profit in 1929 to a loss of almost $2,000,000 in 1932."

Makes Three Motions

Counsel for Weintraub made three motions before Justice Edward F. Dore to strike out the various defenses set up by the defendants. In their answer the defendants denied all of the allegations of Weintraub's complaint and further explained that all agreements entered into were proper and legal and made with the unanimous ratification of the majority of the stockholders.

On this motion and on a similar motion made on behalf of Greenberg to strike out some of the defenses, Justice Dore reserved decision.

It was impossible to get a statement on the action from Warners last night.

serious activities which demand their undivided attention. The presence of strangers at best is bound to interfere with work and generally annoy those with whom they have contact.

2. If all the persons who are sent were admitted, very little work could be accomplished.

3. Legitimate refusals of applications, even with careful explanations, often occasion resentment, even to the extent of threats being made to urge local exhibitors not to play M-G-M pictures.

4. Handling matters of this sort imposes unfairly on the time and good nature of those at Los Angeles to whom letters of introduction are addressed.

5. Except infrequently, those who are admitted cannot be taken onto sets where work is in progress and hence cannot witness actual filming.

6. Most of the present difficulties, probably on account of the San Diego exposition, have to do with persons who have no connection with the industry but who are given letters of introduction by personal friends or relative within the organization.

7. In many of these instances, giving such letters merely puts up to the recipient the necessity for making explanations which should have been made at the outset as the reason for not writing a requested letter.

Bank Night Wins In Boston Action

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—A consent decree was handed down today by Federal Judge Hugh McLellan forever enjoining James Kennedy, owner of Gold Mine, from distributing that or any other premium scheme. The case was brought by Bank Night early this summer for alleged copyright infringement and heard before Special Master Arthur Stevenson.

Kennedy told the court that further defense would be a waste of time and admitted Bank Night has a valid copyright, which Gold Mine infringed. Kennedy also waived all right of appeal. George Ryan was attorney for Bank Night. Bank Night, with a far greater investment, bought out Kennedy, when the latter appeared favored to win the suit. Bank Night is handled here by Roy Heffener, former Fox sales manager.

Screeno Setup Shifted

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—A change in the Screeno setup here has been made by J. S. Markstein, general manager.

M-G-M Delays "Seas" Due to Gotham Suit

M-G-M has agreed to postponed release of "China Seas" to the Dorset until Sept. 30 due to an action pending before Supreme Court Justice Edward F. Dore in which the Gotham claims to have bought the picture which the distributor will not release to it.

The Gotham claims to have purchased the film on last year's contract and cannot get delivery while, it is said, the Dorset signed for the picture on a 1935-36 contract and is getting it ahead of the Gotham. Weisman, Quinn, Allen & Spett are representing the Gotham.

Circuits and Union Again Delay Meeting

Representatives of the major circuits and Local 306 yesterday again put off a scheduled meeting until Monday for discussions of a local wage scale. The only session held this week was Sept. 23. Practically all of the circuit men had convened at Charles C. Moskowitz's office at Loew's when they were notified that the meeting was not to be held.

Setting up of a scale for the nine Broadway houses will be the principal topic of the session Monday.

Union Hitch Delays Shows at Paramount

Due to a hitch in negotiations with the musicians' union, stage shows will not go into the Paramount next Friday, as originally planned. The earliest possible date in view is Oct. 18, provided a deal between Boris Morros, managing director of the house, and the musicians is completed.

New Producer With Allied Backing Near

Formation Understood to Be In Final Stages

Formation of a new independent producing company to be sponsored by Allied is understood nearing the final stages. Several meetings have been held during the last week by Allied leaders in this connection.

Abram F. Myers, general counsel, made a special trip from Washington to discuss the plan with Sidney Samuelson and other interests. Neither will talk about the new company other than to say that an important announcement will be made shortly.

During the Allied of New Jersey convention in Atlantic City last month, a number of the national organization's leaders gathered secretly at the Ritz Carlton to go over various details in connection with the production plans.

At one of the open sessions during the Allied shore convention, Myers decried reported mergers between major companies and told exhibitors to encourage new production and engage in the making of production as a defensive measure.

About two years ago, Allied had a deal practically set with an independent producing company, but the plan fizzled when the promised support failed to materialize. However, this time the organization's leaders are more optimistic.

Paramount Drops 75 Theatres In Minnesota from Its Setup

Paramount has dropped the Hamm & Charles group of approximately 75 theatres in Minnesota from its national circuit, it was stated Saturday by Y. Frank Freeman. This is the first of the Paramount partnerships to be discontinued. The Minnesota circuit was in receivership until last June when a 90-day arrangement was effected with Paramount. William Hamm had been the receiver.

Temporary extension of management arrangements with George W. Trendle and A. H. Blank has been made for one month. Other deals are being worked out by S. A. Lynch, who is handling the Blank circuit, and Freeman, who is working on another term deal with Trendle.

John E. Otterson is expected back from the coast in about two weeks. While in Hollywood he has been working on the Interstate and Saenger deals.

The Olympia circuit in New England is the only Paramount affiliate now in receivership, it was stated. It will take several weeks to reorganize this group.

Essaness Deal Stops Loew's Chicago Move

Loew's invasion of the theatre operating field in Chicago has completely faded as a result of the deal consummated with the Essaness circuit whereby the Sheridan, recently taken over by Loew's from an independent exhibitor, and the proposed Oak Park will be operated by Essaness. The independent circuit also has signed for M-G-M product.

Under terms of the deal, Essaness immediately takes over the Sheridan under a long-term lease and will operate the Oak Park when the theatre is completed next year. The Oak Park lease is for 20 years. It will seat 1,600. Loew's has let the building contract to Avery Brundage Co., which starts construction in about a week.

Decision to enter the Windy City theatre field was made by Loew's some months ago when M-G-M and a number of independent circuits reached an impasse on product terms. The independents banded together in a stand

Film Leaders In St. Louis For Big Trial

Anti-Trust Cases to Get Underway There Today

By BILL ORNSTEIN

St. Louis, Sept. 29.—With all principal witnesses summoned by the Government on hand tonight, most of them at the Coronado, Special Assistant Attorney General Russell Hardy will be ready to proceed Monday with the criminal anti-trust trial of a number of Warner, RKO and Paramount executives and their companies.

That this trial will go on as scheduled before Federal Judge George H. Moore was indicated last Thursday when a number of Government witnesses in the equity proceedings, scheduled for Oct. 1, were again subpoenaed for the criminal action docketed for Monday. In addition, Hardy, during the two-hour hearing on the preliminary injunction on Sept. 10, insisted that the trial date on indictments

Skouras-RKO-Fox Hearing Postponed

Hearing on an action filed recently by Skouras Theatres to enjoin RKO's 81st St. from playing Fox product day and date with the Nemo and Riverside will not be held today as scheduled, but will probably be set tomorrow or Wednesday. The action is slated for the Supreme Court before Justice Albert Cohen with Nathan Burkan representing Skouras, Goldwater & Flynn, RKO; and Felix Jenkins, Fox.

On Sept. 19, Supreme Court Justice Hofstadter granted Skouras a temporary injunction against the defendants, setting the hearing for today. The RKO house has played "Dante's Inferno" simultaneously with the Skouras houses.

In his complaint, Skouras alleges he has a 10-year franchise with Fox which provides for seven days' clearance over the 81st St.

Bank Night Stay Is Denied in Cleveland

The court declared that the plaintiff failed to show any invasion of property rights entitling him to an injunction.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

ROBERT LORD, well known along Hollywood's broad boulevards as a scenarist, has much to say about double features in Script, Bob Wagner's publication on the coast. Some excerpts:

> "Time was when you went to the movies for entertainment. Now, thanks to the prevalence of the double feature, you go for a weekend. . . . You used to arrive at eight, you came to see and be home at ten feeling refreshed. Now you arrive at six-thirty, miss the first part of the picture you came to see and stagger home to collapse from exhaustion somewhat shortly before midnight . . .
> "Furthermore, the era of the double feature has a very decided and injurious effect on those of us who produce motion pictures. Since we know that many more pictures are required . . . and since it is a platitude of economics that the value of any object varies inversely with its abundance, our standards of production tend to become increasingly lax. Quality is no longer the prime consideration. Quantity alone is important. There is no longer much incentive to make a few fine pictures. . . .
> "We have driven audiences to such lengths of boredom and fatigue that they fail to respond to the occasional picture really worthy of enthusiasm. . . .
> ". . . theatre managers . . . shrug their shoulders and mutter something about . . . competition. Unless the producers, distributors and exhibitors have a miraculous rush of brains to the head (a most unlikely phenomenon) I am afraid that the condition will become much worse before it gets better.
> ". . . I look forward to the day when the neighborhood theatre marquee will display the following legend: 'See Our Quadruple Feature Program and Have Your Tonsils Taken Out—All for 15 Cents'."

Much of the truth is in this and some which we think not. Lord remarks the public used to leave the single feature show and return home by 10 "feeling refreshed." That depended entirely on what the public saw.

He adds doubles are hurting production ingenuity and tending to make standards lax. The desk telephone probably will be busy when this gets around, but about this observation of his there can be no argument.

"Quality is no longer the prime consideration. Quantity alone is important. There is no longer much incentive to make a few fine pictures."

It is entirely understandable how he arrives at this melancholy point of view and, with little urging, we would gladly weep on his other shoulder, but matters have not quite reached such a gloomy pass. Shining forth, his ideas and his policy unshaken, is Irving Thalberg, for instance, whose attitude, if not his comment, indicates he frowns on double features. Yet his conviction is that important pictures will cut their swath and continue to get their proper percentage. Double features or triple features—the latter not remote—notwithstanding, merit, like water, has a habit of finding its level.

"We have driven audiences to such lengths of boredom and fatique that they fail to respond to the occasional picture really worthy of enthusiasm."

Audiences may be bored and they may be fatigued, but neither can or will make them fail to give quality its proper, enthusiastic return. . . .

The provocative Walter Wanger, who recently signed Humphrey Cobb about whom more at another time, discusses "What Is Box-office" in Commentator, an institutional plugger for the Small-Landau agency in Hollywood.

> "Box-office.—Is it the picture that the exhibitor pays the most for? Is it the picture the public pay the most for? Or is it the one people enjoy most?" queries Wanger. "Just because there are three stars in a picture and it is billboarded from coast to coast does not mean that that picture is a hit. . . . The company distributing it feels, of course, that they must get that money out of it. So they put it in a high allocation, take the best time, set up a tremendous ballyhoo. And even if it breaks records, does it mean box-office—when the audience that saw it might have enjoyed 'The Three Little Monkeys' far better?
> "The figures in the trade papers do not necessarily mean a hit. Nor do the figures at the box-office. Because they are not honestly arrived at. I don't mean there is any purposeful distortion of figures. But they are far from scientific. And each company rationalizes. Producers themselves fall under the mesmerism of 'wanting to believe' that the picture in which they have invested a fortune is a hit. After that, it is very easy to read statistics, to prove anything. That is what I mean by saying that box-office figures are unscientific."

If Wanger does not rely upon box-office returns to evaluate his own production success or failure, what sort of bookkeeping tells him if he is still in business? This space waits, with breath somewhat bated, for the answer. . . .

At another point, the producer remarks:

> "Every company knows how to advertise and sell a 'China Seas,' 'Lives of a Bengal Lancer,' or a 'Ruggles of Red Gap'. But how to get the maximum out of 'The Informer' or 'Private Worlds' or 'Black Fury'—well, that's another problem."

And another problem it is. Stabs have been made in this direction, notably the move engineered by RKO which spent almost $10,000 in New York dailies to supplement the sometimes described "announcement" copy of the Music Hall for the engagement there of "The Informer." Because advertising and its results, directly computed, are largely intangible, no one, today and after all these weeks, knows if Radio's campaign hurt or helped the picture. The Music Hall, its territory invaded, naturally asserted that it had harmed. While what follows does not answer Wanger, the fact is that the answer to unusual and different product like "The Informer" has a habit of resting with the buyers of tickets. The attraction was accorded rave reviews and two kinds of advertising campaigns. Yet it gave the theatre a very unsatisfactory, subnormal gross.

The chances are very good, indeed, that the 2,000-foot reel, championed by the Academy's Research Council, will become industry practice, although we remind you and ourselves again of the futility which generally lurks in forecasts. What opposition persists continues to persist largely from Universal. A proponent of the plan asserts that from 98 to 99 per cent of theatres in this country already are equipped with 2,000-foot magazines; that less than one hundred are not and that the same percentages apply to overseas markets. The reason for setting back the date of industry-wide adoption, if eventually it is voted, from January 1 to April 1 ties in with the lack of time confronting manufacturers of cans to turn them out in sufficient numbers. . .

Battered about sorely and well nigh flattened out completely by its financial Joe Louises, First Division has come through its toughest internal battle and is in the lists with 30 pictures for the new season. They feel better in that organization now, as obviously they would, and are prepared for their best in the competitive battle for contracts, first, and playdates, next. Harry Thomas, who long ago learned how to smile when circumstances might have dictated something else, now has sufficient reason. . .

INTERNATIONAL ROAD-SHOW

AND IN NEW YORK AT THE HOLLYWOOD THEATRE

October 9th

Essaness Deal Stops Loew's Chicago Move

pat attitude against the distributor's percentage terms.

This season M-G-M instituted a flexible selling policy to meet local conditions. Details were given sales forces at the various regional meetings, following which several minor deals were closed with independents in Chicago. Loew's did not veer from its stand to go ahead with its Windy City invasion and the more important independent circuits continued to hold out. Robert Lynch of Philadelphia, Louis K. Sidney, Joe Vogel, Col. E. A. Schiller, David Bernstein and numerous other Loew and M-G-M officials visited Chicago, determined to go ahead with the theatre building program. At one time, the circuit figured on a total of 20 theatres in that city. The Oak Park site was the first acquired. The Sheridan was then taken over and a number of other deals were pending when a truce was declared.

Allied has been opposed to the Loew invasion moves and became active in a campaign to block building of the Oak Park structure. Sidney Samuelson, president of Allied, also took part in conferences with M-G-M executives in an effort to avert the Loew invasion.

Last week, Leo Spitz, Emil Stern and Edward Silverman were in town on the Loew, M-G-M and Essaness pact signed in New York.

Cleveland's First Runs in Union Deal

Cleveland, Sept. 29.—First runs have concluded wage agreements with all unions. An increase of seven and one-half per cent has been granted to operators in a two-year agreement. Stage hands accepted a $5 per week increase for one year. The musicians' scale remains the same as last year with no guaranteed playing time, with a reduction of $5 per man per week in the event that they are employed 40 weeks during the year.

Subsequent runs had previously closed with the operators on a seven- and one-half per cent basis.

It is understood that Nathanson's interests are investing $750,000 of new capital in British Lion which will produce six features in 12 months and distribute some 14 other British films.

Nathanson said the move had no connection with Famous Players Canadian other than that he happens to be president of this company.

Steinhof Sees Cuts In Color Film Cost

Hollywood, Sept. 29.—Color films will not be much more expensive than black and white and in the near future all commercial films will be made in color, in the opinion of Dr. Eugene G. Steinhof, color expert, who has just left after spending four weeks here.

Dr. Steinhof has been a scenic designer in Europe and has lectured on color in architecture at Carnegie Institute.

He has developed a new makeup for players, and intends to use it in the first film for which he is color director. He may return to Hollywood in two months.

Just Like That!

Hollywood, Sept. 29. — It was just before the Baer-Louis fight, and Richard Arlen's trainer, Charles McGuigan, was showing how Louis was going to hit.

"Oh yeah?" said Arlen, "if that is the case, take my money off Baer and put it on Louis."

and in addition to the acquisitions, Intermountain is building a new $150,000 theatre in Boulder on the site of the Curran.

Four other houses which have been dark for the past five years will be reopened within the next few weeks. Sound equipment is being installed and alterations are also being made. The quartet are the Elks, La Junta, and Isis, Trinidad, Col.; the Rio, Las Cruces, and Plaza, Las Vegas, New Mexico.

Discussing business conditions in his territory, Rick Ricketson, operating head of Fox Intermountain who was in New York on product deals and a five-year contract, said that things are picking up, all theatres are open and the price trend is upward with increases of five and 10 cents.

Dual bills are gaining ground in the Rocky Mountain area, Ricketson asserts, with more theatres veering toward this policy than ever before. He plans to return to Denver in about a week.

"Dark Angel" at the Rivoli wound up with $21,500 in the last nine days of a 23-day run. The second week of "The Big Broadcast of 1936" at the Paramount ended with about $22,000. "39 Steps" at the Roxy during its second week got $33,000. The Strand, with "Special Agent," tallied about $26,000 for the first stanza.

The Center will reopen Wednesday night with "Here's to Romance." Vaudeville was dropped at the Palace Thursday night. Decision on whether to reinstate the policy after a two-week showing of "Top Hat" will be made by RKO officials some time this week. The Fox, Brooklyn, also dropped stage shows for duals Friday.

Film Leaders In St. Louis For Big Trial

should not be moved up because of any postponement of equity proceedings.

Hardy has indicated several times he is ready to go ahead with the criminal action. So has Paramount. Warners has been non-committal, except for a brief statement made Sept. 10 by a local attorney, Samuel B. Jeffries, who, in court, said Abel Carey Thomas, general counsel, may not be able to attend the Sept. 30 hearing. Jeffries stated that Thomas had recently suffered a stroke and, although he has been recuperating nicely, he could not forecast the future condition of the Warner legal head. He added he hoped Thomas would be well enough to be on hand.

See Four-Week Trial

Jacob M. Lashly, local RKO attorney, recently asked the court to direct the Dept. of Justice and Hardy to furnish more facts in the bill of particulars. Judge Moore overruled Lashly's motion on Sept. 22 after Hardy had objected to supplying additional data.

Spyros Skouras, who has had to have medical attention for the past three weeks, due to an infected toe, is here hobbling around with a cane. He had sought permission to be excused, but is understood to have been turned down.

Former Senator James A. Reed has been here for a number of days conferring with Warner attorneys from New York. It was due to the death of Reed's sister that the preliminary injunction date was set back.

Indications are that the two trials will take from four to six weeks. Jeffries on Sept. 10 told Judge Moore that he expected the trials to take that long in view of the fact that every witness will be put on the stand.

Expect No Time Loss

Among those who are here for the federal hearings are George J. Schaefer, Neil Agnew, Austin C. Keough, Louis Phillips, Ned E. Depinet, Jules Levy, Cresson E. Smith, Robert W. Perkins, Harry C. Arthur, Irving Lesser, Milton Arthur, Jack Partington, Gordon Youngman, I. Levinson, Bruce Bromley, Ernest L. Wilkinson and John S. Leahy.

No loss of time between trials is expected. Judge Moore indicated in the court 19 days ago that as soon as one of the hearings is completed the other will go on. The order set on the calendar has the criminal action slated for tomorrow with the preliminary injunction for Oct. 1. If for some reason an adjournment is sought and granted tomorrow, the equity proceedings may start in the afternoon, or on Tuesday, as scheduled. If the criminal trial goes on as scheduled it will take several weeks before the preliminary injunction testimony will get under way.

Japan Plans Shorts Series For Education

By TETSUYA MORI

TOKYO, Sept. 5.—Government control of film production is to be extended to the making of shorts for educational purposes and for delineation of various phases of Japanese life. The first shorts will be designed to insure clean elections.

One, finished early in August, is a three-reeler called "This One Vote," and it was made with the cooperation of the Photo Chemical Laboratories. It will be used between now and next May, when an election is to be held for the House of Representatives.

Educational, Foreign and Communications offices are cooperating in film control.

One-reelers planned by the Foreign Office include: "The Present Day Japan," "Children's Japan," "Women of Japan," "Japan for Students' Life," "Japan, the Nation of Sport," "Japan Rural Life," "Japan for Amusement," "National Defense of Japan," "Japan in Sciences and Arts" and "Japanese Features."

The Communications Office has just decided to turn out a big feature with spectacles to be called "Toppa Muden" ("On Wings of Wireless").

The Home Office recently took the initiative in enlisting the cooperation of producers and distributors in insuring clean elections. A Cinema Control Commission has been organized to handle this work. Election reform slogans will be inserted, and at the beginning of each reel the Rising Sun, the national emblem, will be shown. These additions also apply to foreign films and newsreels.

Newsreel interest is gaining. Management of the Nippon Gekijo, one of the largest theatres, has applied for permission to establish a newsreel theatre in the basement.

Leading newspapers, Asahi, Yomiuri and Hochi, are going in for production of reels. Asahi is experimenting with color reels, in cooperation with Kodan-sha, a story magazine. Yomiuri contemplates the production of animal pictures.

A huge building to seat 2,000 is being erected as a newsreel theatre near Hibiya Park, Tokyo.

Estabrook on "Kim"

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—M-G-M has again borrowed Howard Estabrook from Twentieth Century-Fox, to whom he is under contract, for an important assignment. Louis D. Lighton, Metro's new associate producer, today secured permission from Darryl Zanuck to assign Estabrook the screenplay and dialogue for Rudyard Kipling's "Kim," in which Freddie Bartholomew and Lionel Barrymore head the cast.

Raise "Stars" Budget

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—After viewing a rough cut of "Stars Over Broadway," Warners decided the picture was good enough to call for an increase in the budget. As a result Director William Keighley has been given another week to add scenes.

U. S. Technicians Popular in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 25.—Proof that Americans who come to this country to work in the production branch of the industry are both wanted and popular was demonstrated the other day by a delegation of native techcnicians, players and others which waited upon the Minister of the Interior in behalf of Ross Fisher, cameraman, who was having trouble with the migration department over a complaint somebody had made that he had entered Mexico in an irregular manner.

The delegation told the minister that Fisher is an asset to the Mexican industry and deplored the fact that the migration officials had taken so seriously the kick of some fellow who had a grudge against the American. The minister saw the point. Fisher was cleared and the migration people apologized for having bothered him. He was told that he can stay in this country as long as he cares to. The delegation gave Fisher an ovation when he was cleared.

It is the Cine Ermita, built by the Mier and Pesado Foundation, a charitable organization, in connection with an apartment house development at Tacubaya, a suburb. Another Mexican folklore picture has been made. It is to be called "Patzcuaro, the Dream Lake." It was made by Producciones Argos, S. A., and is designed for the export as well as domestic markets.

Move on to Revamp ITO in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 29.—Some independents are feeling out sentiment with an eye toward reorganization of the I.T.O., following the recent resignation of Jay Means, president, and the previous resignations of Emanuel Rolsky, vice-president; Ed Hartmann, secretary, and Charles Potter, treasurer.

Difficulty in securing a quorum at the last two meetings has prompted consideration of a change in bylaws.

Arrousez Loses Suit

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—Superior Judge L. H. Smith rendered a decision of non-suit in the complaint of Frank P. Arrousez against Cinema Studio Supply Corp. Charging fraud and deceit, Arrousez, inventor, brought the action against the company to recover rights to the "Laco" patents which are used in studio lighting. By the decision, Cinema Studio Supply now becomes sole owner of the patents.

RKO Closes Dutch Deal

U. S. Pictures Hold Lead in Argentina

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29. — Despite the efforts of European producers to improve their position in the Argentine, American films have maintained their dominant position in that country, according to a report to the U. S. Dept. of Commerce from Assistant Trade Commissioner D. G. Clark in Buenos Aires.

The average Argentinian, Clark points out, has become accustomed to films produced in the United States. The domestic industry has attempted to cater to the local demand, he says, but the fact remains that popular first runs are almost invariably American.

Notwithstanding the strong position of American films, the report states, there is a feeling among theatre-goers that the market is large enough to absorb more pictures in the Spanish language. This feeling does not take the form of any antagonism against sound pictures in English, but is evidenced by the welcome which has been accorded the few American-made Spanish films which have been shown.

It is estimated that approximately 1,300 theatres are operating in Argentina, the largest number being concentrated in and around Buenos Aires. There are 182 houses in the Federal capital and in the Federal district suburbs, 90 per cent of which are wired for sound. It is estimated that total receipts of theatres in the Federal capital during 1934 amounted to approximately 12,000,000 paper pesos (about $3,600,000).

Stagehands Get New Contract at Tulsa

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 29.—Felix Snow, I. A. T. S. E. divisional representative here, has negotiated for renewal of the stage hands' contract with Tulsa, Okla., theatres for one year.

The new contract involves no changes, except in the case of Talbot's Orpheum, Ritz, Rialto, and Majestic. Differences between Talbot and the union were settled when Talbot agreed to use both his stagehands, who do maintenance work for all four houses, full time. He had been using one man full time at $40 and one half time at $20.

The operators' contract already had been settled. It provided for an increase in the wage scale.

New contracts also have been negotiated with Fox Midwest at Springfield, Mo. These call for a 10 per cent raise.

This happened at Senenoaks, where owners of existing houses opposed the application on the ground that the district was adequately seated.

Proposals that the approaching command variety performance, attended by the King and Queen, shall be broadcast are causing alarm in the trade. Last year the radio of this performance dried up the box-offices in every place of amusement in the country.

Variety Artists' Federation, which takes the receipts of the show for charity, last year received £500 from the B.B.C. for broadcasting rights. The C.E.A. this year is seriously considering the suggestion, turned down on the last occasion, that it shall offer £1,000 to the V.A.F. funds on a "no broadcast" condition.

Fitzgerald Goes West

Harold J. Fitzgerald, operating head of Wisconsin Amusement Enterprises, left for Milwaukee on Saturday night after clearing up certain disputed points in a five-year contract with National Theatres. Rick Ricketson, head of the Fox Intermountain group, leaves tonight for Denver. He has reached an agreement with National executives on several clauses with attorneys now drafting the pact.

Ricketson will sign his agreement in Denver while Fitzgerald may be back in about three or four weeks to affix his signature.

OMAHA, Sept. 29.—"Steamboat 'Round the Bend," on a double bill with "The Gay Deception," was the big money-maker of the week, going to $8,200, up by $700, at the Orpheum.

"The Big Broadcast of 1936" and "The Man Who Reclaimed His Head" also did well at the Omaha. An automobile giveaway boosted business all along the line.

"Angel" Huge Philadelphia Hit, $14,000

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—"The Dark Angel" took all the bows last week, doubling the Aldine's average with a take of $14,000. Business was brisk and only a reduction in number of shows daily because of the feature's length kept the gross from running higher.

The other bright spot was the second run engagement of "Top Hat" at the Karlton. It got $3,700, enough to hold it there for another week.

The rest of the town was off. The two stage show houses, Earle and Fox, are still in the midst of their musicians' tiff and thus their grosses were held down. The Earle got a fair break with $10,000 for "Special Agent," but the Fox found "Redheads on Parade" weak and yanked it after five days to a total take of $7,500.

Total first run business was $65,300. Average is $69,700.

"Hat" Milwaukee's Best in 2nd Week

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 28.—Two days of near 90-degree weather and the Louis-Baer fight were this week's big headaches for exhibitors. Business the night of the fight was reported the worst in many moons. Despite these bugaboos, "Top Hat," in its second and final week at the Warner, was big stuff with an $8,800 take, "Broadway Melody of 1936" running it a close second with an $8,500 gross for eight days.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 27:

"Hat" a Riot In Pittsburgh With $24,000

Pittsburgh, Sept. 29. — Repeating its sensational grosses elsewhere, "Top Hat" at the Penn came through with a record-breaking $24,000, almost triple the average take, to give that house its best business in more than a year. As a result, it has been held over for a full second week.

Otherwise, however, trade was mediocre, due to the return of hot weather and the broadcast of the Baer-Louis fight, which, showmen estimate, cost downtown Pittsburgh alone around $10,000.

At the Alvin, "The Farmer Takes A Wife" took $7,200 which was $1,700 above par. The Stanley slipped to its lowest level in more than two months, doing only $16,000 with "Special Agent" and a stage show, while the Warner couldn't collect more than $4,300 with "Jalna" and "Here Comes the Band."

On a roadshow engagement of one week at the Nixon, "The Crusades" never got started and wound up a lame engagement of 11 performances with barely $5,500.

Total first run grosses were $52,050. Average is $37,800.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 29:

Missouri Moves on For 10% Ticket Tax

St. Louis, Sept. 29.—Disturbing reports are in circulation here to the effect that merchants and business men generally are backing a movement for repeal of the sales tax and the substitution of a 10 per cent "luxury" tax. Among the so-called luxuries they are aiming at are theatre admissions.

The move, it is claimed, is to take the form of political pressure upon Gov. Guy B. Park to call a special session of the legislature.

Fred Wehrenberg, head of the M. P. T. O. unit, led a movement at the last session to defeat such a tax and is watching present developments.

Throttle Pushing

MOTION PICTURE DAILY

by H.E.N.

EN ROUTE TO N. W.

We made a little side trip over to Vale, Ore., and routed Tom ("Mac") McElroy out of bed. These Oregon exhibitors believe in sleeping late. Mac, who is a genial soul, came out to the trailer in his pajamas and dressing gown and we had a real visit along with Mrs. McElroy. New lamp houses and Wide Range sound will be installed at once in the Rex.

A $10,000 job is being rapidly completed on remodeling of the old Emma, Payette, Ida., owned by W. J. Hughes and under the management of young Raymond Hughes. This house will open soon under a new name and seating 400. The Ritz will continue as the A house. Howard Gordon, operating the Star, Weiser, Ida., has completed and made his theatre one of the most modern in Southwest Idaho. Skipper and the missus entertained us on a very hot afternoon in the cool garden at their home. The Star has one of the most up-to-date marquees we have seen, for a small town.

James E. Hancock has leased the Peoples, Council, Ida., from the Gordon interests of Boise and Weiser. He is also operating Iowa Hall, Midvale; Cambridge, Cambridge, and Lafays, New Meadows, and will remodel the Peoples this fall.

Fishermen who would like whitefish, may obtain some by making a trip at this time to Payette Lakes where John A. Howell, who operates the McCall at McCall, Ida., can show you how to get them. This popular summer resort is enjoying a great crop of tourists and the McCall is running six days a week. A permanent CCC Camp of 200 has been recently installed. Theatre business is good, according to Howell.

We completed our trip up Highway 95 through Western Idaho by crawling over Whitebird summit, via a five per cent grade, some 15 miles long, and dropped down into Cottonwood where we met Ben Lightfield who runs the Orpheum there. Ben is letting the Orpheum run itself these days as he is a large buyer of cattle, sheep and hogs. While the Orpheum only operates two days a week, they are enjoying a good patronage and things are looking up in the Camas Prairie section this year.
